Answer: Let us say you are 4200 points on the score at the start of a hand. You need 120 for initial meld and you are fortunate enough to get it early. You get a mixed canasta, bringing your score up to 4500. You have a red trey, making your score 4600. In addition you have approximately 200 points melded. Now your partner says, "May I go out?" Seldom would the correct reply be "yes." You do not want your side to go out.

Have you ever sat through a hand at canasta needing 120 points for an initial meld, when you could not even draw a deuce? Remember, then, that if you let your partner go out in the above situation you may end up with 4800 or 4900 points, which means that you will have to meld 120 points again. If the opponents get off to a good start on the next hand they might easily win the game while you sit waiting for 120 for your initial meld. Therefore, even at some risk, you must not let your partner go out. Watch your score and make every effort to meld enough cards to put you over the 5000 mark.

Now for my regular questions and answers:

Question: The other night we were playing Canasta and our opponents had 3150 points. However, we only had 100 points When it came my turn I made an initial meld of 50 points. My opponents claimed that the highest score of either side determined the minimum meld requirements. In other words, because they were over 3000 points and needed 120 points for their meld, they claimed our side would have to have the same meld. Were they wrong?

Answer: They certainly were. That is one of the interesting features of Canasta. I have seen many games run out by a low score pair because the other side could not make the minimum meld requirement of 120 points they having 3000 points or more on their score. This feature always gives the low side a chance to make a strong comeback.

Question: The top card of the discard pack was a 10-spot. I had two natural 10's in my hand with a deuce We needed 50 points for our minimum meld. I wanted to take the 10 with my two natural 10's and add the deuce to the three 10's, to make the minimum meld My opponents claimed that I could not use the deuce with the 10's, but could use the deuce with another meld. They also claimed the only card from the discard pack which can count toward the minimum meld is the up-card on the pack. Were they wrong?

Answer: Your opponents were wrong about how to use the deuce, but they were correct in saying that the only card of the discard pack you can use toward your minimum meld is the up-card on the pack. However, you can use any additional cards you may have in your hand to complete your minimum meld

Question: What happens when the last card of the stock pile is a red trey?

Answer: This is the one time that the hand automatically ends. You must put the red trey down on the table immediately. As there is no card in the stock pile for you to replace the red trey you cannot make a discard. You are permitted to make whatever melds you care to make, form canastas, if possible, play off on your partner's melds, or you can go out if you can meld all of your cards, but remember you cannot make a discard.

Mr. McKenney is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

As I told you in my preceding article John R. Crawford of Philadelphia and I were pleased when our suggestion that a national laws commission for Canasta be formed resulted in prompt action. The committee has been formed. They do not plan any changes in the present laws.

Today Mr. Crawford and I want to continue our discussion of the legality of "talking across the table" in Canasta. Since there is no bidding there are no conventions with which to convey information. The one little sentence that you are allowed to say is "Partner, may I go out?" and ths plays a very important part in the game. Generally speaking, you should ask your partner if you may go out but there are times when you do not ask him. The element of surprise is important in Canasta, as in any other game.

Suppose, as Mr. Crawford points out, that your opponents have quite a few melds down and certainly are in no position to go out. Your partner may have a number of cards in his hand, but you know that if you go out at this particular point you will catch both of the opponents and thereby offset the cards that your partner holds. In other words, you will catch three hands and only one of them will count against you.

Bear in mind that if you ask your partner for permission to go out and he says no, you convey a warning to the opponents that you may be in a position to go out on the next round. They will put down all of their melds and may even complete two or three canastas.

The score plays an important part in going out in Canasta. You may see that if you go out your score will be just under 1500 or 3000 and therefore you will need only 50 or 90 points for your initial meld on the next hand Then again, if you are up in the 4000 figures, do not be too anxious to ask your partner for permission to go out. You do not want to be struck at 4800 or 4900 points. It will pay you to take a little gamble and try to go over the 5000 mark.

On the other hand, if your opponents are up in the 4000 zone and you can go out suddenly it may save the whole game for you. So long as they do not have enough points to go over 5000 you are still in the game and in the running and they will need 120 points for their initial meld on the next hand.

Question: Here is one I have received from a great many readers Is the first card a free card? In other words, everybody has been dealt a hand and the first card has been turned up. Many players are under the impression that you can take that card, put it in your hand, and discard another card for it.

Answer: That isenti rely wrong. There are no free cards in Canasta. In order to pick up that card you must have two cards in your hand to match it and you must be able to complete your minimum initial meld.

Question: The other night it happened that I could legally take the up-card of the discard pile, but I decided against it and drew a card from the stock pile. The card I drew was a red trey, which I placed on the table. Now I decided that I would not draw again from the stock pile, but would take the pack instead. My opponents objected. Were they right?

Answer: They certainly were right. You made your choice between the pack and the stock pile when you drew a card. After drawing a red trey and placing it on the table you must replace it with another card from the stock pile.

Montreal Girl With U.N. On Eritrea Job

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Jan. 16 — (CP) — Montreal-born Lydia Kassab has packed her ski pants in mothballs and is looking for a bathing suit to use in the Red Sea.

But it's no holiday that Miss Kassab is about to take in Eritrea. She will be a member of a United Nations Commission investigating conditions in the East-African territory.

The young UN employee of more than two years standing, leaves New York by air late this month in the commission's advance party.

She will be an administrative assistant on the commission. Its job is to report to the UN Assembly next fall about the wishes of the people of the former Italian colony as to their future political status. Eritrea, with a population of 1,067,000, has a 670-mile coastline along the Red Sea. It is about one-half the size of New Brunswick.

Speaks 3 Languages

"My knowledge of Arabic is probably one of the main reasons I was asked to go along," Miss Kassab said in an interview. She also speaks English and French.

Miss Kassab is a first-generation Canadian whose parents came from Lebanon to Montreal. Her mother now lives in New York.

Educated in Montreal and [illegible] Miss Kassab came to the UN after working in the Abbott Laboratories in Montreal. She said it was a big change from planning how much syrup to make for advance sales to making arrangements for international conferences.

The commission is expected to travel all through Eritrea making its headquarters in Asmara, a city of some 85,000 persons—about 50,000 of them Italians.

DOROTHY DIX

Aged Father Too Big Burden For Woman--Said Heartless

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a housewife and have a very kind and good-natured husband; in fact, he is just about ideal. But I am of a very nervous disposition, and here is the question I wish to ask you: Should my husband and I have to go on taking care of my aged father when there are several brothers and sisters in the family? Sometimes I feel as though I just cannot stand up and take it. Friends think I am mean and heartless. MRS. X.

ANSWER: It seems to me they have got your number if that is the way you feel about taking care of your poor old father. Believe me, Mrs. X., that while the attentions you have to give him may be a burden to you now and his fussy, old-fashioned ways may get upon your nerves, they are nothing to the load of remorse that will weigh you down and the torture your conscience will give you some day when you remember that you begrudged him a place at your table and that you made his last days sad by showing him that you were tired of him and wanted to be rid of him.

Consider Future Prospects

And some day, Mrs. X., you will be old yourself. Perhaps you will be dependent upon your own children for shelter. Certainly you will have to look to them for affection and attention and whatever happiness and interest in life you have. How will you like it if you are paid back in your own coin and if your children treat you as you are treating your father? As we sow we reap. The ideas you implant in your own children of filial devotion or disloyalty, of duty and respect to one's parents, or regarding them as burdens from which one tries to escape, will grow and ripen in their minds and you will reap the harvest of what you have planted.

Of course, your brothers and sisters should help you take care of your father. It is their obligation as well as yours, but because they fail in their duty does not excuse you from doing yours. Nor does your nervous disposition, which is generally an alibi for selfishness.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My wife and I are unhappy because we have nothing in common. She does not like the things I care for, nor do I care for the things she likes. We don't even care for the same people, therefore we have not even one friend in common. We get on each other's nerves if we are together any length of time. What is your advice in the matter. M. B.

ANSWER: Of course, the very foundation stone of a happy marriage is congeniality. It should be the first consideration in men's and women's minds in picking out their mates.

But strangely enough, they apparently give it no consideration whatever. And after they are married they find out that they bore each other and get on each other's nerves because one wants to do one thing and the other wants to do the other.

Many people make this mistake of marrying those with whom they have nothing in common, but if they have enough intelligence and determination and really want to make a success of their marriages they can adapt themselves to their mates if they will. Because you can cultivate tastes and learn to find interest in ew things and to enjoy things that once bored you.

When we say we have no interest in a certain subject it is nearly always because we have closed our minds against it and are ignorant of it. Any husband can interest himself in his wife's pursuits if he will. Any woman can get enthused over her husband's hobbies if she will go into them with a determination to like them.

And surely it worth taking this trouble of trying to get together in order to save a marriage.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: What are the qualities of a good homemaker? How can these qualities be developed in a girl? Which makes the better homemaker, a girl from the city or a country girl? PAL

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The first requisite of a home maker is a taste for domesticity. To be a good homemaker, then, a woman must love her work. She must feel that making a beautiful and artistic home is as exciting as painting a picture, and that to keep it clean and neat and comfortable and set good meals before her family is the most worth-while work that any woman can do.

Whether a girl comes from the city or the country has nothing to do with her ability as a homemaker. It all depends on the girl herself.

QUESTION: For some time I have been watching for recipes made with soya bean flour. Will you please publish some? I have the recipe published some months ago of muffins made with soya flour and would like others. Thank you. Mrs. W. T.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

Soybean Bread

Four and one-half cups sifted soybean flour, 8½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 2¾ cups whole milk, 2 cakes yeast, 4 tablespoons sugar, 4 teaspoons salt, 2 tablespoons fat. Sift together the soy and wheat flours. Add 1 cup water to the milk and heat. Add the fat, sugar and salt. Dissolve the yeast cakes in ½ cup lukewarm water and add to the mixture when it (the mixture) is lukewarm. Stir in 7 or 8 cups of the mixed flours and beat thoroughly. Cover and stand in not-too-warm place to rise overnight In morning add enough flour to make a firm dough and knead until firm and elastic and squeaky. Cover and stand in warm place to trebel in bulk. Knead again. Shape into 3 loaves (which will weigh about 1½ lbs. when baked). Let rise in buttered loaf pans until double in bulk. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 60 minutes. You may make pan buns of any shape or size from this dough. Shape the buns when you shape the loaves.

QUESTION: I have no doubt that you follow food prices closely, when you give us such splendid recipes each week. As you know too, eggs are much cheaper now than they were a few months ago. We have about 35 laying hens and we are selling the eggs for forty cents per dozen.

I thought perhaps you could, through your column, persuade the homemakers to put some away in water glass to use for baking, scrambling, or omelettes when prices get higher later on in the year. Water glass can be pur year.

Water glass can be purchased at any drugstore, is very easy to prepare and can be diluted much more than it says on the container.

Thank you very much for all of your wonderful helps and recipes. I always look forward to your column. We are fruit farmers and raise chickens and pigs so we are busy in winter as well as summer. Mrs. H. J.

ANSWER: I welcome your letter very much, and feel I was remiss in my duty in not making this recommendation to our readers.

To show our readers what a simple procedure it is I will outline the method.

Eggs Preserved In Waterglass

Mix 1 pint of waterglass (to be purchased in large drug stores or in drug department of large department stores) with 5 quarts of boiled water that has been cooled to room temperature.—in 4-gallon jar (for 9 to 12 dozen eggs). Use only clean eggs that you know are not fertile, and that you also know are new laid. Do not wash them. Put in eggs in layers; those on top should be 2 inches below surface of solution.

To make a cover for the jar pour melted paraffin over top of the solution. While it is still soft insert a loop of wire into the paraffin for ta handle. The "lid" will loosen enough around the edges so it may be lifted off easily when necessary. If the waterglass solution becomes jellied so that you cannot readily remove eggs as needed add a bittle boiled water to it and stir it carefully with the hand. Wash eggs as soon as they are taken from the solution, otherwise it hardens quickly on the shell when it is exposed to the air.

The Jar of "water-glassed" eggs should be kept in a cool place but should not be allowed to freeze.

QUESTION: I am a regular reader of your column and have saved many of your recipes. However I do not seem to recall having seen the recipes for French pastry and the cream filling which goes with it. I do not mean the whipped cream filling but the proper filling which is pale yellow.

Unless the pastry is under another name my cook books do not seem to have it listed. I would appreciate it if you would print the recipes at your convenience. Mrs. M. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

French or Puff Pastry

Two cups pastry flour, 1½ teaspoons salt, 1 cup shortening—(this is often part butter and part shortening) cold water. Mix and sift the flour and salt. Cut into them 2 tablespoons of the shortening with knives or pastry blender. Add barely enough water to bind these ingredients together, then knead this dough on a lightly floured board for 5 minutes. Cover well and chill. Roll out on slightly floured board to ¼-inch thickness in a rectangle with squared corners. The remaining shortening or butter should be soft enough to spread. Place it in a flattened cake in centre of half of the dough. Fold other half over it and press the edges tightly together to hold in any trapped air. Fold right side over and left side under enclosed shortening. Chill thoroughly. Roll out in rectangular shape and fold ends toward centre, making 3 layers. Chill. Repeat this chilling and rolling and folding 4 times. Chill. Paste should be made at least 24 hours before baking and should be kept ice cold at all times. Cut out in desired shapes and chill before baking at 475 deg. Fahr. for about 12 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 deg. Fahr. to finish baking.

Cream Filling: (for pies, cakes, pastry, etc.)

One-third cup flour, 2/3 cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 cups whole milk, 2 tablespoons butter, 3 beaten yolks, ½ tablespoon vanilla.

Mix the flour, sugar and salt. Scald the milk in top of double boiler and stir the mixed dry ingredients into it, until thick. Cover and cook, stirring occasionally, for 15 minutes. Add the butter. Pour the mixture over the beaten egg yolks, stirring. Cool. Add vanilla.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

FAMILY LIFE in the early 1900's was just that—much more of a reality than in later decades, when outside attractions lured the family from the hearthside. In this commonplace turn-of-the-century scene, it is, perhaps, significant that three of the family are reading. The youngster on the floor is being wafted to far-away places by the stereoscope, that indispensable adjunct of post-Victorian culture. But Father probably has one tie with his present-day descendant. As he reads his newspaper, he probably growls at Mother that the country's going to the demnition bow-wows and somebody ought to head off that government before it bankrupts all of us. And Mother, unlike her voting granddaughter, probably murmurs "Yes, dear."

What's Right

In conversation a person mispronounces a word.

WRONG WAY: Use it yourself pronouncing it correctly.

RIGHT WAY: Try to avoid using the word right away, so that you won't call attention to the mispronunciation.

Women Laud CBC's Work Offer Some Suggestions

FREDERICTON, Jan. 16. (CP).—The New Brunswick Provincial Council of Women today commended the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation for "the excellent work it has done in the shaping of the consciousness of Canadian nationhood in the minds of its listeners."

In a brief presented to the Royal Commission on Arts and Sciences, the Council said that, in radio and television, it felt the present policy of a public corporation, with provision for local private stations, should be continued.

"We heartily endorse the encouragement by the CBC of Canadian music, drama, discussion and criticism. We strongly urge any measure which could be undertaken for the achievement of still greater distinction in these fields."

The Council suggested several lines on which it fel there might be more development:

1. Lecture-recitals by Canadian and other composers and performers.
2. Broadcasts and discussion of folk music.
3. Musical program from communities to encourage development of music locally.
4. Broadcasts of music festivals.
5. Talks by or about contemporary artists, painters, poets, scientists, writers.
6. Programs designed to interest and stimulate teen-agers such as discussion of books, hobbies, care of pets, drama.
7. Programs for children which have distinguished children's literature as their basis—"at the present there is a feel, too much ad-libbing of the classics and too many trifling original stories."
8. Inclusion of more programs of interest to "intnelligent women" in the morning listening hours. Suggested were book reviews, increased time for women commentators, broadcasts by professional women.

The Council said it deplored "the large amount of time devoted to the so-called soap operas, with their tiresome and far-fetched advertising, their unfortunate views of life, and their stress of neurotic and over-emotional elements."

"These we would like to see replaced by stories suited to normal, healthy living, stories which treat of Canadian conditions, make use of authentic background and bring in Canadian place names."

The Council said that because most of their suggestons involved spending more money, it favored increased revenue from public sources for the CBC.

Has Premonition Death Imminent

TORONTO, Jan. 16 —(CP)—A watchman thought to have had a premonition of death was found Saturday night with $2,270 in his pockets.

The watchman, Stewart Gordon, 65, died of a heart ailment in the washroom of the automobile-body plant at which he had worked 10 years. At first, it was believed he had no relatives here but police later found his widow, two sons, and a brother, Alex.

A son, Boyd, today told police he thought he knew why Gordon was carrying the money.

"He might have had some premonition," he said. "He often foresaw things and he might have wanted to have his money on him to save complications when he died."

Unemployment Worrying UAW Officials

BRANTFORD, Jan. 16—(CP)—Concern over rising unemployment in Canada and the United States was voiced by top international officers of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) in interviews here over the weekend educational conference of Canadian UAW members.

Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the union, predicted layoffs of between 150,000 and 200,000 employees in the automobile industry during 1950 as a result of an anticipated reduction of 15 or 20 per cent of production.

President Walter Reuther said Canada today had 300,000 unemployed and the U.S. 3,500,000.

In America we are drifting, and our unemployment will continue to grow," he said.

Outlook Disturbing

Victor Reuther, educational director of the union, considered the outlook disturbing for both Canada and the United States.

"Soft spots are developing, and we must make the price situation fit the purse or be bounced out of the automobile market," he said.

George Burt, of Windsor, UAW Canadian director, said he favored the setting-up of a national unemployment committee by the Canadian Congress of Labor and said he would make such a recommendation to the Congress at its quarterly executive meeting this month.

Mr. Burt, a member of the national advisory committee on unemployment compensation, said the committee was concerned because of the large jump in claims, even though unemployment receipts were higher than ever before. He said Canada's labor force was steadily increasing and now exceeded 5,000,000.

New Hearing Device Has No Receiver Button In Ear

They now enjoy songs, sermons, friendly companionship and business success with no self-conscious feeling that people are looking at any button hanging on their ear. Tiny Phantomoid fits so deep within the ear that it is hardly seen. Sound is relayed to it by an inconspicuous tube from a button concealed in the clothing. Farm Forum Zone Five At Folk School

ROSENEATH, Jan. 16 (ENS)—Representatives from seven counties attended the first Zone Five Farm Forum Folk School held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stewart last week.

Official representatives were Miss Beatrice McLean, Greenwood, from Ontario County; Miss Aureen Brown, Dartford, Northumberland; Oakley Carley, Cavan, Durham County; Glen Ross, Foxborough, Hastings County; Miss Dorothy Hicks, Wellington, Prince Edward; Ken Motely, Belleville, R.R., Prince Edward; Miss Mina Stewart, Stewart Hall, Peterborough County; and Raymond Hergott, Waterloo, Waterloo County.

Two guest speakers were Miss Ethel Chapman, women's editor of the Farmers' Magazine, and Miss R. Young representing the Children's Aid Society.

"The satisfying home" was the subject of Miss Chapman's address. People often felt they could not afford, and did not know how to make improvements in the home. There were, however, mechanical conveniences which could be obtained with little financial aid.

Health education and co-operative medical services or hospitalization were advocated by Mrs. Chapman.

Home life could be mentally stimulating if it developed cultural activities. It had to provide companionship between parents and children if community life was to be mentally wholesome.

The home had to provide a training for taking responsibilities.

Miss Chapman was introduced by Raymond Hergott, secretary-fieldman for Ontario Folk School Council, and thanked by Mrs. Richard Stewart.

Home Influence

A need for individuals of the finest type to build a good character foundation were necessary today, Miss R. Young, Superintendent of Peterborough Children's Aid Society, said. Without them the United Nations, the courts and other national and international bodies would be useless.

Proper home influence should include economic security, Christian influence and discipline.

Miss Young was introduced by Raymond Hergott and thanked by Miss Alberta Anderson.

On Talent Night, when the school presented a program of entertainment, Raymond Hergott was chairman and the program included:

Recitations by Aureen Brown; contest by Beatrice McLean; singson led by Dorothy Hicks, Mrs. Dawson at the piano; skit by Ken Motely, Raymond Hergott, Beatrice McLean and Aureen Brown.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Stewart.

"Mahatma" is a Sanskrit word meaning "great soul."

New Zealand Labor's Position Remains Hot Political Problem

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N. Z., — (CP) — Now that New Zealand's new National party government has been installed, the salient question most New Zealanders are asking is whether labor unions will cooperate or if a major industrial upheaval will bring an early showdown.

The new government aims to bring greater harmony to industry and claims it can improve the prosperity of the workers. Many observers consider that on its ability to convince the unions of this depends in great measure its prospects of success.

The unions strongly backed the Labor party at the recent election, and they remain its greatest strength. It will take a lot to win their allegiance to the new regime. Even now Labor holds 23 seats in the chief cities and National only 11.

The basis of the new government's industrial policy is copartnership between labor and management to bring an all-round increase in production. It relies on this to keep wages high, bring down prices and make tax cuts possible.

Prime Minister Sidney Holland and his government plan to give effect to policy by supporting profit sharing and production bonus schemes, checking the loss of earnings through strikes, changing tax rates to encourage owners to plow back earnings into industry for expansion and growth, and freeing certain overtime earnings from taxation.

It is the proposals for dealing with industrial disputes that have aroused most controversy. The new government plans to improve facilities for quick hearing of disputes at compulsory conferences and to arrange independently-supervised secret ballots on strike issues, the election of union officers and on whether unionism, at present compulsory, should be voluntary or compulsory. It proposes that workers striking in defiance of the decision of a secret ballot should be barred from other employment until the dispute is settled.

Union Opposition

The central trade union organization, the Federation of Labor, conducted a vigorous campaign against these proposals throughout the pre-election period. It referred to "unprecedented proposals for the destruction of the present democratic administration of trade union affairs" and said they amounted to "regimentation of the workers almost identical with the policies of the Hitler and Stalin regimes." It bitterly denounced plans for "blacklisting" workers "thus unjustly forcing capitulation through starvation of men, women and children."

Mr. Holland declined to retract any of his policy and will undoubtedly take his electoral success as a mandate to put it into effect and a sign that the voters have tired of the tactics of the militant unions.

The watersiders (longshoremen) are probably the most powerful labor group in New Zealand. For long critics of the Labor regime criticized the government's treatment of this union and alleged that the waterside leaders had become so strong that they could defy the law and the government.

Last year, however, the Labor government took a much stronger line with the watersiders and relations became extremely strained. It is said in some quarters that the watersiders are not at all displeased at the election result.

Remove Obstacle To Marriage

TURIN, Italy, Jan. 16—(AP)— An Italian court Saturday removed one of the obstacles that has been keeping film director Roberto Rosselini from marrying his leading lady, Ingrid Bergman.

An assizes court ruled that the Austrian annulment of Rosselini's marriage to Marcella de Marchis is valid in Italy.

The court had said it would make no effort to investigate the reasons for the reported annulment, but only would establish that an Austrian court had issued the annulment decree.

Miss Bergman's Italian lawyer has said she will seek a Mexican divorce from her husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, a Hollywood surgeon.

Miss Bergman first announced her intention to marry Rosselini after she had starred in his latest movie filmed on the volcanic island of Stromboli, near Sicily.

Plans Super-Garage For City's Parking

MONTREAL —(CP)—Inventor R. Rainville says he thinks he has the solution to Montreal's downtown parking problem with his parkodrome.

Rainville's brainstorm is a 10-storey building accommodating 59 cars on each floor and costing $175,000 to $300,000. A parkodrome with screw-type driveways, says the inventor, could park 500 cars in eight minutes.

To handle the estimated 20-000 cars that need parking daily in downtown Montreal, from $10,-000,000 to $20,000,000 would be required for the parkodromes.

Compared with this figure, Rainville says, is the $30,000,000 to $80,000,000 registered by the city as the estimated cost of three underground parking garages.

If Montreal were to build 12 parkodromes, it would derive an annual income of from $800,000 to $1,000,000, excluding rentals from ground-floor premises, Rainville said.

A board of light discs at the the entrances would tell the driver where there is parking space. If there is no space he simply drives right through the building and out the other side Rainville's plans allow drivers to manoeuvre in or out with one movement.

Population Experts Get Their Chance In 1950-51

By TOM OCHILTREE

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Jan. 16—(AP)—The world never has had anything better than an educated guess as to how many people live on its surface.

That is why 1950 is a special year for population experts. It won't provide a complete answer and neither will 1951, but the two taken together should clarify the picture.

Thirty - six countries are scheduled to conduct censuses in the next 24 months. They acount for roughly 60 per cent. of the world's estimated population of 2,350,000,000.

The United States will send out census takers this year Others on the 1950 list are: Bolivia, Brazil, Costa Rica, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, the Dominican Republic, Ecuador, El Salvador, Finland, Western Germany Greece, Guatemala, Honduras, Iceland, Japan, Mexico, Norway, Peru, Poland, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey and Venezuela.

Census taking is scheduled in 1951 for Canada, Britain, Burma Ceylon, China, Haiti, India, Italy, Liechtenstein, New Zealand, and the Union of South Africa.

Not Complete

United Nations officials explain that the lists cannot be regarded as complete. Scheduled censuses in some countries may not come off, and other nations have not yet reported their census plans.

The United Nations has taken an active role in the census preparations. It hopes to establish standards to increase the international comparability of census results. To this end the statistical and population commission, which report to the Economic and Social Council, have recommended procedures to be followed, including types of question to be asked and the tabulation of figures.

Commission oficials pointed out that there are large areas of the world where a census never has been taken. U N. officials believe it may be years yet before a reasonably exact world population figure is available.

Lesson Sermon Topic Is Entitled Life

"Life" was the subject of the Lesson Sermon which was read in all churches of Christ, Scientist throughout the world, including First Church of Christ, Scientist Peterborough, on Sunday The Golden Text was: "Now that the dead are raised, even Moses shewed at the bush, when he calleth the Lord the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. For he is not a God of the dead, but of the living: for all live unto him"

Selections from the Bible included the following from John 5:26: "For as the Father hath life in himself; so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself."

Correlative citations from the Christian Science textbook, included the following from page 289: 'Mortal man can never rise from the temporal debris of error, belief in sin, sickness, and death, until he learns that God is the only Life. The belief that life and sensation are in the body should be overcome by the understanding of what constitutes man as the image of God. Then Spirit will have overcome the flesh."

Canadian Prosperity Drop Predicted For 1950, Investment Peak Down

Predict Decline In Farm Machine Buying And Construction Material Cost; Greater Unemployment Likely During 1950

OTTAWA, Jan. 17—(CP)—Canada's 1950 capital investment program is shaping up into a $3,200,000,000 affair — about $200,000,000 below 1949's peak. Trade officials, still in the midst of tabulating preliminary investment estimates for the year, say the figures likely will show: 1. A decline in buying of agriculutral machinery and investment in manufacturing; 2. A decline in prices of some construction materials; 3. A volume of investment slightly below the 1949 record. The rate and volume of capital investment usually is considered as an indicator of internal prosperity. Officials say the $200,000,000 decline may result in a slight widening in the unemployed labor force and a decline in purchasing power.

To obtain an accurate picture of the 1950 investment picture, trade officials have been working for weeks surveying some 1,500 private and public organizations to find out their plans and forecasts for development, maintenance and expansion this year.

The survey is expected to be completed about mid-February. Meanwhile, officials say the market for agricultural machinery appears to be contracting. Many farmers already have stocked up on all the equipment they need.

Consider Buyers' Strike

Others have declared they will go on a "buyers' strike" and halt equipment purchases in 1950 until the government comes through with price support for their products, such as eggs, potatoes and cheese.

Thus, with farmers buying less, the machinery and equipment part of the capital investment estimate will likely drop from its peak of $1,400,000,000, officials say.

The other part of the investment estimate—the construction segment—last year reached a high of $2,000,000,000. There is some question in the minds of officials whether construction will remain at that level this year.

They believe, however, that if the 1950 total is not as high as the 1949 peak, there are forces at work which will prevent it from falling too much

Armament King Gustav Krupp Dies In Austria

SALZBURG, Austria, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Gustav Krupp, the German armaments king who built "Big Bertha" in the First World War and even more deadly guns for Hitler in the Second World War, is dead.

The 79-year-old head of one of the world's most tremendous arms industries died at his family estate here Monday. His full name was Gustav Krupp von Bohlen and Halbach.

The aged industrialist had been partially paralyzed since the war and escaped trial as a Nazi war criminal because he was too ailing and senile. Allied doctors, at the time the Nuernberg trials commenced in 1945, said Krupp was suffering from softening of the brain.

His wife, Bertha, after whom the mammoth long-range "Big Bertha" cannon which bombarded Paris in the First World War was named, was said to have remained at his side during his illness.

Marries Heiress

Born Gustav Halbach in The Hague, the Netherlands, he married Bertha Krupp when he was 36 and was granted the right to assume the name of Krupp von Bohlen and Halbach by Kaiser Wilhelm II, who attended the wedding. Bertha was the heiress to the vast Krupp interests and was one of the wealthiest women in the world.

Engine Quits Jockey Unhurt

BURBANK, Calif., Jan. 17. — (CP).—The engine conked out on Johnny Longden's private plane Monday and the ace jockey narrowly escaped a crash in an emergency landing at Burbank airport.

Charley Williams, pilot of the plane, said he and Longden were returning from the John D Hertz ranch near Santa Paula, Calif., when their motor quit at 3,000 feet.

Ambulances and fire trucks were waiting on the field, but neither Longden nor his pilot was hurt. The jockey said he was just shaken up.

Longden, for years one of North America's top saddle artists, has ridden more than 3,300 winners in 22 years.

Rescue Workers Dig Closer To Coal Miner

MAHANOY CITY, Pa., Jan. 17 (AP)—At the risk of their own lives, a small band of rescue workers inched to within 12 feet of an entombed coal miner today. They said they expect to reach Edward Burda, 26, late this afternoon. But they have little hope he is still alive.

Burda was trapped by a rock slide last Friday 120 feet below the surface in an anthracite elope. A brother, Joseph, 30, was rescued early Sunday from a spot 55 feet down.

Using an air compressor, rescue workers Monday night began opening a shaft scarcely large enough for one man at the rate of about one foot an hour. If they fail to find the open space they seek behind the coal car, they may have to go back up the main shaft about 50 feet and start removing debris rock by rock.

Jail Ex-Assessor

BROCKVILLE, Jan. 17 — (CP)—Allan Reid, former town assessor and tax collector in nearby Prescott, was sentenced to one year in prison today when he appeared for sentence on charges of converting public funds to his own use. Sentence was passed by Judge Donald E. Lewis, of Brockville. It was reported Reid would appeal the decision.

Pearson Plans Trade Talks On Way Home

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Jan. 17 — (Reuters)— The Canadian delegation to the Commonwealth Foreign Ministers' Conference here will conduct exploratory trade talks in India, Pakistan and Japan on the homeward journey, it was stated today.

The delegation, headed by the Minister of External Affairs, L. B. Pearson, will complete a round-the-world trip by returning to Ottawa by way of Karachi, Delhi, Rangoon, Singapore, Hong Kong, Tokyo, Wake Island, Honolulu and San Francisco. It travelled to Colombo via Britain, the Mediterranean and Karachi.

The delegation will leave Colombo by air Thursday morning.

In an exclusive interview with Reuters, Pearson said today the Canadian delegation was satisfied "that during the Colombo meeting we have set in train important developments in Commonwealth co-operation, especially in the Asian field."

Stressing that it would be just as mistaken to underestimate the achievements of the conference as to expect immediate spectacular results, which were never intended, he said.

"It was particularly interesting to see the important part Asian members of Commonwealth played in Colombo and the constructive attitude taken by Australia and New Zealand delegates towards Asian problems."

Guest In Pakistan

Pearson during his two-day stay in Karachi will be the guest of the governor-general of Pakistan, Khwaja Nazimuddin.

He will meet Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan, and will be present for the installation of Canada's first high commissioner to Pakistan, David Johnson, who was also a member of the Canadian delegation to the Colombo conference and preceded the main party to Karachi.

Pearson will meet the Pakistan finance minister, Ghulam Mohammed, Jan. 21, with experts from both sides of discussions on Canadian-Pakistan trade prospects

Canada's 1948 exports to Pakistan totalled $7,800,000 compared with imports of $1,300,000.

During the first nine months of 1949 the discrepancy was even more pronounced with Canadian exports of $12,000,000 compared with imports of $1,000,000.

As Pakistan has a favoraole trade balance with the United States at present, observers expect Canada will sound out prospects in Karachi of increasing the volumn of of Pakistan dollar purchases in Canada.

Tourist Industry Said Aid To Farmers

TORONTO, Jan. 17 — (CP) — Ontario's booming tourist industry was pictured today as a possible means of assisting Canadian farmers in finding markets for their products.

In an address to the Tourist Resorts Association of Ontario, Tom C. McCall, Ontario Deputy Minister of Travel, referred to the 21,000,000 border-crossings into Ontario in 1949 by U. S. citizens as a blessing to Canadian agriculture.

"By bringing into Ontario in 1949 five times our normal population, we have created a gigantic outlet for products of our farms," he said.

"It may not be as spectacular as negotiated ideals between governments, but you cannot escape the fact that tourism is today playing a major part in the life of every citizen in our province.

Edmonton Woman Leaves Aussies Gasping Visits Country For Less Than 48 Hours

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 17—(CP)—Mrs. Walter Pitfield, wife of an Edmonton business man, today left Sydney by plane after one of the shortest tourist trips to Australia ever—she stayed less than 48 hours.

When Mrs. Pitfield arrived Sunday she said Australians "bashed her ear" so much about their country that she decided to pay a literal flying visit.

"I am glad I didn't bring my husband," she said today on departing aboard a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane. "The way I went around would wear out a man-eating gorilla. I had four hours sleep here. My hire car bills were just 30 times my hotel bills. If anyone ever beat my record for seeing Sydney they must be in an insane asylum by now."

The Sydney Sun today, in a story bylined by a weary staff reporter, says:

"I spent all yesterday vainly trying to catch up with Mrs. Pitfield. Everywhere I went they said 'She's just left.' When I finally tracked her down to her hotel this morning she said, 'You have the most wonderful city in the world. Excuse me—my plane leaves at noon.' "

3 Cabbies Robbed By Gunman

Shuttle-Service Thug Attempts Fourth Hold-up, Flees

TORONTO, Jan. 17—(CP)—A middle-aged gunman, described by police as the "shuttle-service bandit," Monday night held up three taxi-drivers and narrowly avoided capture when he attempted a fourth. Total loot was $90.

Police said the man, believed about 50 years of age, was driven from Toronto to suburban Etobicoke where he robbed the driver. He then ordered a cab back to Toronto, and robbed this driver also. He then picked up a girl friend and ordered a third cab to be taken back to Etobicoke. On the way he dropped the girl friend in West Toronto. Then in Etobicoke he robbed the driver.

On his fourth try he went to the same company he had robbed first. Told to wait outside, the manager called police, but the man fled.

Police are looking for the girl friend, named "Betty" by the gunman.

Gives Up Hollywood For Theological Work

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 17.—(AP).—"The glamour and money of Hollywood are unimportant," says 21-year-old Colleen Townsend, who is giving up the films "to devote my life in serving Christ the best way I can."

Miss Townsend, starring with Dan Dailey in a forthcoming picture, declared:

"Giving up a Hollywood career may seem like nonsense to some people. I had thought that perhaps I could serve Christ through motion pictures. But I have decided that I can serve Him if I give all my time to Him."

A member of the Hollywood Presbyterian church, Miss Townsent said she felt it unfair to sign her studio contract for another year because she plans to go to a theological school. Her contract expires next month.

Say U.S. Tourists Give 300 Million

TORONTO, Jan. 17 (CP)—Leo Dolan, head of the Dominion Travel Bureau, said Monday Canada expects $300,000,000 from United States tourists this year.

An intensive drive in the US to keep its travellers at home in 1950 offered a challenge which was being met with the "biggest promotion campaign" in the Travel Bureau's history, he told the annual meeting of the Toronto Convention and Tourist Association.

"Tourist organizations across Canada are bringing about a finer relationship with the U. S.," whose tourists in 1949 provided Canada with her second largest source of American dollars, he said.

Chiang Reports Bombing Reds

TAIPEI, Formoa, Jan. 17. (AP)—Around-the-clock bombing of Communist bases on the China mainland continued tonight with Nationalist Chinese planes striking peninsula in south China.

The Communist forces are massing for an assault on Hainan Island, 10 miles from the peninsula.

Dispatches also reported Hainan's defences had been strengthened by the arrival of 40,000 troops from Yunnan Province.

In Tokyo, competent observers are skeptical the Nationalist Chinese air force is hitting the licks against Chinese Communists it is being credited with in formosa dispatches. They point out the Chinese air force in the past has been notable by its absence in combat.

Strachey Says Food Crisis Over In Britain

LONDON, Jan. 17 (CP)—Food Minister John Strachey asserted Monday that Britain's food crisis was over and that the British people now were eating better than they did before the war.

Political sources interpreted the speech as a clue to the Labor Government's strategy for the Feb. 23 general election. Party campaign chiefs have indicated they expect food policy will rank with full employment and the cost of living among the main election issues.

Strachey said that in terms of calories, proteins and fats Britain's diet has passed its prewar level.

"I say that we have largely overcome the crisis of the world food shortage and the crisis of dollar shortage," he said. "That is not to say, of course, that we have reached our goal of a fully adequate food supply in every particular, but I do feel entitled to say that the crisis situation has passed."

Big Reduction

He repeated what he has often said in recent months—that Britain now is buying only 12 per cent of her food from dollar sources compared with 36 per cent when he became food minister in May, 1946.

"Wheat now is the only remaining foodstuff on which we are dependent for dollar imports. I tremble to think what the food supply would be if we had not carried out that major switching operation and carried it out in time."

Strachey is regarded here as the chief target of recent criticisms of the British Government's trading policies levelled by Agriculture Minister Gardiner of Canada.

Coldest In 10 Years Winnipeg Still Shivers

WINNIPEG, Jan. 17 — (CP) — Winnipeg is being hit by the longest cold spell in the last 10 years.

"In the last 10 years, I haven't found any cold spell of such long duration," said the weatherman here as he noted the city has been in the throes of sub-zero temperatures for the last 37 days.

He sees no immediate break.

Low during the night was 30 below and today's forecast predicted a high of 15 below.

On only three days—Dec. 29-30 and Jan. 11—since Dec. 10 has the maximum temperature been above normal, the forecaster said. Average maximum temperature for the first half of this month has been 6.5 degrees below zero, 13.5 degrees colder than the 75-year seven-above average.

Schoolboys, Citizens Help To Sandbag Flood Levees

CHICAGO, Jan. 17—(AP)—Imperilled townsfolk sandbagged levees or fled before the rising Wabash and Ohio Rivers in southern Indiana and Illinois today. Further downstream the big Mississippi, fed by all the swollen tributaries, prepared for the biggest flood fight in 13 years. The historic fortress city of Vincennes, Ind., expects a Wasbash River crest of 28½ or 29 feet Friday But United States Army engineers say they may save the city from the floodwaters. They say they have the manpower and equipment to hold out the river if it doesn't go above 30 feet. Volunteers — even schoolboys—helped bolster the concrete floodwall with sandbags.

But on the Illinois shore of the Ohio, and along the Wabash and little Wabash rivers, more families were forced from their homes.

Hundreds are homeless in Illinois, Indiana and Arkansas. About 12,000 more may become homeless on short notice in southeastern Missouri, where engineers may have to let the Mississippi river flow over the Birds Point-New Madrid floodwall.

California Hit

Elsewhere in the U. S., rain and snow plagued northern California and the downpour is expected to reach as far south as the San Joaquin valley of central California. Intermittent snows continued in the snow-blanketed Pacific northwest. Colder weather swept into parts of the southland. Below-zero cold still held northern border states in their grip

Vincennes was putting up a stiff fight against the river, which was inches below the 19-foot floodwall. If the river should spill over, large residential sections would be affected first.

At Rosiclare, Ill., water covered front street and 40 business houses closed or their stocks were moved to higher ground. About 250 of the 2,000 residents were homeless.

Willing To Give New York Water

STRATFORD, Jan. 17 (CP)—For the price of a return trip to New York and drilling expenses there, an amateur scientist in this Western Ontario city claims he can solve New York's water shortage.

Frederick Heithohmer, retired German-born oilman, said today in an interview that through his "human radio" research system he has traced an hitherto undetected subterranean stream linking Lake Ontario with New York City.

Heithohmer, who claims he can prove his theory, says his system incorporates eye study, psychology, phrenology, hypnotism and a smattering of high grade palmistry.

He said he has offered his services to New York in the sinking of a well by rotary drill to bring water from the hidden stream to the surface.

$15,000 Fire Razes Fenelon Falls Garage

FENELON FALLS, Jan. 17 — (CP)—Fire Monday destroyed a storage garage housing four trucks in this Victoria County village, 15 miles north of Lindsay. Loss is estimated at $15,000.

The blaze was discovered by the garage owner, Albert Rettie, a Fenelon Fall's lumberman. Volunteer firemen who fought the fire for two hours were credited with saving nearby buildings in the business section.

Convict Vanishes From Escape-Proof Cell Utilizes 10-Inch Space, Police Baffled

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Jan. 17—(CP)—The small police force of these tiny, normally peaceful, holiday islands is engaged in a day-and-night hunt for a Negro convict whom no prison seems able to hold.

George LeRoy Matthews, 29, has made his fifth break from Hamilton Jail, despite special precautions taken to guard him. He cut through wire-meshed glass and half-inch metal bars and squeezed through a 10-inch square gap, leaving his prison clothes on the floor of the cell where he was kept in solitary confinement.

Heading across the prison courtyard, he used a rope to scale a 14-foot wall with barbed wire on top and leaped down into an alley on the other side to freedom, clad only in his underwear.

Matthews stands five feet, seven inches, and he is a strong man. Wardens at the jail are baffled at Matthews' latest escape. His cell had been regarded as escape-proof.

Father Leaps 16 Feet, Badly Burned

Fear Third Person May Have Perished In Denbigh Blaze

DENBIGH, Jan. 17—(CP)—A mother and her two-year-old daughter were burned to death and the father badly burned about the face and hands when fire early today destroyed the garage in which they were living. Denbigh is north of Napanee in Lennox, and Addington County.

Police believe another person also may have perished in the fire.

Mrs. Albert Wienecke, 26, and her daughter Barbara died in the blaze, while Mr. Wienecke jumped out of the window with his clothes blazing.

Police believe that Will Storing, of Denbigh, also was sleeping in the living quarters above the garage, and he perished in the fire. Police are digging through the ruins in an attempt to find his body.

The fire started while the family was in bed. The flames raced through the building and completely destroyed it before aid could reach the garage.

Unable To Talk

Mr. Wienecke was taken to his father's home in Denbigh. The badly burned man wasn't able to talk because of the burns he had received about the face. His wrist was broken as a result of the 16-foot jump from the window. His condition was reported as serious.

The injured man owned a service station in Denbigh and Storing, 21, worked part time for him.

A bus from the Emerson Bus Line, Tweed, was in the garage at the time and it was a total wreck.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wienecke were born in Denbigh and lived all their lives in the village

No Coalition Attlee Pledge

LONDON, Jan. 17 (AP)—Britain's Labor government leaders Monday night got off to a head start in their campaign for re-election, declaring they would never agree to a coalition with Winston Churchill's Conservatives.

Herbert Morrison, deputy prime minister, said the Feb. 23 general election is a "straight choice between a Labor government and a Conservative government."

There has been newspaper speculation that a coalition government might be formed to bring Britain through her economic crisis if neither party rolled up a substantial majority in the election.

"A two-party coalition would not work," Morrison told followers at his constituency in Lewisham, a working-class section of London, "and Labor would never agree to one."

Morrison, who opened the campaign with Attorney-General Sir Hartley Shawcross, predicted his party can win with the votes of all of its so-called natural supporters — party members, trade unions and members of co-operative societies. But he asked for additional support from all classes on the basis of the government's record during the five post-war years it has held office.

Cured Of Insanity Murderer Must Die

NEW YORK, Jan. 17—(CP)—Lewis Wolfe, Montreal-born convicted murderer, will be released from a state hospital for the criminally insane as "completely cured" and will be condemned to die in the electric chair, the Daily Mirror says today.

The Mirror says it learned that the wealthy textile manufacturer, convicted five years ago of first-degree murder in the fatal beating of his actress-wife Paula, "has made full and complete recovery."

Under New York State law, Wolfe, a graduate of McGill University, must be resentenced.

Last Bodies From Noronic Buried Today

TORONTO, Jan. 17 (CP)—The remaining bodies of the 119 persons who died in the burning of the steamship Noronic were buried here today with the rites of five religious denominations.

In bitter 20-degrees-above-zero weather, under a grey sky, some 200 persons watched as five grey caskets were lowered into the frozen earth at Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The simple ceremony lasted less than 30 minutes.

All the victims of the fire have been identified, but three were so severely burned pathologists were unable to attach individual names to the remains. Today's funeral was for these three and for 12 other bodies which for various reasons were not returned to their home towns for burial.

All but five of the bodies were buried here earlier. Committal services were conducted today over the five remaining caskets—those of the Roman Catholic faith, the Hebrew religion, the Church of England, the United Church of Canada and the Salvation Army.

Officiating Clergymen

Officiating are the Rev. Father B. T. Kyte, Roman Catholic; Bishop A. R. B. Beverley of the Church of England; the Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Howse, representing Protestant churches; Rabbi Abraham Feinberg and Major Morgan Flanagan of the Salvation Army. The services are all being held at the gravesides.

H. Earl Russell, United States Consul, will represent the United States. Most of the victims were Americans, mainly from Cleveland and Detroit.

Today's rites end the long, tragic story that began early on the morning of Sept. 17. Since then pathologists headed by Dr W. L. Robinson of the Banting Institute here have exhausted medical science in their attempts to assign the correct names to charred and twisted remains. There were 116 deaths aboard the lake cruiser and three died later in hospital.

Pope Pius Suffering From Rheumatism

VATICAN CITY, Jan. 17 (AP)—Pope Pius is suffering from rheumatism and has for several days given up his daily walks in the Vatican garden, a Vatican source reported today.

However, the Pope continues to follow his rigorous schedule of work and audiences, increased by the 1950 Holy Year.

The Aoman information agency, ARI, which specializes in Vatican news, said that for several days the pontiff has continued to go to the Vatican gardens each afternoon, but does not leave his automobile, in which he remains to read and work.

Canadian Ship Runs Blockade

HONG KONG, Jan. 17—(CP)—The first evidence that the Chinese Nationalists have "effectively" mined the sea approaches to Communist Shanghai was disclosed today when the Canadian steamship Lake Canim, with a crew of 38 Vancouver seamen aboard, docked here after running the blockade. A. J. Wright of Vancouver, Captain of the 7,163-ton Lake Canim, revealed the Nationalist mining of the main channel to Shanghai. He also indicated that the Communists do not want foreign ships to trade with them at all. Wright said he saw three Nationalist warships—one loaded with mines—enter the Yangtze River Dec. 24 and begin laying mines.

"We did not wait long enough for the ships to come out again," he said, "but I have absolutely no doubt that the main channel to Shanghai is mined effectively."

(In Vancouver, John Rosene, president of the Western Canada Steamship Company, Limited, owners of the Lake Canim, said the ship once was within 18 miles of Shanghai, but did not enter because the captain "did not like the look of it.")

Clears Up Mystery

The captain cleared up some of the mystery of the Lake Canim's movements since she left Kobe, Japan, for Hong Kong to load for Shanghai nearly two months ago.

The first Canadian ship to run the Nationalist blockade of the Red China coast, the Lake Canim made three efforts before Dec. 24 to slip into Shanghai. Each time she was forced back by Nationalist warships.

Finally, the ship sailed for the Communist-held Tsingtao, about 350 miles north of Shanghai. In Tsingtao, the Lake Canim discharged her 4,500 tons of cargo.

Prices Climb Steadily On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 17 — (CP).—Prices climbed steadily upwards as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Industrials led the uptrend on a wide list of scattered fractional gains.

Volume for the first three hours was 590,000 shares.

Papers, refining oils, utilities, agricultures and steels were well ahead in the industrial groupings. Chatco Steel added ¾ at a new high 13¾ and Massey-Harris continued advancing, up ⅜ at 24⅝.

Base metals were in a recovery movement of Monday's losses. Consolidated Smelters gained 1⅛ at 101 and Noranda, Hudson Bay and International Nickel were ahead fractions. Golden Manitou, a feature of recent sessions, was active, but under pressure of profit-taking sales for a five-cent loss at $3.05.

Calgary and Edmonton gained 25 cents at $7.85 as key Western oils advanced.

Junior gold producers firmed while seniors were steady.

Overcame Prejudice Maori Woman Elected

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Jan. 17 — (CP)—The first Maori woman to become a member of New Zealand's parliament is a widow with six children.

She is Mrs. Iriaka Matui Ratana, who overcame the objections of Maori men that woman's place was in the home to win the Western Maori seat held by her late husband, M. Ratana, a Labor party member. Mrs. Ratana was the official Labor candidate in the Dominion general election last Nov. 30.

Mr. Ratana was a son of Wiremu Ratana, a Maori prophet who founded the Ratana Church. By allying itself with the Ratana movement which has a large number of adherents, the Labor party has held a firm grip in the Western Maori seat.

The recent election was the first in which a Maori woman stood for parliament. Mrs. Ratana won out over a second woman candidate, Mrs. K. Nutana, and eight men candidates.

Mrs. Ratana, in her early 40's, is an accomplished musician who made a world tour with a concert party formed by the Ratana movement.

Birdman Is Active On Half-Acre Isle

DUNEDIN, N. Z. (CP)—L. E Richdale, a Dunedin ornithologist, will lead a hermit's life for several months on Whero, an island less than half an acre in extent, off the extreme south of New Zealand. He will occupy a one-roomed shack but he will be one of the busiest people in the country.

For several years he has been studying the five species of petrel which are the island's sole inhabitants. He has banded a large number of birds on previous visits, and now he plans to check on the results of his work. He will be occupied from dawn to dark in tracking down the birds and examining their nests.

His chief worry is not loneliness but how to find time for meals.

Sees No Break In B.C. Weather

VANCOUVER, Jan. 17 (CP)—British Columbia, ill-equipped for frigid weather, today waited for a break in the bitter cold spell, but the weatherman had little cheer.

He said there is no indication the cold will ease, and forecast further difficulties for the heavily-drifted Fraser valley, where many side roads remain blocked by the last week's blizzards.

Water is short at Prince Rupert on the upper B.C. coast, at Whalley, in the Fraser valley, and Ladysmith on Vancouver Island.

Thousands of millworkers are jobless as ice conditions make operation of mills "impractical."

Many schools are closed and trains are running behind schedule.

Overnight, Prince George, 510 miles north, was the coldest spot in the province with 53 below. Vancouver had a low of 10 above.

Crown Concludes Case In Abduction

COCHRANE, Jan. 17 (CP) — The Crown today concluded its case against Edward Ivall, accused of the 1947 abduction of Hancy Humphrey, 14-year-old ward of the Tisdale Township Children's Aid Society.

The boy testified Ivall took good care of him and there were no immoral relations between them during the months they lived first in Sudbury, then Vancouver and later at Bralorne, B C.

Humphrey said he met Ivall at a show in Timmins in September 1947 and went away with him as Ivall's son. Earlier, he and Ivall had been traced to Sherbrooke, Que., and Humphrey was brought back to the society.

Police said Ivall told them he had obtained permission from the boy's mother to take care of him.

The trial is continuing.

AMOS, Que., Jan. 17. (CP) — Three young bandits were arrested early Monday shortly after they kidnapped an Amos taxi driver, robbed him of $50 and left him bound and gagged in his stalled vehicle in below zero weather.

The three were identified as Jean Marie, alias Yvonn Beauchamp, 31, and his 20-year-old brother, Roger of Montreal and Rosaire Rochin, 20, of this northwestern Quebec mining district.

Taxi-driver Jean Marie Laplante of Amos told provincial police the trio boarded his cab here and asked to be taken to Bearn, about 15 miles north of here. Six miles out of the town limits, Laplante said, the trio jumped him.

John R. Crawford, of Philadelphia and I discussed the material for today's column and I believe we have some good suggestions to help you improve your Canasta game.

Mr. Crawford says that when you take a fairly large pack and are making melds, do not be too anxious to complete mixed canastas. Before putting all your wild cards down to complete a canasta or two, give your partner a chance to complete your canastas.

Of course, if your partner has thrown away cards of a canasta that you can complete, and you know he does not have any more of them, you are safe and correct in completing that canasta.

Here is another point in connection with spreading wild cards: If you meld 3 nines and 3 tens, for instance, and there is no likelihood of the opponents going out, do not be too anxious to put your deuce or joker down with one of those melds.

Bear in mind that you must have a base of at least four natural cards to form a canasta. With 3 nines and 3 tens down, you would have to guess which of those melds to put the deuce or joker with, and you might waste your wild card.

Perhaps when it is your partner's turn to play, he will take the guess out of the hand by playing either a nine or a ten, and then you will have a base to work with. Or your partner might put down 3 fours, of which you have a pair in your hand. Now see how valuable your deuce or joker is. Now for my regular questions and answers.

Q—I had one card left in my hand. Our side did not have a canasta. I drew a card that was playable on one of our melds but it did not complete a canasta. Could I play that card on the meld and keep the other card in my hand and not make a discard?

A—No. The only time you do not have to discard is when you go out. Therefore you could not play the card you drew on your meld. You must discard one of the two cards in your hand and keep the other.

Q—I have answered this question before but my readers still ask it. You need a minimum meld of 50 points. The up-card on the pack, let us say, is a five. You hold in your hand a five, a wild card, and you also have 3 aces. Many players want to know if they can meld the 3 aces (60 points), thus fulfilling the minimum meld requirement, and then pick up the pack with the five and the wild card in their hand.

A—No, this may not be done. The laws specify that first you must draw, then you can meld, and then you must discard. You may not meld before you draw. You must either draw or pick up the discard pile before you may make any meld. In such a case, you have only one five-spot in your hand, and the pack is frozen to you because you have not made a minimum initial meld. Therefore you must not pick up the five-spot with your five and a wild card, even though you do have the 60 points in your hand to meld.

Q—If I freeze the pack in 3-handed Canasta, in which all three of us are playing for ourselves, is it frozen for both of the other players, or do I freeze it only for myself and the player on my left?

A—When you freeze the pack in Canasta, whether you are playing 2-, 3-, 4-, 5- or 6-handed, you freeze it for everybody.

Mother, 4 Children Saved From Gas

TORONTO, Jan. 17 — (CP) —A mother and her four children were saved from possible asphyxiation in their suburban East York home today when two dog-catchers saw a little girl stagger from the house and collapse on the lawn.

George Barry and Horace Lockyer were passing the house looking for stray dogs when Shirley Braithwaite, 11, came from the house and collapsed.

Shirley had been sent out by her mother to get ginger ale at a store after Mrs. Braithwaite smelled fumes in the house after getting up and found the children sick.

Firemen revived Shirley with an inhalator.

74,000 Miners In Walkout, Strike Spreads

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 17 (AP)—The United States today was in the third week of its "now you see it and now you don't" coal strikes.

In the first week of the new year, 16,000 members of the United Mine Workers walked out on their jobs in Illinois.

The next Monday saw them back in the pits, but—about 69,000 UMW members walked out in seven other states.

Last Wednesday, UMW president John L. Lewis politely "suggested" that the 69,000 go back to work.

Today, apparently ignoring the suggestion, nearly 74,000 UMW members, in approximately the same states, were on strike.

And John Ozanich, president of the 2,400-member local at the H. C. Frick Coal Company's Robena mine, in Greene County, Pa. —world's largest—declared his belief that the strike will spread over the entire country.

Won't Go Back

"Our men will never go back till they get a contract," he declared.

Asked about other mines in the Pittsburgh area which worked, Ozanich said:

"They'll go out too. Or we'll see that they go out."

The strike assumed a new economic aspect in western Pennsylvania as Union Supply Company announced it had cut off credit for all striking miners at the stores it operates in coal mine towns.

Union Supply is owned by H. C. Frirk Coke Company which in turn is owned by United States Steel Corporation.

President Ozanich of the Robena local fired off a telegram to Pennsylvania Governor Duff urging emergency action by the State's Department of Public Assistance.

Water Users To Bear Cost Sewage Plant

COBOURG, Jan. 17 (ENS) — The sewage rental bylaw will be introduced at next week's council meeting, Mayor Joe Smith announced last night at a special meeting of the council. The Public Utilities Commission will be asked to attend so that they can go over the clauses together.

Mayor Joe Smith reviewed the history of the new sewage disposal system, pointing out that there had been delays in getting a by-law drawn up to cover a surcharge on the water rate in order to finance it. It was felt that each water user paying a share of the cost of the sewage disposal plant on the basis of water used, was more equitable than putting it on the taxrate.

Agreement With Industry

The trunk sewer was already being financed by debentures but the $338,000 covering the plant was being handled as water rate surcharge. The by-law was delayed because the Public Utilities Commission had at first declined to have it on the waterrate because the Commission feared industry might resent the increase and use less water but an amicable agreement with industry had since been reached and the utilities now would handle the billing. The by-law also ran into a snag with provincial authorities but this also had been ironed out, the Mayor said.

For years industry had received water at a loss to the utilities commission and the jacking up to meet cost of production meant an increase in industry bills of 66 per cent.

Not Imposed Upon

Madame Counucillor Stephens asked the Mayor if the increase in the water rate might not discourage other industries from coming to Cobourg. The mayor replied that industry was not being imposed upon. Arrangements had been made to meet situations which were local to the industries involved. For instance one factory, after using water, piped it to another factory where it was used the second time and thence was piped to the creek. The General Electric purchased 22 millions of gallons a year but part of it went into the creek and so an arrangement was made in that case also.

The extra which would be paid by the CGE was only $156 a year. If the sewage disposal plant went on the taxrate, the CGE would be paying $1,300 more, the Mayor explained.

Reeves, Mayors Begin Study Of Greater Toronto Merger

TORONTO, Jan. 17 — (CP).— The City of Toronto is one thing and the Greater Toronto area is another. With growth of population in recent years the affairs of the city and surrounding municipalities have become so intermingled that officials of all the different bodies agree that something ought to be done.

Premier Frost of Ontario Monday held a conference with the heads of Toronto, a city of 750,000, and the 12 surrounding municipalities that swell the metropolitan area population to nearly 1,000,000. They wound up on a harmonious note, agreeing on a number of problems that should be settled.

To attack these problems the mayors and reeves of the municipalities concerned constituted themselves a committee, and after a private discussion with Premier Frost and other Provincial Government ministers, they appointed Judge Ian Macdonnell as the independent chairman of this committee.

Premier Frost announced that the province would bear all expenses of the committee's work. He also declared that the overall grants which the Ontario Government makes owards education, roads and other municipal services would not be reduced in the event there is a change in their present status.

Housing Concern

Housing, said Premier Frost, was one of the chief concerns. Describing Ontario as one of the "backward areas" in Canada with regard to low rental housing, Premier Frost said disadvantages in the present system are the concentration of industry in some municipalities and the overflow of population in others which have little industrial assessment.

"The objective must be a municipal system which is best designed to take care of the needs of the people," said he Premier. But he stressed that he called the conference to allow the municipalities to reach their own solution, without the province imposing any plan on them.

The civic heads and municipalities present at the meeting were Mayor Hurom McCallum, of Toronto; Mayor C. Tracy Manes, of Leaside; Mayor W. C. Jackson, of New Toronto; Mayor A. D. Norris, of Mimico; Mayor R. Seagraves, of Weston; Reeve H. G. Simpson, of East York; Reeve C. M. Sinclair, of Etobicoke; Reeve Bruce Davis, of Forest Hill; Reeve L. Iles, of Long Branch; Reeve N. Boylen, of North York; Reeve O. E. Crockford, of Scarboro; Reeve W. E. Brandon, of Swansea, and Reeve W. G. Beech, of York Township.

Main Topics

Main topics of discussion were housing, water supply, education and transportation, and several of the municipal heads declared that these items would have to be reduced to a dollars and cents basis before they could deal adequately with them.

While various viewpoints were being put forth Mayor McCallum told the meeting: "This is an area problem. I say that industry in the area should pay for houses in the area. If North York continues to build houses without industry, it will go bankrupt." He explained that if the city of Toronto is to supply North York and Scarboro with the water supply they now ask from Toronto mains, Toronto would have to spend $4,000,000 on enlargement of its pumping equipment.

Break Into Plant But Find No Loot

A break-in which netted the thief or thieves nothing, was discovered about 11:45 Monday night by Constable Sherman Keliele at Montgomery Brothers Cold Storage Plant.

The constable reports he found jemmy marks on a window at the south side of the building. All the drawers of an office desk had been opened, but as far as the proprietors could see, nothing was missing.

This is the fourth break-in reported to police in Peterborough since Saturday.

London Council Votes To Accept Apology

In opposing the sending of Fire Chief R. C. McRonald to this year's convention in Vancouver, Delegate Ronald Spears called such conventions "just a good drunk." Chief McRonald is association president.

Lucky Escape

BIGGAR, Sask., Jan. 17—(CP) —James Kubal, 70-year-old bachelor farmer from nearby Valley Centre, credits his heavy fur coat and "a few shots of rum" with saving his life during a 10-hour period of wandering through 40-below zero weather Sunday night. He is in hospital here suffering from badly-frozen feet, but otherwise little the worse for his experience. He got lost and stumbled around until he found a vacant farm house, where he stayed until dawn.

Cost Analysis For Farms Practical Things

TORONTO, Jan. 17 — (CP) — Cost analysis of farm products by the Farm Economic Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture has yielded "excellent information" for producers in negotiating their 1949 contracts, Dr. H. L. Patterson said today. He mentioned particularly studies on tomatoes, corn and peas.

Dr. Patterson, Director of the Branch, in a speech prepared for delivery to the Fruit and Vegetable Grower's Assocation said his department is at present supervising cost studies on seven different farm enterprises.

In addition the branch is completing the second year's analysis on hog production costs. Large scale studies are under way on dairy enterprise costs; and some preliminary studies of sheep production costs have been established.

"It is our practice," said Dr. Patterson," to provide each producer who co-operates in keeping cost figures with a summary of his own enterprise and a comparison on each detail with the average of his county, the high income farms of his country and the low and the provincial average.

"This is a confidential report to the grower. On it are given such information as comparisons with average yields, rates, or fertilizing, (and) required."

Wasn't Fooling

PENTICTON, B.C., Jan. 17 — (CP)—It took eight months and two appearances in court, but H. E. Gough finally proved he wasn't fooling when he told the city they'd better cart away his garbage—or else. The city refused to take action, so he did the job himself and forwarded the bill. Small Debts court and County court both decided in his favor. Now he's waiting for his $1 cheque.

The Canadian Family owes much to... Greece

THE STRENGTH AND VITALITY of any nation stems from the character of its people. Canada, stalwart champion of democracy, draws its strength from the peoples of many nations and its variety and colour from the blending of their racial and cultural heritages.

Rich in natural resources, Canada has enriched herself culturally by interweaving the national characteristics of these many races, whose common bond is citizenship in the Canadian Family.

Greece, cradle of democracy in the Old World, has fought and suffered through the centuries to retain democratic freedom. Today, many Greeks enjoy the security and privileges that Canadian citizenship affords.

Inspired by their natural love of independence, many have started their own businesses and built them into successful enterprises.

Greek literature, architecture and philosophy have contributed much to Canada's culture and the thrift and progressiveness of her people have won the respect of all Canadians.

Is The Five-Day City Hall Week Advisable?

Peterborough's civic servants are now on a five-day week, like most factory workers. It is a trend of the times which has been seized by the tail at the City Hall. The Council authorized, as a summer measure, the closing of the city offices on Saturdays during July, August and September. September came and went and still the city offices remained closed. In December some of the aldermen opened their eyes to this strange situation and the City Clerk was asked to report on the future, with a view to re-opening the offices for business Saturday mornings. It seems, however, that the five-day week had become an accomplished fact; it was easier to say closed than to re-open, and the Council last week sanctioned the permanent Saturday closing.

The five-day week is attractive to employees. Employers, even the City as an employer, may be able to show that efficiency is increased, good will among the staff perpetuated, and that sweetness and affability descend wherever the five-day week is canonical. The short week may be a very healthy institution for civic employees and office efficiency. Nevertheless the City Hall is not a factory on production lines, and city employees are servants of the people—civil servants.

• • •

Have the Council full assurance that the people of Peterborough are being adequately served when the city offices are closed on Saturday mornings? We are inclined to believe that many heads of families, working from seven to five o'clock and wishing to make personal enquiries about taxes, building regulations and the state of the paving in front of their homes, are shut out from the city offices which close at five and do not open on Saturdays. Saturday is the day when most people go "up town" on household affairs. It is also farmers' day and many country people have business in the city offices.

• • •

We believe that the Council would be well advised to reconsider the Saturday closing, and to require that at least a skeleton staff be maintained on Saturday mornings. We suggest this not to deprive the faithful civic employees of long week-ends, but that the citizens may be adequately and efficiently served.

1944 Amalgamation And The Frequency Conversion

In Peterborough yesterday Mr. Robert Saunders, Hydro Chairman, sought to lay any objections there might be in this 60-cycle area to sharing the cost of transforming the 25-cycle area of Toronto-Niagara-Windsor into a uniform 60-cycle frequency. Peterborough is generally convinced of the desirability of a uniform frequency throughout the province. It is less ready to believe that the cost should be shared equally by, say, us, and Toronto.

Mr. Saunders brought a host of statistics to do battle for him, stressing particularly the amalgamation in 1944 of three southern Ontario systems into the present one. Before that year there was a south-eastern system of 60 cycles (including Peterborough); a Georgian Bay 60-cycle area, and the great, power-greedy 25-cycle area. At that time, Mr. Saunders said, the 25-cycle power users were not in favour of the amalgamation, thinking it benefitted the 60-cycle users, and not them.

One advantage to us seems to have been that we could get power from the Niagara system when we ran short. It must be pointed out, however, that for several years before the amalgamation the 60-cycle areas had been getting power from the 25-cycle system. This was especially true of the Georgian Bay [illegible] had 43,982,000 kilowatt hours from the Niagara System. South-eastern Ontario did not draw to the same extent, lacking frequency-conversion stations. Mr. Saunders remarked that it was the 60-cycle areas, not the 25, which were most short of power before the amalgamation. This could serve to show that the 60-cycle areas derived immediate benefit from unification; it could also show that Hydro Commission had favoured the 25-cycle area in its construction projects, and ignored the 60-cycle regions too much. We in Peterborough are quite conscious of the several power lines crossing the county from the Gatineau, all carrying 25-cycle power, with barely a flicker for us.

The advantages of the 1944 amalagamation seem to have been administrative and financial. In fact, the financial results are surprising. In fact, the amalgamation was made financially retroactive to 1942, for some reason which Mr. Saunders did not explain. In 1942 Peterborough paid $25.58 a horsepower; in the next year, after the financial manipulations, $23.62. The stardard rate in each year was $26.00 a horsepower; the credits on this (the "thirteenth bill") amounted for 1942 to $5,084; in 1943 after the amalgamation applied financially, to $27,817. In successive years Peterborough had other large credits given it. While this was happening throughout the 60-cycle area municipalities in the 25-cycle area felt no such increase in their credits.

This all has the air of looking at the situation through rose-coloured glasses. We shall not quarrel with the figures, nor do we doubt that the city received these large credits on its Hydro bill. It does seem, however, that mere financial juggling produced astonishing results to users of 60-cycle power at no extra cost to 25-cycle people. The present frequency standardization is going to cost 60-cycle users extra money, and Peterborough people will have to help bear the cost of converting every electric clock, razor and larger appliance in the populous district from Toronto to Windsor.

We are fully in favour of the conversion however, even if we do not wholeheartedly approve the methods of financing it. And we have confidence that Mr. Saunders personally is a very capable as well as adroit man to head our provincial Power Commission.

A Blow At The Examination Bogy

We are glad to see that the Entrance Examination has become a thing of the past. There was a time, not long ago, when it was a landmark in a child's school career: for some children it meant the end of the road; for others it was a hurdle beyond which lay not only a more varied school life, but the beginning of the privileges of adult life. But it became customary to pass a certain number of children from the junior to the senior schools without examination if their year's work warranted it, and now this system, which relies upon the judgement of the teacher, is to be applied in all cases.

We are not whole-heartedly opposed to examinations. We are, however, opposed to limited examinations, which consist solely of a written paper. A fair examination, we feel, must combine three elements (1) a consideration of past work; (2) a written paper; (3) an oral examination which can test in fifteen minutes, or so, what a candidate really knows. But with thousands of children such elaborate examinations are out of the question, and it is better to have no examination than a poor one.

Reliance upon the teacher's judgement will be satisfactory in most cases, we think. After a year of teaching a child a teacher knows pretty well what it is likely to do on a written examination. Children who make a good showing after a bad year's work have been cramming, and cramming is not education. And although the new system may be open to some abuses, we do not think it is likely to do as much harm as the old system which, because of its incompleteness, made examinations a bogy to many children.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A school at Grantham, England, has inter-class telephones, to teach children how to use this convenience. Let's hope that a lesson in when to hang up is included.

Mayor McCallum says that Toronto does not want sports on Sunday mornings. For fear, we presume, that they would interfere with that most ancient of Sunday sports, lying in bed.

A View Of Tito's Country

By GEOFFREY VIVIEN

TO younger Canadians Jugo-Slavia probably seems a long way off and not half as important as the lastest hockey results. But older ones, who found themselves drawn into the First World War because a Bosnian peasant boy shot an Austrian Arch-Duke in 1914, are not likely to underestimate the importance of the drama now being played out on the same stage. It is one of the penalties—or privileges—of Canada's enhanced position as a world power that she has to bother about the possible consequences of bullet in the Balkans, and it becomes our business to get to know what kind of things go on in Balkan peasant boys' heads making them empty revolvers into their plumed masters.

THE best way to get to know a country is to live in it; unfortunately, the smaller the world becomes the more of it is put out of bounds, and it is extremely unlikely that you or I will ever live in any of the Iron Curtain countries, at any rate as free people. However there is a book on Jugo-Slavia that is almost as illuminating as a visit: Rebecca West's "Black Lamb and Grey Falcon". Published originally in 1942 it does not bring the story up to Tito; but this detracts little from its value to the person who wants to understand the South Slavs and their problems in the broadest sense. (The last word is not everything and you could learn quite a lot of English history from a book that never mentioned Attlee, or even Churchill—though it would be hard to keep the Churchills right out of the story!)

✧ ✧ ✧

LIKE the problems with which it deals, the book is complex in pattern and immense in scope. It stands at the opposite pole from those compendiums of knowledge which get you through exams; and if you are looking for a kind of "Quick Balkan Facts" keep away from Miss West. (John Gunther's your man.) She deal with history as a composer deals with a musical theme, letting it develop in its own way, often letting it disappear altogether while other themes sweep in and round. The result is a little confusing if you do not happen to possess a general framework of dates and events to guide you on your way. But do not be discouraged; the best way to get to know a place really well is to get lost in it.

✧ ✧ ✧

TWO things stand out, throwing light on the present situation. First, that Tito was bound to happen; Tito, that is, in his role of rebel against the Kremlin. If there is a major theme in the South Slav story it is that of intense individualism, expressing itself at this moment—perhaps rather belatedly—in the form of intense nationalism. The second is the extravagantly precarious position that Tito's regime occupies. For centuries the policies of the Great Powers have been directed towards fostering the natural antagonisms of the parts that make up present-day Jugo-Slavia, especially to exploiting the racial and religious divergencies of Croat and Serb. These are at least as sharp as those which separate the French Catholic and the Toronto Orangeman, and have no long tradition of parliamentary compromise to blunt their edge. Even without outside interference Tito's position is that of a circus-rider standing astride two high-mettled horses which have only recently been trained to work together; and with Russian interference at its present level of intensity it is as if a rowdy section of the audience were showering the performers with abuse and broken bottles. Could even Superman control his horses for long in such a pandemonium?

✧ ✧ ✧

AND if he should topple — what does the past tell us of the probable course of events then? Nothing very encouraging. It is almost a rule of South Slav progress, this "perpetual cancellation of human achievement." A new oppression; a new villain. Rebecca West is free with villain's parts; they are inherent in the drama, the tragedy, that has been the South Slav story. So far there have been two main ones and two lesser: the Turk and the Hapsburgs play the leads, the German and the British Foreign Office the subsidiary parts. Perhaps the last of these hardly graduates up to full-flooded villainy; imbecility has been, in Miss West's view, the Foreign Office's outstanding characteristic—though in 1915 when the attempt was made to bribe Italy by the offer of parts of Dalmatia, the gentlemen of the F.O. moved into the circles of Miss West's Higher Villainy.

✧ ✧ ✧

AND if a new oppression overtakes Jugo-Slavia, what hope of a new liberation? Again, the past is not unduly encouraging. It took the Serbs 500 years to regain the heritage of freedom lost by the Battle of Kossovo in 1389, that pivotal battle of Balkan history which let in the Ottoman Empire like a huge wave of sterilizing mud across the Peninsula. Moreover the new subjection would be of a totally different kind from those which have gone before—from the muddle-headed, slovenly obstructionism of the Austro-Hungarian Empire, or the vicious, pleasure-crazed despotism of the Turks. The Russians would come as members of a kindred race, as Slavs; and they would come bearing gifts—all those things which are now being withheld under the policy of economic sanctions. Serbia has held out against such a cold war as this before—the "Pig War" of 1905-10, when Austria raised their tariff against Serbian livestock to prohibitive heights as a rap for the Serbian customs agreement with Bulgaria. The way out then was to enlist Russian support; today history seems to be trying to repeat itself in reverse direction.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHATEVER action the Western Powers may decide upon in this new turn of events it is certain that they will avoid the main mistake of the past, that of underestimating the South Slavs as a people. Miss West's book, which probably stands in a good many Whitehall and Washington bookcases, may well have contributed to this end. She hymns the Southern Slav with the lyrical fervour of one who has discovered a world where men fear no more the frown o' the great, men who are past the tyrant's stroke. Here are her Serbs on the way to the Balkan war of 1912: "The Serbians rode southwards radiant as lovers. The whole West thought them barbarous swashbucklers, and fools at that, advancing on an enemy who had never been defeated, and had found some magic prescription for undeserved survival. That mattered nothing to these dedicated troops, wrapped in their rich and tragic dream." We see this people, through Rebecca West's eyes, illuminating their dark destiny with a wild and flashing heroism. How formidable as enemies, how difficult as friends! At that moment they stand alone, in a no-man's-land of their own making. It seems unlikely that this can long remain so, however congenial such defiant isolation may be to them in their hearts. Machines do not share heroic sentiments and machines are the muscles of the modern state. Sooner or later they will find themselves in the Western or the Eastern camp. Allies or enemies—either way they are going to affect our future and it is well to find out something more precise about them. Rebecca West's book makes a lively and fascination introduction.

PETERBOROUGH GETS THAT 1950 LOOK

Polish Communists Against The Church

By JOHN MILES

ALTHOUGH an open clash has so far been avoided, the war of the Communists against the Catholic Church in Poland is being rapidly and ominously intensified. By a decision of the Polish Government no Catholic priest, not even the Polish Primate, is to be allowed to visit Rome for the Holy Year. An application from the Primate, Dr. Stefan Wyszynski, for a foreign passport made some weeks ago, has been left unanswered.

Thus for the first time in the thousand years of her history as a Catholic country Poland was not officially represented at St. Peters.

Almost simultaneously with the opening of the Holy Year, a Communist military tribunal in Rzeszow, Southern Poland, sentenced three Catholic priests to terms of imprisonment of from seven to twelve years on charges of "co-operation with nationalist armed units against the People's democracy". Earlier three other priests were sentenced to death on similar charges in other parts of Poland.

The Polish Press, while giving the greatest prominence to the trial and sentences at Rzeszow, was instructed to ignore the Holy Year. Only one daily made some reference to the event, and then only to attack the Pope for what the paper, the "Kurjer Condzienny" (ostensibly the organ of the so-called Polish Democratic Party) called "Vatican plan to utilize the Holy Year in order to cement its alliance with the Fascist block".

Few Catholic papers are now permitted to appear in Poland. The only weekly truly representative of Catholic opinion is the "Tygodnik Powszechny" issued in Cracow under the sponsorship of Cardinal Prince Sapieha. But even this paper is under increasingly strict censorship and was not permitted to devote much space to the Holy Year.

One reason for official Communist anger with the Catholic hierarchy and Press is stated to be the categoric refusal of the Church to take part in the celebration of Stalin's seventieth birthday which, in Poland, as in other satellite countries, was made into a national holiday. "No Stalin's birthday, no Holy Year" was the verdict of the Communist rulers.

Significant of the attitude of the Catholic leaders was the fact that of some 9,000 Catholic priests in Poland no-one could be found willing to pay public homage to the Soviet leader.

THE true significance of this goes to the very root of the conflict, between State and Church in Poland today. For, having broken all other opposition, Polish Communists find the Catholic Church still unyielding, especially where friendship with Communist Russia is concerned. To the Catholic hierarchy the Kremlin symbolizes not only the continuation of the old Tsarist enmity towards the Polish nation but is also the arch-enemy of religion and of the Catholic religion in particular.

Having driven the Church from the field of education, which before the war was largely in its hands, the Communist leaders are making an effort to indoctrinate Polish youth, however, and all or almost all of the middle-aged and elderly population are all deeply religious, and despite official pressure follow and trust their church leaders.

Unlike the position before the war when nearly 30 per cent. of her inhabitants belonged to national minorities, Ukrainians, Germans and Jews, Poland today is 99 per cent. Catholic. In no country in Europe are the churches so crowded on Sundays as in Poland today, and this nearly six years after the establishment of the Communist rule. It is this deeply rooted religious sentiment of the Polish national that makes the regime reluctant, even now, to touch Church lands or follow Communist Czechoslovakia into an open clash with the Church. Although all larger estates in Poland have been broken up, those owned by the Church have been left untouched and are still not divided up.

But this situation is not likely to last for much longer. There is strong pressure within the Communist leadership to bring further pressure on the Church and deprive the hierarchy of the income being derived from these big estates, without which, it is argued, the Church could not carry on for long. In view of the present mood of the Communist leaders in Poland, many Catholics fear that drastic new anti-Church measures are bound to come, and probably very soon.

Letter To The Editor

PETERBOROUGH SUMMER THEATRE

Sir: May I be allowed to express, through your columns, my concern over the report in Saturday's Examiner on the 'housing' problem confronting the Peterborough Summer Theatre.

I am sure everyone in the city appreciates the dilemma of the Board of Education in administering public funds to the best advantage for education in the community. But it occurs to me that 'education' may perhaps be used in its wider sense to include not only formal instruction for children between the ages of 5 and 18 years, but also the extension of cultural opportunities for those over 18, in other words, Adult Education. The Department of Education opens the Normal School each winter for the So-Ed programme, which is partly sponsored by the Workers' Educational Association. It was a surprise to me to learn first hand how few of Peterborough's younger citizens had ever seen professionals on the stage, since the Grand Opera House closed long before their time. Surely in making it possible for the general public to attend the theatre last summer, the Board of Education made a very real contribution to the life of this community and incidentally did pioneer work in a new phase of the development of the theatre in Canada.

It would be ironic if, on her 100th birthday, Peterborough should fail in this particular respect, after being singled out last year as the ideal location in which to try the experiment of a summer theatre. A prophet is truly without honour in his own country and Peterborough has been the envy of many visitors from larger centres, who attended performances last summer. With a successful season behind them, I feel, in all fairness, that the company should be given every assistance to repeat their successes, and an opportunity to remedy any shortcomings.

As a purely practical suggestion, perhaps Alderman Sands' committee which is in charge of the Centenary celebrations, might see fit to underwrite some of the expenses to ensure a 1950 season of the Summer Theatre. Then Peterborough might look back over 100 years of growth, not only in importance, population, industry and sport, but in its well rounded educational programme as well.

I feel sure that I speak for many of the patrons of the Summer Theatre in expressing the hope that the Board of Education and Mr. Sadlier may find a happy issue out of their difficulties.

A BRITISH OPINION

Cheddar Cheese Tradition To People of Great Britain

OTTAWA, Jan. 17 (CP)—Canada's cheddar cheese is popular in the United Kingdom. From the Royal household to the miner's cottage, the mild-smelling, high-quality cheddar finds a welcome place on almost every dinner table.

So says William Rodden, British dairy expert, now in Ottawa to help negotiate a new Anglo-Canadian cheese contract. He will assist Sir Andrew Jones, chairman of the permanent British food mission.

Mr. Rodden said Monday in an interview that Britons insist on buying cheddar cheese because it is almost part of tradition.

"It is one of the oldest types of cheese made in the United Kingdom and it is a type we import heavily."

Land of few hot dogs and hamburgers, Britain is hungry for cheese—about 500,000,000 pounds were consumed last year. Only 90,000,000 pounds were produced in U.K. factories.

Thus, Britain is searching the world for cheese. Last year she bought 220,000,000 pounds of cheddar in New Zealand, 50,000,000 in Canada and the United States and 25,000,000 in Australia.

This year, the U.K. hopes to buy a bit more from Canada, perhaps 30,000,000 pounds—"if the Canadian price is right."

Neither Mr. Rodden nor Sir Andrew will indicate what is the "right" price. Last year the U.K. paid Canada 30 cents a pound. The 1950 price may be about 26.

OTTAWA, Jan. 17 (CP)—Transfer of some hundreds of officers and men from national defence headquarters to operational units and schools is being actively considered as part of an economy drive to hold defence costs at as reasonable a level as possible.

Find Canadians Interested In Each Other

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT

QUEBEC, Jan. 17 (CP) — The Royal Commission on Arts, Letters and Sciences has pointed up a paradox about Canadian life, and thrown new light on Quebec's cultural ambitions.

The paradox is that Canadians are deeply interested in each other but the country is so big they never get a chance to tell each other about it.

From the solemn dignity of the first sitting, in Laval University's ornate grand salon, the hearing became a happy gathering accompanied by big smiles, loud outbursts of applause and witty exchanges.

The change-over was slow in starting. It happened with things like this:

One group pleaded before the commission for French radio broadcasts to French-speaking centres in various parts of Canada. Well, said Commissioner Rev. Georges H. Levesque, dean of the faculty of social sciences at Laval University, some delegations of Ukrainians in Western Canada told us they wanted to hear French broadcasts too.

Asks Suggestions

Then Miss Hilda Neatby, professor of history at the University of Saskatchewan, who is a member of the commission, said in good French that she was interested in the suggestion that English-speaking listeners in Canada should have a chance to hear French. Had the group thought of the best way to do this: Lessons, lectures, conversations?

This took the group by surprise. They hadn't thought of it in practical terms really.

The "visites inter-provinciales" group was asked if they ever thought of arranging visits of Quebecers with western families. Why no, the delegates said. It was complicated, there were no representatives there.

Had the Quebec farm women's clubs ever been in touch with the homemakers of Saskatchewan? Yes, on some occasions, but all too seldom. Had Quebec folklore workers been in touch with folklore workers in other provinces? No, there was no connection.

Every question pointed to a desire of Canadians to get together. Every answer hinged on the problem of distance. Where language differences were involved the attitude shown was: What's the best way to overcome them?

Opposes Independence

Says Dominion Has Great Riches

MONTREAL, Jan. 17 (CP) — Canada has greater potential wealth per person than any other country, Prime Minister St. Laurent declared Monday night in an address prepared for delivery to the Canadian Construction Association.

"Much of that wealth, and I believe most of it, remains to be developed, and development means construction and still more construction. That is why I believe construction will long remain the watchword of the Canadian nation.

"I also believe—and I am convinced that the majority of Canadians also believe—we can best develop our resources and build up our national economy by giving the widest possible scope to private endeavor."

Mr. St. Laurent said the prospects for private construction in 1950 are bright, "but we intend to go on maintaining a back-log of postponable public projects to be available as a 'floor' whenever it may be required."

Toronto Gets $34,000,000 From Visitors

TORONTO, Jn. 17 — Tourists and conventions brought $34,000,000 to Toronto in 1949, the Toronto Convention and Tourist Association, Inc., reported Monday.

At the annual meeting of the organization, President John Porter said 4,534,040 tourists came to Toronto and spent $19,592,050, mostly in the retail stores, hotels and restaurants. During the same period there were 485 conventions held with a total attendance of 139,642. Each convention delegate stayed an average of 4.5 days and spent an average of $23.91 per day.

Mr. Porter pointed out that the Tourist Association was largely responsible for the flow of tourist dollars.

"Cost and upkeep of the association during the year was $44,308," he pointed out. "At this rate, for each dollar spent in promotion and publicity the return was $700."

During the year the association answered 40,000 out-of-town inquiries by letter. Inquiries ranged from one asking which Toronto hotels would accommodate a dog to one requesting home-like surroundings for a Central American family.

Stores got the biggest percentage of the convention dollar, Mr. Porter said, with hotels and restaurants following in order. During the year convention delegates spent $4,654,865 in retail stores, $3,753,927 at hotels, and $3,453,612 at restaurants.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

A huge lumberjack from up Alaska way, wearing a 56-inch chest and the monicker Yukon Eric, will have fans whooping it up in the Brock Arena this Thursday night. On account of he is re-matched with Fred Atkins, the rough Australian heavy champ, in the main pro mat bout. Couple of good prelims being lined up, too. A large crowd last week saw the powerhouse from the north shed all sorts of punishment attempted by Atkins, disdainfully throwing the husky Aussie around like a bag of oats, but Fred won a doubtful decision with Eric counted out of the ring. This, despite the fact that The Chest was fresh as a daisy and Atkins was limp as a dish rag at the finish. A real show, and the rematch should pack 'em in.

At a recent meeting of St. Peter's Advisory Club, the Rev. Monsignor P. P. Butler stressed the value of clean sports as helping in the development of youth for the tasks ahead. He also pointed out that Pope Pius is interested in clean athletics throughout the world. The Monsignor was in Rome the past autumn and had an audience with the Pope. Clergy generally encourage properly supervised sports as being good character builders as well as excellent from a health standpoint. Many of them feel, too, that athletics should be encouraged as a deterrent of juvenile delinquency.

Diesels Play Petes

Belleville Diesels, smarting under that home setback at the hands of Legion last Friday, roar into town tomorrow eve to tackle the Petes. It's at 8.30 in Civic Arena, a scheduled OHA senior "B" fixture, and this one should draw a hefty crowd. The Petes are starting to crawl up the ladder toward the Quinte crew and could do themselves a whole lot of good by taking this tussle. Diesels will be out to knock over the Foley flock in order to keep pace with Nylons and it adds up to a tasty puck dish for the customers. Could be the best senior scrap seen here so far this semester, and we wouldn't be too surprised to see the Petes pull it out by a narrow score.

* * * * * *

Interest mounts in the prospective skating race by OHA puckists at the next Petes-Legion tussle here. Carl Wetherall comes up with an offer of $15.00 (added to the $15.00 each by Johnny Russelle and Spiros Zakos) for the winner, provided Keith Montgomery of Legion is included. We sort of like Monty, too, though he'd have stiff opposition in Murray Fife, Bill Crowley, Joe Blewett and Bill McMasters. In fact, we'd suggest that not more than six be allowed in the race for the $45.00, and that they just go up and down the ice once, forgetting that business of going around goals. Full equipment without sticks and start and finish at the west end wall, touching each wall during the race. How about it?

Nifty Junior Tussle

Some 500 fans, with maybe 150 from Lindsay, saw a nifty junior "B" number at the arena here last e'en, the IOOF-ers edging Lindsay 4-3 to take over top spot. A fast, rugged joust kept pretty well under control. Both sides were really hustling and it couldn't have been much closer. Desjardin sinking the winner late in the third. He and the Masons combined nicely on their line, though all the forwards showed up well, Doris and Fennell rating a special mention, too. Poole, Hennessy and the Karrys' line looked smart for the Scugog squad. The feud will be resumed tomorrow in Lindsay, and the Oddfellows help open the new arena at Port Hope on Friday. In Kingston last p.m., the junior "B" Vics beat Belleville 4-2.

Art Cauley was host last gloaming to the Petes' baseball champs at a show, and 'twas nice to see our summertime diamond buddies together again. Freddy Garvey, Howie Dalton, Joe Stewart, Bill Edger, Bob Crowe, Joe Lowery, Ray Fitzgerald and the rest. Vern Dawson couldn't make it, but among officials present were Lloyd Grose, Cy Whatley and Pat Calladine. Couple of absentees in Pat Wilson, playing hockey in St. Louis, and Danny Brown who goes to school in Buffalo. The men o' Murphy appreciated the gesture. They are optimistic over chances that summer of having lights here for home games, and we sure hope so.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Cal Gardner, Toronto Maple Leaf's last injured centre, returned to the ice lanes Monday after being out more than two months with a fractured jaw. The National Hockey League star, however, is not expected to play for several weeks. His practice was limited to skating, while the fourth place Leafs went through a light workout.

Gardner suffered the injury Nov. 10 in a game against Montreal Canadiens. Shortly after that captain Ted Kennedy was forced to the sidelines with a knee injury but is back at his centre post. The only other injured player on the Leaf roster now is left-winger Harry Watson. He suffered knee and kidney injuries when he crashed into a goalpost during a workout last Friday and is expected to be out at least another week.

Adam Brown, veteran National Hockey League wing man, disclosed Monday he has been fined $250 by Chicago Black Hawks for failing to show up for a game against Montreal at Chicago last Tuesday. Brown has been ordered to report to the Hawks' Kansas City farm club in the United States Hockey League. A club spokesman said the fine will be rescinded if Brown reports to Kansas City. Brown, who said he will report to that team, is tabbed to be swapped by Kansas City for two players from St. Louis of the American Hockey League.

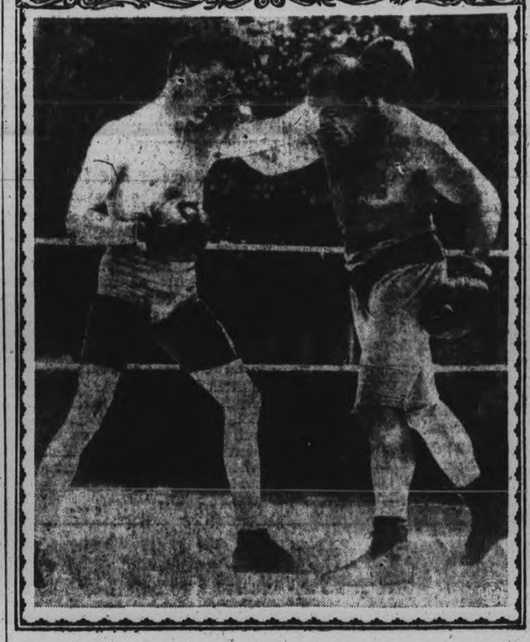
The Black Hawks said Eddie Leier, star Kansas City player, is due to report to the Chicago club today.

Former New York Giants Sid Gordon and Buddy Kerr signed contracts Monday to play for Boston Braves this season.

No definite date for the Quebec Senior Hockey League playoffs were decided on at a meeting of the league executive Monday night but officials indicated the post-season round will probably start March 7, two days after the close of the regular 60-game schedule.

It is claimed in Moscow by a Russian newspaper that the only people in the United States who can afford to engage in sports are the rich and professionals. Komsomol Pravda declared that sports in the United States is not available to the workers and farmers because they have neither money nor time for it.

Guy Lombardo Monday shipped his Tempo VI to Detroit, where the speedboat will be lengthened and made heavier. The Tempo carries a 1,200 horsepower motor, but Lombardo, the orchestra leader from London, Ont., says he never was able to open it up last season because of the hull's build.



Two Detroit Tiger pitchers on Monday returned their signed contracts for 1950 by mail, bringing to five the number of players Detroit has under contract for next season. Left-hander Ted Gray and right-hander Hal White are the latest to agree to terms. Already signed are outfielder Charlie Keller, who comes to the Tigers from New York Yankees, infielder Don Kolloway and pitcher Virgil Trucks.

A month's postponement of a 10-round noh-title fight between welterweight champion Ray (Sugar) Robinson and George Costner of Camden, N. J., was approved on Monday. The action was taken after Robinson submitted to a physical examination. The fight will be held on March 22.

Tiger Ted Lowry, 179, of New Haven, won the New England heavyweight title at New Haven, Conn., Monday night as he took a 12-round decision from Bernie Reynolds, 187, of Fairfield, in a fight that was delayed when the referee collapsed in the seventh round. The referee, Bill Conway of Hartford, apparently a victim of over-exertion from forcing his way between the heavyweights to break clinches.

Sharp-shooting Ralph (Bucky) Buchanan of cellar-dwelling Shawinigan Falls Cataracts widened his lead in the Quebec Senior Hockey League scoring race during the week with four goals and two assists to bring his total of 64 points in 39 starts. The starry winger has 26 goals and 38 assists, leading Andre Corriveau of Valleyfield Braves by six points.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

JAMES J. CORBETT—"Gentleman Jim"—made boxing history when he whipped fabulous John L. Sullivan and became heavyweight champion of America. He lost the title to Bob Fitzsimmons in 1897 and retired in 1898. When time ticked into the 20th Century, James J. Jeffries, the burly boilermaker from California, was champion. Corbett attempted a comeback and came within a punch of making it. They fought at Coney Island, N.Y., May 11, 1900. Corbett, 35, spotted young Jeff 10 years and 30 pounds. For 22 rounds of the 25-round bout, he made the Grizzly Bear look silly. But going into the 23rd, Jeff uncorked a haymaker and the dancing master went to sleep. Jeff retired, undefeated, in 1905. Here, the two great adversaries reenact their famous fight.

Clean Sports Praised By Monsignor

By FRED MAYBEE

"Our education should have a two-fold aim, to achieve highest degree of spiritual development of our souls through Christian education, and to enable us to carry out our physical duties in a pratical world," Monsignor P. P. Butler told a meeting of fathers and sons at St. Peter's Athletic Advisory Club. "A clean, healthy body, therefore, is a real asset in this life."

He continued: "Athletics are a form of education as they contribute to the development of the body and enable our young people to be better fitted for the tasks of life ahead. The Holy Father is very interested in the promotion of clean sport throughout the world, as He is in the spiritual education of mankind."

Set An Example

Monsignor Butler, recently returned from Vatican City where Pope Pius conferred upon him the honor of Domestic Prelate, urged the fathers to set their children a good example in the home by refraining from bad habits of all kinds in their presence. "Thus, you encourage the development of clean, ennobling ideals in the minds of the young," he concluded.

President Roland Hull thanks the Monsignor and the other priests present, and he announced a meeting would be held on Feb. 9 at the Sacred Heart clubhouse. Fathers of school students, regardless of residence, are invited, and plans will be completed to raise funds to purchase sports equipment for the boys.

Oddfellows Climb To Top Clip Lindsay Kinsmen 4-3

Peterborough Oddfellows climbed atop the Junior B group Monday night by virtue of a 4-3 win over the Lindsay Kinsmen. Both teams dished up a wild, fast brand of hockey, usually seen in their games, as they had fans yelling from the starting to closing blasts.

One hundred and fifty fans from Scugogville made the trip to cheer their team while the best the Peterborough fans could do was muster up about 350. Both groups of fans had plenty to cheer about as the play surged backwards and forwards at a terrific pace.

The Triplelinks jumped to the mark late in the first period only to have the score tied two minutes later to end the period score at 1-1. The Kinsmen faltered slightly at the first of the second allowing the fast-moving Trips to slam home two in a row. Again late in the period Lindsay on an uphill march managed to make the score 3-2. Keeping up the fast clip both teams battled scoreless until midway through the third when the Scugog men tallied the tying goal in a mad session.

Two minutes and twenty-one seconds to go Jerry Desjardin topped off a passing play that started at the Trips' blueline by slapping in the winning counter with assistance from Ross and Benny Mason.

No love was had for Love of Oshawa or Nigh of Peterborough by either the Lindsay or Peterborough fans as Love dished out 14 penalties. Both squads managed to get nicked for seven miscues. As the game progressed the number of penalties grew as only three were handed out in the first, five in the second and six in the last. Dean Wasson, short stocky defenceman, for the Trips, hooked three trips to the sinbin.

Midway through the second both squads began to really lay on the wood and the bodies. Dysart got a small clip on the head by a high stick but stayed in the game. Doug Love of Oshawa, the referee, cut short the roughness with a tripping penalty to Kimbal of Lindsay.

Gordie Fennell carried the mail on the Oddfellows defence with his sweeping checks and hustling plays up the ice. Lefty Doris was a one-man team during the Trips' penalties as he raced up the ice to stop Lindsay plays before they got started. The Desjardin-Mason brothers line had a slight edge on the combination play. The other two line weren't far behind.

Centreman Arn Karrys and wingers Dysart and Crawford turned in a rushing effort for the Kinsmen. Hennessey and Lucas were solid on the defence. Poole in the Lindsay nets had a hard time as his team were crowded on top of him by the pressing Oddfellows. He was peppered with screen shots early in the third which luckily for him were just off their mark.

Kimball for Lindsay led the scorers with two goals while the singleton was scored by Arn Karrys. The Triplelinks goals were by Birch, Ross Mason, Desjardin and Floyd.

On the box-play with the defencemen Birch flipped home the first counter on a pass from Doris at 14:37. Crawford fed Arn Karrys with a corner pass two minutes later to tie the score.

Benny Mason slipped a pass from behind the net at 2:51 of the second to Ross Mason to make the score 2-1. Turner grabbed a faceoff in the corner at 8:30; passed to Floyd who made it 3-1. On a beautiful passing play featuring Lewis, Lucas and Kimbal, Kimbal scored to end the second 3-2.

Kimbal grabbed a loose puck just inside the Trips' blueline at 11:09 to tie the score but Desjardin's gave the Oddfellows the edge needed at 17:39.

Both squads will renew the battle which has existed since four years ago Wednesday night in Lindsay.

Bowmanville Takes Puck Go In Cobourg

COBOURG, Jan. 17 (ENS) — Bowmanville defeated Cobourg 8-7 in a fast OHA Intermediate game played last night before a large crowd in Cobourg's new Recreational Centre. Gilhooley was the star performer for Bowmanville. Cooper and Hogan were good in the Cobourg line but Jones in the Cobourg nets prevented a considerably larger score for Bowmanville as he was subjected to a barrage of shots in the last period. Cobourg led 6-4 until the third period when the visitors moved ahead. It was a good game from start to finish but Bowmanville had that extra edge of combination and speed in the forward line. They were also good on defence.

Gilhooley opened it for the B's from Bird, with H. Cane and B. Cane tying it up, and Hogan from Cooper putting Cobourg up in the first. Krantz counted from Gilhooley but again Cobourg went in front on Cooper's counter from Haynes. Bowmanville got two early in the second, Yourth from Bird, and then Linton scoring. B. Cane got one back from Cooper and the latter helped Hogan on another. Haynes got one more from B. Cane. In the third Bird batted home Gilhooley's pass for Bowmanville and, after Hogan counted from B. Cane, they poured in. Lowe scored from Gilhooley, the latter then helping Linton on another and Yourth on the final marker.

Seelie Samara In Semi-Final

Manager Jim Laidlaw yesterday completed Thursday's card for the Brock Arena. In addition to the main bout between Yukon Eric and Fred Atkins, Laidlaw has come up with two other top-flight prelims. In the semi-final the sensational colored star Seelie Samara will oppose huge Wee Willie Davis. The big Hollywood villain will make Samara step all the way to get a win. It will be a real test for Seelie.

Seelie Samara

For the opening spot Juan Hernandez, Mexican heavyweight champion, will be pitted against Al Korman. This is Hernandez's first appearance in Canada and Korman will undoubtedly be out to deflate the Mexican and make him show the folk just how good they are in Mexico.

Lindsay, Abel Keep Detroit On Top Rung

MONTREAL, Jan. 17 (CP) — Montreal Canadiens, pushed out of second place in the National Hockey League for a while last week by the surging New York Rangers, were spacked back ahead of the Blue Shirts Saturday night by big Bill Durnan, top goalie in the league.

Durnan racked up his sixth shutout of the season as the Canucks downed Chicago 3-0. Meanwhile, the Rangers were dropping a nome and home pair to the leading Detroit Red Wings. After Sunday's games, statistics released today by the league showed Detroit leading with 52 points, 11 more than Montreal. Rangers are one point behind the Habitants.

The rest of the league stacks up this way: Toronto Leafs, 37 points; Boston, 36; and Chicago, 32.

Detroit had to bounce back over the week-end to maintain its margin. After losing three straight games, the Wings beat Rangers twice.

Two Sparkplugs

Still the big reason for their leadership is Ted Lindsay and Sid Abel. For the 10th consecutive week Lindsay maintained his individual point getting leadership with Abel just behind him.

Lindsay added four points during the week to run his total to 46 points, made up of 17 goals and 29 assists. Abel got three points and now has 21 goals and 22 assists.

Maurice Richard of Canadiens and Paul Ronty of Boston share third place with 37 points each. Richard has 25 goals and 12 assists while Ronty has 16 goals and 21 assists.

Last year's scoring champion, Roy Conacher of Chicago, is in fourth place with 36 points. Richard's 25 goals still provide the best record in that department in the league while Lindsay leads in assists.

In the goal tending division, Durnan still leads, with 82 markers against him in 39 games. Harry Lumley of Detroit was out all week with an injury, but his replacement, Terry Sawchuk, allowed only eight goals in four games and the combined score of goals against for 39 games is 85. Durnan has an average of 2.10 while Lumley's average is 2.20 and Sawchuk's is 2.00, for a composite average of 2.18.

Bill Gadsby of Chicago took over the bad-man leadership with 93 minutes spent in the cooler. Last week, Gus Mortson led the league with 80 minutes.

Baron Players Lead On Goals

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (CP) — Cleveland Barons, titled upper crust of the American Hockey League continued to rule the league's individual scoring columns this week.

Les Douglas was on top for the 14th week with 66 points. His teammate Bobby Carse picked up seven points during the week and was second with a total of 59. Two more Barons, Fred Thurier and Pete Leswick, were tied with Johnny Chad of Providence Reds for third place with 54 points.

Roy Kelly, another Clevelander, had the most goals with 27 and Douglas was still top play-maker with 43 assists.

Charlie (Bus) Gagnon of Cincinnati Mohawks had killed 143 minutes in the penalty box for being too rough on the opposition and officials—as his 10 major and two misconduct penalties indicate.

Connie Dion of Buffalo was still on the inactive list because of injuries but retained the best goaltending average of 2.55 on 84 goals in 33 games. Ralph Almas of St. Louis Flyers, also injured, hod the most shutouts with four.

Thurier, veteran of 507 AHL games, tied the league scoring record by tagging his 579th point during the week-end.

Jimmy Braddock of New Jersey was awarded an unpopular 10-round decision over Leo Lomski of Aberdeen, Wash., in a light-heavyweight bout at Chicago 20 years ago tonight. Braddock went a long way after that, winning the world heavyweight championship in 1935. He lost it to Joe Louis two years later.

Second Group Leave For Games

VANCOUVER, Jan. 17. (CP)—Canada's second detachment of its 1950 Empire Games squad leave Vancouver early today to round out a 62-member corps that will compete with the British Empire's best athletes early next month.

The 35 persons, made up of three officials, 30 male athletes and two women competitors will leave by air for Auckland, NZ. Joining the first contingent of 30 athletes and six officials which sailed from here Dec. 22 and has been in New Zealand two weeks.

Tom Lord of Montreal blamed weather and train wrecks for most of the strain he's undergone in getting the second detachment assembled here.

"That train wreck at Swift Current, Sask., held upu five of the lads," he said.

Aboard the Canadian Pacific train which rammed another Saturday near the prairie centre were Gerard Cote, perennial marathoner from Ste. Hyacinthe, Que., Sven Sigfusson, discus thrower from Winnipeg, and Montrealers Ed Brooke, Bob Desjarlais and Geo. Pouliot, all fencers.

They got into Vancouver late Sunday night, tired and without their baggage.

"That was a night I'll never forget," said Sigfusson, sole injured member of the party. He was treated for head abrasions.

"I was knocked cold in my berth."

Fifield Hands Pyle Defeat

TORONTO, Jan. 17 (CP) — Taking the promise of a Canadian middleweight title shot to heart, Toronto's Billy Fifield, handily defeated Joe Pyle of New Waterford, N. S., here Monday night.

Fifield, 160½ pounds, scored a clear cut 10-round main event decision over the 155-pound Cape Breton Negro.

Prior to Monday night's bout, ed that the victor would be in line for a title meeting with George (Rockabye) Ross of West Bay Road, N. S., Canadian champion. Plans for such a bout now will likely get final drafting.

For Pyle, the decision was a clear indication that his "good days" don't lie ahead. He has already had two meetings with his fellow Cape Bretoner, one a title bout in January, 1949. He lost both, by a knockout in the title match and by a decision in the earlier bout.

Pyle was no match for the fast improving Fifield before a crowd of 4,000. The Toronto boy hitting

WilliePepHands Riley Clean Knockout

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 17 (AP) — Little Willie Pep, matchless master of the featherweight boxers, put his title on the line Monday night and took it back when he was good and ready—at one minute and five seconds of the fifth round—and Charlie Riley of St. Louis was not ready.

Up to that point Pep had been dancing, almost playing, toying with the little St. Louis Negro who had pleaded for several years for a crack at the title. The first rounds were all Pep's while Riley stayed on the side of caution.

For four rounds they waltzed around, with now and then a flurry of right and left jabs — mostly from Pep, for the chunky Riley couldn't find a place for his good right. Then, in the fifth, Pep found a place for his knockout punch and let it go.

Wasn't Fooling

Pep feinted with a left. Like a streak of lightning the right came barrelling through, an uppercut to the jaw, and Riley hung for a moment in space, his knees buckling. Pep held back the left he had ready for a follow-through. Riley spun 45 degrees and fell flat on his face, out cold.

They turned him over and had to pull the mouthpiece out by force. Several minutes later he was still dazed, and as he was helped over to Pep's corner and offered congratulations, again he drooped to one knee.

Many ringsiders said they'd never seen a cleaner knockout. It was Pep's 45th in a total of 145 bouts.

Pep, who hails from Hartford, Conn., weighed 123½, his lightest weight for a title fight. Riley was 125½.

The night's gross gate of $56,905 set a record for St. Louis. A total of 11,115 paid. Half of the net proceeds, after taxes, went to Pep and 10 per cent to Riley.

promoter Frank Tunney announcsharply in every round, had to be satisfied with an "even" call on the second of the CP scorecard but he picked up points in the rest. Pyle lost the third and fifth rounds on low blows.

Marlies Holding Top Five Scoring Spots In Sr. Circuit

TORONTO, Jan. 17 (CP)—With time running out in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior schedule it appears almost certain that some member of the leading Toronto Marlboro squad will skate away with the individual scoring championship.

Scoring statistics released Monday show the first five positions in the point race are held by Marlboro players.

Long John McCormack—who last week left Marlboros to sign a professional contract with their parent club, the Toronto Maple Leafs—is deadlocked with former linemate Scotty Mair for first place with 50 points. McCormack has 17 goals and 33 assists while Mair has 32 tallies and 18 assists. In third place is Bill Johnson with 16 goals and 30 assists for 46 points. A. Buchanan and Chuck Blair are in fourth and fifth spots with 42 and 38 points respectively.

Marlboro's Pat. Boehmer continues to lead the goaltending race with a 2.38 goals-a-game average.

In the junior A scoring race Con Switzer of St. Catharines Teepees, has taken over from Earl Reibel of Windsor Spitfires as pacesetter with 85 points—24 goals and 59 assists. Reibel is second with 81 points—34 goals and 47 assists. Ellard O'Brien of St. Catharines is third with 44 goals and 33 assists for 77 points.

Don Lockhart of Marlboro's is the league's top goalie with a 2.5 goals-a-game average.

Ontario Gov't Planning Temperance Job

TORONTO, Jan. 17 — (CP).— Provincial Secretary Welsh of Ontario said Monday that the government intends to institute a program of temperance education but "it won't be stampeded." He estimated that more than 60 per cent. of Ontario's population use alcohol to some extent.

Mr. Welsh, who also is chairman of the Ontario Liquor Control Board, told the 25th annual meeting of the Hotel Association of the Province of Ontario, he felt satisfied government liquor research workers would find a satisfactory program to deal with the problem.

"The liquor problem can only be controlled by education, not by regulation or legislation," he said. Inspectors made 7,000 visits a month to licensed premises and only the co-operative attitude of proprietors made their work effective, he added.

He said the board asked proprietors to meet only three requirements: No selling to minors, no drunkenness, and clean premises.

Mr. Welsh said that many Canadians do not realize the debt owed to the distilling industry for its part in producing large quantities of the drug penicillin, in volume was possible only through the know-how of the distilling industry," he said, and it saved thousands of lives in the Second World War.

TORONTO, Jan. 17 — (CP).— An invitation to the "goodwill" conference of Australian Lord Mayors at Melbourne February 8 has been received by Mayor Hiram McCallum of Toronto, it was learned on Monday. 150% Salary Boost Since It Sounds Better

LISTOWEL, Jan. 17 (CP). — One civic salary has had a liberal boost here without a dissenting voice. But there is a catch to it.

Town Council agreed to a 150 per cent increase in pay for J. M. Smith (because it would make the by-law sound better). Smith is the town's sheep evaluator. His pay was raised from $2 to $5 a day.

The catch s the sheep evaluator is paid only when actually working evaluating sheep. And there are no sheep in Listowel.

Piece Of Plane Wing Found Near Watertown

WATERTOWN, NY, Jan. 17—(AP). — A 23-foot section of an airplane wing found Sunday night on the bank of the Black River at nearby Dexter has been identified as part of a Canadian plane. Sheriff Brayton E. Peck said the identification was made Monday by Harold Simmons, master mechanic at the Watertown Airport.

Peck said last night the wing bore the numerals 1-RH-125. He said he has no recent record of any Canadian plane missing or crashed in the area, but added that "two or three Canadian planes were lost in Lake Ontario during the recent war."

The sheriff said it woluld have been possible for the airplane wing to have floated into the Black River from Lake Ontario.

Adoption Secrecy Foils Blackmailer

LONDON—(CP)—Persons who adopt children in Britain will no longer be able to be squeezed by the blackmailer for hush money.

The adopters are now protected by new rules which came into force Jan. 1 and which enable them to keep their identities secret.

Persons who adopt a child in future will be given a number which will be used in court hearings, thus foiling blackmailers who in the past have extracted hush money from a couple by threatening to tell their adopted child who its real parents are.

In the past it was only possible to obtain secrecy by applying to a High Court judge and many couples could not afford this. Among other steps to ensure secrecy laid down in the new rules, issued by the British Lord Chancellor, Lord Jowitt, are:

Anyone wishing to adopt a child need not be seen in court by the mother; applications for an adoption order are to be heard in camera; all documents must be confidential; guardians are ordered to maintain secrecy.

In private life he is a farmer and also is president of the Roxborough Agricultural Society.

Apprenticeship Systems Boost Trades

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Where are the carpenters, bricklayers, plasterers and tinsmiths of the future coming from?

The Canadian Construction Association thinks it knows the answer, and it is: apprenticeships, for the training of boys and young men.

J. M. Piggott of Hamilton, reporting to the CCA's current convention in Montreal, remarked that 25 years ago apprenticeship had died out in Canada.

"We had grown accustomed to looking to immigration for our mechanics. When immigration ceased and the country really began to grow and to build, we realized our mistake." And:

"Today we can boast of an apprenticeship system in our trades under apprenticeship acts and assistance in every province save Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland.

13,000 Apprentices

"There are, in round figures, 13,000 young men who are active apprentices in Canada. Registration of active apprentices is as follows:

Manitoba 512; Saskatchewan 387; Alberta 787; British Columbia 540; Nova Scotia 534; New Brunswick 407; Ontario 2,386. Quebec with a rather different system of registration than other provinces, lists more than 7,000."

Mr. Piggott said that consultations are being held between Quebec and Ontario in the belief that each could learn from the other.

To give an example of apprenticeship as practised in, say, Ontario:

School training is carried on throughout the year at a training centre, Ryerson Institute, in Toronto. For 10 months of the year all trades in their first and second years are brought in for two-month periods from their jobs and given intensive training in the use of their tools and instruction in related subjects, such as mathematics, English, drafting.

All kinds of trades, including watch making, cooking and printing, are carried on.

Dec. 21, 1620, was the date of the landing of the Pilgrims on Plymouth Rock.

Communist Group?

TORONTO, Jan. 17. (CP) — Margaret Hyndman said Monday that she has received an announcement that "what appears to be a newly-formed organization," the Congress of Canadian Women, plans to held meetings here March 9-11. She accused the group of having Communist connections. Miss Hyndman, a Toronto barrister, is one of eight vice-presidents of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women.

Vandals Smash Scraper Delay Sarnia Project

SARNIA, Jan. 17 — (CP). — The Aux Sable conservation project at nearby Port Franks has been delayed several days by damage caused by a power scraper which police believe was the work of vandals. Emery grindings were found in the gear box and the cost of replacing the affected parts will be about $1,500. The shovel is owned by Charles Grace, local contractor. The $2,000,000 project includes the digging of a mile-long channel through sand banks to straighten the mouth of the river.

2 Rookie Constables Reinstated In Posts

MONTREAL, Jan. 17 (CP).— Two rookie police constables detained three days last week on suspicion of armed robbery were officially reinstated to their posts Monday. Jean Paul Morin and Jean Marie Lavoie were arrested last Thursday and charged with the January 5 holdup of an east-end grocery store in which $150 was stolen.

They were released last Saturday and another city constable and a 23-year-old Montreal resident, said by police to bear a striking resemblance to Constables Morin and Lavoie, were arrested on similar charges of armed robbery. Names of the newly-arrested men were withheld by police.

Must Keep Cool To Survive In Arctic Wastes

OTTAWA, Jan. 17 (CP)—More and more the Arctic is becoming a first line training ground for the Canadian army and it's matched by the fact that the tent is taking over from the rifle as the soldier's best friend.

At Petawawa and Wainwright, Alta., where hundreds of soldiers are being taught the basic rules of survival in Arctic and sub-Arctic climates, instructors are stressing the fact that loss or damage to either tent or eiderdown sleeping bag can be fatal.

Must Keep Cool

PETAWAWA, Jan. 17 (CP)— To keep warm in the Arctic you have to keep cool,—that's what instructors are teaching 100 or so hopeful youths from Ontario reserve regiments at the army's winter school.

The matter of keeping cool is intended to avoid concentration of perspiration. The army's long, clinging woollen underwear has been discarded for northern work instead, the soldier wears his pyjamas over a string vest and underneath his battledress. The pyjamas fit more loosely, letting the air circulate and discouraging perspiration.

Over the battledress goes a pair of closely-woven pants and a parka with wolverine fur trimming, which does not catch frozen breath.

H. I. Bradburn New President Cemetery Board

Herbert I. Bradburn was elected president of the Board of Directors, Little Lake Cemetery Co., at the 99th annual meeting Monday afternoon.

Following is the complete executive:

Herbert Bradburn, president; W. P. Eastwood, vice president; Miss E. J. Saunders, secretary-treasurer; and directors, R. J. Kidd, James Hamilton, E. H. Howson, T. J. Carley, KC, W. R. Thompson, E. M. Turner and H. F. Waddell.

C. F. Kitney is Superintendent.

The auditor's report shows a deficit of $3,178.54, consisting of $1,753.54 and depreciation of $1,425. Last year the net deficit was $563.14.

Expenditures on roads and greenhouses were much higher than last year. These involved some exceptional amounts which may not be of a recurring nature, Edward Humpage, chartered accountant observed.

There were also some moderate increases in other expenses. Altogether the increase in expenditure over the 1948 figure comes to $3,350.

Investments increased by $10,740 while fixed assets went up by $284. A sum of $1,425 was set aside against fixed assets as depreciation.

Unsold Lots Worth $82,882

The value of new lots added to Little Lake in 1949 was $819.38 while the value of the lots sold was $6,307. Present value of unsold lots is $82,882.24.

During the year $5,962 was received for permanent care and $3,154 was set aside for permanent care from the increased selling price of the lots. This amounted to a third of the actual selling price.

"We were again fortunate in obtaining the services of Mr. Wyrick, an authority on cemetery design and management," said the retiring president James Hamilton in his report.

"He subdivided certain parts of the cemetery, which had not been divided before into lots, thus giving us a large number of addition lots for sale . . . Mr. Wyrick has given us some tentative overall plans for landscaping the entire area. This is something your Board will have to give consideration to in the next year or so, and proceed as they see fit . . . ."

Mr. Hamilton said the financial statement had been a disappointment but there had been unforseen heavy expenditures.

"We should make provision to take care of these unforseen expenditures which are bound to happen from time to time," he commented.

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 17 (ENS)—Hiram G. Revoir, 74, died at his home, Trent River, Monday night.

He leaves three sons, Clarence and Clayton of Quebec, Harry of Havelock, and two daughters, Mrs. John Carlson (Marguerite) of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Hazel Franks of Cobourg; two brothers, Albert of Saskatchewan and James of Hastings. Mrs. Revoir the former Florence Legrow, died two years ago.

FIRE LOSS $3,955

The city's fire loss in December was $3,020 on buildings and $935 on their contents, total $3,955, reported to the council by Chief George Smith.

Wilson Gemmell Made Honorary Member Jaycees

Wilson Gemmell, past president of the Chamber of Commerce, was guest speaker Monday night at the January meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which enrolled him as an honorary member.

During the installation ceremoney Douglas Vaisey, president of the Jaycees, stated it was the first honorary membership bestowed by the club.

Abqut 45 members attended Marino's Restaurant for the first meeting of the new year. A business session followed the dinner.

Mr. Gemmell urged the Jaycees—in common with other organizations in the city—to take extra care with their projects during Peterborough's centennial year. If this city were shown to best advantage during the visit of so many outsiders it could result in additional industry settling here.

The Jaycee, Region 6, annual convention will be held in this city May 5-7, he pointed out. And this would be a particularly good opportunity to convince young businessmen of the opportunities in Peterborough.

Representatives from such cities as Ottawa, Pembroke, Renfrew, Kingston, and Cornwall will be here for the regional convention. It will be held in this city for the first time.

Already an executive has been struck to look after convention details: W. F. (Bill) Edworthy, chairman; Gerry Grady, general program chairman; Ron Balaam, publicity, and Ken Humphries, finance.

Mr. Gemmell assured the members the Chamber would co-operate in inducing younger men in industry to join the Jaycees. He stressed the need for co-operation between the two bodies and suggested the Jaycees help the Chamber in the forthcoming traffic survey.

The chamber's past president received two small gifts from the Junior Chamber. A silver vase was given to Doug Vaisey for being the outstanding member of the month.

Mr. Edworthy, 1st vice-pres., announced by radio the start of an intensive membership drive. It has been decided to try and greatly increase the roster in 1950.

Two other Jaycee projects will be a public speaking course beginning February 2, under the chairmanship of Don Clarke, and an open forum, under the chairmanship of Gerald Grady to discuss current items of interest. Particular emphasis will be municipal affairs and Jaycee work.

All Hydro Shortage To End In 3 Months: R. H. Saunders

Given three more months of continued co-operation in the saving of power, the Hydro Electric Commission believes restrictions on consumption can be ended in Ontario. That was the hope held out to the province's power consumers Monday by Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission. He was in Peterborough as guest of the Rotary Club.

He reviewed the situation as it stands today in the three hydro sections into which Ontario is divided. Best off is the Southern Ontario section (that part of Ontario south of Birk's Falls, including Peterborough).

"Providence has been extremely kind to hydro during the past month," said Mr. Saunders, former Mayor of Toronto.

Rains Helped

Heavy rains that began shortly before Christmas and boosted the amount of water in reservoirs are a primary cause of the improvement.

Here is how he summed up the present power situation:

"Give us three months and we at Hydro believe that we shall be rid of restrictions in this part of Ontario, in fact in every part of Ontario."

"I say every part because a connection is now being built into North Eastern Ontario. It will be completed this summer. Des Joachims will start generating this summer. This, with the new Tunnel Development will protect both South and North Eastern Ontario. Pine Portage will protect the Thunder Bay district."

These heavy rains, plus extra power from DeCaw, power withdrawn from export, and the 60,000 k.w. of new power brought in this year (chiefly by steam generator) have allowed hydro to get along despife a 8,385,000 k.w.h. drop from suppliers.

Peak Demand

Despite the drop in power from outside sources the HEPC has been able to meet an all time high in primary energy demand, Mr. Saunders said.

A new record in primary energy demands was chalked up last Friday with 37,300,000 k.w.h. utilized. This compares with such other peaks as 34,724,700 on November 18, 1949 and 30,842,924 k.w.h. on November 19, 1948.

Unlike a year ago when there was a shortage of water this year there is an abundance in this district of Ontario. Too much in fact.

During the week of January 8 the volume held in the Kawartha Lakes-Trent River drainage area had to be reduced. Some of the lakes were above maximum upper level and it was necessary to spill water to prevent flooding damage.

Water In Storage

Total valume of water in storage on January 8 was 73 per cent above normal. This represents 84 per cent of capacity as compared with 57 per cent a year ago.

Natural run-off during the past week above Healey Falls was 2.65 cubic feet per square mile compared with a normal of .65 cubic foot per square mile.

Hydro with its "tremendous program of expansion and improvement "involving more than $596,982,000 is playing its part in making sure Ontario forges ahead, Mr. Saunders stated.

"Our 22,677 employees have confidence in the future. It is because of that confidence we are engaged in over 360 different projects ranging from those costing but a few thousand dollars to the giant Des Joachim at a cost of over $100,000,000. These projects I can assure you are on or ahead of schedule."

Peterborough Power Use

The expansion in Peterborough, he felt, was indicative of what is hapepning throughout the whole province. In August 1937 the load was 8,464 h.p. By August 1945 it had increased to 15,829 h.p., and by August 1949 to 24,800 h.p.

"Very tangible evidence that Peterborough is forging ahead to a great future," was his comment.

Unlike private industry the HEPC cannot refuse a new customer, he said. Hydro has not, nor has any local Commission, refused to give service to a new applicant.

"Every new home, every new store, department or factory has been given electric power to the full extent of our ability."

Rural Power Lines

Extension of power facilities has reached into rural Ontario. Since November 1, 1948, the HEPC has built over 5,118.45 miles of new rural lines and thus served some 43,624 new rural consumers.

In this section—the East Central area of Southern Ontario—Hydro has constructed 697.96 miles of new rural line and given service to 6,570 rural consumers since November, 1948.

Mr. Saunders was introduced by Gordon S. Matthews, beginning his 23rd year as chairman of the Utilities Commission, and he was thanked by V. J. McElderry, KC.

Mr. Saunders complimented Mr. Matthews on his efficient work and paid tribute to local industry for co-operating in power conservation. He singled out CGE for special praise.

$35,000 Paid For Gas Station

Payment of $35,000 to Imperial Oil Company for the service station at 510 George St., was authorized by the council Monday night in a motion by Ald. E. C. Braund and Ald Adam Sands.

This purchase recommended by the special property committee of which Ald. Braund is chairman applies to probably the largest parcel of property in the block that is being bought for the city hall site.

The committee has accepted the terms as reported by W. H. Bosley, Toronto realtor, who is in charge of negotiations.

Manse At $15,000

A previous item of $15,000 for Murray St. Baptist Church manse was passed by the council. The two amount to $50,000. The Imperial Oil station south of the Public Library has been operated by Joseph Detcher. Ownership becomes effective at the end of March.

First purchase in that Water-Murray-George block was the Walter Fisher estate for which the council authorized payment of $14,200. That transfer is now being completed. The Fisher property is on Water St.

Purchase of the Imperial Oil property was authorized in the report of the special property committee part of which is quoted as follows: "The company is permitted to salvage equipment peculiar to their industry as they deem expedient, including light standards, pumps, tankage, connecting pipe, air standards, etc., all of which do not form any part of the building proper; possession to be taken by the city March 31, 1950, with adjustments as of that date, and that this recommendation be forwarded to the City Trust in order that necessary funds may be available to complete the purchase when the City Solicitor has accepted the deed."

Three Zahodniks Face Charges Village Assault

The preliminary hearing into six assault charges against the Zahodnik brothers, James 34, and Paul 28, of Hamilton, and John, 37, of Toronto, alleged to have beaten James and Hazel Hogan, Lakefield, Nov. 17 opened today before Magistrate W. R. Philp KC.

The three Zahodniks were freed on a charge of murder of Jack Loucks, Lindsay, later the same night of the alleged Lakefield assault. Their companion, William Yuzwa, was committed for trial by a higher court at the preliminary hearing into the murder charge Dec. 16.

The first charge being heard is of assault occasioning actual bodily harm against Hazel Hogan. J. J. Robinette, Toronto, is defending all three brothers.

Hogan Testimony

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hogan gave their testimony before the hearing was adjourned until the afternoon. James Hogan said he saw a truck pull up and three Zahodnik brothers and Yuzwa get out and come into the restaurant. Two other men, Hector Edwards and Geordie Wannamaker, Lakefield, were in the restaurant at the time.

As the four men were coming through the door, one of them shouted for four cups of coffee. The three Zahodniks sat on stools at the south end of the restaurant. Hogan said he went into the kitchen and when he came back out Yuzwa was behind the counter fooling around, pretending to be a waiter and was passing out bubble gum.

Hogan said he asked Yuzwa to get out from behind the counter saying in a jocular way he was getting fat and there was not room to get past. He then told them that his wife was making fresh coffee and asked if they would mind waiting for a couple of seconds.

Fracas In Restaurant

He said James then reached across the counter and smashed his fist down on a cardboard container of straws He testified that he asked James not to do that that he straws were not expensive but were hard to get.

At that, James reached across the counter grabbing Hogan by the front of the shirt and dragged him part way across the counter Hogan grabbed the counter with his hands to prevent his being pulled completely across.

He said his wife heard the noise and came out from the kitchen and said "Look what you've done to my husband's shirt I can't afford to be buying him shirts every day."

Hogan then said James got up from his stool and came around the end of the counter, saying, "I don't take that from any——"

Ordered Out

But Yuzwa blocked him from getting behind the counter. Mrs Hogan then ordered the men out and threatened to phone the police.

Hogan said he reached for the phone. As he lifted up the receiver, Yuzwa clamped down the receiver hook and told Hogan not to do that. Hogan said James still tried to push past Yuzwa to get at Mrs. Hogan.

"I knew we couldn't handle them," Hogan said and he went to the north end of the counter where he kept a club.

He said he raised the club threateningly above his head, but it was torn from his hands by one of the men. When Mrs. Hogan saw this she tried to reach the phone, but James reached over Yuzwa's shoulder and took the receiver from his wife and tore it from the wall.

At that point James Zahodnik apparently backed up toward the door and Mrs. Hogan said when he was some distance from the door, she took a run at him and pushed him out the door with her fists on his chest.

She said as James got to the door he started to fall out backwards but grabbed the opening door and regained his balance With the other hand he grabbed Mrs. Hogan swinging her around out the door.

Mrs. Hogan Falls

Mrs. Hogan said she fell on the ground and James straddled her chest with his knees on her arms She said her head was resting on the bottom step leading into the restaurant.

James grabbed her by the neck with one hand. The other hand had a grip on her over the collar bone. She said James pulled her head up to bang it against the wooden step, but she seized his tie and used that to brace herself each time he smacked her head on the step. As a result her head hit the step only lightly.

She said John seemed to be sitting on her feet holding her Under cross-questioning by Mr Robinette, Mrs. Hogan said John might have pulled James from her.

Begs Help

As he was doing this to her, Mrs Hogan said James swore at her saying, "Push me around will you? I'll kill you." She said she ran to Edwards and Wannamake, who had been in the restaurant had gone out, and were then standing beside the men's truck She begged them to help or call the police. She said they left to call the police.

In the meantime her husband inside, seeing his wife being pulled out the door, tried to go to her, but Paul and Yuzwa blocked his way. He said he asked to get outside to see what was happening to his wife. One of them said "No, you stay here."

He said he pushed the two aside and when he reached the door, his wife was standing up talking to Edwards and Wannamaker.

Seek To Determine Cost Of Street Through Park

City council is going to reduce the proposed projection of George St. through Morrow Park to dollars and cents as a basis of further negotiation with the Exhibition Board and the park trustees. That was the stage of conference reached by the council Monday night in discussion of the road extension with representatives of the Exhibition Board and Morrow Park trustees. It was acceptance of a choice of action.

Ald. Adam Sands had suggested: "I think the Trust and the Board should tell us what they want,—the type of road, fence, lighting, and then we would see whether we can afford it."

Prior to that, Mayor Swanston said City Solicitor Huycke might be asked to draft an agreement embodying terms which appeared to be satisfactory, tentatively at least, to the three parties. They would present the council's view of the project, and would be referred to the Board and Trustees for their opinion.

Hugh Stewart, president of the Exhibition Board, said: "We did not come here tonight to tie the council down. We want to go along with you in this matter, if we can, and not hold it up."

"How would it be," Mayor Swanston proposed, "if we decide what we think is needed for a road, and then submit our ideas to you?"

Approach Accepted

That approach to the street extension problem was accepted all around the table in the committee room. It contemplated the responsibility of the council to determine costs eventually, and for that reason it was decided to begin at that point as the basis for further parley.

Music Festival To Be Held First May Week

Dates of the fourth annual Kiwanis Music Festival in Peterborough have been fixed as the week of May 2 to May 6. Adjudicators for Peterborough and other similar festivals across the country will be Dr. G. S. Lang, examiner to the Royal School of Music in England, and John J. Weatherseed, of Toronto. The verse-speaking adjudicator is Mary A. Lockhart, of Ottawa. Chairman of the Festival Committee is Stanley Northrop.

The festival is for amateurs only, an amateur being defined by the committee as any person whose principal means of livelihood is not obtained from the profession or practice of music, even if he or she from time to time accepts remuneration for musical services rendered not exceeding $100 per year. The conductor of bands or choirs may be professional or amateur and may conduct any number of organizations but must not sing or play with the group he is leading. No individual will be allowed to participate in any class more than once.

Minimum Mark

In order to preserve a high standard of performance in all classes the competitor must be awarded a minimum mark, first prize 80, second prize 75 and third prize 70. Unless these marks are obtained the prizes will be withheld regardless of the number of entries. Shields will be awarded to the prize winners.

Music selections this year were chosen by W. B. Rowell, of Stratford, Ontario. Mary A. Lockhart, of Ottawa, made the verse-speaking selections.

In presenting the festival the Kiwanis Club hopes, in the words of Sir H. Walford Davies, "not to gain a prize, nor defeat a rival, but to pace another on the road to excellence." They feel that if this is achieved their objective will be won and the community enriched.

The 25 sections of the festival are: Senior choral classes, other adult choirs, adult vocal ensembles, senior vocal solos, oratorio solos, operatic solos, junior vocal solos, girls' solos, boys' solos (unchanged voices), junior choral classes, junior small vocal ensembles, public and separate school choirs, rural school choirs, piano solos, piano solo (fugues, sonatas, sonatinas, etc.), sight reading, piano duos (two pianos, four hands), piano duets (one piano, four hands), violin solos, viola and violancello, small instrumental ensembles, orchestras, brass instruments, woodwind instruments, bands, choral speaking choirs, verse speaking and public speaking. Each section has graded classes, according to age and type.

Entries close February 28 and are obtainable from the secretary of the festival, Mrs. Stanley Northrop, 548 Gilmour St. in Peterborough.

The annual Kiwanis Music Festival has become an outstanding event in local music. It attracts contestants, and others who merely wish to test themselves against recognized standards, from a wide area extending to Oshawa and Muskoka.

FUNERAL AT 8:45 A.M.

The funeral of Mary Ann Murty will take place at 8.45 a.m. Wednesday, from her late residence, 380 Brock St., to St. Peter's Cathedral for requiem high mass, beginning at 9 o'clock. Burial will be at St. Peter's Cemetery.

Parking Meters Net City $26,700 In 1949

Total collection of the city's parking meters from May 12, 1947 to Dec. 31, 1949, was $70,757.32, as reported by City Clerk Outram to the council last night.

Annual receipts were: $17,924.05 in 1947; $26,053.05 in 1948 and $26,780.22 last year. The December contribution was $1,896.32.

Receipts last year in the City Clerk's office were: city licenses $9,812.16; police court $15,698.52; miscellaneous $9,360.08; meters $26,780.22; total $61,640.98 as compared with $64,751.67 in 1948.

Miscellaneous receipts included marriage licenses $2,080; dog tags $2,236; parking tickets $2,397; parking stickers $1,444; garbage tags $613.80.

The bicycle licenses contributed only $576 last year as against $1,565 in 1948.

Mr. Outram's report mentioned the following comparative figures "In 1939 the total number of births recorded at the city hall was 747 while in 1949 the total was 1,642.

Police court total revenue in 1939 was $3,696.30 with 942 while in 1949 receipts were $19,328.30 and 2,022 cases were listed."

Parking penalties in December yielded $201 to the treasury at one dollar each.

Name Percy McNamee Caretaker Of City Hall

Percy McNamee, 704 Water St., was appointed caretaker of the city hall by the council's adoption Monday night of the report of the property committee presented by Ald. E. C. Braund.

Mr. McNamee, a veteran of the Royal Canadian Navy, begins his work Feb. 1 at a salary of $2,300 a year, with $100 increase at the end of three months. The salary advances to $2,500 on the completion of one year's service. Mr McNamee succeeds John Londerville who was superannuated at the end of the year.

The report also recommended that City Clerk Outram arrange with the Peterborough Real Estate Board for an appraisal of the Calcutt property on the west side of Burnham St., 325-7, immediately south of Riverside Park. This move was dictated by the prospect of purchase of the several houses in this property.

Douglas Freed

A charge against Jack Douglas of Toronto of being an accessory after the fact in the $100,000 car finance swindle alleged against Aubrey S. Hancock, Toronto, and Paul Imming, Peterborough, was withdrawn in police court Monday.

A similar charge against Richard O'Brien was withdrawn last week and Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw indicated at that time he would do the same in the case of Douglas.

Hancock and Imming are still being sought by police.

Man Asked For Term In Jail—Refused So Threw Brick Through Window—Accepted

Throwing a brick through the window of Warne's Jewellery store January 7 cost John Junkin, Port Hope, four months' definite and two months indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory.

"I was pretty drunk when I did it," Junkin commented in court Monday before Magistrate W. R. Philp KC.

Constable John Morrow who arrested Junkin, said the damage done amounted to almost $460.

Constable Morrow said he was walking west on Simcoe St when he heard a crash of glass. He ran to the corner and passed Junkin walking north on George St In a few minutes he arrested Junkin on the north-west corner of George and Simcoe Sts.

He added as he was taking Junkin to the police station, Junkin said he had asked police for a jail sentence and been refused. Now it was getting cold he would have a place to stay.

"I don't remember much about it," was Junkin's comment.

Junkin said he had thrown a stone through the windshield of a car in Cobourg a couple of months ago and had been sentenced for it.

"I wondered if you had a penchant for breaking store windows," Magistrate Philp said in asking Junkin about the incident.

Junkin said he had no means to pay for the damage done until he had a job.

After installation, Mrs. Merle Lee conducted discussion of current business. It was decided the Circle would conduct a "copper contest" between groups, as in previous years. An invitation will be extended to members of CGIT to be guests at the April meeting. Nominating committee for 1951 was appointed, consisting of Miss Phyllis Robinson, chairman and Misses Helen Thompson and Mignon Mayneord.

Devotional period was under leadership of Miss Mayneord. Scripture was read by Miss Marjorie Lane and Miss H. Thompson led in prayer. A chapter of the study book was presented by the leader, assisted by Misses Hambly and Robinson.

Lunch was served at the close by the group in charge.

Swivel Rocker Inspired By Television

TORONTO, Jan. 17 (CP) — Television is bringing back the rocking chair. Added comfort, say furniture experts at the trade show which opened Monday, is that the television rocking chair has a swivel which permits the viewer to turn away if he becomes tired of the picture.

Some 175 exhibitors displayed their newest lines as the 10-day show started, the first since the Second World War and largest ever held in Toronto.

The dining room suite, once as much part of the home as the rocking chair, is on the way out, the show would indicate. It has given way to the compact table which can sit in the living room and yet expand with trick folding leaves to seat at least eight persons.

The sideboard and buffet are being replaced by units which are not out of place in living room and by corner cupboards.

New folding chairs have aluminum frames so light they can almost be lifted on a finger, and comfortable canvas seats, but they are strong enough to take more than 250 pounds.

Seek to Determine

Entailed in the city's application, as the discussion indicated, would be the building of a road, with probably one sidewalk which might be of cinders, a fence on each side, new lighting, policing and insurance. And, it was assumed that the cost of providing these essentials would be borne by the city.

The suggestion adopted is to be followed by the council asking City Engineer Chalmers for an estimate of the cost of a suitable road southerly through the park, linking Lansdowne and McGill Streets.

The Exhibition Board was represented by Mr. Stewart, Norman McConkey, Tom Brown, Harold Rehill and G. A. Gillespie; and the Morrow Trust by Frank Bradburn, R. M. Glover, Herbert Bradburn and T. J. Carley, KC.

Private Property

Mr. Carley remarked at the outset that a question of the authority of the council to spend public money on private property was involved. "The city of Toronto has no such entanglement with the C.N.E. We are hedged about by a document we fell heir to, and we have to operate within it."

"I don't think we could," said Mr. Huycke. "If all were agreed I think we could get a private bill, but it would require the approval of the Exhibition Board and the Morrow Trust. It is a matter to be approached in mutual trust and confidence before we get to the legal end of it. If the groups represented here would state how far they are prepared to go, the legal angles could be considered later."

Ald. H. Dodds said this year confronted the council with financial problems, and for that reason a gravel road through the park might be satisfactory.

Ald. Sands: "What we would like to know is whether the Board and the Trust are agreeable to the public using a strip through the park for a thoroughfare. It is up to them to say, yes or no."

Frank Bradburn: "The Trust did agree."

Hugh Stewart: "All we want is to protect our rights so we can carry on the Exhibition. We don't want to be a stumbling block to the city. We are sitting back to see what is needed. Can't it be worked out without fences. We feel we have enough fences now."

Mr. Stewart said he could not recall Col. Bradburn having given the full sanction he mentioned.

Require Gates

Col. Bradburn: "The Trust agreed, providing that gates were put up at the end of the road and closed at least once a year so that it would remain a private road."

Mr. Carley said the Trustees would be glad to do anything within the authority given them by the Trust.

City Clerk Outram said that cement posts might be set on both sides of the road, made in such a way that taller posts for a movable fence could be fitted into the cement footings. This fence, it was understood, would remain in place while the road was in use by the public. It could be removed whenever the Park was required by the Exhibition Board.

Prevent Parking

Discussion was unanimous that adequate steps would have to be taken to prevent cars parking on the grounds at night. Mr. Carley said that required "policing more than the roadway". Without lighting and police supervision it was felt that the opening of a street would be a nuisance to the neighborhood and possibly a danger to the community. One of the expressions was: "keep cars from going all over the park."

Ald. Doug Miller commented that he felt more accord had been reached between the three groups than at any other session. "I'd suggest that each appoint two representatives, and let them sit down and iron out the details."

Mr. Stewart said the erection of a fence would relieve the city from responsibility for the buildings. "If the place was not continuously policed, how would you keep the parkers out?"

There was also a detail of insurance.

Ald. Sands: "The city is willing to spend a certain amount for a road, permanent surface if necessary. If the city did not take care of the place, the Exhibition Board and the Trust could close it up at any time. This is only a gentlemen's agreement."

Ald. Braund said that with the tax rate as it was likely to be, the road might be given a hoist for this year if it was going to cost anything like $8,000 to $10,000. Or, the road could be left as it was for a year, provide an outlet at the south end, "and try it out."

Ald. Dewart: "It would simplify matters if the Board and the Trust would decide the conditions under which they would permit us to use the park. We could then find out what it would cost, and decide what, considering everything, was the sensible thing to do."

Mr. Rehill said that, if a gravel road was laid, heavy traffic would have to be excluded.

And, if there was an accident, Herbert Bradburn interjected, "all three groups would be in the same barrel and we could be sued."

Man Objects to Slave Wife Spending Her Own Money

DEAR MISS DIX: My wife and I have been married for eight years. We both work in offices and until recently she was pretty fair about taking care of her share of the expenses. She pays for the light, gas, food etc., and does the laundry herself. I have been very lenient with my wife, perhaps too lenient. I never ask her for money unless I am short, but I expect her to account for all she earns. The last month or so she has been very indifferent to me and is using her money for something she is not telling me about, and I suspect she has bought a coat. She knows that I object to her spending money foolishly. She has a coat which, although nine years old, is in perfect condition and warm. She has mentioned several times lately that she would like to quit for a year and rest up. I don't see what makes her tired, nor why she should sit at home idle while I work. Please tell me what to do.

ROBERT

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Well, Robert, it looks to me as if you were about to work your slave to death, or drive her into rebellion, and my advice to you is to have a heart-to-heart session with yourself and try to get your wife's point of view and see how your attitud toward her looks to her.

Has Contributed Her Share

Now I believe in wives helping their husbands even by working outside of their homes when the husband doesn't earn enough to support the family, and I believe in the wife contributing her fair share to support the home when that is needed. But surely the wife who does the housework and the washing and ironing and pays for the light and gas and food and so forth has contributed her quota, and what is left out of her pay envelope she might justly consider herself entitled to.

You have no right whatever to that, nor have you any right to know what she does with it. That is her own private affair and if she chooses to buy a new coat that is her business, too. I would like to bet that you don't turn over your pay envelope to her, nor tell hhat you do with every nickel, nor consult her when you purchase a new pair of shoes.

If you showed sympathy with your wife; if you made her feel that her money was her own and that you were filled with gratitude to her for contributing to the family support, then you would rob the situation of all bitterness and she would be willing to work her fingers to the bone for you. But when you lash her on, as a cruel driver does a tired old horse; when you begrudge her even decent clothes that cost you nothing, and when you confiscate her pay envelope, you make marriage nothing but slavery with a slave driver instead of a husband.

DEAR MISS DIX: My life has been nothing but unhappiness, and I am lonely, disillusioned and discouraged. Nobody loves me. I have never had any real friends, either girls or boys. I am only 16, yet life seems to me useless.

DISILLUSIONED

ANSWER: Don't despair, my dear. The morbid view you take of the world is one of the phases of adolescence and it will pass. God alone knows why, but girls and boys at your age nearly always look at life through green spectacles and see it jaundiced.

You complain because you are unpopular with your fellows and because you are unhappy. Well, what have you done to try to make yourself happy? Have you tried to adapt yourself to the conditions in which you found yourself? Have you made an effort to look on the bright side of things instead of dwelling morbidly on the dark ones? Have you ever tried to make things pleasanter for other people instead of resenting every effort not being made for your pleasure?

Believe me, we all make our own happiness, but we don't manufacture it out of grouches and glooms and selfishness. The only happy people are those who are trying to make other people happy and who don't bother about their own happiness at all.

And if you haven't any friends, that too, is your own fault, because the whole world is hungry for comradeship and eager to meet those halfway who hold out their hands to them. Perhaps you are stand-offish, hard to get along with. Perhaps you are never willing to play anybody else's game and expect everybody to run after you. Why should they? Try pursuing them a while. Adapt yourself to them. Be pleasant and cheerful and you will not lack for friends ever, anywhere.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 23, very much in love with a boy whom I have never had any reason to doubt. I only see him on week ends, as the other nights he is busy trying to get an education that was denied him. I trust him completely, but there is a certain person who keeps telling me: "Don't trust any man. They are all cheats. And how do you know he is at school? etc., etc." What shall I do?

CAROLE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The man who is trying to poison your mind with suspicions of your sweetheart is evidently bent on making mischief between you. Never trust a tale-bearer. He or she always has an ulterior motive and most often makes up the story he or she relates.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

"ROBUST, EXUBERANT, LUSTY" describes life along New York's Rialto as 1900 dawned. No single individual so symbolized this spirit as did lovely Lillian Russell, queen of the comic operas. Her 165 pounds embodied the era's ideal of lush feminine beauty. It was a picture composed in wide-sweeping curves and well-balanced masses. But to her devotees she was "airy, fairy Lillian." From the night in 1883 when she appeared at famed Tony Pastor's in New York until her retirement in 1912, she reigned as queen of romance. Millionaires fought to shower her with costly jewels and with characteristic flamboyance she wore them by the bucketful. Grandpa will tell you that all today's glamor dolls rolled into one couldn't compare with the "incomparable Lillian."

Bargain Sales Draw Men But British Women Win

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The men won the day—in toughness and endurance—at London's New Year bargain sales.

They pushed and jostled, whipped goods from under each other's noses and generally got much worse tempered than the women.

Why? So their wives couldn't upbraid them for coming back empty handed; and because the present prices of men's clothes in Britain are making men bargain-conscious too.

For men: hats dropped from £3 ($9.30) to £2 10s. and from £2 to 16s.; socks fell from 8s. to 3s 8d; raincoats from £5 4s 6d. to £3 10s 4d.; overcoats from £6 7s 8d to £3 17s 5d.

But it was the women who lined up outside the best Oxford St stores from 5 a.m. to ensure a chance to get in on the best bargains.

And plenty of bargains were there for women.

Evening dresses costing anything from five guineas to 17 guineas were sold for £1—but you had to be on the doorstep at opening time to get one. Many other dresses were reduced to half-price and less.

Top priced utility coats—£21 19s 3d—were marked down to half price and less due to the mild winter.

Corduroy coats were reduced from £18 12s. to £5.

Suits Were Cheap

Utility suits sold from £3 upwards and utility dresses could be procured—in wool or silk—from 19s 11d.

Pretty utility jersey dresses of up-to-date style were sold at from 24s 11d to 63s for the cheaper models. Blouses and jumpers could be procured for 10s.; hats from 5s. and handbags from 7s 6d.

For those who could afford a fur, dyed coney was selling for £11 instead of £32; beaver coney for £22 instead of £37 15s 6d.; fox capes sold for £17 while cream curled lamb was reduced from £38 to as low as £9 in one case.

Highlights of the sales in every store was a surprising slash in prices of yard goods. It will mean that many more women will be cutting their own patterns this year.

What's Right

You have a date with a girl and decide that one evening of her company is enough.

WRONG WAY: Go around telling your friends not to ask her for a date.

RIGHT WAY: Realize that someone else might like her, even though you didn't, and so don't spoil her chances by running her down.

$25 Scholarship Offered Highest In Matriculation

MARMORA, Jan. 17 (ENS)—A scholarship of $25 for the student obtaining highest standing in senior matriculation is being offered by the Catholic Women's League of Sacred Hart. This was decided at the January meeting held in Sacred Heart School.

Mrs. C. Cook was chairman and welcomed the director, the Rev. J. A. O'Neill, and members.

A discussion was held regarding a bingo to be held in the school and card parties to be held in the homes.

Mrs. C. Crawford, convener of social welfare, reported that nine baskets had been sent at Christmas and one baby gift had been given. She also reported three baskets had been sent by Mrs. Donaldson, who was absent.

Father O'Neill thanked those who had contributed clothing, bedding, etc., to the family who had sustained loss in the fire recently and he also asked assistance for a needy family in the parish. He also spoke about the Study Clubs.

Visited Shut-Ins

Mrs. B. Hughes and Mrs. Jas. O'Neill reported four visits to the sick and shut-ins and Mrs. B. McTaggart and Mrs. B. A. Stephens volunteered for that duty for the coming month.

The president gave a report on the Diocesan meeting held in Kingston on Jan. 4.

Group Seven was asked to provide the refreshments for the February meeting which will take the form of "Grandmothers' Night."

The members were asked to bring a quilt block to the next meeting.

A contest sponsored by the president was won by Mrs. J. Black and Mrs. B. Hughes.

Regreshments were served by the ladies of Group Six.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barnard entertained at a euchre party on Friday evening. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Moncrief, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lang of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Perrin, Mr. and Mrs. Aylmer Dawson, of Port Hope; Mr. and Mrs. Karl Huggins, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnard, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Watt, Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Rutherford, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Howson, Mr and Mrs. Hugh Fallis, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cordery.

Prizes went to Mrs. W. Lang, Mrs. C. Dawson, Mr. S. Johnston, Mr. M. Perrin.

The annual meeting of Bensfort, Fraserville and Bailieboro church will be held at Bensfort church on January 24.

The Bensfort Women's Association met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Perrin, with the new president, Mrs. Merton Thompson, in the chair. It was decided to send $25 to the Sick Children's Hospital Fund in Toronto.

New Swim Suits Not So Bare

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17 (AP)—Swim suits not so bare, shorts not so short, skirts an inch or two longer, necklines oval, shoulders rounder with less padding and silhouettes slimmer.

These were the trends as California apparel creators previewed their spring and summer lines today for some 350 buyers from all parts of the country.

A simple cotton print sundress in a fan design — a rainbow of yellows, reds, greens and blues—got the biggest hand. Runner-up was a red-and-white, candy-striped one-piece playsuit, fetchingly worn by a moppet of five.

Princess at Malta Sun-tanned Sailor

LONDON —(CP)—Friends say Princess Elizabeth has benefitted greatly by her stay in Malta. She looks sun-tanned and very fit.

She spent much of her spare time sailing in "Cowslip," the racing yacht given to her and her husband by the townsfolk of Cowes. She also did a lot of swimming.

So keen has the princess become on yachting there are hopes that next summer she may race with the Duke in some of the smaller regattas.

One of the keenest listeners to accounts of her stay in Malta is Princess Margaret — the most travel-loving member of the Royal Family. It would cause no surprise in court circles if Princess Elizabeth were to take her sister with her on the next trip to see her husband probably in the spring.

Finds Good Hearing Essential

An employment expert reports that one of the things he looks for first in applicants is hearing ability. "So many men—and women, too," he said, "have a hearing defect without realizing it. Obviously, if their hearing isn't good, their work can't be." Thousands of such people are now holding down better jobs than ever before with the help of a Western Electric Hearing Aid. These tiny instruments, now nationally distributed by Audivox, Inc., may be seen at Henry Putnam & Son, 399 George St. For a free private test of your hearing, stop in or phone 3322.—(Advt.)

60-Cycle Gained From 25 Area Says Saunders

Sixty-cycle sections in Southern Ontario should bear their "fair share" of the cost of frequency standardization, Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the HEPC, intimated in an address Monday to the Rotary Club.

Some municipalities, already 60-cycle, have suggested they did not pay any part of the cost of standardization, he said. And resolutions to this effect have been placed before meetings of the Ontario Municipal Electric Assoc. and the Association of Municipal Electric Utilities.

As a result of these objections Mr. Saunders said he undertook to make a detailed study of the whole question. If the present policy is unfair to any section of the province he would ask for a change; if not he would support it.

While this study has not yet been concluded the scales seemed weighed in favor of 60-cycle section participation he said.

Each For All

"In considering this question one must keep in mind that Hydro is owned by all the people and always has been and must continue to be a co-operative enterprise," he said. "Each section working for the whole and the whole working in the interests of each section."

Previous to 1944 the Southern Ontario Hydro was divided into three sections, he pointed out in a quick review of recent HEPC history. One was 25 cycle and the other two 60 cycle.

There was the Niagara Division, embracing municipalities in all the territory between Niagara Falls, Hamilton and Toronto on the east, and Windsor, Sarnia and Goderich on the west.

It was served with 25-cycle power from Niagara River plants, supplemented by power purchased from Quebec companies.

The balance of the Southern Ontario was divided into two 60-cycle areas and were known as the Georgian Bay and Eastern Ontario Divisions.

United Systems

To obtain maximum production during wartime it was found necessary to make all three work together. If there were a low water flow in any section one of the other two would help out.

In 1941 43,982,000 k.w.h. was made from the Niagara system to meet the primary demands of the Georgian Bay system. Niagara also had to supply power to the Eastern Ontario system as the latter had surpassed its resources.

Similar conditions obtained in 1942 and 1943. And it became obvious, the HEPC chairman contended, that amalgamation was in the general interest of all municipalities.

The union of the three was made in February, 1944, financially retroactive to the fiscal year of 1942-43.

It was the municipalities in the 25-cycle Niagara district that originally objected because it was to their immediate disadvantage. Rates to the 60-cycle municipalities would be reduced and this reduction would be paid by the Niagara district.

A comparison of the 1942 rates (before amalgamation) and the 1943 rates (after amalgamation) reveals who benefitted financially, Mr. Saunders stated.

Reductions In Costs

Of 23 sample municipalities of the 60 cycle area, 17 received reductions of more than $1.50 per h.p. Fourteen of these were over $2 and eight of the 14 more than $3.

For example, in Peterborough the '42 figure was 25.58 per h.p., compared with the 1943 figure of 23.62 after amalgamation. This reduction amounted to $1.96 per h.p. per year.

On the other hand only six of the 17 sample municipalities in the 25 cycle area benefited.

Reductions in rates were brought about due to the pooling of the generating costs.

"Notwithstanding the objections and the immediate disadvantage to the 25 cycle area as compared with an advantage to the 60 cycle areas, it was decided that in the interest of the ultimate general good the amalgamation should be completed," Mr. Saunders said.

Because of the amalgamation larger and more economical sites have been built. This leaves a market for surplus power if not in Ontario then in New York State.

All municipalities, irrespective of frequency, have been able to share in the economic benefits of all additional power sites as they developed.

Peterborough's average load in 1943 was 11,672.4 h.p.—a saving of $1.96 would amount to $22,877.90.

Western 'Decadence' Found In Red Press Chief's Set-up

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

BERLIN, Jan. 17 (CP) — The Russians probably don't realize it, but there is a touch of the "decadent democracies" in east zone press conferences.

Gerhart Eisler, the Communist who fled U.S. justice, is responsible.

Eisler came to Germany ostensibly to teach at the Russian-controlled Leipzig University. Instead he landed the job of press chief for the Communist government. Now he holds forth in what used to be the propaganda ministry of shrill-voiced little Joseph Goebbels.

Eisler sees to it that waitresses thread through the big conference room with coffee and cookies. There also are cigarets and, if the conference is important enough, cigars.

Eisler, stout, balding and outwardly affable, has built something of a reputation for himself as a wit. Instead of dealing with embarrassing questions seriously, he uses smiling ridicule, or asks another question.

German reporters are used to stern pomposity at their press conferences and those from West Berlin gave him grudging due. Eisler works hard to instil a feeling of informality and general affability.

Representatives of the East Berlin press get special treatment so far as replies are concerned. Their questions hew to the party line and Eisler deals with them graciously.

Eisler is always outwardly cordial and polite with the allied press, but he never strays conversationally from the Communist fold.

He rarely if ever refers to the German Federal Republic in West Germany, and then never as a government. To questions concerning the "east zone government" he predicates all replies with "the German Democratic Republic."

Many feel that while Eisler runs the information bureau, he is not a confidant of the party leaders, nor is he a policy maker.

His offices are not elaborate. He has a small reception room occupied by a girl secretary who sits facing a big portrait of Stalin and a radio which often softly plays American jazz. Eisler has his own desk in a bigger room, but it is furnished plainly.

Nobody ever gets into Eisler's information bureau without a pass and without walking by at least two armed sentries.

Eisler wears owlish horn-rim glasses, and usually a tan sport coat and slacks. His English is accented, but not more than that of a lot of foreigners in America. And sometimes the representative of the Russian-sponsored, Communist-run East German government slips entirely and says:

"Yeah. That'll be okay. You bet."

British Industry Plans To Play Big Part In 1951 Festival

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 17 (CP)—Four thousand manufacturers have already submitted designs and samples of their work for inclusion in the industrial section of the 1951 Festival of Britain.

It is expected that the list will eventually contain details of 20,000 products. From these, associations and leaders of each industry will choose for display what they consider are the finest illustrations of achievement and progress.

Exhibits selected by each industry will be laid out by "presentation panels." They will bear numbers, not names. Prospective buyers will have to check them in catalogues and go to information bureaux to discover where and how they can place orders.

"The Festival of Britain is not a trade fair," a festival spokesman said. "Nor was the 'British Can Make It' exhibition of 1946. Just the same it produced more than £30,000,000 ($93,000,000) worth of orders.

"We hope that the festival will present a cross-section of all Britain's best industrial achievements dramatically enough for the buyers themselves to attend."

At their headquarters in the Strand officials are working out ways of reducing expenditure on the festival from the original £14,000,000 estimate to the revised figure of £11,300,000.

River Pageant Out

Two proposals which have been abandoned are a river pageant on the Thames and a program of documentary movies relating to the festival which were expected to cost £75,000.

An ambitious program of street decorations, firework displays and outdoor events for London will probably be halved.

The festival staff will not be increased to the number first contemplated. At present it is 265 and includes artists, scientists, architects, designers, technicians, messengers, clerks, typists and public relations men.

Amended figures for the science exhibition at South Kensington (£450,000), heavy engineering at Kelvin Hall, Glasgow (£380,000) and the architectural exhibition at Poplar, East London (£240,000) represent a saving of £375,000 on the original estimates.

Two miniature travelling exhibitions, to be seen all over Britain, come to the main exhibition site now being constructed in South London.

Price of admission has not yet been fixed.

Lived In Dream Freed In Murder

NEWARK, N.J., Jan. 17 (AP)—Psychiatrists say a pretty 23-year-old mother has come out of a long, horrible dream caused by the birth of her daughter.

While still in that dream world, called a post partum (after childbirth) psychosis, Mrs. Jacqueline Marie Steinhouser was accused of killing her father by hacking him 51 times with a Boy Scout hatchet.

Monday Judge Joseph E. Conlon set aside a murder indictment against Mrs. Steinhauser on the advice of six psychiatrists and assistant county prosecutor, Edward Gaulkin.

They said she now is "completely recovered" and recommended her discharge from Trenton State Hospital for the Insane.

Mrs. Steinhauser has no recollection of the bloody scene in the kitchen of her home last year that ended in the death of her father, Edward A. McMahon, the psychiatrists testified.

The doctors said he mental illness was caused by the birth of her daughter, Barbara Anne, last May. She suffered a type of amnesia from that time until she became aware of "waking up in the State hospital," after electric shock treatments, they said.

Missionary Says Reds Not Bad

TORONTO, Jan. 17 (CP) — A United Church missionary says he is persuaded "temporarily at least" that the new Communist regime in China is a "great improvement over the old regime.

Writing in the United Church Observer, Rev. Jesse H. Arnup, secretary of the overseas mission of the United Church, quotes a letter on conditions in China, received from a "valued missionary correspondent in Shanghai."

The letter says the Communist leaders are "hard working, live simply and have a good reputation for incorruptibility."

The article added:

"First of all, we may as well face the fact that the new rulers of China are real Communists. . .

"That is not to say the new government will be more totalitarian in practice than the Kuomintang, despite the latter's lip service to democracy. Dispatches from Chengtu received during the last days of the old regime tell of students suddenly disappearing and of others in hiding to escape the consequences of a not unreasonable exercise of the privileges of free speech.

"It is not for nothing that the Communist forces are welcomed almost everywhere as the army of liberation."

WELLAND, Jan. 17—(CP)—Michael Palechuk, 19, of nearby Grantham Township, today was remanded to Jan. 24 on a murder charge arising from the Christmas-week budgeoning of Arthur Gouch. It was the third remand since his arrest.

"While I'm sitting here, the real murderer is getting away." "I don't want to stay here," Palechuk protested in reiterating his objection to further remands.

His cousel, John M. King of St. Catharines said he objected most vehemently to a third remand.

"It would be a travesty of justice if, due to some technicality or lack of evidence, this boy is not given an opportunity of establishing his declared innocence before the next assizes next September," Mr. King said.

Apple Growers Badly Worried

TORONTO, Jan. 17 (CP) — With a substantial surplus of Ontario apples unsold in warehouses here, Ontario apple-growers are considering such drastic steps as asking the federal government to assist them in a tree removal program, the Ontario Fruit and Vegetable Growers Association was told Monday.

B. M. Wallace, chairman of the association's apple section, told the annual convention that Great Britain, the United States and Nova Scotia have "ganged up" in snubbing apples from Ontario. He suggested consideration of plans whereby the Federal government might be asked to aid farmers voluntarily cutting down their orchards.

He said the Federal government in 1949 arranged to sell $3,000,000 worth of Canadian apples to Britain. But the price was 20 per cent lower than in 1946 and Ontario wasn't anxious to sell.

However, growers later changed their mind and asked Nova Scotia to lower its quota to Britain, allowing for the substitution of 10,000 barrels of Ontario apples. Nova Scotia would have no part of the deal, Mr. Wallace said.

Drunk Driving Case Dismissed

A charge of drunk driving against Howard Rose, 991 Ford Ave., was dismissed by Magistrat W. R. Philp, K.C., in police court Monday.

The charge arose from an accident Dec. 23 about seven p.m. Constable William G. Scott, who investigated, said Rose, travelling west on Chamberlain St., ran into the front of a car parked at the north curb in front of 500 Chamberlain St. He said the right side of the grill and the front of the car had about $350 damagt done to it. About $75 damage was done to Rose's light truck.

Constable Scott said Rose was drunk. He said Rose smelled of some kind of liquor; his speech was thick; and he was unsteady on his feet. He said Rose could walk by himself but was unsteady.

Constable A. Dalton testified he commented to Rose in the police guard room, "You must have had too much to drink." Rose answered. Constable Dalton said, "I guess I did."

Fifteen-year-old Ed Henderson, 445 Rose Ave., who had been sitting on his bicycle at the curb a short distance from the parked car that was hit, said he saw no other car on the street. After it crossed railroad tracks, he said the truck seemed to angle straight toward the parked car.

Settled For Damage

Hugh L. Gray, Oshawa, owner of the car that was hit, said he came down to the car shortly after the collision. He said he did not think Rose was drunk. He added Rose had made settlement for the damage done.

Other witnesses, William Ryder and Rose's son Kenneth, indicated Rose had had only two glasses of beer during the afternoon until the time of the accident.

Rose said he was shocked from the accident. He said he had suffered a blow on the chest which knocked the wind from him and he had a cut on his forehead and on his lip.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Idling Motors Costs Army $125 A Day

OTTAWA, Jan. 17— (CP) — Know what it costs to keep your car engine idling during the cold weather?

The army's transport authorities have completed a survey of what it costs the government. The result is that army drivers have been ordered to shut off their engines whenever they park the vehicles.

Tests show that a vehicle left idling at a speed sufficient to drive it at 10 miles an hour burned one-tenth of a gallon of gasoline in 15 minutes.

The experts figured that if all army vehicles normally in operation were parked with motors running for 30 minutes a day the cost would be about $125 daily.

Although fully aware that under certain circumstances service drivers are wise to keep their motors running, the practice, they said, is "unnecessary and uneconomical."

"I agree with the verdict," said Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven, announcing he would sentence the disabled war veteran on Friday morning.

First Wedding In 68 Years

TRENTON, Jan. 17 — (CP) — The first wedding in 68-year-old Zion United Church in Murray Township 20 miles northwest of here was held Saturday. Principals were schoolteacher Marion Mikel, a district girl, and Raymond Hart, rancher from Claresholm, Alta., who met during the Second World War.

The Rev. Roy MacEachern, who came to Zion Church only 10 days ago, said most couples in the area prefer to be married in a larger church at nearby Frankford. Many couples are married in district homes.

However, Marion Mikel insisted that the weddingless record of the Church she had attended since childhood should be broken.

Acheson Faces Crisis On China

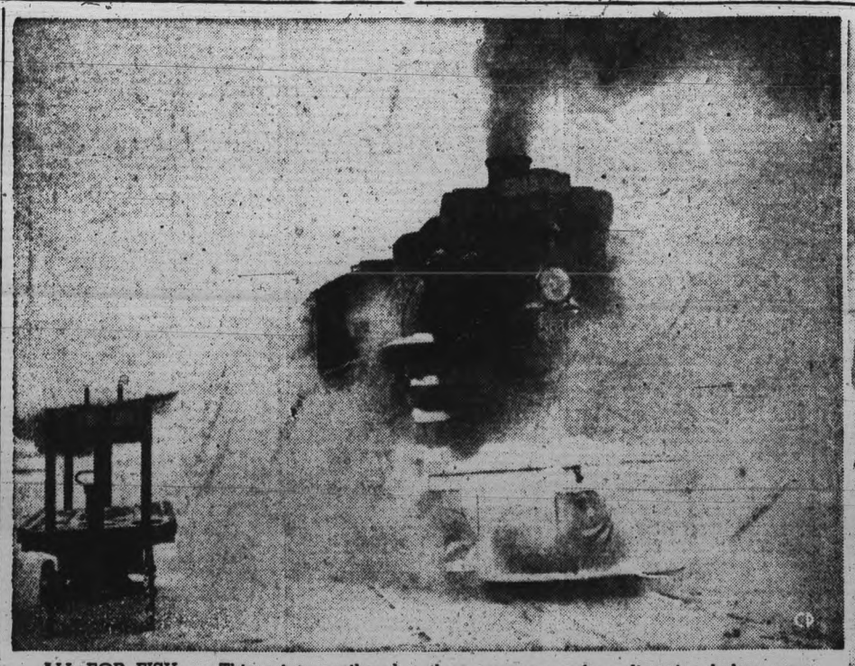
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (AP) The new break between the United States and Communist China confronted State Secretary Dean Acheson Monday with another crisis in Far Eastern policy.

While all remaining American officials are preparing to withdraw from the Chnese mainland, Acheson's Republican critics in Congress are raising demands for action ranging all the way from an explanation to a resignation.

The resignation demand came from Senator William Knowland (Rep. Calif) who branded the new American retreat from China as evidence of a "bankrupt China policy." Knowland said the assistant U.S. Secretary of State for the Far East, W. Walton Butterworth, should get out and that if Acheson approved the present Far Eastern policy, he also should quit.

In addition, there were some signs that senatorial criticism is not the end of Acheson's troubles even on this specific issue. His perhaps greater problem—since he also has a sensatorial support—is the actual removal of the 135 American diplomats and their families from Red China.

The Chinese Communists have many devices for delaying or halting the withdrawal of foreigners. The means they have employed include espionage charges, arrests for unexplained reasons and various claims for debt settlement prior to the granting of exit permits.



Children Make Rescue While Adults Watch

NEWMARKET, Jan. 17 (CP) — Six school children, acting with the speed of a trained rescue squad, saved Linda Purcell, 9, and her 12-year-old brother David, Sunday after the two dropped through the ice on Fairy lake here.

The children said a group of adults stood on the shore about 75 feet away and watched the rescue.

Witnesses said the ice broke under Linda and she disappeared. David ran to rescue her and the ice broke under him.

George Davis, 13, lay on the ice and reached to the sister and brother with a hockey stick while a chum held his legs. Other youngsters helped pull Linda and David to safety.

ALL FOR FISH — This wintry railroad scene (ABOVE) results from the needs of a few fishermen at Gypsumville, Man., where the mercury often dips far below zero. Throughout the winter, fish is shipped by rail to markets in more southerly parts of Canada.

Winter railroading can be almost as tough in big urban centres as in the desolate far north. This switchman works to keep connections clear of snow during a blizzard howling through Montreal's Outremont freight yards.

Railwaymen Having Wild Days As Weatherman Goes Crazy

MONTREAL, Jan. 17 (CP). — "Train No. 2 due....will arrive from the West 18 hours late."

Those words on the big train information board of Canadian National Railways in Central Station, Montreal, served to underline today the $5,000,000 annual winter battle of the railways against cold and snow.

The trains always get through. But it sometimes takes more time than the schedule-makers ever dreamed of.

The battle is one which goes on each winter along the 42,000-mile front and a railways' spokesman said today that "in the memory of Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railroaders in Western Canada the difficulties encountered in this winter of 1949-1950 have been worse than ever before.'"

The reference was particularly to winter cold and snow conditions on the Prairies, the mountains and the Pacific Coast region.

"In the Prairies alone," said a spokesman, "there now have been more than 30 days of sub-zero weather which reduces the wheel traction with resulting reduction in freight loads. It has reached a point now where we have had to institute priorities in freight to ensure delivery of urgent materials."

Wild Days

For railwaymen these are wild days. Brake pressures drop, lubricants freeze, and snow piles up along the line despite hundreds of snow-fighting units which buck into drifts sometimes 15 feet deep while the gandy-dancers (section hands) work with pick and shovel to free thousands of terminal switches of paralyzing ice.

The railways don't enter the fray "cold." By September 15 of each year everything is in readiness for storms and low temperatures.

All snow-fighting equipment must be repaired and tested; the snow fences must be in place; all air lines, steam lines and tools used for snow removal and disposal must be made ready. And the snow-fighting forces must be lined up. In Montreal alone an extra 500 to 1,200 men may be employed in clearing snow.

CPR snow-plow miles during the winter of 1947-1948 were 261,346 and during the winter of 1948-1949 were 180,613. Total CPR cost of snow-clearing operations during the 1947-1948 season was $3,075,123 and during the 1948-1949 season it was $3,013,998.

Spend Two Million

In January and February two years ago the Canadian National spent $2,500,000 in the fight to keep its lines clear. As yet nobody can estimate the 1949-1950 bill.

But while the conditions can get bad in Eastern Canada, it is the West which presents the toughest problem. In the rough winter of 1947 heavy snows driven by winds such as were experienced in the last few days—reaching to 70 miles an hour—blocked lines with tremendous drifts. Some reached 25 feet in depth and a thaw, followed by below-zero temperatures turned the drifts into ice barriers which defied plows powered by three locomotives.

Chorus Girls Being Spotted In U. S. Ice Revues

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 17 (AP)—The great American institution of the chorus girl is being put on ice.

From the Floradora girl to the Rockette, the shapely chorine has been a U. S. landmark. But with the decline of vaudeville and live entertainment generally, she has been disappearing. I am happy to report that this specie is returning.

Where? Not in television; the limited screen is not for lines of cuties.

The chorus girl is coming back via the ice shows.

Skate star Belita is the source of this information. She advises show business minded young girls to trade their dancing slippers for a pair of skates.

Steady Work

"The work is steady and secure," she said, "much more so than in the theatre. Ice shows are given winter and summer. The girls have three weeks vacations and there are a few weeks of rehearsal. Otherwise you are working the year round."

Parents don't have to worry about their daughters when they join ice shows, she observed. "There is no vulgarity."

Further, the longevity of ice chorines is greater than those who tread the boards. "You can skate as long as you want to," she remarked "I saw one skater do intricate routines at the age of 60."

Healthy, Too

"Like all sports, skating is healthy. It uses all the muscles, but it lacks the back-breaking work of dancing. Any girl who can dance can learn to skate. All she needs is a good boot to keep her ankles from wobbling.

"However, if a girl wants to be a champion, I suggest she start at the age of five." (Belita started at four.)

The actress added the final note of recommendation, in which all chorus girls are supposed to be interested.

"Girls get married through working in ice shows, too. The shows have their stage-door Johnnies just as the theatre. I even know a couple of girls who have received mink coats."

Capsule Review

"Riding High" (Par) is Bing Crosby's best picture after a string of so-so ones. He is perfectly cast—as a happy-go-lucky horse lover (played by Warner Baxter in the original version, "Broadway Bill"). The remake lacks the sentiment of the first film, but it makes up in charm and humor. A big cast of Hollywood character actors give able assistance to the groaner.

Raid Boston Hotel

BOSTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—Three gunmen, masked with paper bags and cheese cloth, surprised an armed guard and raided the Hotel Staler's cashier's office Monday, seizing an estimated $48,000. The bandits stalked through the lobby and went to the mezzanine offices where, at pistol point, they forced employees to turn over cash and cheques—week-end receipts of the big hotel near Park Square.

Safecrackers Get $2,000

TORONTO, Jan. 17 — (CP) — Two safecrackers early Monday bound and gagged the watchman of the Metropolitan Store in the east end of the city, broke open the safe and escaped with an estimated $2,000. The watchman, Henry Cuttress, 58, said the men jumped on him from behind and tied him. One warned him to keep quiet or he would be shot.

12 Hurt In Fight

JOHANNESBURG, Jan. 17 — Reuters).—Twelve Africans were injured—two of them severely—in a fight involving 100 men which started Sunday night after Zulu spectators had criticized a war dance at Bantu sports ground. Police broke up the fight.

Lawsuit Dismissed Over Music Right

TORONTO, Jan. 17 — (CP) — A lawsuit over musical selections said to have been played at the Western Fair in London, Ont., in September, 1948, has ended in dismissal of the action brought by the Composers, Authors and Publishers Association of Canada, Ltd., against the Fair Association.

The Composers' Association, in the action heard at Non-Jury Asszies, asked for a court declaration that it is owner of Canadian performance rights of the musical selections "Begin the Beguine" and "Tea for Two." It also claimed that the selections were performed without permission at the London Fair and it asked $25 damages and a share of the profits.

Grandmother Drowns Two Children

Doesn't Want Them In Foster Home Confession To Police

MONTREAL, Jan. 18—(CP)—Police said today they are checking on the story of 50-year-old Mrs. Joseph Locas that she drowned her two grandchildren because she could not bear to see them placed in a foster home.

The sobbing woman entered an east-end police station early this morning and told officers that she had pushed John, 3, and his 18-month-old brother, Pierre-Paul, into the St. Lawrence River.

Police quoted her as saying they were the illegitimate children of her daughter, Madeleine. A diver was sent down into the river near the foot of Pier IX Boulevard to search for the bodies and the carriage.

Police said Mrs. Locas was detained without charge while the search was carried on. She was described as in a state of near collapse.

Pushed Carriage In

They quoted her as saying she took the children out in their carriage Tuesday after learning that their mother planned placing them in a foster home. When she came to the river, police said she told them, she gave the carriage a push and saw the children disappear in the murky water.

Police said the mother, discovering her children were missing early last night, searched the surrounding district for them. Then she went to the police station to report they were missing.

It was the same police station where the grandmother later turned up with her story.

Police said they had not told the mother of Mrs. Locas' story but a parish priest had been asked to tell her.

$12,000 Fire Wrecks Snack Bar At Ajax

OSHAWA, Jan. 18 (CP)—Fire early today destroyed the Ajax Billiard Parlor and snack bar at Ajax, 10 miles west of here. Loss, partly covered by insurance, is estimated at $12,000.

The business was operated in a residential section of Ajax by W Simpson of Oshawa. Firemen said after the fire that the frame building and its contents were "a complete loss." When volunteer firemen from nearby Pickering reached the scene, the blaze could not be checked.

Ajax, wartime munitions-producing centre, now has a population of more than 4,000.

$50,000 Gale Damage

PICTON, Jan. 18—Royal Canadian School of Artillery buildings here were damaged to the extent of $50,000 in Saturday's 82 m.p.h. hurricane. This figure was set following an inspection of the camp.

During the storm, flying debris resembled a snowstorm. Roofs of four large buildings were stripped of their covering and damage included more than 300 panes of glass smashed.

The camp is located on MacAulay's Mountain overlooking the town.

Norman Wilson 1950 Warden County Council

Norman Wilson, elected reeve of Burleigh-Anstruther in December for the sixth consecutive term, Tuesday afternoon was acclaimed Warden of Peterborough county at the statutory meeting of the 1950 County Council.

Reeves Ernest J. Leeson of Havelock and William C. Grant of Lakefield were both nominated but declined in favor of Mr. Wilson. While Mr. Leeson has served on the County Council as many years as the new Warden he has not done so far as many years in succession.

Candidate in 1951

Mr Grant, beginning his fifth year as reeve of Lakefield, withdrew his name but intimated he would stand in 1951.

When the County Clerk and Treasurer called the roll the full 18 councillors were present.

There were four new faces on the new Council although one of them, Gordon Fitzgerald, deputy-reeve of Smith, served in the same capacity some years ago.

Loyola Maloney, former Douro township councillor, was elected by acclamation to the newly-created office of deputy reeve of Douro. For municipal purposes that township has passed the 1000-mark in population and is therefore entitled to a deputy. His arrival swelled to size of Council to 18.

Planning Rapid Expansion Of RCAF Fighter Force

OTTAWA, Jan. 18—(CP)—Canada's Air Force is believed to have been assigned a major front-line role under joint Canadian-American plans for North American defence. This belief is founded on recent developments indicating this country has been given a relatively-big air-fighter role under both continental and Altantic-Pact defence plans. Official statements on defence have stressed for some time that the permanent forces, now almost 50,000 strong, are designed to provide defence against any likely attack and to act as the nucleus for wartime training.

Air Marshal W. A. Curtis, Chief of Staff of the R.C.A.F., has indicated that, for the Air Force at least, immediate defence has taken on a more important character than was originally conceived.

In a review of 1949 RCAF activities mailed to former and reserve members in a monthly news letter, Air Marshal Curtis indicated that an expansion of Canada's standing fighter strength is planned in the months and years ahead.

Marks Turning Point

Reporting that 1949 marked "a turning point" in post-war RCAF progress, the head of the RCAF said that for the first time "we were able seriously to turn our attention to building up an operational element of the force. This was possible only because of the emphasis placed on building a supporting framework immediately following the war.

"Our original concept was of a force to consist primarily of a nucleus body, able to expand rapidly in event of war. We now see, in the light of the changing world situation, that we must go further than that.

Must Be Mobile

"The nucleus concept still holds good so far as mobilization to full wartime strength is concerned, but in addition the RCAF must be brought to the point where it is able to bring into immediate action those forces required for the initial defence of Canada.

"The service is being brought to this state."

A good indication of whether the RCAF will be the main force in Canada to expand its standing strength will probably be given during the second session of Parliament opening February 16.

Can't Get Help Husband Dies

NORTH BAY, Jan. 18 (CP)—While his wife stood by helplessly, unable to get medical aid because she couldn't drive a car, Harry Edward Haggart, 52, of St. Catharines, died from a heart attack Monday night in his automobile on Highway 11, between North Bay and Temagami.

They had been driving north and were about 10 miles south of Temagami when Mr. Haggart, a plumber, complained of a severe pain in his chest. He stopped the car and gasped "get a doctor" before losing consciousness.

The stretch of highway where they had stopped was one of the most desolate and uninhabited on the entire road between North Bay and Temagami. Unable to drive the car and with no help near, Mrs. Haggart did the best she could to make her husband comfortable and then waited more than ½ hour for another vehicle to pass.

She flagged down a truck and the driver, seeing that Haggart was in critical condition, loaded the Hagart car onto his big trailer without moving the stricken man and headed for North Bay. By the time they reached the Civic hospital however, Mr. Haggart was dead.

Blast Injures Three At Viscose Factory

AJAX, Jan. 18—(CP)—Three men were injured in an explosion early today in the Dominion Viscose Plant which had been in operation two days at nearby Ajax.

In Oshawa General Hospital are Bill Barnes, 30, of Toronto, who suffered head and face burns, and Norman Cochrane, 37, and Robert Patterson, 42, both of Ajax, who suffered head burns.

Plant officials could not say what caused the explosion. The men were working in a part of the plant that manufactures sausage skins.

Weatherman To Relent Prairies To Get Respite

WINNIPEG, Jan. 18.—(CP).—The weatherman today predicted a brief respite from the sub-zero weather which has gripped the prairies for more than a month. He said it might last one or two days.

Milder air coming from the northwest is expected to lift temperatures above the zero mark at most points.

In British Columbia, the weatherman said winter may relax its hold by the week-end.

Winnipeg, plagued by below zero weather for more than a month, is expected to see temperatures around the zero mark tonight. Tuesday night's temperatures hovered around 30 degrees below.

In Calgary, the mercury is predicted to bounce from a low of 30 below last night to a high of 15 above today. Yesterday's temperatures in Calgary dropped to 41 below, the lowest since 1943. Cattlemen in Southern Alberta have expressed fear of cattle losses if the cold continues.

Edmontonians also are expecting 15 above, a respite from 33 days of continuous cold weather which has brought the mercury down to a near-record 48 below in Edmonton and 61 below at Grande Prairie in the Peace River block.

During the last month Lethbridge has had 541 hours of zero or sub-zero temperatures compared to about 203 hours above zero. The lowest Lethbridge reading of the winter—45 below on Jan. 2—was just .4 degrees off the all-time low.

Get Through Six Doors In Fast Raid

Leave Second Million Behind In Vault Can't Carry More

BOSTON, Jan. 18—(AP)—A sweeping bandit hunt was under way today for seven grotesquely-masked gunmen who scooped $1,000,000 in cash and left $1,000,000 behind in one of the biggest holdups in history.

Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and State Police joined local police who were under orders to "break this thing up before a new outbreak develops."

The gunmen—in a 20-minute precision raid — snatched the money Tuesday night from an open vault in the sprawling waterfront garage of Brink's, Incorporated, a money transportation firm, after gagging and trussing five employees.

Along with the $1,000,000 in cash the gunmen grabbed $500,000 in cheques.

A spokesman for Brinks said a $100,000 reward would be offered for capture of the bandits.

Police cars raced through the city and outlying districts during the night running down a number of tips that proved worthless.

Lose Car

Shortly after the holdup, police chased at break-neck speed a five-passenger black Cadillac sedan thought to be the getaway car. They lost it in the city's West Roxbury district.

"It's very obvious," Police Supt. Edward Fallon said, "that these men used a master key to open all those doors." The gunmen went through six locked doors before reaching the vault where they cowed five employees.

Eleven men were taken to headquarters for questioning. No charges were placed against them.

"This job was definitely pulled by somebody who knew every inch of the company's layout," Fallon told reporters.

Six of the robbers wore rubbers, the seventh crepe-soled shoes. The purpose of these was to kill off sound as the gunmen

Renewed Gales Lash Ontario

By The Canadian Press

Another January gale whistled through Ontario and Eastern Quebec today, heading north-east into Southern Labrador.

While not as intense as last Saturday's storm which blazed a trail of destruction in Eastern Canada, winds averaged 45 miles an hour with gusts up to 65 miles.

Ontario's westerly gale, which found the storm centre over the Ottawa district at mid-morning, brought colder air. Temperatures were falling fairly fast toward a predicted low of 10 or 15 above in the Toronto area by nightfall.

The heaviest blizzard of the season whipped through the Sudbury district during the night, piling snow two to three feet deep in places.

Union Stag Parties Hot Affairs In Detroit Punch Bowl, Guests Go Up In Flames

DETROIT, Jan. 18 (AP). — Calamity was an unbidden guest at the AFL Cooks' Union party Tuesday night.

Eight guests at the union's celebrated stag party were injured—four seriously — when the "Cafe Diablo" in the punch bowl blew up.

Flaming fluid was hurled across the table by the force of the blast.

The victims included some of Detroit's most prominent citizens. Judge Joseph A. Gillis and Malcolm W. Bingay, editorial director of the Detroit Free Press, were badly burned.

Both were in hospital today along with others scorched by a tongue of fire which guests said extended 20 feet.

The lighting and serving of the "Cafe Diablo" was to have been the high point of the banquet's splendor.

The "Cafe Diablo" — you also know it is "Devil's Coffee" — is a burning brew of coffee ond liquor.

BULLETIN

TORONTO, Jan. 18 (CP).—A police cordon has been thrown about a bushy ravine on the north-end Don Mills Road where a lone gunman who held up a branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce in suburban East York is believed trapped. He escaped from the bank with $1,000.

The bandit abandoned a stolen car and disappeared into the bush when the pursuit by police and bank employees became hot. Every available policeman in the east end of the city and nearby suburbs were sent to the scene.

Accountant W. Church and Miss Georgina Black, teller, were alone in the bank when the thief entered at 12:45 p.m. and pushed a blank cheque through the teller's cage. When she looked up he was pointing a pistol at her.

The teller handed over the money and the bandit backed out of the bank warning Miss Black and Church not to move.

Church pursued the bandit in a car for more than two miles and gained on him as he travelled north on Don Mills Road. The bandit then pulled into a side road and fled on foot into the ravine.

Two Zahodniks To Stand Trial, Third Is Freed

James Zahodnik, 34, Hamilton, was committed for trail by higher court on a charge of assaulting and beating, Mrs. James Hogan Lakefield, occasioning actual bodily harm Nov. 17, Magistrate W. R. Philp KC in a preliminary hearing Tuesday.

With his brother John, 37, Toronto, James was also committed for trial on a charge of assault occasioning actual bodily harm on James Hogan.

All charges against the youngest brother, Paul, 28, Hamilton, were withdrawn.

The assaults are alleged to have taken place at the roads land of Hogans 2 miles north of Lakefield.

The three brothers were freed of a murder charge December 16 in Lindsay at a preliminary hearing in which their companion William Yuzwa, 32, Hamilton, was committed for trial by a higher court for the murder of Jack Loucks. The murder took place later on the night of the Hogan incident.

Delay In Coffee Order

Mr. and Mrs. Hogan described in court how the fracas started over a delay in the four's coffee order. When the Hogan's attempted to call police by telephone James Zahodnik yanked the receiver from the wall.

Mrs. Hogan pushed James out the door and was pulled out after him. She said she was swung to the ground and James straddled her chest with his knees on her arms and his hands around her neck. She said he banged her head on a wooden step, but she was able to save herself to some extent by seizing his tie and using it to hold herself as he attempted to swing her head down.

Hogan related that when he got outside to see what was hap-

Given 5-Yr. Sentence For Killing Sailor

WELLAND, Jan. 18—(CP) — Frank Mahagen, 43, of Port Colborne, today was sentenced to five years' imprisonment by Mr. Justice G. A. Gale for the last Dec. 15 killing of George Morrison, 41-year-old transient sailor, in a hobo "jungle" shack at an abandoned stone quarry, a mile west of Port Colborne.

He was charged with murder but an Assize Court jury found him guilty of manslaughter. Morrison was killed in the shack with a piece of concrete in an altercation following a prolonged drinking bout. Mahagen dragged the body 50 yards and threw it into eight feet of water in the quarry. He gave himself up to police the following evening.

"You killed Morrison but you did so while your mind was besotted by drink . . . I take that into consideration and also your excellent record up the last several years," Mr. Justice Gale said in pronouncing sentence. "That is much less than one might expect having regard to the gravity of the offence."

Missing Heiress Located Washing Dishes In Vancouver Restaurant

Family Tries To Keep Her Disappearance Secret From Police, Grandmother Discloses Girl 17 Returning

MONTREAL, Jan. 18—(CP)—It seemed definite today, amid confusion which included first family evasions and then admissions over whereabouts of 17-year-old Beverley Van Horne, that the Montreal heiress is missing no more. On the say-so of her grandmother, Mrs. W. L. Fraser of Montreal, the girl, previously reported missing since Dec. 15, is on her way home from Vancouver. Mrs. Fraser, reached by telephone, said Beverley—reportedly heiress to a $2,000,000 estate and a great-granddaughter of the late Sir William Van Horne who founded the Canadian Pacific Railway—is accompanied by a Montreal detective after having been located in Vancouver.

Until this word was forthcoming from Mrs. Fraser the case of the missing heiress appeared to be developing into a first class mystery.

First, she was reported to Montreal police as missing since Dec. 15.

Tuesday Montreal police reported the girl had been located in Vancouver, washing dishes in a cafe and living in a rooming house.

Denies Finding Her

In Vancouver, Sgt.-Det. William Phillips of the Montreal Missing Persons Bureau, denied he had located the girl.

And in Montreal, at an early hour today, Mrs. Fraser said the report her ward and granddaughter was missing was "absurd." But about daylight she admitted Beverley is en route home in the commpany of a Montreal detective.

This seemed to offset detective Phillips' statement on the Pacific coast that the girl he had found was an imposter seeking publicity.

Mrs. Fraser offered little in the way of elaboration that her granddaughter had been found, and said City Councillor J. O. Asselin, a friend of the family "is looking after the matter."

Reach Miner's Body

MAHANOY CITY, Pa., Jan. 18—(AP)—The body of Edward Burda was recovered at noon today from the anthracite mine where he was trapped last Friday. Doctors at the scene said he apparently had suffocated. Rescue workers clawing away the debris a handful at a time to prevent another rock fall, reached Edward's body shortly before noon at the bottom of the shaft, approximately 120 feet below the surface. Doctors said he apparently had been dead several days.

Walter Harris Appointed To Cabinet Post

OTTAWA, Jan. 18 (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent reshuffled his cabinet today, bringing his parliamentary assistant, Walter E. Harris, into the ministerial ranks to take over the new department of citizenship and immigration.

The appointment of Mr. Harris, 46-year-old Liberal member for the Ontario constituency of Grey Bruce, was one of several announced by Mr. St. Laurent after a morning session of the cabinet.

Besides the appointments, which included the elevation of Resources Minister Gibson, 58, to the bench of the Ontario Supreme Court, Mr. St. Laurent announced the proclamation of acts reshuffling the functions of three government departments.

The citizenship and immigration branch will take over the citizenship branch of the state secretary's department and the immigration branch of the resources department.

375 Under Quarantine As Mumps Spreading

KIRKLAND LAKE, Jan. 18 — (CP)—Some 375 persons are under quarantine here in a mumps epidemic that started early last month, Dr. E. R. Harris, health officer, said today the outbreak is the worst epidemic of mumps ever to strike this northern Ontario gold-mining community.

Dr. Harris attributes the outbreak to the fact there have been few cases of mumps in the community for the past ten years, and as a result a whole generation of school students are susceptible to the disease.

Five teachers have been stricken since the epidemic started; two have returned to school, with the remainder still under quarantine.

At one Separate School grade one class, there were 20 of 30 students absent Tuesday.

UAW Turns Down Offer $100 Month Pension Plan

DETROIT, Jan. 18 (AP)—The United Automobile Workers Union (CIO) Tuesday turned down Chrysler Corporation's $100-a-month pension offer and prepared to give the corporation a seven-day strike notice.

The union's negotiating committee, representing 89,000 Chrysler production workers, called the proposal "completely inadequate."

Strike action was in prospect as the union and company today went into their 10th straight day of pension negotiations.

How long the talks would last was left in some doubt Tuesday when reporters asked Norman Matthews, UAW Chrysler director, if the offer could be a "basis for further negotiations."

"Hell, no!" was Matthews reply.

He had said earlier he would give seven-day strike notice today if progress of negotiations was not "satisfactory."

Similar To Ford Plan

The Chrysler proposal, second to be made to the union by a major automobile manufacturer, was similar in several respects to the one the UAW accepted from the Ford Motor Company last September.

Both would pay each retired worker $100 a month, including Social Security benefits. Both set the retirement age at 65.

Chrysler's plan required only 25 years' service for eligibility, compared to 30 years for Ford.

One Chrysler-UAW issue was over financing of the plan.

Robert W. Conder, Chrysler labor relations director, said the company was basing its offer on its "promise to pay." He added:

"We believe the solvency of Chrysler Corporation is good."

But Matthews said UAW negotiators objected because the company:

1. Wanted the new contract to run five years with reopening on the wage issue only once a year.
2. Failed to commit itself to a "fixed contribution in cents per hour into a trust fund to guarantee pensions, on a actuarially sound basis."
3. Made no provision for union participation in administration of the pensions.
4. Offered only a "sham" proposal on insurance and medical-hospital care.

The Board Of Education And Peterborough's Public Halls

The discussion as to whether the Summer Theatre shall be allowed to use the Queen Mary Auditorium again this summer, and what rent it shall pay, raises the whole question of public auditoriums in this city. The P.C.V.S. auditorium, and the beautiful new hall at Queen Mary School are virtually the only halls in Peterborough which are suited to concerts, meetings, plays and lectures, and both are controlled and maintained by the Board of Education. There is little likelihood that any body other than the Board of Education will build another good hall within the next twenty-five years. The new city hall will not contain an auditorium, and the recreation centre, when it is built, will be unsuitable for anything smaller than a circus or a pageant. It is upon the Board of Education, therefore, that the city depends for the public halls which it needs more and more with each passing year.

• • •

In dealing with its halls, the Board of Education is pulled two ways. It seeks to serve the public, and has often shown great generosity in permitting use of the halls. But it also feels that the halls are primarily for school use, and dreads the repairing and re-decoration which extensive use quickly makes necessary. It is no secret, for instance, that the wear and tear on the Queen Mary Auditorium last summer is a big factor in the reluctance of the Board to rent it to the Summer Theatre again this year. If that hall has to be re-seated in ten years (which seems quite possible) the Board will have to foot the bill and explain it to the ratepayers—the Protestant ratepayers only. And public halls demand fire insurance at high rates. It is for these reasons, among others, that the Board wants $200 a week for Queen Mary auditorium—an increase of 150 per cent. over its charge last year, and a rent which puts the hall far outside the budget of a company which is financed on a modest scale.

• • •

The Board's point is perfectly clear, but whether it is in the best interest of the city to charge very heavy rents for these halls, and whether it is satisfactory to the people of Peterborough to freeze out the Summer Theatre are matters upon which our readers are now expressing themselves in our letter columns. The artistic merit of the Summer Theatre season was undeniable; the pleasure which it gave to large numbers of Peterborough people and summer visitors was great; it attracted favourable attention to the city; it could, if permitted to dig itself in for two or three more years, become an unusual asset to this tourist district. These are points which must be weighed. But the Board of Education has also to think of costs.

• • •

The Board's mind could be eased if the City Council were to give this matter some consideration. After all, if the two halls controlled by the Board are to be public halls rather than school halls, the City has some obligation to help the Board to bear the added expense which is entailed. And it would cost the City far less to give the Board an annual grant-in-aid than it would to build a civic auditorium.

• • •

There is no question that Peterborough needs the fullest use of both halls. The Board is controlled by regulations which make the cost of maintaining both halls for the fullest use impossible unless very high rents are attached to them. The City Council might well consider a contribution yearly which would deliver the Board from some of its anxieties, and which would make these halls, in a more genuine sense than at present, for the public benefit. The public paid for them, and it would be a pity if technicalities kept the public from getting the most out of its investment.

Travel In The British Caribbean

In spiritual turbulence because of the weather, we picked up a magazine published by the Canadian-West Indian League in Montreal. Its title is the heading of this article. Its purpose is, of course, to urge Canadians to travel to the British West Indies, where, it is said, the dollar goes farther, the islands are drenched in sunshine, and fragrant flowers and exotic palms are tickled by balmy breezes. Verily, six bits of winter heaven a few thousand miles from our own dull Canadian portals.

Here are the six sections of the B.W.I., or the British Caribbean (which we continue to pronounce as CariBEEan not CaRIBean):

1. Barbados. The magazine tells us to call it Bar-bay-dos. It is an island 2,134 miles from Halifax, 1,838 miles from New York; its biggest town is Bridgetown, with a population of 76,327. (How delightful the precise figures are!). 2. British Guiana (pronounced, we are told, Gee-ah-na), another British colony on the mainland of South America, "sometimes erroneously referred to as Demerara, by reason of the world-wide fame of its product, Demerara rum." The magazine's editors are so proud of this mistake that they print the recipe for a Demerara Swizzle. The capital is Georgetown, which has "far famed" Botanic Gardens. Canadian National Steamships, which serve most of the B.W.I., do the 2,788 miles run periodically from Halifax.

3. Jamaica (no pronunciation given) is ninety miles south of Cuba, 1,661 miles from Montreal, or eleven hours by air, ten days by ship. Jamaica has several small island dependencies, and a capital called Kingston. 4. The Leeward Islands, which include Antigua, St. Kitts, Nevis, Montserrat, and the Virgin Islands, have a maximum temperature of 90, a minimum of 62, so the magazine tells us, and a climate "mostly dry and salubrious . . . at its best from the end of November to the end of May with bright, clear, breezy days, and very little rain." A hint is dropped about hurricanes, but these seem to come in our midsummer. We are told that Columbus viewed Antigua from the poop of his caraval in 1493, and named it after the Church of Santa Maria la Antigua in Seville, where he went for prayer before setting out for the new world.

5. Trinidad is the most southerly of the West Indian Islands, is of rectangular shape with broad arms, one of which ends only ten miles from the Venezuelan coast. Its area is 1,862 square miles, that is, it is somewhat smaller than Prince Edward Island (2,184 square miles). It includes in its sphere Tobago, a small island, 116 miles square with a population of 32,000 souls, mostly negro. It seems to preserve its insularity from the time that Robinson Crusoe was cast adrift on it. (But we always understood that Crusoe's island was San Juan Fernandez, and still is.)

6. The Windward Islands consist of four big ones, Grenada, Carriacou, St. Lucia, St. Vincent and Dominica, and several small ones. The biggest is Dominica, 302 square miles with 50,798 people. Grenada, 120 square miles, has the largest population-72,374. Five per cent of the people of these islands are white. They lie between Trinidad, and the Leeward Islands. Canadian National steamships touch on the islands at least once every three weeks.

It is not the geography or industry of the B.W.I. which most interests us now, but the climate, the picture palm trees, the sea beaches, and the dusky lovely maidens and sinewy men. A pleasant region of the world to visit, surely. But we are willing to bet a Canadian nickel that it rains even on those celestial islands sometime during January.

NOTE AND COMMENT

British children now get free orange juice from the Government. Their parents, on the other hand, get free banana oil.

A Niagara Falls man recently found three pearls in a serving of oyster stew. Most of us think ourselves lucky if we can find an oyster.

Pollyanna, the Glad Girl, declared that "the darkest hour only lasts for sixty minutes". But the crusty Kingston Whig-Standard points out that the same may be said of the brightest hour.

A new form of paper is being manufactured from the residue of sugar cane. This will be a boon to writers who are often forced to eat their words.

Boys of six and seven are in trouble because they stole packages of razor blades. Just one of those childhood scrapes.

A fireproof mattress has now been devised for people who simply must smoke in bed. Now all we need is a bell-jar to enclose those palateless folk who insist on smoking during meals.

From The Critic's Notebook

LYDIA PINKHAM IS HER NAME, by Jean Burton (Farrar Straus).

THIS is a biography of the inventor of the celebrated Vegetable Compound with which we are all familiar. It used to be said in the advertisements for this product that "Every woman knows another woman who has benefitted from the Compound"; the present reviewer can do better than that; in his childhood he knew a male baker who took the Compound and claimed to feel much the better for it; whether this baker suffered from "constant pain, dragging-down pains and [illegible]" we cannot, at this time, discover; but he took the Compound, and felt better. There was, of course, a certain alcoholic content to the Compound, and a dose provided approximately the same pleasant glow as a glass of sherry; perhaps that was what fetched him.

Miss Burton's account of the great Lydia and her family is written in a pleasant style, and makes very good light reading. Lydia Pinkham was no quack. She was a woman of fine principles, and her Compound was honestly made from herbs which she knew to be effective. Why they were effective she did not know, and it was not until within the last twenty years that science was able to show that they contained undoubted estrogenic materials, and were truly tonic in their effect on the reproductive organs of women. Mrs. Pinkham launched her business from her New England kitchen, and lived to see it immensely successful, and the most daring adventurer in the field of advertising of its time.

There can be no doubt that the Compound, for all the jokes that were made about it, was of value to millions of women. It is only within the last fifty years or so that women have learned to expect health as a natural gift. Before that great numbers of them suffered from fatigue, depression, pains in the back and ailments of the "indelicate" variety virtually all the time. The doctors of the period were often ill-trained, and gynaecology was little understood; childbirth might leave a woman crippled for life with ailments which would now be treated with routine surgery at the time of delivery. Furthermore, they wore silly clothes, cruel corsets, and ate a ghastly winter diet of salt pork, beans and doughnuts. They were encouraged to be delicate because delicate health was "womanly". Strict honesty also compells us to say that they suffered keenly from their own dirty and ignorant habits.

Mrs. Pinkham rebelled against this nonsense. She herself washed a great deal, declined to be constipated, was cheerful and bright rather than delicate and complaining, and whenever she felt what her advertisements called "those ills incident to womanhood" she took a good swig of the herb concoction which she later marketed as the Vegetable Compound. When her business was launched she wrote and distributed a thoroughly sensible and unsentimental book about sex and childbirth — the first to be written. She was a crusader, a free-thinker, a splendid businesswoman, a beauty in her youth, and a person of charm and wisdom in her old age. She must have been a wonderful person to know, and her biography is refreshing and illuminating reading. R.D.

THE TRAGIC INNOCENTS by Rene Barjavel (Hamish Hamilton).

FOR the first time a novel by this contemporary French writer has been made available to English speaking readers. It is a really remarkable piece of modern fiction.

The setting is a country district in France and later Paris, at the time of the German occupation during the second world war. But those who are tired of reading war stories should not dismiss this as just another account of events during that dark period.

Weaving his tale round a young boy and girl, still in their teens, the author gives a very real and delightful account of first love. The confidence with which a young couple faces life while on the threshold of adult life and the mental and physical attraction developing between a young boy and girl for the first time are experiences which, although of short duration, remain as a treasure in the memory.

From the carefree life of school, the boy is suddenly thrust into the more austere world of seeming injustice. The comradeship he finds in Paris runs parallel to occasional interruption by the occupying authority and the misfortunes which are just a part of the complex business of living in Europe during the early forties.

First published in France in 1946 the translation appeared in Britain in 1948, and is now available in Canada. H.M.P.

THE DRAWINGS OF HENRY FUSELI, by Paul Ganz (Parrish).

THIS is a large and handsome book, containing 106 excellent reproductions of drawings by a remarkable but neglected artist. As well as the pictures, there is the long essay on Fuseli by Professor Ganz, and a short introduction by John Piper who is, of the younger English artists, probably the most akin to Fuseli in spirit.

Fuseli was a Swiss, born in 1741 in Zurich, the son of a painter. He became a clergyman, but it was plain that his life was to be devoted to art. After travels in Germany and Italy he settled in England in 1779, and achieved considerable success there, becoming Professor of Painting at the Royal Academy in 1799, and holding that post until his death in 1825. Among English artists Blake and Flaxman were deeply influenced by him, and Romney and Lawrence to a lesser degree.

If he was an artist of real worth, why did his reputation decline so soon after his death, to be revived within the last twenty years? The answer is that Fuseli's art is drenched in that peculiar Romanticism of the last quarter of the eighteenth century upon which we are only now gaining as perspective. Apart from his gifts as a draughtsman and a painter, he was a man of remarkable imagination and his pictures of the world of dream and horror make literary, as well as artistic, demands upon the critic. For a century the subjective content of his work has blinded the world to its obvious brilliance of execution. But we are now beginning to under-

COMMONWEALTH DEFENCE

Unlike the other two World Powers, the U.S.A. and U.S.S.R., which form individual land masses and whose strategy is based on rings of cushion defence round their central forces, the British Commonwealth of Nations is spread over the globe, with Dominions, Colonies and Dependencies in each of six continents.

Besides playing a part within four of the five Regional Planning Groups of the North Atlantic Treaty, the United Kingdom, as the lynch-pin of the Commonwealth, is committed to the defence of overseas territories depending for their security upon protected lines of communication and bases.

British forces, as shown in the map above, defend three regions and are divided into three Centres of Command: Home, Middle East and Far East. The self-governing Dominions maintain bases and fighting services in their own territories, and they, with the Colonies and Dependencies, are linked in the Commonwealth defence system through the Royal Navy and the R.A.F.

Canada, lying between the United States and the Soviet Union, is closely associated for defence with the former and a member of two Atlantic Treaty Groups. Australia is also associated with the U.S.A. in Pacific defence.

The most vital and vulnerable Commonwealth life-line passes through the Mediterranean and across the Indian Ocean to Singapore, Far East Centre of Command for the Combined Services.

The basis of this map is adapted from a modified oblique Mercator projection computed at the Royal Geographical Society by the late Arthur Hinks, C.B.E., F.R.S.

Letter To The Editor

SUMMER THEATRE'S VALUE TO PETERBOROUGH

Sir: I am writing this letter on behalf of those who enjoyed our Peterborough Summer Theatre last season, with a hope that Public Opinion may be aroused to such an extent that our Board of Education will realize how foolish they are making themselves appear in the eyes of not only their fellow citizens, but in the eyes of other municipalities as well. How can some of our members be so small and vindictive as to want to charge the ridiculous sum of $200 per week for the auditorium? Granted, there possibly was wear, tear and depreciation on the building in question, but a reasonable raise in rent would have been more in order. Just how much is the Niagara Falls Board of Education charging for rent for their new and ultra smart auditorium? But the city of Niagara Falls is a progressive one and their Board of Education will do what it can to give a helping hand. They realize when they are receiving good publicity on behalf of their city and by keeping Canadian talent in Canada, they are also keeping Canadian dollars in Canada, even though they are so close to border points.

"Keeping Canadian talent in Canada" — how much we hear about this point? And, is it any wonder our young artists go to greener American fields when producers of a Canadian Summer Theatre are so thwarted in their efforts. Do the people of Peterborough know this was the most successful Summer Theatre in the Dominion of Canada? Many Summer Theatres had to cut down on the number of plays because of lack of co-operation and high costs. Also, because higher admission was charged. But, in Peterborough, the admission charge was kept at a minimum and all and sundry could attend. Special admission charges were arranged for our industrial plants and the executives of the various plants evidently were pleased with what was offered, as all co-operated wholeheartedly.

Many people will say — "why don't the theatre-lovers go to Toronto when they want to see a play"? That is probable, but in many cases not possible! The cost is too high for the ordinary working man, and, it might be added, many an ordinary working man attended the performances here last year. Also, a question to those attending the plays—"Did you notice how many elderly people enjoyed the plays? Also, how many who have been unfortunate in the state of their health were able to attend? " This particularly appealed to me. How lucky they could go in our own city. For elderly and maimed persons, a trip is not possible, and our Summer Theatre gave them many happy hours.

From the report in the press I gather that people in the west-end did not like the noise and confusion of the Sunday rehearsals, the parking of cars in the evening, etc. As we all know, in the case of our Summer Theatre, Sunday is the only time they have for changes of props, scenery, and dress rehearsals. If there was a little noise — just look back to when we were all a little younger. Weren't we often noisy and boisterous until someone told us to "tone it down?" Many of the assistants were college students enjoying a remunerative summer vacation. It would seem this is a small problem and one that could be worked out quite satisfactorily with Michael Sadlier and Graham Ferguson, the co-producers of the Peterborough Summer Theatre.

As far as inconvenience is concerned, no doubt all of us have an axe to grind on this score. Wouldn't it be well for the members of the Board and other citizens who have been inconvenienced, to think of "Give and Take" once in awhile?

Lest we forget — have we forgotten that when Mr. Sadlier spoke to the various organizations in Peterborough at the time the Summer Theatre was being organized, he promised that all monies received over and above their expenditures, would be turned over to our new local Civic Hospital authorities? Are we not being rather deceptive now in trying to throw them aside after they have not only helped us in our hospital fund financially, but also have given us much pleasure by the presentation of such fine, interesting and varied plays? Also, is not the Queen Mary auditorium the property of the people of Peterborough with the Board of Education as our representatives, and shouldn't our feelings be taken into consideration and not only consider the financial angle involved?

Before this high rent is passed, wouldn't it be better to talk exact expenditures involved on both sides with the co-producers and the members of the Board? Surely, in this way an amicable settlement could be reached to the satisfaction of all. As for the noise and inconvenience—let's be sporting and think of others, not only of ourselves. By thinking of others we have a better understanding of our fellow neighbours and knowing we give enjoyment to so many; let's not be selfish.

This letter is lengthy but it has to be to put all facts before the public and that is the purpose at the moment—let us have public opinion re the Summer Theatre and assist the members of our Board of Education and the co-producers to have a just arrangement to the satisfaction of all. To those who enjoyed the Summer Theatre, let the Examiner letter-box have your thoughts and to those who were inconvenienced, also your side of the story. Complete satisfaction all around is necessary under the circumstances.

Yours very truly,
ALENE HOLT.

IOOF-ers Atop The Group By Lone Point

Peterborough Triple Links hold a slim one-point margin over the Oshawa junior Bees for first place in the local Junior "B" grouping. Oshawa has two games in hand with five wins and a loss in six attempts for 10 points while the local crew has five wins, two losses and a tie in eight league games.

Hank Goldup's junior "C" squad from Lindsay are the surprising outfit in the league knocking off the Belleville Rockets and Kingston with considerable ease. They are sitting in third spot only one point ahead of the Rockets. Kingston are deep in the cellar with one win in seven starts.

Complications in the league are beginning to be rounded out as the teams were baffled by the addition of the three junior "C" clubs, Cobourg, Port Hope and Orono. These teams will play home and home games with Lindsay, Peterborough, Oshawa and Belleville. Kingston will not play games with them but they will be awarded points on a percentage basis for their league standing. Games with the four clubs in the local league will not be counted in the league standing but will be counted by the three junior "C" clubs in their standing.

Orono Good

One of the clubs, the Orono Orphans, made the Rockets of Belleville come from behind last Friday night to tie the score 3 all. Other games played with the teams so far are: Port Hope 2 Lindsay 9; Port Hope 2, Cobourg 6; Oshawa 9, Orono 1.

Peterborough Oddfellows meet with the Port Hope juniors Friday's night in Port Hope in their first encounter with a junior "C" club outside the league. This game will be the official opener of the Peter Campbell Memorial Arena.

Tonight's games Peterborough at Lindsay and Oshawa at Belleville, could place the league leadership back into the hands of the Oshawa crew while the locals could strengthen their position with a win and an Oshawa loss.

Standing as of Jan. 17:

	W	L	T	GF	GA	Pts
IOOF	5	2	1	41	31	11
Oshawa	5	1	0	37	28	10

In the opener Juan Hernandez, Mexican champion, will be tested by Al "Krusher" Korman. Marmora Victorious In Circle Loop Fray

MARMORA, Jan. 18 (ENS) — Marmora's Intermediate C team engaged Campbellford on the Marmora rink on Tuesday evening in the opening game of the newly formed Circle League and won a game marked with much humor by the score of 6-0.

The players on both teams lacked practice and the combination which can be expected as the season progresses, although some good bursts of play were shown by both teams in the final period. Callery's shutout was all the more remarkable in that he was not asked to tend the homester's nets until late in the forenoon, having not donned skates for the past three seasons.

For the winners, Forestell, Nicholson, the brothers Shannon, Moloney, Gray and Herman were most conspicuous in attacks. Storie, Sheppard and Curle were the pick of the Campbellford team. Despite short notice given of the encounter, about 300 fans witnessed it.

Teams:

Campbellford—Goal, MacColl; defence, Sheppard and Petherick; centre, Nesbitt; wings, O'Rourke Forestell, alternates, Dosher Stone, Loucks, L. McConnell, Curle, Rutherford, Hay, White B. McConnell, Ford.

Marmora—Goal, Callery; defence, Herman and Doyle; centre, Forestell; wings, Moss and Hewitt; alternates, Leal, Nicholson, Gray, Moloney, D. Shannon, P. Shannon, Eggett, Hulsmans, Van Henkelon.

Referee, C. Loveless; linesman G. Lavender.

The league is composed of teams from the following places: Campbellford, Havelock, Marmora and Norwood.

The executive is: president, F. Rutherford, Campbellford; secretary, Jack Stone, Campbellford; executive, Jack Herman, Marmora, Walter Nobes, Havelock and B. Webb, Norwood.

Injury List Dampens Ranger Hopes

By HARRY ECCLES, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

The National Hockey League race today is almost over-shadowed by the lists of injured players, and chief sufferers are the New York Rangers, who have been climbing faster than any other team in recent weeks.

Lynn Patrick's men from Manhattan, a week ago challenging for a crack at the front running Detroit Red Wings, now look as though they'll need all the breaks to snag a spot in the four-team play-offs. That double week-end loss to Detroit dampened the hopes of the Broadway Blues, which have sunk much lower with persistent injuries.

Three of the Ranger regulars will be out from three to six weeks. Chick Webster, rookie left wing, will be out for six weeks with a broken hand suffered in the game against Detroit Sunday. Right winger Ed Slowinski and defenceman Allan Stanley will be absent for three weeks. Slowinski with a broken bone in his left hand and Stanley with an ankle injury.

Do Their Best

Rangers' forward Alex Kaleta is nursing an injured knee and defenceman Wally Stanowski has a cyst on his left knee. Both are doubtful starters when the Rangers battle the Boston Bruins at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The Rangers have called up forwards Nick Mickoski and Jean Paul Lamirande from New Haven of the American League in an effort to keep punching.

Bruins will be minus right-winger Pete Horeck for at least 10 days. Horeck got a toe injury in the game against Toronto last Saturday.

While the Rangers and Bruins collide, there'll be a struggle between Montreal Canadiens and the Leafs at Toronto tonight, and the Detroit Red Wings play at Chicago Black Hawks.

The Leafs have two injured stars—Cal Gardner, who got on skates yesterday for the first time since he suffered a jaw fracture nine weeks ago, and big Harry Watson, still in hospital with an injured hip and kidney suffered when he crashed into a goal post in practice.

At Detroit tonight the league-leading Wings will again have rookie Terry Sawchuk of Indianapolis in goal. The Wings-disclosed last night that veteran goalie Harry Lumley may be out of action another three games because of his ankle injury.

Confederation Wins

Confederation took a 4-1 Public School Hockey League win over King Edward in fast play on good ice. The passing was erratic but the defence fine and good goal-keeping throughout in a clean contest. Parry counted one of the winners' goals from Dunstan, Miller got one alone and Holland tallied twice, aided once by Bryan and the second time by Bryan and Dunstan.

King Edward—B. Hobart; Frizzelle, Ball, Hunt, Robbins, J. Hobart, Smyth, Sutherland, Johnston, Tarkington, Chambers, Phillips, Bennett and Haggart.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Coach Bill Morewood of the local Harriers Club is calling for the first indoor workout of the season on the "Y" track. It is open to anyone, though we didn't hear the date. The indoor track events of the club begin Feb. 1, these to include runs of 440, 600 and 1,000 yards, a mile, two miles and a mile relay for four. Trophies for the winners. W. Thistlewaite, T. McNeil and J. Martin, top three athletes, are in training. These distance men may mark up a few records. Thistlewaite won the top athletic award in 1949 in fine showings in all competitions through the year, setting new records in the 10-mile road race and the indoor two-miler. Gained 26 points, with Martin and McNeil tied for second. He will captain the track teams in 1950.

An item in the paper the other day said: "It took a pair of policemen to haul Murphy Chamberlain off the ice recently when he hopped over the boards to protest a goal against his Sydney Millionaires. Murphy claimed the puck just hit the post. He was fined $20 for his action and Don McRae was tabbed $10 for getting into the act. McRae didn't pay and, although dressed for the pre-game workout next outing of the Millionaires, he was not allowed by play." McRae lived here for a time ere going to the Maritimes where he is a teammate of Bob Greenlaw. Looks like they don't hesitate to fine the "amateurs" down that way.

Diesels Tackle Petes

The streamlined Diesels of Bella Villa roar into Peter's borough tonight to do battle with the Petes. An OHA senior "B" fixture at Civic Arena, commencing at 8.30 of the clock. And you can lay to it that this will be a hot struggle. Quinte crew are currently tied with Kingston in second place, whilst the Petes are next and starting to surge after losing a lot of close ones. They mangled the Gans badly here last time out, while Kingston and Belleville haven't been able to beat Gananoque by any large margins. Yes, this should be a swell senior scrap and it deserves a full house of fans.

* * * * * *

Our junior "B" Oddfellows are off to Lindsay tonight, and they help open the Peter Campbell Memorial Arena in Port Hope on Friday night. The IOOF-ers are leading the pack at the moment by one point over Oshawa and two over Lindsay. Belleville is next in line and then Kingston. Cobourg, Orono and Port Hope bring up the tail end of the parade, but we understand these three junior "C" teams don't affect the junior "B" standing—though their games against each other count. Lindsay is also junior "C" but was an original group entry, so their wins and losses figure in the junior "B" group standing. Got it? Not sure we have, either!

Sullivan Going Good

Baz Phelan was in Buffalo last Sunday and saw Hershey Bears beat the Bisons 3-2, George (Red) Sullivan assisting on two of the winners' goals. Says Red looked like a million and Coach Don Penniston later said Sullivan was just starting to gain confidence and really show his ability. He centred Arnie Kullman and Zelio Toppazzini, Red being used nearly all the third period to help protect that lead. Trainer Scotty Alexander—who wished to be remembered to Dit Clapper—shared Penniston's opinion of the Peterborough boy, whose mother was on hand, also, for the game. Babe Bogardis, official timer at the Buffalo arena, was pleased to see his name recently in The Examiner's "How Time Flies."

* * * * * *

Don't know whether the proposed skating race by several OHA puckists here will occur at Monday's game or not. But the prize has now been upped to $60, Mike Caravaggie offering $15 if Keith Montgomery is included. Others mentioned for the race were Murray Fife, Bill Crowley and Bill McMasters. Oh, yes, Joe Blewett sent his regrets but he can't make it next week as the Lakefield team plays on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Johnny Russelle says his $15 offer stands for the winner, whether Joe is in the race or not. Spiros Zakos and Carl Wetherall are the others who offered $15 prizes. If four or six players of Legion and Petes agree to the race, definite rules will be drawn up in time.

Tiger-Wildcat Merger No Longer Possibility

TORONTO, Jan. 18 (CP) — A Toronto paper in a sports page story today says possibility of a merger between Hamilton Wildcats of the Eastern Big Four and Hamilton Tigers of the Senior Ontario Football Union was dissipated Tuesday night when it was learned that control of the Wildcats will be taken over by "a Toronto broker and a wealthy Hamilton industrialist" within the next few days.

Confirmation of the move is expected at the annual meeting of the Big Four here next Saturday. The paper said the Toronto broker mentioned is not Eric Cradock of Montreal Alouettes. It said the Wildcats would continue in the Big Four under their present name.

The newspaper also reported that Don MacKenzie has given his verbal resignation to Bob Reid as coach of the Balmy Beach club of the ORFU and that his successor will be Eddie Michaels, line coach of the Ottawa Rough Riders.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Touring Edmonton Mercurys Tuesday night at London were held to a 3-3 tie by Wembley Monarchs, one of the top teams in the British Ice Hockey Association.

Half the game's scoring took place when Edmonton was short-handed—but it was surprisingly in the Mercury's favor. They scored twice with only five men on the ice, while the Monarchs only ganged up for one goal while Edmonton players were serving seven penalties to the locals' two.

The Mercurys, Canada's entry in the world championships, held territorial advantage in the early stages, but the game was still scoreless when Billie Dawe of the Merks drew a tripping penalty after 17 minutes. As the Monarchs sent a five man wave across the blue line, Edmonton defenceman Al Purvis stole the puck, skated in alone and beat Stubby Mason, the Monarchs Regina-born goalie, from point blank range.

The Wembley squad tied it up after six minutes of the second session when Kid Cauppi of Sudbury scored. Mercury defenceman Pete Wright drew a penalty for charging but, though short-handed, Edmonton scored again when Dawe grabbed a loose puck in the Wembley corner and fired from a narrow angle.

The period ended with the Mercurys two men short, Wright and Dawe were still in the box when the final frame opened. The Monarchs capitalized on their manpower advantage after 30 seconds when Louis Prette of Sudbury scored from close in. Two minutes later Don Stay of Winnipeg put the Monarchs ahead.

The visitors came back with the equalizer and final goal when centre Ab Newsome tallied on a goal-mouth pass at the six-minute mark.

At Edmonton it was learned the Mercurys have been refused permission to play a two-week exhibition series in Czechoslovakia. J. A. Christiansen, the team's sponsor, said Tuesday.

He said he has been advised of cancellation of Mercury's seven-game appearance in Communist-governed Czechslovakia by J. F. Ahearne, secetary of the British Ice Hockey Association.

Mr. Ahearne's wire said Czechoslovakia gave currency difficulties as the reason for refusing Mercurys permission to enter the country, Mr. Christiansen said.

Early entries indicate the Northern Ontario Curling Association tournament will be the biggest in the association's 63-year history, officials said at Sudbury Tuesday night. The bonspiel starts Feb 6. More than 100 entries are expected, including strong contingents from Sault Ste. Marie, Kirkland Lake, the Muskoka district and Sudbury and Copper Cliff.

George W. Kerr, 41, internationally known five pin bowler, died at his home in Toronto after a long illness. He was a member of Central No. 1 bowling team which holds world records for five-pin bowling. A bachelor he is survived by his mother, two sisters and a brother.

Mrs. R. H. Amell of Toronto Tuesday skipped her Toronto Granite foursome to capture the Holton trophy at the women's curling tournament in Hamilton.

At Syracuse, N. Y., Jewel Ens, manager of Syracuse Chiefs of the International League and former manager of Pittsburgh Pirates, died Tuesday night. He was 60. Ens had been critically ill with pneumonia for 11 days.

Eddie Waitkus mailed in his signed contract Tuesday and let it be known that he's ready for a full season of baseball with the Philadelphia Phillies. Seven months ago, Waitkus hovered near death in a Chicago hospital, the victim of a bullet from a deranged 19-year-old girl's gun.

At Oldsmar, Fla., the daily double at Sunshine Park Tuesday paid $3,230. Only one ticket was sold on the winning combination. An unidentified woman racing fan from Washington, D. C., held the lone ticket. The daily double payoff was a record at Sunshine Park. The previous high mark was $3,148.40 two years ago.

Lewicki Paces Marlies To 6-2 Victory Over Irish

By The Canadian Press.

Fiery Danny Lewicki, much-travelled hockey star, emerged as the individual Ontario Hockey Association hero Tuesday night, pumping in three goals to pace Toronto Marlboros to a 6-2 victory over St. Michael's College, their inter-city, Junior A rivals.

Lewicki, centre of a story contract controversy earlier in the season and a former star-performer with Stratford and Port Arthur junior clubs, displayed his much-discussed talents to best advantage in the encounter, written in the record books as the Dukes 24th win in 32 starts.

In other junior games Tuesday night St. Catharines Teepees kept their second position intact by blasting Stratford Kroehlers 9-4 and Barrie Flyers took over the fifth spot, besting Guelph Biltmores 6-4. In senior competition Marlboros came through as expected and dumped Owen Sound back into the cellar with a 6-2 thumping and Hamilton Tigers took over the last play-off spot with a 6-5 victory over Kitchener-Waterloo.

Marlboros took a 5-0 second period lead before the Collegians came through with a pair in the third.

Scoring Stars

Armstrong clicked once for the winners while the others were counted by Lorne Pirie and Livingston. Leo Labine and Red Ingoldsby put the Irish on the score sheet in the finale.

St. Catharines and Stratford played it all square for the first two periods, ending the second session in a 3-3 tie. The high-scoring Garden-city crew blew the lid off in the final frame, counting six times while holding the Kroehlers to a final single.

Jack McIntyre put on a one-man show and rapped in three counters for the Teepees, a performance that was matched by Stratford's Dinny Flanagan. Carl Boone and Obie O'Brien both notched a pair for the winners while singles were scored by Norm Corcoran and Con Switzer. Doug Williams got the other Kroehler tally.

Into Overtime

Barrie and Guelph had to go into overtime before the contest was decided. The Flyers outscored the Biltmores 3-1 in the extra session to grab the two points and fifth place.

Barrie had taken a 2-0 lead in the first frame and held a 3-1 margin at the end of the second. Stan Long and John Bobenic led the scoring parade for Barrie, each clicking for a pair. Stan Long and Real Chevrefils notched singles. Don Oberholtzer was the only two goal man for the losers. Singles were counted by Ron Plumb and Steve Beklacich.

Owen Sound led Toronto 2-1 at the end of the second period but a five-goal performance by Marlboros in the final session sank the Mercury hopes of remaining in the last playoff position.

Chuck Blair flashed the red light twice for the Dukes while other goals were claimed by Scotty Mair, Don Rope, Hugh Bolton and Bill Johnson.

Ben Hogan Gets Revenge Chance

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18 (AP)—Little Ben Hogan, Mr. Comeback himself, gets a chance for revenge today from Sam Snead.

Two top names in the realm of professional golf, they are booked to tee off in an 18 hole duel at the Riviera Country Club to break their tie registered last week in the $15,000 Los Angeles open.

It was a belated playoff, postponed when rain washed out the original struggle last Wednesday.

Today's winner collects $2,600, the loser $1,900 and both split evenly 50 per cent of the gate receipts.

But much more than the $700 difference in prize money is at stake as the two once again capture the attention of the golf world just as they did in their battle last week, with its story book finish.

That finish is well recorded in the minds of golf fans now—how Hogan, in his first tournament since a car-bus crash nearly killed him 11 months ago, had the title won, and how Snead, needing two pars and two birdies in the final four holes to tie Hogan got them.

He got the last birdie the hard way, too, with the pressure of 10,000 hushed spectators hanging on his neck and a 15-foot putt waiting to be sunk in the 18th green at Riviera.

Canadians Edge Scotch Curlers

FALKIRK, Scotland, Jan. 18—(CP)—Canadian curlers, seeking the Strathcona Cup, Tuesday won the second of their test matches against Scotland by a three-point margin. The victory left the Canadians 39 down on the series with the cup-holding Scots.

The Canadian "A" team scored a 30-point victory, 97-67, over their Scottish opponents. Their margin was trimmed, however, by the Scottish side which defeated the Canadian "B" team 99-72.

All the A-team rinks won. They were skipped by Errick F. Willis, Winnipeg; L. Richardson, Regina; Walter B. Cowan, Toronto; Sam Rothschild, Sudbury and A. R. Stirling, Wolfville, N.S.

The only "B" rink to win was skipped by Percy H. Skitch of Lindsay.

Team manager Cowan is optimistic about Canada's chances in the remaining three tests.

"Our play is improving and I think we can make up the leeway in the next three matches so that it will be a great fight in the last game," he said.

Bribe Refusal Launches UK Adjudicator

VANCOUVER, Jan. 18.—(CP).—Maxwell Wray of London, regional adjudicator of the Dominion Drama Festival, got his start on a starry career by refusing a bribe.

"The offer was a motorcycle, if I would stay off the stage," he told an interviewer. "My parents didn't like the stage."

"It was an awfully tough choice for a speed-loving 21-year-old, but the theatre won and I don't think I have reason to regret it," he added.

The tall, good-looking actor-producer - director swapped the bike for a career that began in London's Old Vic Theatre 25 years ago and is reaching its "nth" milepost this year as he opens in London with his own company.

His work as adjudicator in the Regional Drama Festival presentations began here Monday night when he delighted a packed house with a two-hour "address to his players" following the presentation of the Everyman Theatre entry "Arms and the Man."

Not Traditional Method

His adjudication, he admits, is not in the traditional manner. "I'm not here to criticize," he told the actors and audience, "but rather to help you. I want you to pick my brains and my experience. I want to help Canadian amateur drama."

His qualifications as adjudicator include a term as actor at the Old Vic, two years as stage manager of a west end company, four years as producer-director of the Sheffield Repertory Company, a term with Sir Barry Jackson's famous Birmingham Repertory Theatre and now a director of his own company.

He can claim as his "finds" Actresses Vivien Leigh and Greer Garson.

"I told Greer to fall down and stick her legs in the air in the first play. She was an instant success."

In his Canadian tour, which includes nearly 80 performances, he will look primarily for "correct interpretation of the part."

BIG MOMENT—Gene Tunney awaits announcement declaring him world heavyweight champion after winning from Jack Dempsey in Philadelphia's Sesqui-Centennial Stadium, Sept. 23, 1926. Beside him is his chief second, Jimmie Bronson.

Brilliant Cast When 'Arsenic' Plays In City

Brian Doherty has chosen as his first offering of the 1950 season, Joseph Kesselring's riotous laugh-comedy, Arsenic and Old Lace its tour opened at London the first of this month. In association with Graham Ferguson and Michael Sadlier—who scored a big success with the production of "Arsenics" at Peterborough, during their summer season last year—Mr. Doherty has arranged for the Company to visit all the leading Ontario cities and towns in January and February. Their tour will include Toronto and Montreal. Their local engagement will be at Collegiate Auditorium, on Monday to Wednesday, Jan. 30-Feb. 1, under the sponsorship of the Kinsmen.

Described by Richard Watts, Jr., of the New York Herald Tribune, as "The most riotously hilarious comedy of the season . . ." and by Brooks Atkinson of the New York Times, as "Swift, dry, satirical and exciting . . . compact with plot and comic situation," "Arsenic and Old Lace" was the fourth longest-running hit in the history of the theatre when it closed after 1,444 performances in New York.

Boris Karloff played the part of Jonathan Brewster 'the killer,' to be played in this production by the talented young Canadian actor, Gerry Sarracini, who is well known to Canadian aldiences for his leading roles in Radio, and for his notable perfomances on the stage in "Fortune My Foe," "John Loves Mary," and "Rebecca," in the Peterborough Summer Theatre.

CATHERINE PROCTOR

Leading Actress

Catherine Proctor, Canadian actress and Broadway star will appear as the delightfully 'Naughty' Abby Brewster — the part in which she excelled in the New York Company, and for an all too brief time again in Peterborough last summer. This, by the way, is to be Miss Proctor's first Canadian tour.

Featured in the role of "Teddy," is Frank Crawshaw, Internationally-known English character-comedian. Mr. Crawshaw has interrupted his One-Man-Theatre, tour of Canada, to accept the role in "Arsenic." Mr. Crawshaw has had about 30 years on the stage and in films. He has been with the Abbey Theatre, Dublin, as player and producer

Other favorites who will be seen are Barbara Hamilton, young commedienne who won recognition as "Crazy Agnes" in the Trans-Canada tour of "The Drunkard" in 1948-49, and William Drew, also of "Drunkard" fame. The love interest will be ably sustained by two very talented young Canadian artists — Kate Reid and William Hutt. And Andrew Anthony will play Officer O'Hara. Also in the cast are, Floyd Caza, Don Sinclair and Pat Atkinson.

NUMBER'S UP — Unlucky 13 or not, Jockey Jimmy Dowdeswell is catapulted over head of Cadamstown in Newent Handicap Chase at Cheltenham, England, won by Porter's Call.

Three Actresses Receive Praise Of Adjudicator

VANCOUVER, Jan. 18—(CP)—"At the risk of giving them swelled heads" a trio of Vancouver actresses earned the enthusiastic acclaim of adjudicator Maxwell Wray Tuesday night for their performance in Lillian Hellman's play, "The little Foxes".

The presentation of the tense three-act play was the Elsie Graham Drama Group entry in the second night of the regional trials of the Dominion Drama Festival.

Mr. Wray, here from London to adjudicate the regional groups, singled out Babs Hitchman as Birdie Hubbard, Doris Buckingham as Regina Giddens and Lois Shaw as Alexandra Giddens for warm praise.

Miss Hitchman, as the pathetic but appealing Birdie, was "sincere and restrained," he said, "a fine performance."

Miss Shaw, as a daughter tangled in the web of her mother's evil personality, was "a real little actress."

The play as a whole, he said, was "pretty good" but the set, involving a dominant staircase, a piano, a table and several chairs was "far too cramped."

"And amber lights. Never, never use amber lights. They make everyone look five years older."

Direction made the acting groups "a little too fluid. They should be a series of pictures not just a bunch of people walking around the stage."

Hastings Juveniles Gain Puck Victory

HASTINGS, Jan. 18 (ENS) — The Hastings juveniles continued their winning streak in their OMHA schedule tonight, defeating Campbellford 7-4 before a fair-sized crowd. It was a clean, fast crowd-pleasing game between evenly matched teams.

At the five-minute mark, West, Hastings goalie, got a bad cut on the nose from a high shot, and had to go off for repairs, but returned for a first-class performance.

The jinx continued to harry the Hastings team, and half-way through the second period, Laver took a puck in his face that required three stitches.

Hastings opened the scoring at 3.15 of the first period, Stevenson scoring from Laver. Isaac made it 2-0 at 9.50 with assists going to McMillen and Lynch. Hastings made it 3-0, Forde from Laver, then at 18.40 Ibey scored for Campbellford on a pass from Dooher and Jeffs. The period ended 3-1. Penalties went to Fairman and Chambers. In the second, McMullen later added one and Laver added a pair for Hastings, while Darrah countered Campbellford's second goal to make the score at the end of the period 6-2. Penalties went to Hendricks and Chambers (2) and Lockhart.

In the third period, Jeffs and Ibey added two more for Campbellford and, at 15.05, McMillen scored the final goal unassisted. Ibey got the lone penalty.

Referee, Hi Wilson, Campbellford; linesman, R. Scriver, Hastings.

Most of the stores have agreed to close early, in order that all may attend at 9:00 p.m.

Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, MPP, Dr. F. G. Robertson, MP, and Mayor J. E. Ayrhart of Campbellford will officiate at the opening and dedication. Dit Clapper will be referee.

Caused Disturbance In Downtown Cafe

"I guess I'm guilty. I don't remember much about it," said Joseph Barbeau, 31, of 230 Braidwood Ave., when charged with causing a disturbance in a downtown restaurant Monday night before Magistrate W. R. Philp KC in police court Tuesday.

In fining Barbeau $15 and costs Magistrate Philp said there was altogether too much fighting and too many disturbances in restaurants.

"I don't make a habit of this sort of thing," Barbeau said.

Patrick McPhee, 37, of Simcoe Ont. was fined $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty to being drunk

McCracken scored two in the first for the homesters, aided once by Wilford. Gandy replied with a pair for Clapper's and Richardson got one. Survey Causes Family Trouble

Of 15 "family situations" which came before the Children's Aid Society during December, 49 per cent of the parents were living together, and in 20 per cent, the mothers had deserted. Thirteen additional cases involved divorce, parents living separately by arrangement and common-law union. In 20 per cent of the families, the mother was working.

These statistics were presented to the Board of the Children's Aid Society on Tuesday by Miss Rachael Young, superintendent.

Two children were placed in the case of the Society, one through private placement for adoption and the other deserted by his mother. The latter child is requiring considerable extra care.

There are now 102 wards of the society, five less than at this time last year. Fifty-eight per cent are in pay care and 21 per cent of the wards are on adoption probation, as compared with 61 per cent in pay care and 14 per cent on adoption probation in December, 1948.

Eight unmarried parents requested the service of the society. While the majority of these are able to carry on in the community, a few are causing considerable concern.

Many gifts were received at Christmas time from organizations, clubs, merchants, and individuals.

The sewing committee reported 58 articles mended by Miss Claire Mason, Mrs. H. G. McGinnis, Mrs. A. Martin, and Mrs. P. Hetherington.

The committee acknowledged donation sfrom Mesdames Art Johnston. Robinson, T. W. H. Young, L. Brooks of Omemee, Perry Litchen, A. Martin, L. L. Maguire, and Max Middleton.

Tito Relaxing Controls For Industries

By ALEX H. SINGLETON.

BELGRADE, Jan. 18 (AP) — Yugoslavia, apparently in search of greater efficiency, has started relaxing government controls of some of her key industries.

Premier Tito's government, ever since the war's end, has been building up a firm central government control over much of the country's industry. Now it is beginning to relax these controls, and the move has much more than local significance.

It reflects Tito's confidence in Yugoslav unity in the face of attacks from the Soviet Union and the Cominform and the economic pressure they have brought against Yugoslavia to force it into line with Kremlin doctrine.

In fact, Tito, by relaxing such controls, would be compounding what the Soviet Union and the Cominform regard as one of his felonies—failure to accomplish total centralization with full speed.

Matter of Expediency

Yet this new decentralization move demonstrates no change in the Communist nature of the Tito Government. It is purely a matter of expediency, to get out more production for export so that Yugoslavia can buy more goods she needs.

The new relaxation program is reflected in the announcement of the official newspaper Borba that the Yugoslavian Republic of Bosnia-Hercegovina has been reorganizing a number of its old ministries and creating new ones. There were similar steps in other parts of Tito's land, in advance of local and federal elections—probably late in March — in which the Communist-controlled People's Front Government will ask for a vote of confidence.

Authoritative sources say the decision to decentralize was taken after long and careful studies of production, which showed that the output under local controls exceeded that under federal administration.

Man Officially Dead Have To Drop Charges

CARDIFF, Wales, Jan. 18 (CP) —Charges against Ivor John Morris were dismissed because, officially, he was dead. Eight months ago the body of a bearded vagrant was found in a park. His name was believed to be Ivor James Morris, and William, of Pen-Y-Graig, Glamorgan, identified him as his brother.

A few days ago a man picked up for alleged begging gave the name Ivor John Morris. It was found he was the man the police had believed dead. Because the police records showed Ivor John Morris dead, charges against the detained man could not be proceeded with.

Atlantic City Blaze Destroys Six Stores

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Jan. 18 (AP)—A dogged fire destroyed six stores Tuesday in the same Atlantic City boardwalk block that suffered a $300,000 fire three months ago.

William S. Cuthbert, director of public safety, said he believed the damage would run to $300,000.

Firemen thought the early morning blaze was under control at sunrise, but high winds blowing in from the ocean fanned it anew. More than five hours after the original alarm, it was announced under control.

The cause was not immediately available.

Archaeologists Hit Jackpot In London's Bombed Areas

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Jan. 18—(CP)—Archaeologists are garnering a rich harvest of ancient relics from London's bombed areas, as the jaws of giant excavators turn up the ground for rebuilding operations. Their best hunting ground lies behind the historic mansion house, official home of London's Lord Mayor, while during the last month six men have discovered many traces of Roman londinium, of 1,800 years ago.

"Most of our finds belong to the first and second centuries and were uncovered 20 feet down," said Noel Hume of the Guildhall Museum, leader of an expedition to discover what London was like during the Roman occupation.

Wooden writing tablets measuring four inches by six inches now are in the hands of experts who are trying to decipher messages faintly visible on some of them.

Hume said when a Roman city man of A. D. 200 wrote a message he covered a tablet with wax and wrote with stylus on the wax.

Like Blotting Pad

"The same board would serve over and over again by merely renewing the wax," Hume said. "Heavy-fisted writers would naturally make some impression on the board itself. It is like deciphering a well-used blotting pad."

"Most amusing of our discoveries is a curved instrument made of iron called a strigal. This was used in the bath for scraping dirt from the body."

Near Mark Lane underground a Roman tessalated pavement of the third century has been unearthed. In spite of its great age the original orange, red, white and black coloring is still bright.

Across the Thames between Blackfriars and Southwark Bridges, remains of a 15th century barge have been uncovered far from any existing waterway.

In old Jewery were found relics of the 14 th-century North Aisle of St. Olave's Church. A trench nearby has revealed two floor levels, representing the third and fourth centuries of a Roman house, with fragmentary traces of a Roman road.

Many of these treasures are being displayed at an exhibition at the Guildhall Museum.

Kate Aitken answers this week's Questions about Hair Care and Health

OILY HAIR: "Three days after I wash my hair it begins to go oily again. What type of shampoo can I use to get away from this distressing condition?"

Any soapless shampoo will help decrease the oiliness of your hair. But, as well, say experts, your diet needs checking. Fats, gravies, pastries and rich desserts all contribute to oily hair. Fresh fruits, green and yellow vegetables, a moderate dosage of Vitamin B Compound all add lustre to the hair.

BALD HEAD: "My young son (21) is already beginning to lose his hair. His father was completely bald at 30. So was his grandfather. Is there any way to prevent my son going bald?"

Experts have not as yet found any way to grow hair on a bald head. Nor indeed any way to prevent congenital baldness. Our doctors suggest that your son try the same vitamin as used for the oily hair—i.e., Vitamin B Compound.

HOME PERMANENTS: "Can a home permanent be successfully given to oneself?"

It can, but it is a great deal easier to invite in a neighbor, make a bee of it and help one another.

INVALID SHAMPOO: "Is there any way in which I can give my invalid mother a shampoo while she is still in bed?"

A bed shampoo is quite possible. Move the patient so that her head rests on the edge of the bed. A rubber sheet under the head and funnelled to a basin on the floor makes washing easy. Easier than a wet shampoo is one done with an astringent. Brush the hair well; part it in one-inch parts. Wet absorbent cotton with warm water; then soak with an astringent. Rub each part carefully from the neck to the brow. Then give the hair an over-all rubbing with clean cotton and an astringent. This makes an excellent job of an invalid's hair—or indeed for yourself between shampoos.

WHITE HAIR: "My hair used to be pure white. Now it goes yellow after washing. How can I get it back in colour?"

A blue rinse or a violet rinse will take away the yellow tinge and restore the pure white colour.

The new warden is a native of Murray township and is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jandrew. He has been a farmer all his life and operates a mixed farm of 90 acres. He has been a member of the Frankford Cheese and Butter Co. for 20 years, serving as director and auditor and for the past nine years as secretary-treasurer.

Warden Jandrew was educated at Stockdale Public School and Frankford Continuation School. He was married 21 years ago to Gertrude Davey and they have a six-year-old son, Russell.

Never Defeated

The Warden has had 14 years of municipal experience which included eight years as township councillor, one year as deputy-reeve and five years as reeve. He has never been defeated in a township election.

The session of counties council was opened with a brief address and prayer by Captain W. Rae of Cobourg Salvation Army. Counties clerk-and-treasurer William Barr, told the council that it was the 101st session of Northumberland and Durham Counties Council. Since the last session, ex-warden Percy Stinson of Millbrook had died. Mr. Stinson had always made it a point to be on hand for the annual election of the warden.

Warden Jandrew said his election to that honor was one of the happiest moments of his life. He thanked all his supporters and his deputy-reeve, the latter for having waited so that he could run for warden. He paid tribute to his wife for looking after things at home while he was away on counties council business.

Mrs. Jandrew was in the council gallery and on motion of Reeve Frank George of Brighton township, Mrs. Jandrew was invited to sit beside her husband.

The new warden received congratulations from ex-warden Rundall, from his opponent, Reeve Robins; from his deputy-reeve and others.

Thank You Cards Arrive Here From England

By F. G. MANN

What could almost be called a profusion of acknowledgement cards of thanks have, during the past few days, been received in Peterborough for parcels delivered during last month in the city of Peterborough, England, as coming from the people of this city and district, through the local branch of the United Emergency Fund for Britain.

At the City Hall some 70 of these cards addressed to Mayor M. J. Swanston have been received, each of them from some individual who benefitted in this manner.

All in some way or other expressed their gratitude, a typical one of which was written by the daughter of Mrs. A. J. Brunswick at 321 Walpole Street, Peterborough, which read, "With sincere thanks for your kindness and generosity, on behalf of my mother, who is 85."

And what occurred in this collective sense, has been duplicated in an individual way all over the city, an instance of which can be cited through the receipt by Judge S. L. Smoke of ten of these cards from that many people in the namesake city in England.

Local Donations

These parcels were made available through the donations of people in this city and district subscribed to the general fund of the UEFB, and the choice of the individual beneficiary lies with an advisory council in Britain, who apportion them to those most in need of such assistance. It is interesting to note that many go to old age pensioners.

Each parcel contains a card addressed to a person here who has made the gift possible, through their donation to the fund. In this respect, many more of these cards should arrive in this city, because sufficient funds recently transmitted to headquarters would allow of an additional 125 parcels being sent A heart-warming feature of these cards was the intimation on many of them that the parcel had been delivered a day or so before Christmas.

Resort Owners Urge Gov't To Change Labor Day Date

TORONTO, Jan. 18—Ontario tourist resort operators want to change the date of Labor Day. They say it interferes with business.

At the annual convention in the Royal York Hotel Tuesday George Martin, president of the Canadian Tourist Association, pleaded the case for a Labor Day on the third Monday in September.

"There is a definite need for Canada to increase her income in U.S. dollars," he said, "and that can be assisted by more tourists. But Labor Day is one of the things which shorten our vacation period.

"Resort accommodation is filled to capacity during July and August, but there's plenty of space before and after. Increased tourists means more employment for thousands more men and women, and outlets for farm and manufactured goods."

He suggested that Labor Day should be the third Monday in September, instead of the first. And he made a bid for juvenile support by suggesting schools could open on the third Wednesday.

Association members unanimously carried a resolution for a later Labor Day.

And they agreed to ask the province to set up a provincial historical advisory board to promote historical consciousness in Ontario, restore and promote historic sites, and help get financial aid for museums. That, they said, would be another tourist attraction.

Cupid's Dart Hits Brockville Senator's Son Weds Family Maid, 16-Year-Old Farm Girl

BROCKVILLE, Jan. 18—A romance between a 16-year-old farm girl who left high school to work as a domestic, and the son of a prominent local family, was disclosed here Tuesday with announcement of the marriage of Frances Marian Watson to Fulford Hardy, son of Senator A. C. Hardy.

John Edgeley, uncle of the bride, said Tuesday night he had been informed by a member of the girl's family that she and Mr. Hardy were married in Toronto several days ago. The couple now are in Western Canada on a honeymoon.

The bride, who will be 17 next April, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Watson, who have a farm near here. She is one of a large number of children. The father works at the Ontario Steel Co. plant in Gananoque.

Frances Marian went to work in the Hardy household last summer as a domestic. She was held in high regard by her employer who is reported to have commented when informed of the marriage: "She is a fine girl. I am not worried."

The marriage came as a surprise to all concerned, it was learned. The bridegroom is 37. He married a 16-year-old Toronto girl in 1933, and the marriage was later annulled.

Three Million Dollar Ship Subsidy Brings In Flood Of Proposals

OTTAWA, Jan. 18 (CP)—Canada's deepsea shipping operators have flooded the offices of the Canadian Maritime Commission with suggestions for keeping this country's merchant fleet in operation, it was learned Tuesday.

The commission set midnight Monday night as the deadline for the filing of answers to a questionnaire sent out last month after Prime Minister St. Laurent announced in the Commons that the government was prepared to subsidize the industry to the extent of $3,000,000 for one year only.

About 35 of Canada's 118 deepsea ships were forced to tie up when the devaluation of currencies in September made it difficult for Canadian ships to compete with the more cheaply operated vessels under foreign registry.

A commission official said there was a "terrific inpour of suggestions" in reply to the questionnaire. The replies averaged 15 to 20 pages in length. They will be sifted and the industry will be consulted before plans for payment of the subsidy are announced.

Met Individually

The official said the shipping companies will be met individually. When all their views have been heard, the commission will have a clearer picture of the situation and will be in a better position to make recommendations to Transport Minister Chevrier.

Many of the replies to the questionnaire were received in the 24 hours prior to the deadline, and it was not possible to say if they followed any particular trend, said the official. It might be two or three weeks before any announcement is made.

The $3,000,000 subsidy is expected to keep about 40 Canadian deep-sea ships in operation for about a year. The subsidy will not apply to coastal or Great Lakes shipping.

It was learned that no decision has yet been reached by the government on when the subsidy year will start and end. Some favor payment for the 1950 calendar year. Others favor payments for the fiscal year 1950-51, which runs from next April 1 to March 31, 1951.

Besides the 118 deep-sea ships now under Canadian registry, there are 58 Canadian-owned ships on loan to the United Kingdom Ministry of Shipping. The ships are due to be returned to their Canadian owners this year and negotiations for the return now are under way.

Suggest Smaller Towns Should Get Cocktail Bars

TORONTO, Jan. 18—President Ward Markle, of the Ontario Hotel Association, Tuesday called for uniform licensing laws. He suggested that towns with less than 50,000 population should be able to have cocktail bars.

"With regulations the way they are," he said in his annual report to the association convention, "the average American or Canadian traveller can't understand why hotels like the General Brock in Niagara Falls can't give the same service as hotels in Toronto and other large cities."

Mr. Markle said a 60 per cent vote was needed to get cocktail bars in such towns, but many voters did not realize the need for uniformity in hotel services.

Logical Approach

The government had a sound and logical approach to the alcohol question, he thought. He knew a certain minority of licensees did not accept their responsibilities, and they were the cause of a good deal of public indignation.

"But this is a legal tax-paying industry," he said, "and a possible self-regulating one. We must accept our own responsibilities. And in doing so we will get full government co-operation."

Mr. Markle said he was concerned at the rise in hotel maintenance costs—glassware was up to 150 per cent; electrical equipment, 150 per cent; and furniture as much as 300 per cent.

Ontario hotel men paid the highest gallonage tax in the world, he said. In some cases the tax was so high that the owner paid 75 cents more a case for beer than the retail price in the government store.

Deserted Isles Provide Rich Pickings

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N.Z., Jan. 14 (CP)—Pacific islands which a few years ago were in the forefront of the war news have today mostly returned to their former forgotten state. The jungle has grown up again over the roads and air strips and the troops have departed.

But there are still rich pickings for the enterprising in the vast quantities of war equipment left by the armies, navies and air forces. C. Roose, a New Zealander who bought a landing craft for salvage work in the islands, is confident that there is profitable work for his vessel for many years to come.

There are still thousands of tons of surplus war materials to be lifted from northern New Guinea and the islands of the Gilbert and Marshall groups, he says.

The larger bases, which had facilities for handling large ships, soon had much of their equipment lifted, but there remain hundreds of smaller bays and inlets which can be worked only by a vessel of shallow draft.

On her last voyage Mr. Roose's ship, the Rawhiti, loaded 600 tons of tractors, cranes and other equipment at Tulagi, in the Solomons. After unloading she steamed to northern New Guinea, where she made 12 landing along 300 miles of coast. In this run she collected 18,000 empty petrol drums to be used as container for exports of Fiji cocoanut oil.

On the way to Suva to unload this cargo, she took aboard at Tulagi two dismantled 500,000-gallon tanks.

Her next assignment was at Truk, where she loaded 2,800 tons of war assets for an Australian company. Then she went to Guam to take on board 17 giant earth shovels.

From one former base to another the vessel plies with equipment which has lain idle for several years but is still able to be put to good use in the post-war world.

Hundreds of such vessels sped across the Pacific to put the equipment there. It needs a similar vessel to take it away and it will take the Rahiti a long time yet to clear all that awaits shipment.

Free Trade Suggested For Vegetables

TORONTO, Jan. 18 (CP)—Free trade in fruits and vegetables between Canada and the United States was suggested as a possible solution to problems of growers on both sides of the border at Tuesday's sessions of the annual convention of the Ontario Fruit and Vegetable Growers' Association.

M. M. Robinson, of Hamilton, secretary of the organization, made the suggestion in reply to H. D. Brown, of Columbus, Ohio, secretary of the Vegetable Growers' Association of America, who had expressed the feeling that United States growers sometimes get a "bad deal" in tariffs and dumping duties.

Mr. Robinson said that a solution might be found in removal of tariffs on those types of fruits and vegetables which haven't Canadian counterparts, while restricting the markets on others where a like crop is grown in Canada. He mentioned particularly citrus fruits.

Attacks Dealers

In an earlier address Tuesday, Mr. Robinson, in his capacity as secretary of the Ontario Winter Celery Marketing Board, had launched an attack on dealers. He told the 900 fruit and vegetable delegates "I'm not going to quit" on a marketing scheme for winter celery "until those dealers who tried to break up the marketing scheme are either put out of business or curbed."

The association passed resolutions asking for changes in the duties of onions, celery, lettuce and spinach. Today the convention will discuss a resolution proposing marketing boards with control over earlot shipments.

Another resolution asked action on obtaining export markets for peaches, plums and pears, some 500,000 cases of which were annually shipped to the United States before the second world war.

Seal Hunting Inshore Profitable Hobby

HALIFAX (CP).—Nova Scotia's inshore fishermen have a profitable sideline — destroying harbor seals. So far this year they have collected $4,500 in bounties for destroying 900 seals.

Until this year all a fisherman had to do to collect a $5 bounty was a present a seal's snout to the handiest fish inspector. However, some fishermen in the Cape Breton Island area decided a seal was a seal, and killed a different type of mammal which was on the protected list. Though illegal, it was profitable.

So now the provincial government pays out the bounty only to those producing a harbor seal's jaw. Fish inspectors can tell by the teeth formation if the fisherman has killed the right specimen.

Although Nova Scotia fishermen don't make harbor seal hunting a full-time job, many pick up considerable income from the sideline. One man has shot as many as 20 seals in a day.

Apsley Red Cross Asks Community Medical Service

APSLEY, Jan. 18 — (ENS) — Support in maintaining a community doctor in Apsley has been disappointing, Mrs. Stewart Brown reported at the annual meeting of Apsley branch of the Red Cross Society. Apsley was the only community in Ontario served by a community doctor, the president Norman Wilson said, and Dr. Herbert G. Parkin's work was entirely satisfactory.

Mr. Brown reported that a number of people had signed their willingness to support the scheme but some had failed to make their payments. It was hoped that support would come from residents in the community as the doctor was a great asset.

There were 66 patients admitted to the hospital during the past year; 19 births, 116 out-patients; 58 district calls, 19 babies weighed; 81 x-rays 11 immunisations and 12 schools visited. These statistics were reported by Miss Grover, nurse in charge of the outpost.

As a result of sales of Christmas seals a Department of Health free chest x-ray clinic is being made available in Apsley. The plates will be sent to Belleville to be read and reports will be forwarded to Dr. Parkin.

Every patient in hospital is given the opportunity of having chest x-ray while in hospital at a charge of $1.

Tuesday night the town council, over the opposition of the mayor, decided to extend a civic welcome to Barbara Ann.

Said Mayor Wilson Tuesday night:

"As far as Barbara Ann Scott is concerned . . . she lost her opportunity for such shows of appreciation when she became a professional. Today her chief concern is what the box office will do for her."

End Bad Cough Quickly, at One-Fourth The Cost

Thousands of housewives have found that, by mixing their own cough syrup, they get a dependable, effective medicine. They use a recipe at only one-fourth the usual cost of cough medicine, but which really breaks up distressing coughs in a hurry.

From any druggist get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 ounce bottle and fill up with granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. The syrup is easily made with 2 cups sugar and 1 cup water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) VOL. C. No. 14 WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 18, 1950

County Deficit Of $35,963 Shocks Council

Peterborough County has a deficit for 1949 amounting to $35,963.68.

The size of the amount-more than four times the 1948 figure-came as a nasty shock to County Councillors Tuesday afternoon shortly after the formal matters of the 1950 statutory meeting had concluded.

Roads and bridges over-expenditure accounted for most of the deficit. On the year's operations there was a deficit of $13,600; and that section of the county's affairs was already in the red by $7,923.80 when 1949 began, making a grand total on December 31, 1949 of $21,523.80.

The $7,923.80 was the deficit due to the purchasing of a road grader the year before. This amount was not deducted from the greed on road expenditures for the year and thus turned out to be an added financial millstone.

An Oshkosh truck, listed at $13,533.11, was purchased to replace the model wrecked in an accident this fall.

Another $15,000 can be considered a current deficit, composed of miscellaneous items.

Cost of Education

One of the largest of these Mrs. Jennie Spurway, county clerk and treasurer, explained was the unexpectedly high cost of education. Here the expenditure exceeded estimates by about $7,500.

The County pays for the education of its pupils and students on the previous year's figures. For instance, the 1949 levy was computed on the total cost in 1948.

There had been no way of anticipating the rising cost of education in both the county schools and the secondary schools at Lakefield, Norwood and Peterborough, the clerk stated.

Reforestation had cost about $2,000 more than expected. The installation of a telephone to the caretaker's house in the County Forest Area had been an expense not budgeted for, and the road into the area had to be widened to permit snow plowing.

The administration of justice and upkeep of the jail was about $1000 over the estimated figure; the Children's Aid $1,100, and the registry office $800.

A breakdown of the financial statement will be available later in the session.

Girl, 13, Plays With Symphony

Guest pianist with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra next Tuesday will be 13-year-old Elizabeth Ault, whose father, William Ault, an electrical engineer, was employed at the CGE in Peterborough.

The young pianist will be soloist in a performance of a Hadyn concerto at a concert which the Toronto orchestra is dedicating to the Unicef campaign for $500,000 to feed European children.

Two years ago the young musician gave a recital for the Peterborough branch of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers' Association in George St. United Church Sunday School. She appears to inherit her musical talent from her mother, Mrs. Maud Ault, a former piano and organ teacher.

She started taking music lessons at the age of four, when her mother taught her to play by ear. She has now passed grade 10 examinations. She is in first form at Humberside Collegiate and places mathematics second on her list of preferences.

Macy Executive Tells Club Store Is Customers' Agent

Retail night at the Peterborough Sales and Advertising Club Tuesday night saw the largest meeting the club has had at any regular session. H. Norman Neubert, public relations manager of the Macy's store in New York, guest speaker, outlined the public relations any store dealt with in its every day business.

He intimated that in a store as large as Macy's, the various aspects of the public relations job to be done were more apparent than in smaller stores. But every store had the same difficulties to meet.

One of the biggest problems facing a large department store was in convincing the customers that the store was personally interested in each individual customer and her reactions. The only way this could be done, he said, was to trust the sales clerks, and all the other employees dealing with the public and to train them.

Training Plan

He said Macy's had a training program for new employees. But training did not end there. Whenever a new product was introduced in the store or an old one was going to be pushed, employees were informed about the product by the store's buyers. The result they hoped for was that the clerk would be able to tell customers the facts about the merchandise in order that the best possible use of the product could be made.

Mr. Neubert said the store was gradually getting away from the customer-be-damned attitude which developed during the war.

Paternalism was not the method of dealing with employees, Mr. Neubert held. He said the employee wanted a fair wage, and good working conditions; he wanted to know what his position in the company was and what the policy of the store was.

He said the employee should have the opportunity to protest anything he did not like about his treatment or anything else. He said the employee should be able to go to his immediate supervisor with no qualms and know he would get a sympathetic hearing.

In dealing with manufacturers and other suppliers of merchandise, the store should make it clear it was acting as a purchasing agent for the customer, not a selling agent for the supplier.

Community Part

Stores had a part to play in their community as well, Mr. Neubert said. Their representatives should take an active part in community projects and serve on committees.

He said that in the United States this year a public relations campaign was being launched by the National Retail Dry Goods Association. The object of the campaign, which he said could have its counterpart in Canada, was to show through the changes in retail merchandise handled in the first fifty years of the century, the progress of America.

Mr. Nubert was introduced by Myer Cherney and thanked by Herb Mason.

Await Decision Of Beneficiaries

Several days prior to the death of John T. O'Connell, the city council engaged T. J. Carley, K.C., to act as its representative in the appeal which Mr. O'Connell had instituted against the valuation of his property as set by Judge Smoke.

Mr .W. B. Gordon, solicitor for the deceased, said today he did not know what course would now be taken. It would have to be decided by the persons benefitting from the estate of Mr. O'Connell. Beneficiaries are not yet known.

Judge Smoke valued at $11,000 payable by the city the property on the west side of Park St. that was expropriated for the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation's project for ex-service men and their families.

Latin Terms Used By City Solicitor Part Of New Aldermen's Initiation

By HARRY THEOBALD.

When the Council, the Fair Board, and the Morrow Trust are trying to arrive at in opening a street through Exhiibtion Park is a "modus vivendi," to quote City Solicitor Huycke in an idiom of his profession.

To new members like Ald. E. C. Braund, for example, the penchant of the solicitor for occasional and surprising interpolation of classic excerpts and odds and ends of latinisms is part of the initiation. It is an introduction to the atmosphere of the Council, and they have all chuckled at the whimsy of Mr. Huycke, hardly certain whether he was spoofing or using the handiest expression in his thought.

So, the "modus vivendi" interjected a note of humor into the meeting of the three groups just as did the earlier quip of T. J. Carley, KC.

They were talking about Morrow Park and fence posts, and Mayor Swanston remarked: "We might even put parking meters down there."

"Nobody would be surprised," said Mr. Carley, "for you've put them pretty nearly everywhere else."

So, it might possibly be said with great license that the Council of 1950 has settled down in its "modus operandi"—a method of procedure—now that Mr. Huycke has tossed off the "modus vivendi." In one sense it literally means a way of living, but in the Huycke application it is a more general phrase relating to the speaking of satisfactory arrangements—a working compromise—between the Council, the Board and the Trust for the further consideration of the possibilities of getting a road through the park from the foot of George Street.

Farmers Urged To Be Proud Of Their Calling

"Farming is the finest calling on the face of the earth, and is just as important, perhaps more so, than that of any other group of society," said Vivian S. Milburn, secretary-manager of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, at the monthly luncheon of the Peterborough Federation Tuesday at the Empress Hotel. "One of the first things we have to do as farm people is to become proud of our calling."

Collective self-respect was not enough, Mr. Milburn implied through the main section of his address. Farmers had a responsibility to themselves and their industry of asserting their rights, particularly in periods of economic stress as in the present trend unfairly against the welfare of farmers and their title to equality with the other groups of the community.

Help To Collect Fund

The providing of financial sustenance for the organization they have built up was another responsibility farmers should recognize as a real need. To that end, he suggested that county councils as groups of farmers should consider the helping of farmers to collect funds for their organization as important as the maintenance of roads and bridges.

"If we let agriculture down, there will be more difficulty collecting taxes," Mr. Milburn said. "County councils are helping us collect our own money in a simple way because it is our money. There is no more democratic procedure than that, because our township and county councils are closest to us."

Mr. Milburn said the general and immediate problem of farmers was "to secure sufficient income from our efforts to maintain a fair standard of living compared with that of other groups, and to build into ourselves a realization of our responsibility as citizens. That's about where we are today."

The agricultural economy had been thrown out of line, Mr. Milburn said, by developments abroad, rather than at home. During the war and for years prior to it, Canada had found a market for its agricultural surpluses in Britain. As a result of the war, Britain was now without dollars to buy the products of this country except in relatively small quantities other than wheat.

First To Feel The Pinch

The farmers of Canada were the first to feel the effects of this reverse, "but during the war we were not permitted to enjoy a free flow of prices, and perhaps the highest. We were also obligated to subscribe to a policy of subsidies."

Compare Mottos

BRANDON, Man., Jan. 18 (CP)—A trans-ocean telephone call was made Tuesday to compare the mottos of two cities. A. J. M. Bell, Brandon's city clerk, groped his way to the telephone at 6:15 a.m. and Don Johnson of Melbourne, Australia, explained that the city of Melbourne and Brandon't crests were identical and he wanted to compare the mottos.

Bridge At Gannon's Torn From Harvey Shore Broken Into Three Sections

Gannon's Narrows floating bridge has been broken into three sections by a combination of high winds, waves and floating chunks of ice. The break up started Saturday but today a 200-foot piece at the north end broke completely clear of fastenings to the shore. Near the south end of the bridge, the swinging bridge owned by the federal Department of Transport has broken free at one end from the rest of the bridge. Only anchor chains are holding the sections from drifting down the narrows into Buckhorn Lake where they could be wrecked on one of the many islands there.

So far no effort has been made to fasten the sections any more securely than they are now. One report received was that some of the anchor chains have broken.

The 1,300-foot bridge spans the channel between Buckhorn and Pigeon Lakes connecting Ennismore and Harvey Townships. John Chase, veteran farmer of Harvey Township, is caretaker of the bridge for Peterborough County.

Smashed By Waves

Ralph Chase, his son, reported that he had never before seen waves in the Narrows as big as those which smashed against the bridge beginning Saturday morning and continuing on Monday and today.

Two of the main booms on the west side have broken loose from their chains. One is still intact on the west side. The last time the bridge broke was in 1930.

William Collins is the bridge tender who is in charge of the government swing bridge which is a link in the Trent Canal system.

Citizens of both Ennismore and Harvey Townships have been agitating some time to have the old floating bridge replaced by a causeway as was done in Chemong Lake.

It is one of the projects Harvey's Reeve Gale Elliott is expected to put before the County Council meeting being held in Peterborough this week.

Council Closes Door On Ward Referendum

City Clerk Outram was directed by the council Monday to write to the Allied Labor Council "that during 1949, this council explained in a letter the benefits to the civic government obtained by continuing to elect the council and all civic boards by general vote rather than by the ward system and that this council does not consider it necessary to submit this question to a referendum vote of the ratepayers."

The Labor Council received the city council's first explanatory letter, it was intimated, but their attitude was simply that they were requesting that this matter be referred to the qualified voters in a referendum.

Opinion of city council has been that there is no general demand for the ward system, and that the requirements of the various wards, especially those in which the new housing areas have been opened, are continuing to receive virtually the bulk of the spending and supervision of the works department.

Car-Beer Truck Welcome Crash One Man Hurt

A 34-year-old Peterborough man, Ross Greenly of 193 Caddy St., is in St. Joseph's Hospital with a fractured ankle and other injuries sustained when his car collided with a heavy beer transport Tuesday night.

The head-on accident occurred on Highway 2, about three miles west of Welcome. Greenly's car was carried about 130 feet down the highway where it came to rest, a total wreck.

But even more damage was caused to the tractor section of the beer transport. It plowed into the north ditch and overturned, completely wrecking the tractor section valued at $3,500.

The driver walked away unhurt from the upset transport. There was little damage to the contents.

Two Doctors Aid

Two Peterborough doctors on their way to Toronto interrupted their trip to bring the injured man back to this city by car. They were Dr. R. K. McKee and Dr. R. E. Pow. Provincial Constables Frank Clough of Cobourg and R. Kowal of Bowmanville, who investigated, told the Examiner the doctors lent invaluable assistance in caring for Greenly.

He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital where the diagnosis of his injuries included a fractured ankle and several cuts on his face and forehead.

Children's Aid $36,474 Budget

The Children's Aid Society spent $36,725 during 1949 and estimates an expenditure during 1950 of $36,474. These figures were presented at a Board meeting Tuesday by J. McKercher, chairman of the finance committee.

The Society will ask the Community Chest for $7,625 for this year. Other revenue is expected to amount to $28,753, which includes a balance brought forward from 1949 of $863.81.

Cost to the Society of children's board during 1949 was $16,231, of which $5,231 was the cost of maintaining the Shelter.

Revenue was derived from the following sources: City and county, $17,403.86; other municipalities, $2,892.52; others, $2,247; interest, $749; Provincial grant, $1,500; Provincial mileage allowance, $105.93; fees and donations, $1,073.26; family allowance investigations, $65; sundry, $73.64, and Community Chest, $8,300.

Girl 16, Jailed For 15 Days Theft Of Purse

Sixteen-year-old Ina May Tripp of Warkworth, was sentenced to 15 days in county jail when convicted in police court today of stealing a purse containing $4 in cash, a pen and pencil set and a cigarette lighter.

Her companion, 17-year-old Barbara Charron, 1013 High St., who pleaded guilty to the same offence, was placed on two years' suspended sentence.

The Tripp girl was already on two years' suspended sentence after a conviction on a similar offence last October in Trenton.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw told the court the two girls were rummaging around the Empress Hotel January 13. In an employees' clothes closet they found a purse owned by Miss Rose Marshall. Each of the girls said the other took the purse.

The purse was found later empty in a waste basket in one of the wash rooms. The pen and pencil, lighter and about $2 of the $4 were recovered from the two girls by police.

"Don't you think you could work if you were very serious about it?" Magistrate W. R. Philp KC asked the girls.

"Yes, I think so," the Charron girl said.

Charge 4 Men Hunting Deer Game Preserve

Two Warsaw men, Richard Clark and Everett Lee, were arraigned in magistrate's court on six charges involving deer hunting under the Game and Fisheries Act before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC.

Clark appeared in court Tuesday afternoon and Lee today. They pleaded not guilty to all charges and were remanded on $500 bail each until Jan. 24 when two other men will appear in answer to similar charges.

The two were charged with having deer in their possession during the close season; carrying a rifle in the Peterborough Crown Game Preserve in Burleigh Township; and obstructing Game Warden Ray Simpson in discharging his duty.

The other two men, also facing Game and Fisheries Act charges and alleged to be part of the same group, were Wilbert Bauder, Kingston, and Stanley E. Lonsberry, Warsaw.

Ask Independent Authority Over Radio Work

By DAVE McINTOSH

SAINT JOHN, N. B., Jan. 18—(CP)— The Maritime Association of Broadcasters today endorsed the stand of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters in demanding an independent authority to govern all radio broadcasting in Canada.

The association told the Royal Commission on Arts, Letters and Sciences that while the CBS provides "a valuable program service, it should not exercise regulatory authority because:

"1. It is undemocratic and unsound that a programming body should exercise regulatory functions; and "2. It is unfair and unreasonable that a regulatory authority should be a body in direct competition with those it regulates."

The association, representing 17 private stations in the maritimes, including one in Newfoundland, dealt almost exclusively in its eight-page brief with the services those stations provide.

Must Be Closer

The brief said that to serve diversified interests requires stations in the maritimes to "live closer to their listeners than is perhaps the case anywhere else in North America and to establish a more intimate and vital link with them.

The brief said "we believe the percentage of non-network stations is higher in the maritimes than in any other region of our Dominion and certainly the percentage is very high in relation to total stations.

"It is noteworthy that with one exception the non- network stations are located in the smaller and more remote communities We take what we believe is a justifiable pride in the fact that private enterprise operators have risked their capital and their livehood to provide a valuable if not essential service to their communities without network and without form of assistance from public funds."

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

CITY IN RUINS was the bustling metropolis of San Francisco (population 350,000) following the great earthquake that struck on April 18, 1906, and the disastrous fire that followed. Because the city's water system was destroyed, firemen were helpless to halt the blaze that reduced four square miles of the city to ashes. Some 500 persons were killed in the disaster, and tens of thousands were left homeless. Property damage was estimated at $350,000,000. The Army and the American Red Cross did heroic relief work. This view of the stricken city, taken from the tower of the ferry building, looks directly up famed Market Street.

27th Anniversary Of Wally Reid's Shocking Death

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 18—(CP) —probably no more than a handful of people will recall the 27th anniversary of Wallace Reid's death today. But it was an event that shook Hollywood to its roots.

Wally Reid, a slim but rugged young man with a whimsical smile and a charming manner, was a brilliant star of the silent era. He died at his peak—in the midst of a dope scandal.

"I never wanted to be an actor," he once said. "The promoters liked the shape of my nose or something, and I was powerless to do what I wanted to do."

Fame Knocked

Fame snared the actor after he appeared in a fight scene in "Birth Of A Nation." He became a sensation and starred in picture after picture. Then fortune began to swing against him.

He suffered a severe gash in the head while making a picture in New York. But he continued making eight pictures a year and living even faster. Late in 1922 his studio announced that he was sick from "overwork and a bad case of kleig eyes."

Then the storm broke. It was revealed that dope was the real reason for the illness.

"More than two years ago all this trouble started," said his wife, the former actress Dorothy Davenport. "It was after his accident. Wally became a different man—not the smiling, happy boy I married. Whisky, whisky, whisky, morning, noon and night was the program for months—and then drugs.

The End

"He told me he felt like there were great big lumps at the bottom of his head. He begun using morphine to ease the pain."

The scandal rocked the country. Reid tried to start a picture, but had to be replaced by Jack Holt. A pitiful shadow of his former self, he slipped from 150 pounds to 120.

After six weeks of illness, he murmured "tell them, mama, I have won my fight—that I have come back." Then he fell into a lasting sleep on Jan. 16, 1923.

Hollywood's great and thousands of fans attended the funeral. A friend wrote the epitaph. "Wally has done more in his 31 years than a dozen actors would do in a lifetime."

RT. HON. WINSTON CHURCHILL, leader of Britain's Conservative party, complete with cigar, is snapped in a restaurant in Southampton, Eng., after his return from a holiday in Madeira. The famous wartime Prime Minister, fully bearing out news stories of his physical fitness, returned home after Prime Minister Clement Attlee announced that his Labor government would go to the contry on February 23.

Toronto CNR To Lose Familiar Horses

TORONTO (CP).—Only six of the Canadian National Railways' 118 express wagon horses are still on Toronto streets.

"And for them it's a day-to-day proposition," George Fitzsimmons said. The railway's mechanization plans spell the end of the horse-drawn express wagon fleet.

Fitzsimmons who is in charge of the CNR stables here, said it will be a sad day for the men who used to drive Bell, Old Joe or Ray on their leisurely routes about the city.

"Who ever saw a pretty girl stop to pat a truck?" asked Tommy Wheeler, a veteran stableman. "It's too bad they have to go."

Earl Madden, who has been driving horses off and on for 35 years made this point:

"The traffic cop is more likely to hand a horse a lump of sugar than a parking ticket."

Last Of Gang Appear In Court

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Jan. 18 —(CP)—The last eight of 20 youths charged with operating a petty theft ring in five Western Ontario counties appeared in court Tuesday. Three cases were dismissed, and one was remanded.

The 20 youths were accused of some 150 charges of breaking and theft in the district. The others were sentenced earlier.

Jerome J. Attaman was the only one to be sentenced Tuesday. He was given 60 days when found guilty on charges of breaking and entering, and theft.

Fined were: Joseph Caskey, 19, $50 on a charge of receiving stolen goods; John Caskey, 21, $104 on two charges of theft; Roland Hague, $25 on a charge of theft.

A charge of receiving against Robert Luddington was dismissed, as was a charge of theft against James Atwood. Five chages against Roy McCallum, 21, also were dismissed.

Robert Hague pleaded not guilty to six charges and was remanded in custody for judgment today.

Cellar Discovery Unites Regina's Past And Present

REGINA (CP).—Because A. C. Ellison, registrar of the court house, decided its basement needed tidying up, the city of Regina now has a complete record of its council minutes, dating back to incorporation in 1884.

Mr. Ellison provided the missing link in the city's records when he turned up a weather-beaten, hand-written volume containing council's minutes from 1884-1894 while carting rubbish from an unused vault in the basement of the court house.

No one knows how the volume got into the court house vault. But City Clerk W. W. Spicer was happy to remove it to a city hall vault.

The first sentence written into the book by town clerk John Secord was impressive ,to say the least. Here it is:

"Pursuant to the proclamation of His Honor Edgar Dewdney, Lieutenant-Governor of the North West Territories, dated the first day of December A.D. 1883, William Johnson of Regina, Esquire, in said proclamation named and appointed returning officer, did on the third day of January A.D. 1884 attend at Dr. Cotton's hall, Broad Street, Regina, between the hours of twelve o'clock noon and two p.m. for the purpose of receiving nominations for the office of Mayor and Councillors of the Town of Regina and owing to more than four candidates for the office of Councillors having been nominated, the said Returning Officer on the tenth day of January A.D. 1884, opened a poll at the said hall for taking the votes of the electors."

Even that early in Regina's history, the town fathers managed to get into an argument with Calgary. Calgary had asked the then North West Mounted Police be forbidden to operate within the municipality. Regina flew to the defence of the Mounties.

Said a resolution of the Regina council:

". . . We entirely disapprove of the action of the mayor and council of the town of Calgary, and further . . . we have every confidence in the ability of the NWMP and it is our desire that the force should continue to act in the discharge of police duties within our municipality."

So Calgary was told off.

Acquisition of the aged book adds another chapter to the file of city records available in the city clerk's office. That chapter is given added importance, however, because it is the first.

Ark Search Costly

LONDON — (CP) — Explorer Everton Sykes, organizing an expedition to look for Noah's Ark on Mount Ararat, has been approached by Joseph Bennett of Longord, Northern Ireland, who claims he would be able to "pinpoint" the lost Ark. Plans for the expedition are delayed because Turkish mountain guides are said to be asking "inflated" prices.

Driver Acquitted Careless Driving

Charged with careless driving Charles R. Walton, Kingston, a former Peterborough druggist was found not guilty by Magistrate W. R. Philp in police court Tuesday.

The charges arose from an accident on Highway 7 in Otonabee township Jan. 1. Provincial Constable Norman DeBow testified that Walton's car ran into the rear of a 1929 model car driven by Eward Tripp, 739 Monaghan Rd.

The constable said the rear light of Tripp's car was not working when he arrived at the scene. He said he found the rear light wire was broken about three feet from the rear light and it appeared to be an old break.

Tripp said his rear lights was working only a short time before the accident. He said he was hit just as a car coming in the opposite direction was passing him.

Cameron Perry, 124 Cameron St., said he had seen the tail light of Tripp's car lighted when Tripp left him only a short time before the accident.

Both Walton and his wife said Tripp's tail light was not lighted Walton said he first saw Tripp's car when his wife drew his attention to it. He applied his brakes immediately but could not avoid the collision.

Evidence was that it had been raining and visibility was poor.

Vet Says Motor Car Dog's Worst Enemy

EDMONTON (CP).—The motor-car is a dog's worst enemy, says Dr. H. N. Vance, Edmonton veterinary surgeon.

Dr. Vance, who sees an average of 30 to 35 dogs pass through his clinic each day, says automobile accidents and distemper bring the largest number in.

He find most animals are easy to treat. Dogs don't mind injections and they usually take medicine quietly.

And animals are subject to psychological as well as physical ailment. But they usually acquire these characteristics from their owners. Said the doctor.

"A nervous dog or cat gets that way because its owner is nervous. And whenever you see a vicious dog, you can be pretty sure its master has treated it viciously."

Look! it's smart to keep "right"... helps beat today's prices!

"Can't start to slip now . . . at today's prices it takes a full pay envelope to run my home . . . got to hustle . . . that means — stay 'RIGHT'."

Today, more than ever, safeguard your earnings. One good way: don't get run-down through "irregularity" often caused by lack of bulk food in the diet.

Mentally Ill Unwed Mothers Worry To Children's Aid

The need for some action to prevent mentally ill unmarried girls from becoming mothers and thereby becoming financial burdens to the community, was brought to the attention of the Board of the Children's Aid Society by the superintendent, Miss Racheal Young Tuesday.

TURNABOUT—Manual training and domestic science have a new twist in the public schools of Kitchener, Ont. As Bill Bullard prepares a salad, girls in the same school are learning about woodworking, plumbing and electricity.

Miss Young told the Board that whereas the Society helped a number of girls who had one child and were not "repeaters" there were at the moment, several in Peterborough city and County, who she thought were not mentally fit to be in the community and who had two or three children.

In many cases the children were not eligible for adoption and if this state of affairs was to continue the cost to the community of maintaining them would be considerable.

Why More Situation

It was better, if only from the financial standpoint, that public money be used to give the girls psychiatric treatment and remove them from the community, rather than to ignore the situation.

The question as to how far the responsibility lay with the Children's Aid Society when girls who were not susceptible to help offered by the CAS continually had children.

At Miss Young's suggestion the Board decided to set up a committee composed of Board members and others qualified for the task, to make an investigation and present a report to the Provincial Department of Health or any other authority which it was felt could deal with the matter.

Miss Young also referred to recent publicity given to a case, not in Peterborough, when a court hearing revealed that pressure had been brought to bear on a mother to consent to the adoption of her child, only three days after it was born. She was now seeking to regain the child.

It was emphasised by Miss Young that the Children's Aid Society did not put pressure on mothers to have their children adopted, and adoption that were effected through the Society, were made at request of the mothers The adoption to which she referred was not made through the recognised agency, she said.

Millions of Peasant Chinese Face Starvation In Red China This Year

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

HONG KONG, Jan. 18 (AP)—Millions of peasants face starvation in Red China this year.

Upwards of 40,000,000 persons, by Communist Government estimate, are in famine areas. Some 8,000,000 right now are desperately hungry. In East China alone 16,000,000 may starve to death.

Floods, crop pets and plagues are blamed for the great food shortage. The Communist state administrative council is mobilizing relief agencies.

The council's directive says a fifth of the cultivated land in East China alone was flooded. That wiped out crops on 8,000,000 acres.

The Manchurian barter agreement with Russia is draining off much food from North China in exchange for Russian manufactured goods. Manchuria has been unable to meet its quota. So farming areas below the Great Wall are making up the the Manchurian deficit.

An already suffering peasantry is being bled white. Peasant living standards are near or below mere subsistence levels.

Budget Deficit

The Communist budget for 1950 calls for the government to receive 41.4 per cent of its revenue from food levies The tax scale asks peasants surrender an average of 20 per cent of their harvest.

Even with this stiff rate a budget deficit of 18.7 per cent is anticipated by the Reds. All of this explains the Communists' troubles with the peasants.

The Chinese Communist Government will support 9,000,000 civil servants and soldiers this year. The Reds say it takes 30 Chinese farmers to support one soldier and his family.

The Chinese food crisis in 1950 will be increased by the Red embargo on all food imports into China. The embargo recently was announced in Peiping by Vice-Minister of Food Jung Tse-ho.

The embargo is to conserve the Reds' meagre foreign exchange for more important industrialization objectives

Will Take Years

Agricultural experts say China's food deficit will not be eliminated for years to come. Basic improvements in South China farming techniques are needed urgently.

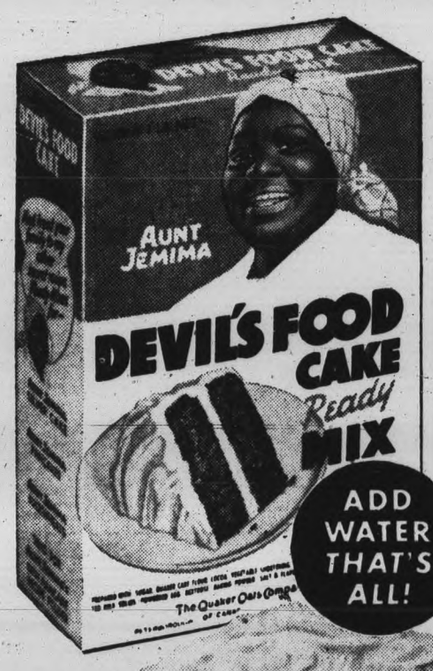
Coastal Kwangtung Province alone is unable to feed its 38,000,000 inhabitants. The U.S. Economic Co-operation Administration supplied the difference to the vast area. Kwangtung produces only 60 to 70 per cent of its food requirements.

The only bright spot in the Chinese [illegible] crisis today are these:

Railroads are running now that the war is about over.

Farmers whose fields have been turned into battlegrounds may now put the plow to them once again.

Butter Stocks Up



OTTAWA, Jan. 18 (CP)—Stocks of creamery butter in nine Canadian cities Jan. 13 totalled 37,604,000 pounds, compared with 19,931,000 pounds for the corresponding week last year. Stocks were larger in all cities but Quebec and Vancouver.

Liberals Fight Election Independently

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Jan. 18 (CP) — Britain's Liberal party, faced with possible political extinction, will fight the Feb. 23 general election independently, without any strings attached.

Still sternly resisting all overtures from other parties, the Liberals for the first time since 1929 will have enough candidates—at least 400, compared to 305 in 1945—to offer the country an alternative government.

"Liberals will survive or go down fighting," a party source said. "But whichever it is to be, we will do it independently."

Frank Byers, 34-year-old chief whip who was one of Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery's top staff officers during the war, said the Liberals have only one object: to put as many members in Westminster as possible.

"Thus, the Liberal appeal may take two forms, depending on the political nature of the seat being contested," he said. "It is an appeal either not to split the anti-Socialist vote or not to split the Progressive vote."

Easy To Understand

The Liberals' almost-defensive emphasis on their complete independence is not difficult to understand. The Conservatives, realizing that a strong muster of Liberal candidates is more likely to deflect votes from Tories than from Labor, have been trying to achieve some sort of working arrangement.

Their agreement is that there is no major difference today between political views of Tories and Liberals and that anyway the important thing is to keep the Socialists out.

Possibly in a bid for Liberal co-operation, the Conservatives have withdrawn their candidate in Huddersfield West to permit a straight fight between Liberal and Labor candidates.

Edward Martell, deputy chairman of the Liberal party, denies that this constitutes a "pact" and adds that seven or eight other Conservative candidates may withdraw in favor of Liberals.

Reciprocal Agreement

On the other hand, the Conservative central office said that the Huddersfield "formula" is a reciprocal agreement under which a Tory will fight a Socialist in Huddersfield East while a Liberal contests the seat against Labor in Huddersfield West.

The Liberals remain the biggest single improbable in election calculations. With only 10 members in the last house, they must increase their parliamentary representation or lose their claim to the title of being third among Britain's major parties.

Various public opinion polls give the Liberals a popular vote ranging from 10 to 15 per cent. But the number of candidates the party is cunning may persuade the voters it is no longer true that a Liberal ballot would be wasted.

Boy 15 On Trial On Manslaughter

NEATH, Glamorgan, Wales, Jan. 18 — (Reuters). — A 15-year-old boy who allegedly broke into a house to steal money and then set it on fire, causing the deaths of three women, was committed Tuesday for trial on manslaughter charges.

Facing the boy in court, as he sat in the dock reading the New Testament, was the only survivor of the fire, grey-haired Miss Alice Dyer, a member of the same family as the victims.

The prosecutor said the boy, whose name in accordance with British legal practice was withheld, had admitted lighting a pile of matches on top of a chest of drawers in the house.

According to the boy's alleged statement, "there was a big flash and I let go of the box of matches. It fell into the chest of drawers and clothes and papers began to burn."

The boy, who will stand trial at Cardiff in March, pleaded innocent.

Tourists Say Canada Needs Good Coffee

TORONTO, Jan. 18 — (CP) — What this country needs is a good cup of coffee, the Tourist Resorts Association of Ontario was told Tuesday.

Tom C. McCall, Ontario's Deputy Minister of Travel, told the convention that from comment cards issued by his department last year to most of the 1,200,000 tourists who visited Ontario, it was learned that they think the coffee here is terrible. The tourists also thought that highways need improving and that prices are too high.

72,000 Homes Completed In 10 Months

OTTAWA, Jan. 18 — (CP). — More than 72,000 dwellings were completed in Canada during the first 10 months of 1949, an increase of 13,600 over the same period of 1948.

The Bureau of Statistics reported the 23.4 per cent increase Tuesday, adding figures for the month of October to the housing review issued Monday by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

While more dwellings were finished during the period, the number on which construction was started was down. Starts were 78,000, as compared with 78,600 in the first 10 months of 1948, a decline of 2.2 per cent.

At the end of October there were 61,000 units under construction, 3 per cent less than the 62,900 at the same point the year before.

Provincial Breakdown

A provincial breakdown shows that more dwelling units were completed in every province but New Brunswick and British Columbia during the 10-month period. Ontario topped the country with 25,630 completed, as compared with 20,811 a year earlier.

A little more than one-quarter of the units were built for rental purposes. The percentage was estimated at 27.5 per cent, higher than the 26 per cent in the same period of 1948.

In October, 9,059 units were completed, well above the September total of 7,563, and also higher than the 8,164 of October, 1948.

In October, 8,964 units were started, a decline from the September figure of 10,035, but higher than the previous October when 7,437 were started.

Among the units completed in October, the average period of construction was 6.1 months, the same as the previous year. The bureau reported that there still are a few houses started in 1947 which have not been completed.

Finns Politely Reject Russ Demand For 300

HELSINKI, Jan. 18— (AP). — Finland's moderate Social Democrat government Tuesday completed work on a reply to a Moscow demand for extradition of 300 "Soviet war criminals" and diplomatic sources interpreted it as a polite rejection.

The reply will be handed to the Russian government later this week.

The government's reply to the Russian demand detailed results of an inquiry by the interior ministry into the Moscow charges. This inquiry, the note said, indicates many of the 300 named have never been mentioned as war criminals and that others cannot be found. A number, however, have been arrested.

Diplomatic sources said Finland would scrupulously fulfill her peace treaty, but will not break her own constitution. This grants asylum to political refugees, and many of the listed "war criminals" fled here from Russia before the war.

Talented Tenor At Trinity On Anniversary

One of Canada's outstanding younger tenors, Albert Marson, will be guest soloist on Sunday when Trinity United church celebrates its anniversary. Mr. Marson, who is well known to Peterborough both from personal appearances in the city and from his radio work, was tenor soloist with the Mendelssohn Choir in Christmas week when Handel's Messiah was presented, under the direction of Sir Ernest MacMillan. The C.B.C. broadcast of this notable performance on the Wednesday after Christmas was heard in Peterborough.

Mr. Marson has been soloist with the Mendelssohn Choir in Mendelssohn's Elijah and Bach's St. Matthew Passion, and has made many concert appearances, including solo work with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra at a "Pop" concert.

Mr. Marston is a senior student at the Royal Conservatory, Toronto. A versatile musician, he has played violin and trombone professionally, but has given these up in favor of singing.

Guest Preacher

Reverend Dr. Bruce Gordon, minister of Trinity, announces that the guest preacher will be the Rev. William J. Jonnston, D.D. Dr. Johnston, no stranger to Peterborough, is minister of Eglinton United church, Toronto, and widely known as a strong preacher. His theme at next Sunday morning's service is "The Soul of Religion." In the evening Dr. Johnston will preach on "Spiritual Millionaires."

Special music, in addition to the singing of Albert Marson, has been prepared by the choir under the direction of Donald Kennedy, B.A., Mus. Bac., who will be at the console of the organ.

Dr. Bruce Gordon will conduct both anniverary services.

Farm Forum School Ends First Session In County

Farm Forum Folk School Zone 5, wound up its ten-day stand to-day at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stewart, five miles south of Peterborough on the Wallace Point Road. It is the first of its kind to be held in this district but the idea for the movement, adult instruction and education, started originally in Denmark, 100 years ago in buildings of a permanent nature. The same idea, in permanent form has been going on for several years in the United States, chiefly in North Carolina.

The Canadian movement is unmatched in that instruction is taken to groups, according to school leader Ray Hergott of the Ontario Folk School Council who conducted the ten-day course at the Stewart Farm.

Included in Zone 5 are the following counties: Ontario, Durham, Northumberland, Peterborough, Victoria, Hastings, Prince Edward Lennox-Adding and the district of Haliburton. Delegates representing six of the above counties were chosen by their Farm Forum Committees to attend the Peterborough Folk School.

Distribute Instruction

They will be expected to take home the instruction they have received and pass it on to other members in their communities. Each member pays $12 for board and tuition for ten days in addition to the cost of craft materials used. Day students are taxed $1 per day and transients, 50 cents a meal. It is desirous of the committee to have only those delegates who are 18 years of age or over. All the students from neighbouring counties stayed at the Stewart Farm.

Delegates, workings days and nights are instructed in three classes of work: study (which is the chief one), craft work and recreation. In four hours of study periods for ten days, the following subjects are studied and discussed: the Church, School, Home Government, Culture, Soils and Health.

Craft Work

During the two-hour craft period each day, delegates are taught leatherwork, weaving, stencilling, felt, shell and clay crafts, over the period of the school session. Another two hours throughtout each day is devoted to recreation, chiefly group games and singing.

The Council depends to a great extent on being able to draw on district speakers who are asked to talk only half time and allow the remainder of the schedule for group discussion. The following Peterborough speakers devoted their time to the Folk School group; the Rev. B. S. Morwood, the Rev. C. McCarney, W. Gemmell, Dr. Eldon P. Ray, K. O Birkin, William Graff, Donald Kennedy, Miss Rachael Young, Dr. R. A. Kelley, Dr. W Worton, Alex Kay, Miss. M. Collins of the PCVS staff and Miss A Anderson of Stewart Hall School.

H. F. Charlton Urges Ottawa Bolster Prices

BRANTFORD, Jan. 18 — (CP) —Urging that the government take immediate action to curb the downward trend of farm prices, H. F. Charlton, president of the Brant County Federation of Agriculture, told a board of directors meeting Tuesday night that general prosperity continued only as long as the buying power of the farmer was maintained.

"The Canadian farmer is able to buy only as long as he has a resonable amount of prosperity," he said. "If the farmer's buying power is gone, then that is the end of the line."

Reporting on the recent convention of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, Mr. Charlton stated that the government in 1944 voted $200,000,000 to support Canadian farmers in event prices dropped.

"To my knowledge only $10,000,000 will be used in the present emergency. I feel certain it would balance our economy and stave off a great deal of unemployment in Canada and possibly even a disaster."

BRANTFORD, Jan. 18 — (CP) —Some 2,400,000 income tax refund cheques are to be issued shortly to Canada wage-earners as a result of the retroactive feature of last year's income tax reductions, L. O. Breithaupt, Liberal member of parliament for Waterloo North, said here Tuesday night.

Addressing Brantford Liberals at their annual meeting, Mr. Breithaupt said the government was giving priority to this task and had adopted a speed-up procedure to get the cheques out to the tax-payers as soon as possible.

He said 750,000 Canadians were now relieved of any income tax payments as a result of last year's rate reductions and increased exemptions.

Woman Trapper For 22 Years Attends Meeting

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Jan. 18 (CP)—A diminutive red-head known to almost everyone who has ever tramped a northern Saskatchewan trap-line as "Curly" is the only woman attending the first provincial convention of trappers in Saskatchewan.

Shown on the register as Mrs. Conrad Hanson of Candle Lake, Sask., 40 miles north of Prince Albert, she has been tending traplines in the district since her arrival in the province on a harvest excursion from Nova Scotia in 1928.

While wandering about in Prince Albert, she explains, she saw a man buying a set of traps and asked where he had his traplines.

"When he replied Candle Lake, I bought myself some traps and moved north."

During most of the last 22 years, Mrs. Hanson herself tended a 20-mile trapline. She still looks the part in her fur-trimmed parka.

Under the present fur conservation system, however, her husband now does most of the trapping for the family. Fishing and guiding hunters all comes in under her system as part of a woodland life.

Housekeeping? "Curly" says she gets her husband to do most of it.

Men Hit Deck When Women Learn to Become Police

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NORTHLEIGH, Oxfordshire, England—(CP)—It takes 13 weeks to make a woman so tough that she can toss a 180-pound man over her shoulder.

That is what is happening to seven women at palatial, oak-panelled Eynsham Hall, where they are learning to become British policewomen.

With 100 male trainees the girls are out every morning before 8:30, running and drilling in 40 acres of woodland surrounding the house.

"They train the same way as a policeman does, except for one or two particularly rough-and tumble exercises," said broad-chested Sgt. Susan Blackwell, their instructor.

"The girls are taking it well They rarely cry off sick — as some of the men do—and they never admit felling tired."

Girls and men practise three hours daily in the gymnasium where the muscular Blackwell demonstrates armlocks, judo and wartime personal defence technique.

The men act as "guinea pigs" for the girls. For instance: an embryo policeman puts his strong arm round the fragile neck of a pretty redhead and—bingo—if she has learned her judo properly, he will be lying flat on the floor in two seconds.

Brains and Brawn

"I never thought this was possible until I tried it," said buxom 26-year-old Hazel Deane. "It only goes to show that we women just don't know our own strength."

But it takes brain, tact and diplomacy as well as physical skill to make a policewoman—and for every two hours of exercise there are four of classwork.

First aid is considered important as policewomen are expected to be able to attend to street casualties — particularly children and old ladies—before an ambulance arrives.

Two of the women have completed their first month's training and now wear the brass buttons and numerals that distinguish them as members of the City of London police force.

They are Margaret Boulton, 28, and Kathleen Stamp, 25, who will be the first two women to patrol the city's square mile when their 13 week's training is completed.

"Police work is not every woman's choice of a job," one trainee said, "but it does give you the feeling of doing something useful—and seeing life besides."

McKENNEY Answers Your CANASTA Questions

As I have previously announced the suggestion made by John R. Crawford of Philadelphia and myself that a national Canasta laws commission be formed, has become a reality. We now have a commission consisting of nine members, with Oswald Jacoby as chairman. The laws are not any different than they were. The commission has simply adopted as the standardized laws of Canasta those that are being used by the outstanding writers on the game.

The Regency Club of New York where Canasta was introduced and developed in this country, soon will publish a book on Canasta which will contain the official laws of the national Canasta laws commission.

At our last conference Mr Crawford and I discussed an angle which should help your game a great deal. The opponents freeze the deck and they have control of the pack. They are almost certain to get the deck back.

Do not start immediately to make discards that you feel sure are safe, such as cards matching the opponents' melds, but which it is unlikely they can pick up because the deck is frozen.

If you think you will have to give them the pack ,give it to them early. Remember that it was their deuce that froze the pack, and if they get it back, they may freeze the deck again.

Here is a situation showing the danger of discarding what you consider safe cards in these circumstances. In a two-handed game one player held 4 sixes and 4 black treys. The opponent had a handful of cards and froze the deck. The first player proceeded to discard his 4 black treys, then threw his 4 sixes.

The opponent had already melded 3 sixes, so the 4 sixes were safe discards as long as the pack was frozen. But, on the ninth round, the first player had to throw a card that enabled the opponent to pick up the pack Now the opponent had a natural canasta of sixes and his 4 black treys

If the first player had thrown some of his dangerous cards early, such as singletons or unguarded cards, the opponent probably would have picked up the pack. Or, knowing that he had control of it, he might decide not to take the pack for a few rounds. Now, when it has built up to a fair size and you start to throw the 4 black treys and 4 sixes, the whole situation may change. The opponent may have to throw you a card that will let you pick up the pack, or he may have to break up his hand.

Now for my regular questions and answers.

Q—There is a black trey on top of the pack and I have 2 black treys in my hand. May I pick up the black trey with the 2 in my hand, provided that I can now go out?

A—No. You may never pick up a black trey, even though you have 2 or 3 natural black treys in your hand This applies even if you can meld out your entire hand, including the other cards in the discard pile. Remember, a black trey is always a stop card and may never be picked up.

Q—My opponent melded a red trey and later on in the hand went down concealed. Was his side entitled to the concealed hand bonus?

A—Yes. Your opponent did not meld a red trey. A red trey is a bonus card, not a meld. When you get one in your hand, you have to put it on the table and draw another card for it. If later on you meld your entire hand, you are entitled to the concealed hand bonus.

Mr. McKenney is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Divorce Rate Outranks Death Of Spouse as Home-breaker

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK—(AP) The third year of marriage is the most danger-laden for divorce—one of the chief causes of broken homes.

Death is the other cause, and it isn't until after 29 years of marriage that death of one partner becomes as potent a factor in breaking up marriages as divorce is in that third year.

The figures are from the statistical bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

Divorce breaks up far more marriages now than in 1890, the bulletin points out. But the actual number of broken homes each year is somewhat lower than 60 years ago. The reason is the longer life span, with death breaking up fewer marriages as early as it once did.

In the early 1890s, the United States divorce rate was about three couples out of every 1,000. In 1948, it stood at 12. The rate of broken homes due to death was 30 per 1,000 in the 1890s and now has dropped to about 19 per 1,000.

The combined rate of broken homes due to both causes declined a bit from 1890 to 1915. It jumped sharply in 1918, when the great influenza epidemic killed thousands of husbands and wives. The combined rate then was 40 per 1,000 marriages.

The broken homes rate reached a low in the depression year of 1932.

Wartime Jump

Divorces jumped during the Second World War, sending the rate up again. Since then, the divorce rate has fallen, but still stands higher than before the war.

In 1890, says the bulletin, divorces accounted for less then 10 per cent of broken homes. In 1946, it accounted for nearly as many broken homes as did death of one partner, and in 1948 divorce was responsible for 38 per cent of all dissolutions of marriages.

Nowadays, in the third year of marriage, divorce accounts for 3½ times as many broken homes as does death. It isn't until the 15th year of marriage that death becomes a bigger cause of broken homes than divorce. Only after 29 years of marriage does death break up as many marriages — about 31 per 1,000—as divorces washed up in the third year of marriage.

"It is difficult to forecast the future course of the divorce rate," says the bulletin. "There is certainly no assurance that within a few years the curve will not resume its upward climb. At the same time, it is expected that mortality conditions will be further improved.

"The prospects are, therefore that in the years to come divorce will contribute an increasing proportion of family dissolutions."

What's Right

A woman drops something and a man starts to retrieve it for her.

WRONG WAY: She says: "I can get it" and beats him to it.

RIGHT WAY: She waits for him to hand it to her and thanks him graciously.

Refugees Help Fellow Guides

WINNIPEG, —(CP)— The Girl Guides of Canada are joining hands with Guides from Latvia and Lithuania through two women from the Baltic countries who now live in Winnipeg.

Mrs. Rudolph Ekstein fled Riga Latvia, when the Russian Communists moved in. In 1946 she began Guide work in Germany and found the Brownies, Guides and Rangers in Lubeck concentration camp.

Mrs. V. Smaizis started Guide work in Lithuania in 1931 and after the war spent two years in a camp for displaced persons.

Mrs. Ekstein, who has been in Canada less than a year but speaks almost faultless English is an international liaison officer for the movement. She is in charge of work with Latvian Guides now living in the Dominion. Many of them she met previously in German refugee camps.

Mrs. Ekstein said she believes European immigrants should not try to form separate Girl Guide companies in Canada but rather should mingle with Canadians. That would help them learn Canadian customs and the English language much faster.

At a reception at Girl Guide House recently she was presented with a Canadian Girl Guide badge.

"It made me feel so happy," she said. "to be in a country where there is a wonderful Guide organization, and to feel I am a part of it."

Say Sex Comics Replacing Crime

TORONTO, Jan. 18 — (CP).— Sex comics are replacing the banned crime comics, Mrs. W. J. Cryderman Tuesday told the Local Conucil of Women at its annual meeting.

'We were greatly pleased with the Bill making crime comics an offence," she said, "but now we have with us mush comics. The crime comics were off the market about a week when we were faced with this brand new type of comic which is taking the young people by storm."

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Women Have Mania to Boss Wisest Mother Frees Child

DEAR MISS DIX: The "other woman" in the eternal triangle with us is my mother. She is a splendid woman and has sacrificed to send me through college and I am grateful to her, but she ruins everything by trying to manage me, my husband, my home and my baby. She tells us how to keep house, how we should rear the baby, how to do everything and anything. Then there is a family quarrel, and she accuses me of not appreciating her because I am not as docile as I was when I was a child. She doesn't live with us, has plenty of friends, social contacts, engagements, etc. Is there anything we can do about it?

Dorothy Dix

PEACE-LOVING

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It seems to me that a person as intelligent as your mother must be would be open to argument, and that if you would tell her plainly just how unhappy she is making you with her interference in your affairs, and especially if you would point out to her that your husband resents it, she would see the error of her ways and refrain from giving any more unsolicited advice.

Write a Letter

My suggestion would be that you write this to her in a letter because in that way you can put the matter calmly and dispassionately before her without having the issue sidetracked. It is very hard to thrash out any subject in a family debate because before the question has been fairly stated one or the other begins fetching in other ancient grievances or bursts into tears, and that ends it, and you are no nearer a solution than you were before.

Probably no other one thing in the world causes more discord and breaks up more homes than the mania women have for bossing other people. It takes a woman of almost superhuman self-control and broad-mindedness and far-sightedness to see anybody doing anything without wanting to tell them just how to do it. And when it comes to a mother refraining from putting her finger in her children's pies it takes more than a superwoman.

Mothers don't realize what a strain they put upon their children's affection by not freeing them from their petty tyrannies. Mothers are always bewailing the fact that their children are so eager to leave them. The reason is that mother has made home a prison to them and constituted herself their jailer.

The wisest thing a mother ever does is to cut her apron string and let her children go free. When she no longer tries to force them to do her way they come of their own accord seeking her wisdom.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: What can you do with a man who is so shy and sensitive that unless he is sure you like him you can't get any rise out of him, and, on the other hand, so loves his freedom that he takes fright if you show any enthusiasm for him? Being impersonally friendly is the way to get along pleasantly with him but that doesn't lead to anything. Looks to me as if this desire to eat his cake and have it, too, was going to be as successful in keeping him single as it has many another bachelor. Is there any way to beat this combination? I should certainly apreciate it, for I am—

ONE WHO WOULD LIKE TO

ANSWER: I don't think there is any way to beat the combination of selfishness to waste her time in trying to do it. One is that it can't be done, and the second is that it isn't worth doing, because that kind of man is incapable of really loving a woman. His one grand passion is for himself and he sacrifices everybody and everything to it.

Observe how it works out in your case. The reason he is shy and sensitive is because all of his thoughts are morbidly centered on himself. He isn't happy unless somebody is burning incense before him in the way of trying to draw him out and flatter and please him. He makes you do all of the kowowing and love-making and then when he is afraid you might really inveigle him into matrimony he runs away.

Why you want to marry a selfish, self-centered man, goodness only knows, but if you do remember that the only way that you can appeal to him is through his selfishness. Make yourself necessary to his comfort and happiness and entertainment, and then leave him flat. If he misses you enough, he will buy your companionship, even at the price of a wedding ring.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Should a brother interfere with a sister's marriage plans, when he thinks the match is unsuitable? He worries a lot about it, but she resents any advice when he tries to warn her.

CHARLES

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: No brother can change a young girl's mind once it is made up. She will go her own way in spite of everything he can say or do.

Bigger the Checks, the Sportier the Coat

By EPSIE KINARD

NEW YORK—(NEA)—A check-up on checks shows that anything will go this spring from an almost imperceptible cross-bar to squares as big as on a checker board.

The bigger the checks the sportier the style in new casual coats. Newcomer among these is the "toga," a loose, unsleeved wrap that's a fashion idea taken over from the ancient Romans by Bonnie Cashin.

In bold navy-and-white checked woollen, the 1950 toga is a triple threat. It can be worn as a coat; used as a stole, it can be manipulated to make a weskit; when removed and spread out, it serves very nicely as a lap robe for the auto, stadium or deck of a ship.

Monte Sano's blue-and-white checked jacket is better known as the "little overcoat," which is going places this spring. Made of lanol fleece which packs a lot of warmth in a little weight, this double-breasted, figure-fitting jacket can go anywhere that a coat can and be less of a burden to its wearer.

CHECKER-BOARD PRINTS will get a big play this spring. Navy-and-white checked lanol fleece makes the short, double breasted jacket (left) that's called the "little overcoat." The navy-and-white checked triple threat (right) is a toga that serves as coat, stole or lap robe.

Two-month Course For VON Prospects

OTTAWA, Jan. 18 — (CP).— A two-month training period for prospective Victorian Order nurses was announced Tuesday at a board of management meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses. The training, to be given a limited number of nurses, is provided for applicants lacking public health nursing. In addition, the Order will continue awarding scholarships for university training.

The meeting was told that the first class already is under way in the Toronto VON Branch, where Charlotte Myles of Fredericton, Alice Pope of Toronto, Beth King of Chesley, and Elizabeth Baker of Kingston, are taking the two-month course.

Cottesloe News

Miss Mary Tedford and Miss Beatty of Toronto spent the week-end at the Tedford home.

Misses Betty Barr and Pat Weston of Peterborough Civic Hospital were week-end guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Barr.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Morris and daughter Sharon and Mrs. Gallaher of Peterborough, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Barr Sunday.

Miss Lenore Patterson of Peterborough is ill at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Patterson.

"Four silver horseshoes—two silver thimbles—one silver boot and three threepenny-bits."

Socks Wear Longer Women Happier

LONDON (CP)—British fashion note for men: Socks reinforced with nylon will be more plentiful in 1950.

Manufacturers say socks knitted with 10 per cent nylon in the wool wear longer, do not shrink so much — and need less darning.

The last point is a big one for the little woman. Statisticians say she spends more than three hours a week darning hubby's socks.

DISPUTED AUTHORSHIP

INVERCARGILL, N. Z.—(CP)—A claim that "Mademoiselle from Armentieres" was written by E. C. H. Rowland, who recently died in Sutton, England, is challenged in New Zealand. Cecil Winter, an Australian who has lived for many years in New Zealand, claims that he wrote the verses which are generally sung.

Farmers Urged

Mr. Milburn declared that the subsidizing of food products was actually a subsidy not of production but of consumer's food. When the farmer now sorely needed a subsidy on food production it was being largely denied to him, and home consumers were restless under what they thought were high prices.

"High compared with what other period? The 1940's, the 1930's or '20's?" No basis of comparison was cited, Mr. Milburn said.

No Small Burden

If as estimated the slump in exports to Britain amounted to $150,000,000, that was about $50 for every family in Canada, and about $217 for every farm family. If the farmer was a livestock producer, it meant that he would be hit at the rate of $434 per family. "That is quite a little burden to ask any family to carry."

"As consumers, do we realize that compared with the period from 1925-29 we can buy 15 to 20% more pork and bacon with the salaries of today than with the salaries of that 1925-29 period.

It is true that for a time last year the price of eggs was high, but he could get on the basis of his income 68% more eggs than in the 1925-29 period. So food has not been relatively dear."

Mr. Milburn said the loss of $150,000,000 in the British market was approximately the amount paid by farmers for their farm equipment. At the Palmerston meeting recently, farmers of Huron, Bruce and Grey talked of suspending purchases of farm equipment. That sentiment arose out of the feeling that the loss of market should not fall entirely upon the farmer, but should be shared by others.

Mr. Milburn briefly mentioned the incident at the Ontario Federation convention last week in which Claude W. Lockhard, described as chairman of the agricultural committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, flicked the farmers on an economic sore spot.

"He attempted to tell the agricultural people we had no right to assert ourselves by not purchasing equipment. They should not be too greatly concerned about a $40,000,000 decline in farm income, but should go out and work hard. I saw hog producers in that meeting who were deeply concerned, and I was afraid some one would forget about dignity and tell him to shut up and sit down."

The affair was let pass, and Mr. Milburn said "farmers showed therein that they had reached collective maturity.

As to financing organized farm effort, he said farmers had a lot to learn from organized labor and industry.

"Just as an example, do you know that the pianist at the King Edward the other night would not have been permitted by the musicians union to be there, and even by the waiters' union unless he had paid his $50 a year membership into the musicians' union?"

Farm organizations in the United States collected all the way from $5 to $25 a year from each farm family.

Briefly referring to the expansion of effort into the insurance field, and also to the need of organization income sufficient "to do the job well for our own people", Mr. Milburn mildly said: "Some day you will be willing to contribute generously".

W. W. Dawson was chairman of the dinner. The members of the county council were guests. Mr. Milburn was introduced by Henry Sharpe, and the concluding vote of thanks was moved by John Edmison.

Northern Cities Face Hydro Ban

NORTH BAY, Jan. 18 (CP) — With their power quota now set at 20 per cent below the amount used in October, communities in the Ontario Hydro Commission's northwestern region are buckling down to meet new restrictions which went into effect this week.

A 10 per cent reduction introduced Nov. 21 was found insufficient. Increasingly unfavorable water conditions in the region necessitated a further cut of 10 per cent effective Jan. 16. In addition, voluntary power saving is being urged.

To help municipalities to keep within their quota, it was decided to impose power restrictions affecting outdoor advertising lighting, store window and interior store lighting and use of space heaters.

Sudbury, 85 miles west of here faces the prospect of power blackouts from 2:30 a.m. to 6:00 a.m. Unless it keeps within its allotment. A warning to city council from Hydro officials said that on Monday, the day the latest cut went into effect, Sudbury used more electricity than on any other Monday since Dec. 19.

Two Street Car Men Save Driver's Life

TORONTO, Jan. 18 — (CP)— Two quick-thinking street car motormen possibly saved the life of Leonard Greenstone here on Tuesday night when his automobile caught fire and turned over. Greenstone said he saw flames coming from the hood of his car. He jamemd on the brakes, skidded into a hydro pole and turned over. The two motormen, L. A. Hall and W. Smith, leapt from their street cars and put out the flames with hand extinguishers.

A passing truck driver, Joe Amodeo, helped them lift Greenstone, who was badly cut about the hands and face, from the burning car.

Boston Stickup One Of Biggest In U.S. History

By The Associated Press.

Boston's $1,500,000 stickup last night will take its place in a long series of gigantic robberies in American criminal history.

If not the biggest in over-all value, it is one of the biggest cash lootings on record. Seven gunmen took $1,000,000 in cash and $500,000 in cheques from Brink's, Incorporated, a money transportation concern.

Most of the other big jobs have been padded with securities — sometimes non-negotiable and sometimes only to be cashed at great risk.

The wild gang days of the 1920's and 1930's produced most of the big ones.

It was in September, 1930, that seven men with machine-guns swooped down on the Lincoln National Bank at Lincoln, Neb., and escaped with $2,268,700 in loot. But less than $25,000 of that was in cash.

Another Job

The midwestern United States had produced another $2,000,000 job six years earlier. In 1924, two automobile loads of gunmen with inside information stuck up an eight-car Milwaukee Railroad special train carrying federal reserve cash and securities. The scene was Rondout, Ill.

But in the end the law caught the whole gang, convicted every member and recovered most of the loot.

An armored car firm also was the victim of 13 New York gunmen in 1934 when the take was $427,000 in payroll cash for the Rubel Ice Company plant in Brooklyn.

This time the bandits took over the armored car itself with military precision and escaped without much opposition. The cash vanished, but two of the 13 men went to prison. By the time the case was closed the rest were either dead or in prison elsewhere.

Four-Room Flats Come Dirt Cheap

YARMOUTH, N.S. — (CP) — Looking for a four-room apartment for $5 a week? You'll find the poor man's housing dream come true at this small town on Nova Scotia's western tip.

But if you're making over $200 a month, stay where you are. This is the little man's chance to live in style for next to nothing.

The low-cost housing is the brainchild of J. D. Cohen, known to all who do business at his clothing store on Main Street as "Jake." On the side Cohen does a bit of building. So last fall he decided he could build and rent housing units for $5 a week.

He's doing it. Already one of six four-apartment buildings has been completed, and four families are now enjoying their new, low-cost living quarters. Early in January Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation officials inspected Cohen's second unit. The corporation has a big interest in the project, having advanced 90 per cent of the cost in the form of a mortgage under the National Housing Act.

Three Per Cent Net

Cohen can't get rich on his housing venture. The housing corporation has it in black and white that Jake and his associates can't make over three per cent net.

When the project got under way, Cohen found a limited dividend company, his brothers taking on the non-paying posts of vice-president and secretary treasurer. The mortgage, besides calling for practically no profit, also gives Cohen and his associates 50 years to worry about paying off the debt. To cut down on operating expenses, the president collects the rents, empties the garbage, is general factotum around the settlement.

Where does Jake Cohen fit in, or come out, on such a deal. He admits he's not going to get rich, but he says he'll gain something money can't buy—goodwill. He and his brothers have spent most of their lives in Yarmouth. They plan to die there. As a matter of fact, the goodwill accumulation has paid off so well already that Cohen, after completing the first six units, plans to keep right on building.

Jake figures it will take 150 low-cost housing units to wipe out Yarmouth's housing shortage. That's his goal.

Many Military Officials At Lady Pope Funeral

OTTAWA, Jan. 18 — (CP).— Prominent military figures and representatives of some of the Capital's oldest families attended the funeral today of Lady Pope, whose husband was Canada's first Under-Secretary of Stae for External Affairs.

Lady Pope, widow of Sir Joseph Pope and daughter of the late Sir Henri Taschereau, died in Guelph on Monday after a long illness. She was 84.

The funeral service was at the Sacred Heart Church and interment was at Notre Dame Cemetery.

Diefenbaker Demands Plans To Solve Trade Problems

SASKATOON, Jan. 17 (CP) — John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative member of the Commons for the Saskatchewan constituency of Lake Centre, said Tuesday night that an aroused public opinion should force the government to formulate plans for solving Canada's trade problems.

In a speech prepared for delivery on free time provided by the CBC for political broadcasting, Mr. Diefenbaker said there were five things which his party felt should be be done:

1. A British Commonwealth and Empire conference should be called after the United Kingdom general election Feb. 23.
2. Unjustified embargoes against exports to the United States should be removed.
3. Long-time credits should be extended to valuable trade customers of the past.
4. Government-controlled marketing should end and there should be an extension of producers' boards.
5. Floor prices should be established to prevent prices from dropping to bottom levels.

See Danger Signals

Mr. Diefenbaker said that for the last 18 months danger signals in the trade field have been apparent to everyone except the federal cabinet.

In the first 10 months of 1949 exports dropped $60,000,000 and Canada's favorable trade balance fell by $200,000,000. With the drop in trade, unemployment was increasing.

"Present day events bear a striking resemblance to the period from 1928 to 1930," said Mr. Diefenbaker, "Then, as now, farmers' markets were being lost and unemployment spreading. For three years Conservatives asked for action by the Liberal party in power but little or nothing was done to meet the threatening situation."

The Progressive Conservative party wanted to prevent another depression. The party believed that a Commonwealth trade conference, held in public, would bring results.

Fair Market

"The British people should know that we are offering them a fair share of our market," said Mr. Diefenbaker. "Is there any reason why most of our defence requirements that we import should not be bought from the United Kingdom? Should we not agree to import coal? Before the war we imported 1,000,000 tons a year and now it is 1-12th of that amount.

"There are many other requirements that Canada needs that we could import from Britain, such as heavy machinery—so necessary to our national development."

The opening of the hog market to the United States was long overdue, but "opening it now of course will not be as beneficial as it would have been," he said. The end of the Marshall Plan with resultant reduction in demands in the United States for farm products will lower the demand for Canadian products.

"Much good would come from the extension of long-time credits to nations that have traded with us in the past and are unable to pay us now but have established reputations for honest intention to pay as valuable customers in the past."

Seeking To Beat Rink Deadline

Employees of the Parks Department are working nights to build bases on the outdoor rinks in an attempt to have skating before Saturday. This date was set as a deadline for rinks by Armar Butcher, Superintendent of Parks and Dr. Herbert Young, chairman of the Parks Committee. A good base must be on the rinks to stand the warm days of February.

On some of the rinks children were skating and playing hockey Tuesday night until flooding began. The men worked until midnight.

Five rinks out of the 10 first planned by the department, Riverside, Inverlea, Hamilton, King Edward and Turner, have now the barest of bases covering the grass. If it stays cold throughout the day there will be some skating at these rinks tonight.

Mr. Butcher said one warm day would ruin the ice surfaces. In that case the rinks will be closed for the remainder of the winter.

Lions President Fined, $50 Costs

BRAMPTON, Jan. 18 (CP). — The president of the Malton Lions Club, Henry B. Asquith, was fined $50, and costs, today on a charge of keeping liquor for sale and placed on one year's suspended sentence on a gambling charge.

The charges arose following a police raid on a turkey roll on December 16 held in a Brampton garage by the Lions Club. Proceeds were to have been used in the club's Christmas charitable work, Asquith said.

Crown Attorney A. Grenville Davis said he ordered the raid following complaints from merchants that turkey rolls were harimng their business. Mr. Davis is a member of the Brampton Lions Club.

Oppose Application

MONTREAL, Jan. 18 (CP) — Trans-Canada Airlines Tuesday opposed an application by Global Aviation Limited to the Air Transport Board to operate an international cargo, passenger and freight charter service. TCA opposed the application on the ground that it has been empowered to operate such a service. A number of independent airline operators also are opposing the application.

Car Runs Over Legs Of Cyclist

Thomas Martin, 50, of 248 King George St., was knocked from his bicycle by a car and the rear right wheel of the car ran over both his legs in an accident at 7.10 a.m. today.

Martin was taken to Dr. C. F. Cahill by the car's driver, Malcolm Conroy, 490 Rose Ave., and found to have a bruised back and bruised left knee.

Constable A. Dalton, who investigated, reported Martin was riding his bicycle north on Park St., near McGill St.

Some unidentified man was walking in the same direction along the road. Martin is believed to have turned out to go around the pedestrian and was hit from behind by the Conroy car.

Poles Take Over Canadian Troops' Wartime Base At Witley Common

By PLACIDE LABELLE

(Editor's Note: Placide Labelle, Montreal newspaper man, and public relations officer with the Canadian forces during the war, has been on a tour of Britain, visiting places familiar to Canadian troops. Following are his impressions of peacetime Witley where thousands of Canadians completed their training.)

WITLEY, Surrey, Eng.,—(CP)—The war died hard on these gentle slopes where thousands of Canadian infantrymen trained before joining front line units, and whence they left for home after VE-Day.

While little if any evidence of wartime remains in the home countries south of London, where Canadians far outnumbered soldiers of all other nationalities, Witley Common is still the home of man in battledress. They are Poles.

For these remnants of the Polish army, the Second World War is not quite over. They occupy red brick barracks in Laurentide, Jasper and Tweedsmuir camps. Algonquin is a ghost camp.

In Laurentide, more than 7,000,000 documents constituting the official records of the Polish army are conserved and kept up-to-date. Here can also be found personal belongings of Polish servicemen killed in action and whose next-of-kin have not yet been found.

The Canadian Left

Canadians had hardly departed for home in 1946 when the Polish Resettlement Corps moved into Witley Common. They occupied all four camps. Then, gradually, singly or in groups, they migrated to the far corners of the world. A few went back to Poland, others emigrated to distant lands and a larger number were absorbed in British life

Less than 200 ex-service men and women, — about 100 families reunited after years of misery in European refugee camps — now remain in Witley Common. Head of the small and diminishing establishment is Col. W. B. Thomas, C. B. E., D.S.O., who commanded the 49th Indian Infantry Brigade in Burma

From 1941 to 1946, Witley Common was an all-Canadian area where four large infantry reinforcement units ocupied dozens of brand-new red brick barracks. In those hectic days of parade square drill, of training in unarmed combat, of long route marches, Witley Common was brimming with activity.

Drill Halls Empty

Now it is silent and desolate But for the shrill chirping of sparrows echoing in the emptiness of drill halls and the hobnailed steps of a lone Polish veteran across concrete parade square, the old Common is dead.

Witley Common is National Trust property, which means that it belongs to the British nation By the end of next year, the British army will have handed it back to the National Trust in its original state. All buildings, parade squares and roadways will be demolished and trees replanted.

Former Canadian reinforcement centres in Aldershot, Bordon, Farnborough, Fleet, Cove and other areas south of London have been taken over by the British army and are fully or partly used. The same can be said of most Canadian hospitals.

All the cottages and large mansions requisitioned during the war by the Canadians in Kent, Surrey, Sussex and Hampshire have been returned to their owners.

Hotel For Students All Snow, No Rooms

BRIGHTON, England—(CP) — No one can stay at Hotel Make-believe, yet the receptionist, the manager, the hallporter and the pages extend a warm welcome to visitors

Actually the hotel has none of these amenities. It has only a reception counter and a hallporter's desk—exact copies of the real thing.

They are used to train students of the hotel and catering departments of Brighton Technical College. Students are shown every phase of hotel administration and procedure. Then they practise it themselves.

UN Council Tackles Tough Job Of Jerusalem International Rule

By NORMAN ALTSTEDER

LAKE SUCCESS, N Y., Jan. 18 — (CP) — The United Nations trusteeship council this week tackles the job of bringing Jerusalem under international rule with Israel and Hashemite Jordon dead against giving up their divided control of the Holy City

The task was given to the 12-member council by the U. N. Assembly which ordered that Jerusalem, its suburbs and the places Holy to Christianity, Islam and Judaism are to be under strict U. N. control.

Canada voted against the move at the recent U. N. Assembly contending that while the U. N should supervise the Holy places any attempt to impose complete international rule on the Holy City would probably bring havoc to the very sites the U. N. wished to protect.

Canada is not a member of the council but Britain and the United States are expected to press this point in discussions starting Jan. 19, at Geneva.

Italian Problem Too

Besides the complex Jerusalem question, the council also has to complete a trusteeship agreement whereby Italy can take over from Britain the administration of Italian Somaliland.

Argentina will be the only new member at the council's first meeting of 1950, replacing Mexico for a three-year term. Iraq was re-elected at the last assembly and the Dominican Republic will fill Costa Rica's term until the end of 1951. The Philippines holds the other elective seat.

The big-five powers — Britain, United States, France, China and Russia—are permanent members along with those countries which are members because they administer trust territories — Australia, Belgium and New Zealand.

Likely Walk Out

Russia is expected to walk out of the council Thursday after challenging the credentials of the Chinese Nationalist delegation — as she has done in other U. N. bodies recently.

Israeli sources here say their attitude on Jerusalem is unchanged: that the internationalization plan is unworkable and Israel will not support it. They still offer to permit international supervision of the Holy Shrines if Israel is allowed to keep control of the area.

Some U. N. circles have discussed the possibility that a special U. N. Assembly may be necessary this spring if the council is unable to reach agreement on international rule for Jerusalem The council may be forced to report failure to the assembly.

Trouble Brewing On Soap Shelves

LONDON—(CP)—British grocers are unhappy. The ministry of food plans to put lesser-known brands of soap back on shop shelves. The grocers fear women will blame them when favorite brands are not available after the rations increase in 1950.

Trouble dates back to May when fats and oils were allocated among soap manufacturers according to volume of retail orders each received.

This endangered small firms' livelihood and manufacturers worked out a plan by which the increased ration will be all supplied by companies which lost business after May.

Housewives will be able to get the present six-ounce ration in any brand they like—but the extra three ounces of toilet soap or flakes or four ounces of hard soap will be of a less popular make.

"We will either have to introduce our own quota system," said one London grocer, "or risk annoying a good customer by having none of her special brand left."

Phone Tip Phoney Clue In Boston Robbery Police Release Seven Men

Check-Up Reveals Informant Patient Formerly In Mental Hospital, Doubt Story of Loot, But Take No Chances

BOSTON, Jan. 19—(AP)—Another clue in Tuesday's $1,500,000 express company robery evaporated today. New Jersey police discounted the story of informant Thomas J. Hannifan, 28. The man, who originally gave his name as Jackie Horrigan, said he drove the hold-up car and asked for arrest by the Boston police. He was revealed by Newark questioners to be a former State Hospital patient and mental hospital orderly. Hannifan had been drinking and apparently hadn't been in Boston in months, Newark police said. He had been questioned on his statement that funds seized in the robbery had been cached near the holdup scene.

From the outset, Captain John D. Ahearn of the Boston police had accepted the story with skepticism.

Nevertheless, overlooking no possibilities, he directed a raid on an empty house in the north-end area near the scene of the crime, and seized 1,000 rounds of ammunition and a pistol.

Release Suspects

The weapon might have been of the type used by the robbers, police said.

But the seven men scooped overnight in the police dragnet—including three former convicts, were questioned without result, and police forecast their early release.

Ahearn received his "information" from Hannifan by telephone from Newark. While the Newark police took the man into custody, Ahearn went into action here.

He said some of the information given by the tipster "checked with certain angles of the robbery and some didn't."

8 Men In Robbery

Ahearn quoted Horrigan as saying in the collect call from Newark that eight men participated in the robbery. Two were with him in Newark, he said, and the other five were in Boston.

The police captain said the man named all those he claimed took part in the holdup of the vaults of an armed car company.

The man said that a pass key taken from an impression of one held by a former employee was used to open doors in the big garage housing the vaults.

Horrigan was held in Newark pending arrival of agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation to question him.

Get County Home

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 19 — (CP)—The Ontario Municipal Board has approved an expenditure of $800,000 for the construction of a new county home for Hastings, it was learned today. A public hearing with respect to the $800,000 expenditure for the county home was held by the Ontario Municipal Board in Toronto this morning.

Halt Building In North York, Water Shortage

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (CP) — A threatened water shortage may check the expansion of what claims to be Canada's fastest growing community.

Reeve Nelson A. Boylen, of suburban North York township, told today's emergency meeting of builders and backers of new sub-divisions that no new building permits will be issued in the township. He said the move is due to failure of North York to obtain an additional supply of water from Toronto.

The ban will apply to all residential construction but not to buildings already under way. Some east-end portions of the township will not be affected.

The township claims to have issued more building permits during 1949 than any other centre on the continent. Construction has skyrocketed from $2,756,512 in 1944 to $40,162,875 last year.

4,233 Permits

North York issued permits for 4,233 new houses last year—or almost eight times as many as were built in Toronto. The township's population rose from 24,480 in 1943 to more than 50,000 last month.

Said Gordon Baker, North York township engineer:

"We need 2,00,000 more gallons of water right now and we need 3,000,000 more gallons a day for future growth.

"We estimate that, at the present rate of consumption, the township will be short 1,500,000 gallons a day next June. This estimate allows 100 gallons a day for each household unit but does not provide reserves for fire protection and other additional uses. At present, our reserves for fire protection are below safe emergency limits."

85 Million Pounds U.K. Contract

25 Cents Price Set But Ottawa Will Pay Difference

OTTAWA, Jan. 19 — (CP) — A new Anglo-Canadian cheese contract under which Canada will sell the United Kingdom approximately 85,000,000 pounds of cheddar at 25 cents a pound was announced today by Agriculture Minister Gardiner.

Although the shipment will be about 35,000,000 pounds greater than the 1949 contract, the price is a drop of six cents a pound from last year's price of 31 cents a pound on deliveries to Montreal.

To ease the producers' burden in shouldering this sharp price decline, Mr. Gardiner said the government will support the domestic price of cheese in 1950 at 28 cents a pound.

In other words, the government will buy the cheese at 28 cents a pound and sell it to the U.K. at 25 cents. The loss, which may total about $2,500,000, will be charged to the federal treasury.

For One Year

"This arrangement is for the year 1950 only," Mr. Gardiner said in a statement issued at a press conference, "and is designed to assist cheese producers in making the adjustment to the lower price level."

The 1950 Anglo - Canadian cheese contract is not as firm as it was in 1949. Under the 1949 contract, the U.K. agreed to take delivery of a straight 50,000,000 pounds.

This year, the agreement does not bind the U.K. so tightly. Under it, Canada promises to make a minimum delivery of 70,000,000 pounds — 77,000,000 pounds with a 10-per-cent tolerance—and the U.K. promises to purchase "up to" 84,700,000 pounds.

Will Work Out

However, if the agreement is carried out as announced, it is expected that Canada will be able to clear most of her cheese surplus in shipments to the U.K.

That surplus likely will amount to about 90,000,000 or 100,000,000 pounds including the 20,000,000 pounds the government purchased during the latter part of 1949 at 30 cents a pound as a price-support measure.

The cheese contract is the second food agreement reached by Canada and U.K. negotiators this year. A contract was signed earlier covering the shipment of about 60,000,000 pounds of bacon at 29 cents a pound—a drop of seven cents a pound from last year's price of 36 cents.

Negotiations still are continuing towards completion of a contract covering shipment of about $5,000,000 worth of west-coast salmon.

PATROLMAN THOMAS O'BRIEN, left foreground, talks with Charles S. Grell and Herman C. Pfaff, two of five employees of Brinks, Inc., an armored truck firm, who were tied up with heavy wrapping cord by bandits who fled with $1,500,000 in cash and cheques from an open vault, right rear, recently in Boston. Police said the robbers reached the second floor by opening six locked doors. A reward of $100,000 has been posted for their capture.

No Dollars For Pork Britain Told

Gardiner Says U.K. Will Take Bacon, Use Canadian Loan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—The Economic Co-Operation Administration said today it has informed Britain no further Marshall Plan financing will be available for Canadian pork products.

A provision of the European Recovery Act prohibits ECA funds from being used to buy foreign supplies of any commodity in surplus in the U.S.

ECA said bacon has been the bulk of Britains pork purchases from Canada. No immediate breakdown was available as to the total of ECA pork purchases for Britain during the 20 months of Marshall Plan operation.

Will Keep Pact

At Ottawa, Agriculture Minister Gardiner today said the United Kingdom likely will continue to buy from Canada, although she no longer will be able to obtain economic co-operation administration funds for the purpose.

If the U.K. cannot obtain Marshall Plan dollars to buy Canadian bacon, then she still could use part of the Canadian dollar loan for that purpose, Mr. Gardiner said.

However, the ECA decision may leave the 1950 Anglo-Canadian bacon contract in a precarious position. Under it Canada obtained agreemen to ship about 60,000,000 pounds at 29 cents a pound.

The money to pay for the bacon was to come out of Britain's Canadian wheat purchases, winanced in part by ECA funds.

Could Manage

The ECA decision to declare pork surplus may mean that it will not approve of the Anglo-Canadian bacon contract which would mean using ECS funds for the purchase of Canadian pork.

However, as Mr. Gardiner pointed out, Canada still is lending the U.K. money, at the rate of about $10,000,000 a month. The loan runs out at the end of the year.

"The bacon contract could be covered with less than two months ($20,000,000) of that loan."

He also said that the reserve of dollars in the U.K. has reached $1,600,000,000.

As the U.K. reserves increased, so would ability to buy Canadian foodstuffs increase.

Finns Re-elect Paasikivi As President

HELSINKI, Jan. 19 (AP) — President Juho Paasikivi, under fire from Moscow and Finnish Communists, has won re-election easily in voting for Finland's presidential electors, the count showed Wednesday.

But marked gains by the Communist-led Popular Democrats and the right wing Conservative and Progressive parties apparently doomed the Social Democratic government of Premier Karl A. Fagerholm.

The voting was held Monday and Tuesday.

With final revisions expected to change the results only slightly, the 74-year-old Paasikivi could count 172 electoral votes in his column, against 128 for the two opposing candidates.

The popular vote for Conservatives, Progressives, Swedish Party and Social Democrats, all expected to support Paasikivi when the 300 electors meet Feb. 15, was 868,693, against a combined opposition of 608,314.

Mauno Pekkala, candidate of the Popular Democrats, was second, with 316,999 votes; and the Agrarian, Dr. Urho Kekkonen, was last, with 291,315.

Pekkala gets 65 electoral votes and Kekkonen 63.

The election did not change the standing of the parties in the parliament elected in 1948.

PurpleGangMan Nabbed By FBI

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 19 —(AP)—Harry Fleischer, member of the notorious Detroit Purple Gang, was arrested by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation as he sunned himself at Pompano Beach Wednesday.

Crawford Garson, agent in charge of the FBI here, said the 46-year-old fugitive from Michigan, whom he described as "one of the most dangerous and badly-wanted criminals in the United States," was accompanied by a woman whom he identified as Bernice Jackson of Detroit.

Fleischer was arrested on federal charges of having unlawfully fled from the State of Michigan to avoid confinement on a state robbery charge.

The arrest was made by four agents who found the fugitive sprawling in the sand in a bathing suit.

Hit By Air Gun Pellet Picton Boy Loses Eye

PICTON, Jan. 19 (CP)—Harold Dunlop, 13, lost his left eye when struck by an air rifle pellet while playing on a pond with friends near here.

Police say Dunlop was injured Tuesday night by a pellet fired by Arthur Herrington, 12. The pellet struck a ridge of ice and glanced off into Dunlop's eye.

Dodging Bullets Car Crashes Pole

AGINCOURT, Jan. 19—(CP)—Three men were pulled from their smashed automobile by police today when they rammed a hydro pole in an effort to escape a hail of police bullets. The driver was charged with breaking into the CNR station at this village 10 miles northeast of Toronto.

Charged were: Kenneth Barker, 22, Steve Kostenchuk, 18, and John Garrity, 30.

Police said they fired about a dozen shots in the chase along the highway. Finally, the driver of the get-away car swerved to try to escape the hail of bullets and hit the pole.

Preliminary check at the railway station showed nothing had been taken.

GrandmotherAttempts To Suicide At Jail

MONTREAL, Jan. 19 (CP) — Police said today that 50-year-old Mrs. Joseph Locas, who reported she had drowned her two grandchildren, tried to commit suicide at detective headquarters Wednesday night.

Officers said an attendant found her trying to choke herself to death with an improvised noose made of her torn clothing. The woman is being held without charge at detective headquarters.

Mrs. Locas told police Wednesday that she had pushed her grandsons, John, 3, and Pierre-Paul, 18 months, into the St. Lawrence River because she could not bear to see them sent to a foster home.

37 Cars Derailed Near Welland

STEVENSVILLE, Ont., Jan. 19 (CP)—Thirty-seven freight cars, mostly empties, were derailed ½ mile east of here near Welland on the Canadian National Railways main line early tody.

Some of the cars were up-ended, and others thrown across the tracks. Several are badly smashed.

CNR officials at Fort Erie said the derailment was probably due to a spread rail caused by frequent recent rains.

The train was fast freight No 465, eastbound from Toronto to Fort Erie and was in charge of Conductor Carl Rose of Fort Erie.

The engine and first car did not leave the rails. All available wrecking equipment has been rushed from Fort Erie and other centres to aid in clearing the main line and in the interval traffic is being diverted via Niagara Falls and Port Colborne.

Rail officials at Fort Erie were confident that the wreckage would be cleared by nightfall They said no one was hurt.

FLOOD DANGER EASES

CHICAGO, Jan. 19 — (AP) — Flood threats at two of the danger spots in the midwestern United States watershed appeared easing today.

US Believed Going Ahead With Super Atomic Bomb

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—The United States government today was understood to be going ahead on experimental work preliminary to production of a super atomic hydrogen bomb.

At least some top officials in the Truman administration believe that the bomb will eventually go into production. President Truman himself will presumably make the final decision, one way or the other.

The government's present policy on the hydrogen bomb, estimated up to 1,000 times as powerful as uranium bombs now being made, calls for the assembling of all possible facts. On the basis of these facts the final decision probably will be made in a few weeks.

The viewpoint of a scientist was expressed Wednesday by Dr. Arthur H. Compton, one of the developers of plutonium, an ingredient of the A-bomb. Compton said in a Los Angeles press conference that atomic scientists voted 2 to 1 in favor of loosing the atomic against Japan, but that the American public generally should have a voice on whether to develop a hydrogen bomb.

Some of the President's advisers from the Atomic Energy Commission have been reported to have urged Truman to make another try for agreement with the Russians on international control of atomic energy before giving a go-ahead signal on super-bomb production.

This does not appear to be the State Department's idea. State Department leaders apparently assume that if the arms race continues unrestrained the United States will have no choice but to make the most powerful weapons it can. This also is said to be the view in the defence department.

Hydro To End Dimout In S. Ontario

TORONTO, Jan. 19 —(CP)—Southern Ontario's dimout ends next Monday but the situation isn't so bright in the province's northern sections.

Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, announced Wednesday night that restrictions on the use of power for industrial and commercial lighting will be lifted Jan. 23 in southern Ontario.

But, in Northern Ontario, lack of rain has prevented a similar move. Mr. Saunders predicted conditions may soon be eased there by interchange of power between north and south.

The ban on space heaters remains in effect, officials said, but there will be some relief for users of flat-rate heaters. Instead of two-hour cutoffs in mornings and afternoons, there will only be one-hour cuts. Those will be from 11 a.m. to 12 noon, and from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Marked Improvement

A marked improvement in water storage and flow conditions in southern Ontario enabled the commission to remove the curb.

"Providence has been extremely kind to Hydro during the last month," Mr. Saunders said. "All storage reservoirs have been showing improvement since the heavy rains first experienced on Dec. 21.

"As a result it has been possible to increase the generating out put of the various power plants."

The restrictions on lighting went into effect last Oct. 1, and applied to outdoor electric signs, for which Hydro power was used, and to store and office lighting.

Cripps Warns UK Industry Gloves Off If Labor Wins

LONDON, Jan. 19—(CP)—Sir Stafford Cripps has warned British industry that the gloves will be off if Labor is returned in the Feb. 23 general election. In a major political speech Wednesday night, Labor's chief apostle of planned economy made these two main points:

1. The new Labor government will establish developement councils for industry, on a compulsory and large-scale basis, "overriding any political opposition that may be encountered."

2. Britain's trade union movement, 8,000,000 strong, has been given a definite pledge that food subsidies will not be reduced as long as the unions continue to support the government's standstill on wages.

Sir Stafford implied that if the wage freeze collapses, subsidies—now totalling about £500,000,000 ($1,550,000,000) a year—may be decreased.

The chancellor of the exchequer spoke at High Wycombe, in Buckinghamshire. He accused British industry of organized opposition to the introduction of development councils — central organizations designed to increase efficiency in any industry and comprising representatives of manufacturers and workers.

Councils Formed

Councils already have been formed for the cotton, furniture, jewelry and silverware and clothing industries. Major clothing industries have issued a writ challenging the legality of the development council in their industry.

The Conservatives are expected to reveal a different attitude towards subsidies. Their policy is understood to be based on a recent speech in the House of Commons by Anthony Eden, deputy Conservative leader, who said that while subsidies are worth about 3s 2d. (about 79 cents) a week to each individual, Britons are spending an average of 11s 6d (about $1.77) on tobacco and drink.

From this Eden deduced that subsidies are not really going on food but on luxuries. Thus, he argued, there is a strong case for reducing them and compensating the poorer members of the community in other ways such as by increasing old age pensions.

Blame Trainmen In Alta. Wreck

CALGARY, Jan. 19 — (CP).—Two trainmen of the Canadian Pacific Railway have been termed negligent as a result of a December 29 rail crash that took three lives.

A coroner's jury made this decision Wednesday night while rapping the CPR for its attitude toward the inquiry. Named as negligent by the jury were Engineer John F. Townsend and Fireman John T. Sparrow of Calgary.

Both were on the east-bound No. 8 baggage-express train that plowed into a west-bound passenger train at Southesk, Alta., ripping through two day coaches. No. 8 was from Vancouver, the passenger train, No. 3, from Toronto.

Dr. W. E. Crowell-Taylor, acting coroner, objected to argument of D. W. Clapperton, CPR counsel, who said findings of the company's private investigation should not be presented because they were privileged communications between lawyer and client.

The coroner said the purpose of the court was to get information.

"Your anxiety to keep still information which is in the public interest," he told Mr. Clapperton, "does not throw a very bright light on the CPR's activities.

Hon. R. T. Kelley Seriously Ill

TORONTO, Jan. 19 — (CP) — Hon. Russell T. Kelley, Ontario Minister of Health, is in serious condition in hospital here following a stroke he suffered Wednesday night. He is 62.

The attack was the second within a year. During the last session of the legislature last spring, he suffered a stroke in his office.

His office reported today it would be 48 hours before it would be known how bad effects of the stroke might be. He is being attended by Dr. W. A. Oille, Toronto heart specialist

Member of Hamilton-Wentworth riding in the Ontario legislature, Mr. Kelley has been minister of health since 1946.

Lewis Lieutenants Go On Lecture Tour

Will Try To Persuade Miners Back To Work Suggestion Is Order

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 19 AP)—The men John L. Lewis depends upon to carry out his strategy went on a lecture tour today to try to get 90,000 striking United Mine Workers back on the job Monday.

John P. Busarello, president of big UMW District No. 5 at Pittsburgh, wouldn't hazard a guess whether he or other field lieutenants would be successful. But he declared:

"We union leaders simply have to get across to the miners in our lectures that Mr. Lewis' suggestion they return to work amounts to an order."

Last week, Lewis suggested the 69,000 differs on an unexplained strike go back to work. Instead, most of them continued the walkout. The few who did return were replaced by other thousands. Then some more joined in. By the time the juggling was over, 90,000 miners were on strike.

Busarello's statement came only a few hours after the government launched a move toward getting coal mined on a five-day week basis, instead of the present three days. And it came amid reports of mounting shortages.

Ask Injunction

Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, asked a Federal District Court at Washington Wednesday for an injunction barring Lewis from using what he described as an "unfair labor practice" in putting his diggers on a three-day week.

Judge Richmond B. Keech set Jan. 26 as the date for a hearing.

If the court grants the request, it would be in effect only until the five-man N.L.R.B. Board itself rules on Denham's findings. The Board set Feb. 7 as the date for a hearing of the charges before an N.L.R.B. trial examiner.

Denham's court order was based on a complaint the mine operators filed last month charg[illegible] was used practices to pressure them into an illegal contract to replace the one which expired last June 30.

While all this was going on, U.S. industry battened down its hatches. Prediction of widespread layoffs were made as some utilities and big industries said their coal supplies are getting low. Rationing of domestic soit coal supplies was instituted in Pittsburgh.

The B. F. Goodrich Company of Akron, O., says the rubber industry also is threatened by spreading shortages.

Offer $1,000 Prize For Best Nickel Design

OTTAWA, Jan. 19 — (CP).—The Finance Department today offered a $1,000 prize for the best design for a commemorative five-cent piece to be issued next year. [illegible] anniversary of the isolation and naming of nickel, from which Canadian five-cent coins have been made since 1922.

Canada produced nearly 90 per cent of the world's nickel.

Four additional prizes of $250 each may be issued for designs receiving honorable mention.

The design is needed for the reverse side of the coin. The Department specified it must include the word "Canada," the denomination "5 Cents," and the figures "1751-1951."

CanadaLikely To Protest US Farm Plan

Surplus Products Being Dumped On Export Market

OTTAWA, Jan. 19 (CP) — Agriculture Minister Gardiner today said Canada likely will lodge an official protest against the decision by the United States government to sell its surplus farm products at prices below cost.

He told a press conference that the U. S. action gave cause for worry and the External Affairs Department may do something about it.

Asked if the protest would have any effect, Mr. Gardiner replied: "I have been protesting for years. Nobody has paid much attention to me."

An announcement from Washington Wednesday said the U. S agriculture department will toss millions of government-owned farm products on the export market at bargain prices. An undetermined quantity of surplus American potatoes are to be given away.

"That United States policy is not new," Mr. Gardiner said. "It has been going on since the 1930s.

"It certainly can affect the Canadian export market for farm products."

Officials in both the trade and agriculture departments warned that the U. S action may increase the difficulties of Canadian food exporters already faced with the fact that most of their customers have limited supplies of dollars with which to make purchases in this country.

They pointed out that the cheap U. S. products might cause a decline in foreign demand for Canadian products with a resultant sharper drop in farm prices.

Will Think Twice

A government spokesman suggested that the U. S. action also might result in Canadian authorities thinking twice before approving further price support for Canadian farm products.

The U. S. got into trouble with surpluses by supporting domestic prices at higher than market level. As a result the U. S. had to buy up huge stocks when prices began to fall.

The same thing has been happening in Canada, with the government buying up stocks of cheese and butter to bolster the market. Farmers have been urging price support for eggs and for bacon when pork price support ends next June.

Farm products on which the U. S. has placed bargain prices include corn, barley, oats, linseed oil, shelled peanuts, flaxseed, dried beans, dried milk, dried eggs, and Mexican canned meat.

Potatoes Bargain

The biggest bargain offered is potatoes. Surplus potatoes costing the government $2.10 for 100 pounds this month are offered at one cent for 100 pounds bagged at country shipping points. This means the potatoes are being given away. The one cent price is just to make the transaction legal.

Another bargain is dried whole eggs—75,000,000 pounds of it — offered at 40 cents a pound delivered alongside ship at New York or New Orleans Cost to US government averaged $1.30 a pound and the current market price in the U. S. is about 96 cents.

But Canadian housewives hoping to get a few bags of potatoes at one cent a 100 pounds are out of luck.

Government officials say steps will be taken under Canada's anti-dumping laws, to make certain that none of the low price U. S. surpluses enter Canada, either for sale or for re-export to some other area.

Urge Registered Seed Used For Better Quality Crops

TORONTO, Jan. 19—(CP)—Farmers attending the Ontario Crop Improvement Association convention were urged Wednesday to use registered seed for higher yield and better quality.

growers meetings occupied the first day of the three-day convention.

N. D. McKenzie of the Federal Agricultural Department said that more than one-third of seed sown by Ontario farmers was poor quality.

John Stewart of Ailsa Craig said Ontario farmers lost 10 per cent. of the annual value of wheat, oats, barley and corn crops due to smut damage that totalled $16,000,000.

Mr. MacKenzie said there was a great domestic market for registered seed growers and that production should be entrusted to a small number of growers for best results.

Potential Market

"When we realize that more than one-third of the seed grown by farmers in this province is of rejected grade as shown by the seed drill surveys which have been conducted, then we begin to realize the potential market which lies right at our own doors," he said.

"It shows, too, the possibilities which lie ahead for those of our growers who can combine with the care and thoroughness necessary to produce registered seed the sales ability to market it to the neighboring farmers of their own community."

H. G. L. Strange of the Searle Grain Company, Winnipeg, said the Canadian Seed Growers' Association received more orders for registered seed last year following a country-wide publicity campaign than in any previous season.

H. L. Patterson of the Ontario Agriculture Department told potato growers that best yields were obtained by farmers using modern equipment.

Growers were told that nutritional value of potatoes must be stressed along with gross yields.

Big Construction Parley Ends With Many Resolutions

MONTREAL, Jan. 19—(CP)—The men who direct Canada's great building programs—currently running about $2,000,000,000 a year—turned back to their jobs today.

As some of the conclusions of a three-day meeting of the Canadian Construction Association they favored:

Maintenance of the National Housing Act on a basis that will encourage families of modest means to own their own homes and enable private home builders to serve adequately the housing market.

Co-operation among federal, provincial and municipal governments in providing housing for low-income families through establishment of a long-term low-rental housing program.

Utilization of the experience of the dominion and provincial governments in the construction of the Trans-Canada highway, in the establishment of a dominion-provincial highways commission to co-ordinate the financing, long-term planning and construction of interprovincial and international highways and roads designed to develop Canada's natural resources and tourist trade and meet strategic requirements.

Public Works

Continuation of the policy by governments of encouragement of private enterprise to develop domestic industry and to expand exports by orderly programs of public works designed to provide essential utilities and the development of natural resources.

Continued advance planning of programs of deferable public projects to be used to help in forestalling serious unemployment in the event of a recessionary trend.

Also, that great care should be taken to differentiate between temporary or seasonal waves of unemployment which have occurred in isolated districts, and definite national and cyclical waves.

The association also requested that Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation and lending institutions, establish inspection procedures which will ensure that new housing is built in a workmanlike way.

Arrest Youth On Arson Count

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (CP) — An 18-year-old youth was arrested on a charge of attempted arson today following two fires Wednesday and a false alarm Tuesday in the building where he has been employed three days.

Stanley Currie was found fighting the first blaze Wednesday in the Western Bag and Burlap Company when firemen arrived to fight the fire. A short time later firemen were called again to the building. They believed paper was put in a pile of rags and lighted.

Tuesday an alarm was turned in which brought firemen to the building, but they found no fire.

The 14 employees were detained for questioning following the second blaze Wednesday and Currie was arrested.

All Groups Decline On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (CP)—All groups slipped into the minus column as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Losses spread over a wide list but were generally held to small amounts.

Volume for the first three hours was 702,000 shares.

Western oils were under pressure of profit taking sales on their previous four day advance that carried the list to the highest average price level since the boom days of Turner Valley in 1937. Anglo-Canadian and Pacific Petroleum lost 10 cents. Atlantic Oil and Central Leduc were active traders for small losses.

Senior golds dipped quietly. A few juniors went against the trend for moderate gains. Hard Rock Gold Mines, MacLeod Cockshutt, Quesabe and Upper Canada were active and higher.

Small losses were scattered among base metals. Silanco was an active issue, holding steady while Sherritt Gordon encountered brisk selling for a nine-cent loss at $2.02.

Toronto Hydro Seeking Boost

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (CP) — A Toronto paper says today in a newspage story it has learned that the Toronto Hydro-Electric system will apply to the Ontario Power Commission for permission to increase its consumer rates.

Amount of the increase sought was not learned, the story adds.

Wednesday, Hydro Chairman Robert Saunders approved applications for rate increases from London, Brantford, Paris, Waterloo and Windsor. This made a total of eight municipalities who have obtained permission to increase rates. Kitchener, Hamilton and Chatham were the others.

The rate increases followed a 10 per cent rate boost put into effect last month by the Provincial commission.

Although Mayor Hiram McCallum was not available for comment, he said recently the Provincial rate boost would cost the city about $600,000.

Berliners Walk As Rail Dispute Rages

BERLIN, Jan. 19 (Reuters)—Thousands of Berliners walked to work today when the elevated railroad system, for the second day in succession, ran only a skeleton service, with one train every half hour on some lines.

The sharp cut in the service followed the occupation Tuesday night by west-sector police of the headquarters building of the Soviet-controlled railroad system, situated in the American sector.

Eastern and western newspapers and spokesmen in Berlin accused each other today of responsibility for the partial breakdown in the transport system.

Most west-Berlin papers charged the Russians with deliberately cutting down the number of trains available as a reprisal against the west police action.

The eastern press stated that the occupation of the building and particularly of its big telephone exchange had interfered seriously with the operation of the railroad system.

Leading Soviet officials Wednesday declined an invitation to a reception given by the three western high commissioners, claiming they were "extremely busy with railroad troubles."

Newark police doubted the man had any connection with the holdup but they said "We can't afford to take chances in a thing like this."

Three other former convicts also are held for questioning in the case.

Have No Clues

Police Superintendent Edward W. Fallon frankly admitted top-notch investigators directing the multi-pronged investigation lacked a single definite lead after running down scores of phony tips.

He clung to the hope, however, that science may spring a trap on the seven commando-like raiders who seized $1,500,000—a million in cash—at the vaulted garage of Brink's Incorporated, armored transportation company, Tuesday night. The robbery was the largest cash haul in American criminal history.

A visored chauffeur-type cap—possibly dropped by one of the gunmen—is being examined by Federal Bureau of Investigation chemists for particles of hair that might produce a lead.

Two men, described by Police Captain John A. Ahearn as "north end gangsters," were held for questioning today. They were picked up Wednesday night.

"I consider these two men very important to this case," Ahearn said. Their names were withheld.

Take No Chances

Highly skilled FBI agents, state and private detectives dusted every inch of the Brink office Wednesday in search of particles of evidence that might supply a clue under chemical analysis.

Fingerprints appeared to be out as a medium of detection as the gunmen's hands were gloved.

Every novelty shop in the city was being visited by police men in an effort to find where the gangsters purchased the grotesque rubber-type masks they wore.

Police said they had strong evidence the gunmen passed up an additional $1,000,000—not because they were unable to carry it—but because a sounding buzzer frightened them off.

They quoted a Brink garageman as saying he sounded an office buzzer at about the time of the holdup in an effort to get into the vaulted section. Vault employees usually open the automatic door to the guarded office in response to the buzzer.

Site Chosen For Third Town

HOUSTON, Renfrewshire, Scotland, Jan. 19 (CP)—Scotland's third new town, for which a provisional site has been chosen here, is being planned to accommodate the surplus population of Greenock, Renfrew and Port Glasgow.

It may also provide for the housing requirements of established and expanding industry in the area.

The Houston plan provides for a "target" population of 40,000, the overspill from the three burghs being estimated at 29,000 from Greenock, 1,200 from Port Glasgow and 10,000 from Renfrew.

The site suggested for development extends to 2,427 acres, of which 1,914 acres are stated to be suitable for building. It lies within a one-mile radius of the existing village of Houston and between two main roads.

Seven Ohio Convicts Help Burned Boy

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 19 (AP) —From his waist to his ankles, 11-year-old Jimmy Wallace was covered today with skin furnished him by seven convicts of Ohio penitentiary.

For two hours Wednesday the boy, half of whose body was severely burned Dec. 4 in a kerosene stove explosion, lay on the operating table while doctors grafted on skin taken earlier in the day from the abdomens of the donors.

Some 448 square inches of skin —two four by eight inch grafts from each of the seven donors— were applied to the lad's body.

A hospital physician pronounced the operation an "assured success."

US Wonder Boy Luckman Quits As Soap Chief

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP) — Charles Luckman, often called the wonder boy of American business resigned Wednesday as president of Lever Brothers Co. because of a policy disagreement with the British and Netherlands parent companies.

Luckman, already a prominent figure in industry, became president of the giant soap, toilet article and food manufacturing concern in 1946 at the age of 37.

The announcement of Luckman's resignation, which came as a surprise to business and financial circles, was made jointly by Sir Geoffrey Heyworth, chairman of Lever Brothers and Unilever Ltd., the British parent firm, and Paul Rykens, chairman of the Netherlands parent, Lever Brothers and Unilever N. V. Both now are in New York.

Luckman's resignation came at the end of one of the largest industrial moves of recent years—the shift of the Lever executive headquarters from Cambridge, Mass., to New York.

The Heyworth-Rykens statement said no arrangements have been made for filling the presidential post. During an interim period the executive responsibility would rest with three Unilever directors, who are being loaned to Lever Brothers Co.

A native of Kansas City and a graduate of the University of Illinois, Luckman was president of the Pepsodent Co. of Chicago at the age of 35, when Lever Brothers acquired the concern in 1944. Eighteen months later he became executive vice-president of Lever Brothers and on July 1, 1946, became president.

Want Action To Clear Roads Of Beer Bottles

COBOURG, Jan. 19 (ENS) — Appointment of committees and consideration of communications occupied the session Wednesday of Northumberland and Durham Counties Council. A deputation was heard in the afternoon representing the Ganaraska Authority, to outline a proposed by-law which would include Northumberland in an area where restrictions are placed on indiscriminate cutting of trees.

Reeve O. J. Robins was appointed chairman of the Finance Committee; Reev H. I. Allen of Cramahe, chairman of the Legislative and By-Laws; Reeve D. McLaughlin, Colborne, chairman of the Schools Committee; Reeve G. Nichols, Hope township, chairman of Agriculture; Reeve Arthur Wartman, Percy township, chairman of Roads and Reeve Frank George of Brighton township, chairman of County Property Committee.

A resolution from Perth County Council deplored the hazard to rubber-tired road machinery caused by beer bottles thrown out of passing cars and suggested the provincial authorities take measures to counteract it. This was referred to Legislative and By-Laws Committee.

Simcoe County asked for uniformity in the period of daylight saving time and this resolution was also referred dto the Legislative and By-Laws Committee.

Another resolution from Simcoe County Council pointed out that while it was a good thing that the province assumed 50 per cent. of the cost of homes for the aged, and 25 per cent. of the maintainance of children cared for by the Children's Aid Society, the proportion should be enlarged so that it would become 50 per cent. in the case of the Children's Aid Society, 50 per cent. of the cost of indigent patients and the same percentage for all other social services. This will be considered by the Legislative and By-Laws Committee.

A wave of mirth went round the Council chamber when clerk Bill Barr read a resolution from Middlesex County recommending compensation for damage sustained by cars which run into deer.

"Some of the hunters around here wouldn't mind running into a few deer", commented Mr. Barr with a smile.

A resolution from Kent County regarding an amendment to the High School Act which would affix the costs on a broader basis than on the equalized assessment, was read but as it was apparently incorrectly framed, no action was taken.

Want Government Help

A resolution from Hastings County asking for government assistance in the cost of polio cases pending transfer to a designated hospital was referred to Legislative and By-Laws Committee. A communication from the Rice Lake Tourist Association asked for improvements to roads 45 and 28 and also the road running between Gore's Landing and Cobourg. This was referred to Roads and Bridges Committee. The perennial question of roads 61 and 62 in Percy and Haldimand, were referred to the Roads and Bridges Committee.

A letter from the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow advised the council that the resolution from the counties council of last November in respect to a study of the best means of administration of the counties, had been referred to the Dept. of Municipal Affairs but that this department felt it was a matter for the council itself to deal with.

Council abolished the system of corn borer inspectors as being unnecessary as the weed inspectors could look after that phase of the work.

A map of the counties, painted upon the wall by Frank Taylor of Cobourg, and about 14 by six feet in size, was the subject of favorable comment by council and a resolution was passed congratulating the artist and the county property committee responsible for the idea.

Lever Loses Slander Action Against Reeve

COBOURG, Jan. 19 —(ENS)— Judgment dismissing the action without costs was handed down by Mr. Justice Mackay in the $10,000 damage action heard at the fall assizes last year, in which the plaintiff, Arnold Lever, Smithfield carpenter, accused the defendant, Reeve Frank George, Brighton Township of slander.

Lever alleged that at a school board public meeting in March, 1948, the reeve called him a Jew, a cheap bastard and said he had had a "convenient fire".

"The question is not what the defendant intended the words to mean, but what reasonable men, knowing the circumstances in which the words were published, would understand to be their meaning," the judgment said.

His Lordship's judgment made reference to statements made in jest. He quoted the earlier English form "gest" and said "If a man in gest conveys a serious imputation, he gests at his peril" (Donhoue v Hayes, 1831) Hayes Irish Exchequer Reports, page 266).

"He cannot be permitted, either carelessly or wantonly, to sport with the character of another and then excuse himself upon the ground that he was not really in earnest, and did not intend that his auditors should credit his unfounded aspersions."

In his summary of the evidence, Mr. Justice Mackay said:

Feelings Ran High

"During the course of the ratepayers' meeting, an election was held in which lines were strictly drawn and the contest keen. Some time after the result of the election had been proclaimed by the defendant, who occupied the chair, a verbal altercation took place. Voices were raised, charges and counter-charges were hurled, feelings ran high and the zeal and enthusiasm of the opposing electors became most pronounced.

"The plaintiff and the defendant engaged in heated controversy. The defendant was taunted by the plaintiff to the effect that he was not sufficiently smart this time to win the election for his candidate". His Lordship then went on to quote the conversations as reported by the witnesses.

The judge found that, from the evidence, the defendant had used the word "mysterious" fire rather than the alleged "convenient" fire but His Lordship ruled that the term used, as related by the evidence, did not convey that the plaintiff had been guilty of arson.

In reference to the term, "cheap bastard", His Lordship found that it was nothing other than a term of abuse.

However, His Lordship had this to say in regard to the tone of the remarks expressed at the meeting:

"I desire, however, to mark my disapproval of the language which I find was used within the body of a public meeting in which women and some young people were present, and that I may express that disapproval in a material way, the order of the court is that the action shall be dismissed without costs."

Family Court Work Reviewed

COBOURG, Jan. 18.—(ENS)— H. D. Bigelow, probation officer of the Family Court, reported on the past year's work to Northumberland and Durham council Wednesday.

There were 52 cases involving family affairs dealt with in 1949 and 33 juvenile cases. Nineteen cases of family affairs were referred to court and 25 juvenile cases. Home visits in family matters totalled 509 and 407 in juvenile matters. There were 371 interviews in family affairs and 181 in connection with juvenile cases.

The problems presented involved assault, desertion and non-support, mental illness, unwarranted complaints, marital discord, unemployment relief, damage to property, theft, incorrigibility, indecent assault, liquor, firearms, immoral conduct, violation of probation, theft, traffic and one case of indecent language on the telephone.

Asks New Fire Hall

BELLEVILE, Jan. 19 — (CP) Fire Chief Gerald Vance in his annual report Wednesday recommended the immediate construction of a new fire hall on the east side; employment of two disabled veterans to operate the fire department switchboard; and installation of mobile radio apparatus in 1950.

Maiden Voyage

OSHAWA, Jan. 19 (CP) — A 14 foot "boat" made its maiden voyage down the main street on Tuesday with its owner, Steve Halkovich, 61, at the helm. The wheeled amphibian, powered by a single cylinder motor, will do 20 miles an hour either on land or on water. Mr. Halkovich said. He plans to drive it to Lake Ontario soon and sail to Rochester, N. Y.

EYE TOPICS

WHAT IS OBVIOUS AND WHAT IS NOT

There is much about vision that is obvious. Most people recognize that normally we possess two eyes which we use as a team in vision. It is evident that some people see more efficiently than others. It is apparent likewise that some things interfere with good vision while others seem to improve it.

But the real nature of vision is far from obvious. For many years, vision was accepted as an endowment—that is, merely an inherited sense which one uses hoping the endowment will not be consumed before life has run its course. Increased life expectancy made the idea of visual conservation of even greater importance.

Such concepts seem plausible enough until more accurate ideas of the nature of vision have been established. The concept that vision is both an endowment and an achievement or development has made possible new and important discoveries. For instance, the use of vision need not destroy it. Through proper use, it is possible to create more visual power. Mere conservation—a negative concept—then gives way to the idea of developmental vision—a positive concept.

This thought of vision as capable of development liberates people from the fears of "wearing out their eyes" or of "weakened eyes" for, under the new concept, we see that vision is capable of improvement and development instead of having to be hoarded like so much oil in the ground. Neglect to provide proper visual care either in the form of lenses or visual training, wearing lenses long after they have served their usefulness—these may impair or diminish visual capacity but reasonably frequent visual analysis and the use of proper lenses or visual training overcome what is known as "eye strain", which is in reality fatigue.

Township Fire Protection

Residents in Smith township and other suburbs were disturbed when the Council's decision not to send the city's fire-fighting equipment outside the city limits came into force at the first of the year. It was a hard but necessary decision. City taxpayers who have a right to expect it cannot be adequately protected if the Fire Department is even partly engaged fighting a fire in the country. Already the city firemen's area is so extended by the expanded boundaries of the city that it would have been folly to continue township protection. Prudence, not cost, was the determining factor.

* * *

The matter of costs was of course considered. While the former township protection which the city fire department furnished on demand was contracted for on a relatively small holding fee and a rate for each fire fought, payments to the city treasurer in no way were full reimbursements. What the township areas were getting was 24-hour-a-day protection on demand, a 24-hour service which city taxpayers maintain, together with all the expensive equipment.

* * *

The city council is not being needlessly stubborn, and proof of its willingness to co-operate when and where it can without risking the city's safety is the decision of continue protection to Mount St. Joseph, (the Roman Catholic convent), to the Roman Catholic community's school north of the city—St. Anne's School, and to the Queen Elizabeth School of Smith Township. These institutions are on the periphery of the city and city fire hydrants are within reach.

How Criminal Are Children?

Dr. J. D. Acheson, of Toronto's Juvenile Court Clinic, has recently attracted some attention by saying that all children are criminals. By this we understand him to mean that all children want their own way, at whatever cost to other people, and so far we are quite in agreement with him. Roughly speaking, the first seven years of a child's life are passed in learning that their wishes must be subordinated to the good of the community for a great part of the time. There are people who never learn this lesson, and when they grow up they occasionally become geniuses, and they occasionally become criminals, and the greatest number of them are simply nuisances to everybody who knows them.

The criminality of children can be borne. They are small, and so it is possible to drag them from the scenes of their misdemeanours and punish them, if need be. It is also possible to foresee and thwart some of their mischief. Further, they are often charming (though we deny the sentimental notion that all children are so) and can be forgiven for their wickedness. And what parent has not been visited by the awful thought, "I did just the same at that age; how can I have the gall to wallop my child?"

Adult criminals are different creatures. They are too big to be restrained by the average citizen, and they usually have no charm at all. They are simply nuisances, and often dangerous.

Now we come to our point. If a child does not learn to adjust its own wishes to those of the majority in most things, it is possible that it will be a criminal when it grows up. How can we hope, then, to reform criminals who have not learned this vital lesson in childhood? It is fashionable nowadays to say that criminality results from poor environment; this is shallow thinking, for a little observation will show that it is in poor environments that child-training is, upon the whole, worst. Not poverty, but bad upbringing, makes criminals.

For this reason we hold the opinion that a person who has not learned the vital lesson of self-discipline in childhood will not learn it during a few months in jail; any criminal who has been convicted three times is, in all probability, incorrigible and the present law which makes it possible for such people to be detained indefinitely is a good one if it is not abused.

Funds, Food, Inflation

British political leaders have not fully stated their platforms, but it is evident that the U.K. general elections will be fought on issues which Victorian politicians would never have dreamed of as lively; in fact although they are fundamental, they are the strangest in Britain's history. Their very fundamental nature makes them weird, for ordinarily elections are not won on basic issues. They are American cash, calories and—the only common one—the high cost of living. Which party can best hold out the bait of winning American dollars while feeding the people better and reducing the cost of living? The Labour Party has a record; the Conservatives have promises and Churchill. It is unlikely that any party can achieve all three, no matter what promises are made. And no politician can win votes by saying that the standard of living must be reduced.

When the Minister of Food, Mr. Strachey, begins his electioneering with statements about calories, proteins and fats, it is clear that British life has changed radically. The very fact that there is a Minister of Food shows that the living standards of the people are threatened, if not undermined.

Sunday Can Still Be Peaceful

The vote in favour of Sunday sport in the cities of Toronto and Windsor has called forth some curiously undemocratic expressions of opinion both in those cities and in other parts of Ontario. In a democracy, in a rough and ready way, the majority must have what it wants, and majorities in those two cities want more amusement on Sunday. But in a democracy the wants and needs of minorities also deserve consideration; in the matter of Sunday amusement it is easy for both sides to be pleased, for those who want Sunday sport can have it, and those who do not want it are free to stay away from it.

This arrangement, which on the surface seems to be an unusually happy one, does not please a great many of the advocates of a closed Sunday. Not only do they want a closed Sunday for themselves; they also want to impose it on other people. They appear to entertain the strange delusion that people who pass their Sundays in unhappy boredom are doing God's will. We do not think that anybody does God's will unwillingly.

In cities where there are Sunday sports people who wish to do so are just as free to go to church, and to spend hours of quiet meditation, as before. But those who are of a different mind, or who have no pleasant home, may watch games. Is there anything so very dreadful about that?

We have been a little surprised by the attitude of some clergymen and others who want legislation which will prevent sports during the hours of Protestant church services. It is not so long ago that the suggestion was made that any broadcasting except religious broadcasting be banned by the C.B.C. during those hours. Such tactics, we feel, lowers the church to the level of the butter-dealers, who want margarine sold without colour in it. If the churches are convinced of the greatness of their work, they need not fear the competition of sports.

The Puritanism for which Canada has long been remarkable is breaking down, as larger population, quicker communication, and a greater concentration of people in urban areas makes itself felt. And let it be said that the people who oppose that Puritanism, actively or passively, are not abandoned creatures, nor are they what their opponents call "secularists". Many of them, indeed, are deeply religious without being puritanical. The majority are very decent folk, who do not intend to submit to dictation from a minority which adheres to a code which has not, at root, very much to do with Christianity.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A word of political wisdom from the Windsor Star: "Never change gravy trains in mid-gravy".

A Montreal man is charged with stealing a car in order to go into the taxi business. Such enthusiasm for private enterprise warms the heart.

In Quebec, when a young man deprives a girl of her liberty the law calls it "sequestration". Vice versa, it's still called marriage.

Commenting on pulpit jokes the Toronto Star says that "the church should be the backbone, rather than the funnybone, of the community". Obviously the Star agrees with Dr. Johnson's remark that "the merriment of parsons is mighty offensive."

The town of Fergus boasts that every schoolchild there, above the third grade, can swim. This enviable record, and Brantford's fine achievement in quashing diphtheria, deserve attention and emulation everywhere in Ontario.

Barbara Hepworth English Sculptress

By J. P. HODIN

TODAY, nobody seriously disputes the right of the artist to search for new means of expression. In order to create an image of his contemporary world the artist of each age must consider afresh the nature of his environment. Only by the solution of his artistic problems manifested in his works can we determine his success. At the present time we see many artists who have failed to understand the inner meaning of "creation"—the meaning of shapes, of forms and the transforming of chaos into cosmos as it is described in mythology. They have lost, through the overwhelming impact of mechanization, the feeling which connects every being with life as a whole. They do not realize that the formative process is the only living process in nature and art. Problems such as these have preoccupied the British sculptress Barbara Hepworth; and in this connection she says: "The physical act of carving itself plays a very important part. There is a sort of ritual underlying it—I am never so happy as when carving." And again, when she wrote in 1934 that "the present moment is the only time", Barbara Hepworth stressed this genuine spontaneous connection with life through experience (not merely through intellectual approach); and when she added "At the moment we are building up a new mythology" she expressed not only her urge to "create" but also the responsibility of the artist to the present time.

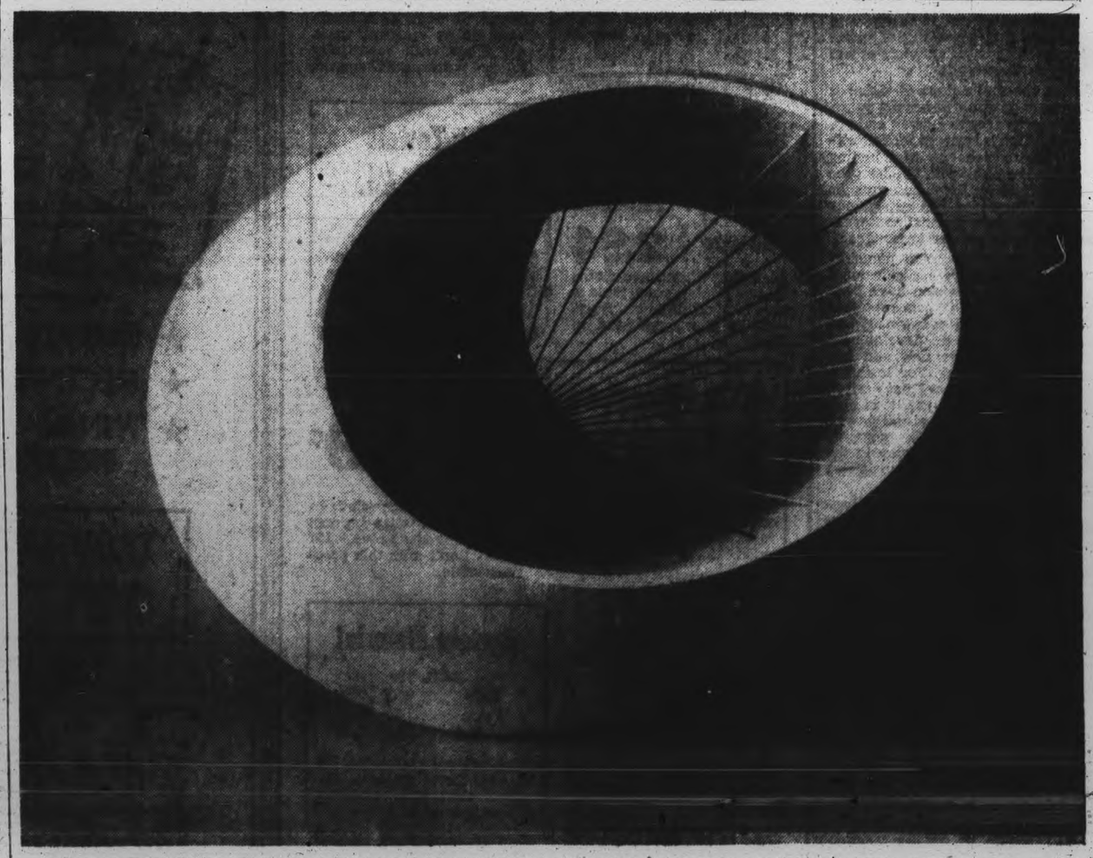
✧ ✧ ✧

BARBARA Hepworth carved directly in wood and stone even as a student at the Leeds School of Art—she was born at Wakefield in the north of England. She continued to carve direct when she moved to the Royal College of Art in London, and later in Rome where she spent three years after winning a travelling scholarship to Italy. The reason why such emphasis is laid on direct carving is that her generation believed it to be the only method of producing real sculpture. They refused to model in clay and then to transfer the clay form to wood or stone. Direct carving did indeed revitalize the whole outlook for sculpture. The influence of Brancusi, Eric Gill, the early Epstein and Gaudier-Brzezka should be noted in passing. During the years 1928 and 1929 a real battle for direct carving was fought by Henry Moore, who began to carve in 1921, Barbara Hepworth and John Skeaping. In exhibitions at the Beaux-Arts Gallery in London and at Tooth's they were attacked by the critics, and, not less violently by the public who hit the exhibits with their umbrellas. Yet only twenty years later we see Moore celebrated as a national hero—so quickly do opinions change.

✧ ✧ ✧

OF her general approach to sculpture Barbara Hepworth says: "If you take a stone and stand it up, it immediately has through its proportions an association with a standing figure or lying with a recumbent figure. The sculptor wishes to give the stone life. The stone, to become a personage has to be carved. What it arrives at, what shape it gets, this is the personality of the artist. In all my sculpture I incorporate all my experience plus the new thing I am trying to find. This is more or less an unconscious process. In the work it begins to evolve . . . I do believe that in all periods there is the same language used in sculpture. . . . This language is an apprehension of form, forms in relation to you. You are of a certain size, an animal has its size, a rock, the earth lies beneath you. If you touch something as a child does, if you hold a baby in your arms, embrace a woman, that is a relationship which can be expressed only in sculpture. Then sense of scale (size of the Universe), the shape, the contour of landscape, the sense of the third dimension, the sense of weight, of texture, of temperature—cold, warm, hard, soft—are emotional and constant in all men. Beyond that is the question of image — far, far back it goes to the times when the first sculpture ever was made. The cave painting is an illusion, but when paleolithic man made a female figure—it exists; there is no illusion about it."

✧ ✧ ✧



LATER Barbara Hepworth achieved depth and tension without using strings by means of holes and concavities in her carving. In Pendour (1937) colour appears as a part of the sculpture. The use of colour is an artistic problem which has occupied her since 1937. Indeed she is one of the few sculptors who have explored this use of colour on wood, marble and other media, and has achieved fine results. The problem is not one of "coloured sculpture", of applied colour, but of achieving through colour the depth of form required by the volume. "Colour and form", I read in her notes of June 1947, "go hand in hand—brown fields and green hills cannot be divorced from the earth's shape. A square becomes a triangle, a triangle a circle, a circle an oval by the continuous curve of folding; and we return always to the essential human form—the human form in landscape." We can discern the influence of the Cornish landscape. Her sculpture has become more subtle and more sophisticated and some of her works, for example the four recumbent (non-figurative) figures, made in 1946 for the new Waterloo Bridge competition, reveal a beauty which can be enjoyed directly without knowing anything about the principles of abstract sculpture.

✧ ✧ ✧

RECENTLY Barbara Hepworth has found a new motif—the surgeon and the operating theatre. Coloured drawings and paintings, the results of this new inspiration, were exhibited in London in 1947. As in the old Greek myth of Antaeus who regains new strength from touching his mother Gaea—the earth—so the artist draws inspiration from life. In these works we find besides the monumentality of form the drama of life itself. Her latest work, the abstract Cosdon Head—four times life-size—is hewn from very hard dark blue Armenian marble. One side male, the other female, it expresses an old idea of Barbara Hepworth's — the harmony of both. It is one of her most important works. Standing on a white pedestal in her garden it looks over the sands of Carbis Bay towards the classic peninsula of St. Ives, fulfilling in a double sense what she always wished to achieve: the wholeness of art and life, the unity of nature and human creativeness.

THE COSDON HEAD, carved in Armenian marble, which is very dark blue, is considered to be the most important recent work of Barbara Hepworth. (See Third Column.

OVAL FORM WITH STRINGS, RED AND BLUE, is the name of this work of Barbara Hepworth's, done in 1943. It is said to express her interest in concavity as a sculptural element—the strings leaping together produce an impression of greater depth than the sculpture alone could convey. (See Third Column).

Letters To The Editor

SPEAKS FOR MANY ABOUT SUMMER THEATRE

Sir: I see that there is some doubt that the Summer Theatre will come to Peterborough this year, as the Board of Education is raising the rent for the Queen Mary Auditorium to a fee which is much too large for the Theatre Group to pay and still charge the same rate for the subscriptions. This is a way of easing the Theatre Group out and we feel that Peterborough was very lucky to have them here. Many people spent extremely enjoyable evenings last summer and we certainly want to be able to see the plays again.

The Theatre Group added a great deal to the cultural life of Peterborough. Not many of us can afford the time and money to go to Toronto to see plays. The taxpayers paid for the auditorium in the Queen Mary School and is it supposed to be used just for children and stand there empty all summer? We think it should be used for adult education and entertainment also.

Why should a few families, who happen to live near the school and find it a nuisance, deprive the whole city of a pleasure which they definitely enjoy?

We have our arena for those who like skating and hockey, our baseball and lacrosse etc. and we want our summer theatre. The people living near the aforementioned activities have to put up with the nuisance of them.

I see also that the Board of Education intends to curtail the past year's eleven weeks to nine weeks. Would it matter if the children of Queen Mary missed their assembly for two weeks in the year, when the children attending all the other schools in the city have no assembly at any time?

The Summer Theatre has now established a clientele here and I think has put Peterborough on the map.

Is the Board of Education working for children only or haven't adults any rights to further education? In these days people tend to think the child is all important; and much as we want to do the best we can for our children, we should do something for ourselves also.

We think the Board is taking a wrong step in not encouraging the Summer Theatre to return to this city and I speak for a large group of citizens.

Yours sincerely,
FLORENCE F. YOUNG.

MOVE TO OUST SUMMER THEATRE?

Sir: Surely Peterborough is not going to sit back and meekly accept the decision to rob them of their Summer Theatre? The theatre has brought many enthusiastic visitors and a lot of good publicity to the city—it is an added attraction in the summer months both to the tourists and to the hundreds of residents who are forced, by virtue of their various employments, to remain in Peterborough during the hot months.

We can all sympathize with the attitude of the School Board towards the costs but I don't think the amount of the bill incurred by the theatre company could possibly justify an increase in rent of one hundred and twenty dollars. A reasonable increase in rent would have appeared quite sensible and unbiased, or even a request to the company to take over all their own running expenses and to supply their own caretaker, but by raising so many obstacles, both financial and otherwise, it would appear to an unprejudiced bystander that a move is under way to oust the theatre company completely—one way or another—and if this is so I don't think a dissenting minority should be permitted to dictate the policy of the city in a matter in which so many people's interests, and enjoyment, are involved.

Yours truly,
SHEILA S. THOMPSON
Hunter St.

CONCERNED OVER YOUNGER GENERATION

Sir: There are people in this present day who seem to think that the country is in the hands of a few money-seeking fools. I shudder to think of the condition of the country when the mad teen-agers of today are in power.

Judging from the many I have had the unfortunate mishap of seeing and bumping into, I have drawn the conclusion that they are crazy young fools who wear odd clothes and eat horrible ice cream concoctions that ruin the stomach.

I have tried, and still cannot picture any of these, the young citizens as public leaders or college professors.

Frankly, I am beginning to wonder why youth is wasted on these people.

If I am wrong will someone please correct me.

JOHN F. C.,
A Disgusted and Worried Citizen.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord said unto Moses, Go unto the people, and sanctify them today and tomorrow, and let them wash their clothes, and be ready against the third day . . . and it came to pass on the third day in the morning, that there were thunders and lightnings, and a thick cloud upon the mount, and the voice of the trumpet exceeding loud; so that all the people that was in the camp trembled . . . And mount Sinai was altogether on a smoke, because the Lord descended upon it in fire: and the smoke thereof ascended as the smoke of a furnace, and the whole mount quaked greatly.

And when the voice of the trumpet sounded long, and waxed louder and louder, Moses spake, and God answered him by a voice. (Ex. 19: 10, 11, 16, 18, 19.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And God spake all these words, saying, I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt have no other gods before me. (Ex. 20: 1-3.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Aut of Zion, the perfection of beauty, God hath shined. Our God shall come, and shall not keep silence: a fire shall devour before him, and it shall be very tempestuous round about him. (Ps. 50: 2, 3.)

City Carpetball

The league schedule for the week of January 23 is:
St. George's No. 2 vs. LOL No. 8; Legion No. 7 vs. Big Bens No. 1; Legion No. 6 vs. Glens No. 10; Quaker's No. 4 vs. Legion No. 5; Treasurer's No. 9 vs. SOE No. 3.

There are two league games not reported for last week.

The Bakers were at home for the visit of the Big Bens, which found the Bens not well-oiled for the first game, losing it 17-7. But they had their balance wheel working perfectly for the second, turning back the Bakers 13-5.

King Billie with the White Charger attacked the Old Citadel and were really pushing the Sons around to the tune of 8-2 in the 5th frame. Then what do you think, the Guardians did? They started the stove going and raised such a smoke screen that it blinded the White Charger and Sons went on to win 11-10. And with the haze still thick, swept to a 10-5 victory in the second assault. So another way has been found to stop the White Charger.

Glens tried hard when they visited the Posties. They were lagging in the first game, tied it up in the 10th end and then lost out 14-11. The Posties piled up a lead in the second game; although those Glens scored a 5 in the 11th they lost again by a score of 14-10.

Campbellford Wins In Trent Loop

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 19. — (ENS).—In the opening game of the T.V.L. season here, Campbellford defeated Marmora by the narrow margin of 5-4. The game was very fast and close. The tilt ended Marmora's winning streak over the Campbellford team with this win. Marmora has defeated Campbellord by wide margins ever since Campbellford took the T.V.L. cup on March 17th, 1947.

Campbellford led off in the scoring in the first period on a goal by Hay from Blake. Marmora tied it up shortly afterwards when Lavender scored on a pass from Stuart. Forrester and Doug Free drew penalties for Campbellford and Darrah went off for Marmora.

In the second period the home club took the lead when Doug Free scored a lovely goal unassisted. Then a few minutes later brother Don Free capped one past Borland to make it 3-1. Smith got an assist on this play. Pace of Campbellford got a tripping penalty. Tanner of Campbellford and Stuart of Marmora went off together and only a few minutes elapsed before Forrester and Loveless went off for roughing. Things opened up a little and Cousins scored from Loveless, then McInroy got another to tie the score.

Trumble of Marmora started the third period by getting a penalty and Blake scored for Campbellford while he was off. Marmora came right back to tie it up with a counter by Lavender on a pass from Stuart. Doug Free of Campbellford went off for two minutes and things looked bad, but with only 18 seconds of play remaining, Hay beat Borand again to sew the game up and the score ended 5-4 in favour of Campbellford. Blake earned an assist on Hay's goal.

All in all, the game was well played, and the teams fairly evenly matched. The close score fairly well indicates the play.

Petes Move Up In Puck Race With 8-6 Win Over Diesels

Staving off a late drive by Belleville Diesels-Electrics here last night, the Petes won 8-6 to climb closer to the second-place Kingston and Belleville clubs in their OHA senior "B" grouping. A fair-sized crowd saw a fast, clean game, one that started like a romp for the Petes, being 4-0 in the first, but developed into a dogfight the last half. It was 3-3 on scores in the second heat and 3-1 for the visitors in the third.

WEST STARS—Junior West, tricky young Orono puckists, shone for the Petes here last night as they beat Belleville 8-6 in a senior "B" fray. Junior scored three goals and aided on two more.

Junior West was the Petes' sparkplug, scoring three goals and assisting on two more. Griffin and Fife were each in on two, Garvey, Mortimer and McMasters counting one apiece Wardaugh, Leo Goyer, Vern Goyer and Meagher were each in on a pair for the Diesels. Defensively, Harding, Leonard and McMasters of the homesters, and Nolan and Vern Goyer of the visitors looked good.

Moved Ahead

With Nolan off in the first for holding, McMasters scored on a pass from West. Griffin and Fife then combined for a pair as the Petes kept breezing in, and LeForte looked shaky in the net. Mortimer made it 4-0 on passes from Coughlin and Conlin, and near the close McMasters drew a charging penalty. Belleville tore back in the second. Wardaugh scoring early from Vern Goyer but Garvey got that one back from West in close. Fife was gated for interference but was back when Wardaugh went around the net to score. Williams added another on Leo Goyer's passout, and Harding had to be good as Diesels pressed hard. Horton and Williams went over for roughing but were back when West scored on a breakaway and came right back alone to tally again on a screened shot.

Roaring Back

Meagher got one off Horton's hand to open the third. Woodman counted another inside from Leo Goyer and then Vern Goyer made it 7-6 from Meagher neatly as Diesels roared in again to keep Harding busy.

The Petes looked badly disorganized at this period of the fray while the Belleville bunch were skating hard and mucking in around the home cage to be robbed repeatedly. It began to look like a tie game, especially when McMasters was waved away 'or tripping, but the Petes weathered the storm. With both sides even it was nip-and-tuck till West raced in fast with Leonard's pass and banged the rubber into the twine at 18.50 to clinch matters.

Belleville: Goal, LeForte; defence, Nolan and Schreider; centre, Barrett; wings, Wardaugh and Meagher; alternates, L. Goyer, Williams, Moher, Jones, Bastedo, Macdonald, V. Goyer and Woodman.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Leonard and Horton; centre, West; wings, Garvey and Creighton; alternates, Fife, Griffin, Collins, Coughlin, Mortimer, Conlin, Jopling and McMasters.

Togs Triumph By 38 to 12 Over Trenton

Towne Togs defeated Trenton girls 38-12 in a scheduled LOBA group cage contest at the YWCA gym. It was an hour late in starting and play was fast most of the way. Togs broke quickly in the early stages to pile up a 24-5 lead in the first half, Jean Vass sparking the attack with 10 points. Dot Callan clicked for six. Play was somewhat closer the next half but Trenton couldn't close the gap, the Togs' defence working good and the forwards breaking fast to take relays up the floor.

The smart all-around work of the homesters made an impression in this showing. Though pressed at times, they still outscored the visitors 14-7 in the second half with some classy hoop play. There were no individual stars for the winners over the route, as they all contributed. B. Robertson, D. Whitely and R. Weatherall looked good for Trenton. Togs go to Port Hope on Wednesday and are at home next Wednesday to Belleville. Teams:

Trenton—B. Robertson 8, D. Whitely 2, B. Reed, H. Weatherall 2, J. Robertson, A. Farrar, M. Gibbs, T. Day, H. Taylor, M. Perry.

Towne Togs—D. Callan 10, M. Kennedy 2, J. Dunk 4, J. Vass 12, R. Hewitt 4, D. Saunders 2, B. Stewart 2, M. Freeman, J. Castle 2, P. Stewart.

The semi-final is between Seelie Samara and Wee Willie Davis. An all-star card that rates a capacity crowd.

Wyatt Pots Four Lindsay Kinsmen Downed By IOOF

Bun Kingdon's Triple Links took a three-point lead in the Junior B grouping Wednesday night as they zipped to a last-minute 7-4 win over the Lindsay Kinsmen in Lindsay. Meanwhile the Belleville Rockets were shoving the Lindsay squad into fourth place and moved into the third with a 9-4 trouncing over the second place Oshawa Junior Bees.

Bob Wyatt fluked his fourth goal of the night at the 18:04 mark of the third period to shove the locals out in front 5-4 after they had tied it up 4-all midway through the period. The Scugog juniors had taken the lead in the second period after the teams had battled to a 1-all tie in the first.

Coach Hank Goldup, former NHL hockey star, pulled his goalie, Poole, from the nets twice during the next minute and a half, only to have this strategy backfire twice to give the Oddfellows the nod 7-4.

Scores Four

Wyatt turned in the best scoring effort displayed so far this year by the Oddfellows, rapping home four goals. Al lof them were scored at vital points in the game. He tied the game three times 1-all, 2-all, and 4-all in the first, second and third periods respectively. Then he scored the winning goal on a passout from behind the Lindsay net which hit Poole's skates and slipped across the red line.

Poole had stopped the Trips with a solid effort between the pipes for the orange and blue up to this point. He stood out particularly in the opening minutes of the game when his teammates were not backchecking the Triple Link forwards who were drifting in for shot after shot.

Referee Larry Heffering of Whitby dominated the play in the first period as he sent eight players to the sinbin, five Triple Links getting the nod. Lewis for Lindsay received the first of two misconducts received by him after a minor wrestling match with Tommy Birch. In the second period he was sent from the game when he tried to knock down Heffering after Nicholls had put the Kinsmen up 4-3 to end the scoring of the second There were only eight penalties in the rest of the game.

Lindsay goals were scored by Jenkins, Lewis, Nicholls and Crawford while the other three goals scored by the Triple Links were by Millar, Ross, Mason and Jerry Desjardin.

Lindsay Open

Jenkins opened the scoring in the fast-moving first period at 9:16 after the Trips had tested Poole without success. Turner flipped a pass to Wyatt from behind the net at 13:42 while Walling was in the penalty box to tie the score.

Crawford put Lindsay one up at the 1:55 minute of the second, only to have Wyatt's second goal —a break-away which caught the Lindsay squad unawares Hennessey, the sole defenceman, fell just as he was about to check Wyatt. Millar put the locals up at the 9:25 mark, with Floyd in the penalty box. Lewis at 12:14 and Nicholls at 16:30 gave the Kinsmen a 4-3 score to take into the third.

Wyatt with Dean Wasson connecetd at 6:22 of the third to tie the score while Wyatt's goal at 18:04 made the score 5-4. Goldup pulled Poole from the nets at 18:10, only to have Desjardin slide a long shot into the open net at 18:30. Poole returned to the nets for 10 seconds, when Wasson got a penalty for tripping (Baker sat it out). Again Poole was pulled, only to have Ross Mason score the locals' seventh goal at 19:41.

This game was the last encounter with the Lindsay squad in league play. The Oddfellows took three games while the other ended in 7-all fixture.

The lineups:

Peterborough Oddfellows — Goal, Red Wasson; defence, Fennell and Millar; centre, Birch; wings, Baker and Doris; alternates, D. Wasson, Richlark, Casey, Desjardin, R. Mason, B. Mason, Turner, Wyatt, Floyd, and Hehn.

Lindsay Kinsmen — Goal, Poole; defence, Hennessey and Lucas; centre, Karrys; wings, Crawford and Dysart; alternates, Kimble, Walling, Burn, Jenkins, Nicholls, Lewis, Sinclair, Brown, Debois.

Officials—Larry Heffering of Whitby, referee; Lloyd Eberts of Lindsay, linesman.

The summary:

Top part of this pillar is being written a bit early so we don't know the results of the local cage encounters last eve as yet. Two girls' games billed for the YWCA tomorrow night: Normals vs. CGE, and Neill's vs. Nurses Juniors, commencing at 8.15 sharp. Schedule has one more month to go ere playoffs set in. PCVS junior "A" and senior boys are off to Oshawa Friday for COSSA group games. Their schedules have less than a month left. Likely some action planned for Saturday p.m. by the Outboard Mariners, who await a bye into OABA playdowns in another month or so.

An interesting puck item from St. Kitts on the "absence of defences of modern usage having any potency as scorers, and Syl Apps, Dit Clapper and Hal Cotton all spoke of the decline. They thought the modern trend was to stress the pass-ahead to racing forwards nearer the opposite net. In short, please fans who want more attack-storming than a sound defence." Cotton said he hadn't lately seen a good minor defenceman who promised future scoring ability. Apps told how he taught the Dukes to forget stick-handling behind their own blue line. Clear it out quickly, he teaches. Yes, do your stick-handling only from centre ice in toward the enemy cage, that's the idea today.

Paying For Injuries

Glen Carson happened to remark the other day that the Legion hockey club was insured this year, and he thought the group accident policy came to around $400. A good idea, if a club can afford it. For instance, last year Legion weren't covered and they had to kick out more than $800 for one bad accident alone. Dootch Vitarelli suffered a nasty jaw fracture when hit by a puck in a practice. It required a special operation and hospitalization in Toronto for a spell. That gouge in the payroll changed a generally successful season into one partly spoiled by red ink on the ledger.

Kingston Nylons play the Legionnaires at 8.30 tomorrow (Friday) eve in Civic Arena, an OHA senior "B" fixture. The second-place Nylons are as canny a bunch of puckists as ever came down the pike, especially that starry veteran trio up front, featuring fast-stepping Walt Gerow and his buddies Catlin and Partis. We also like the way Joey Catlin floats out there looking for breaks. Udy Udall wears specs but he plays a whole lot of goal game after game. Yeah, they're a strong squad and should hustle the speedy and scrappy Ellis outfit plenty. This is a right promising senior struggle and should draw a hefty Friday night crowd.

Petes Take Another

M'sieu LeForte of Belleville Diesels proved no tough fort for the Petes to crack last p.m. here, as they took an 8-6 win to improve their spot in the senior "B" standing considerably. A few more wins and they'll be right up with Kingston and Diesels. Looked like a waltz for the Foley flock in that 4-0 first frame, but the Quinte crew outplayed 'em the rest of the way and made it much too close for comfort. Ray Harding saved 'the locals' hides on a number of occasions, with Gus Leonard good defensively, and Bill McMasters also pretty effective. Junior West was easily the pick of the forwards and the big sniper of the evening. A fast, clean contest before a medium crowd.

* * * * * * *

Puck clashes all over the place last p.m. and our other two OHA clubs came through with nice victories to make it a clean sweep. Junior "B" IOOF-ers were impressive in Lindsay with a 7-4 triumph, led by Bob Wyatt who netted the biscuit four times. They're off to Port Hope tomorrow. In Gananoque, the Legionnaires rolled merrily along to take it 12-6 and keep well atop the senior "B" pile. If they can take that one with Kingston here tomorrow, they can pretty well coast in. By the way, Ned Vitarelli was a visitor back here yesterday and he saw last night's number at the arena. Says he plays the odd intermediate game in Montreal. Another OHA tilt saw Lakefield's strong squad grab an 11-4 verdict o'er Lindsay.

Legion Victors By 12 to 6 Over The Gans

GANANOQUE, Jan. 19 — Displaying one of the best forms of hockey played here this year, Peterborough Legionnaires swamped Gananoque 12-6 in a senior "B" OHA tilt last night. A crowd of 800 watched the Gananoque team, confused and outclassed, put up a valiant but losing battle from the first 11 minutes of play.

Fast skating and fancy power-play combinations not before seen by Gananoque this year, contributed to their defeat. Lady Luck took a hand in helping the Legionnaires in the second frame when a stick and leg rebound twice sent counting pucks into the Gananoque net, giving the visiting team a triple edge in the period. Crowley, Rochetta and Vitarelli were puck scooping around the Gananoque net in both these affairs.

Net minder for the Gans, Joe McDonald, was left at the mercy of the Peterborough onslaught in the second session when defenceman Neil McCarney was left helpless with a broken stick. Quick to seize the initiative Legionnaires swarmed their opponents net to rap in a counter.

Three Go Off

Despite their best counter attack opportunity of the game, the Gans failed to click for the score board when goalie Nicholls was given a penalty seat along with two team mates in the fast frame. Brilliant defence work by Peterborough along with Gananoque's inability to synchronize their rushers held the home team to a pair of goals in this period.

The fast, Vitarelli-Rochetta combine paced the Legionnaires attack with Tommy Tindal contributing one of the most spectacular plays for Gananoque when he picked up a loose puck in the third and manoeuvred it into Legionnaire's territory and net to sink his third goal of the game.

A high penalty count that saw the game end in a fracas was the only smudge on the best hockey slate seen this year at the Gananoque Arena.

The teams:

Legionnaires — Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and Burns; centre, Rochetta; wings, Crowley and Vitarelli; alternates, Parnell, Greenlaw, Mortimer Montgomery, Hill, Stewart, Fryia, and Treen; sub goalie, Heath.

Gananoque — Goal, McDonald; defence, Keyes and McCarney; centre, Tindal; wings, Jackson and Harper; alternates, Reynolds, Rines, Dunn, Jamieson, Compeau, Anderson; sub goalie, Burtch.

Referee—Ted Early. Linesman—Bill Hastie

Richmond Rink Captures Canada Packers Trophy

By HERB MARTIN.

It was the rink of the veteran Jimmy Richmond, that came through with three wins and enough points to win the beautiful silver Canada Packers Trophy in the open bonspiel held at the curling rink on Wednesday. Close behind came Dr. R. Clark's rink and the other three-game winner was M. Thurston of Lindsay.

With a complete quota of 28 rinks from curling clubs all around this district, the bonspiel was a big success.

Beginning well on time and playing through all day, the rinks each played three 10-end games and the bonspiel was all over about 11 p.m.

A Fine Game

In a bonspiel as large as this one, it is impossible to watch all the games, but the one that caught our eye, and we believe that most of the spectators will agree, was the Downey and Clarke game. It was a honey right from beginning to end. Wonderful curling and Mr. Downey was just a few inches short of squaring the game with his last stone. We doubt if "Old Man Eloquent" ever played a better game. His rink supported him well and Dr. Clark's tankard rink had to bend backwards to win.

The games were witnessed by large crowds all day. Too much credit cannot be given to those curlers who, through lack of curling ice, have not had any practice. Their support is greatly appreciated by the club.

And so with the presentation of prizes another open bonspiel was recorded a big success

Durnan Gets 7th Shutout Edges Toronto Leafs 1-0

By HARRY ECCLES.
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Big Bill Durnan of Montreal Canadiens today boasts a record of seven shut-outs, topping all National Hockey League goaltenders. And none of them was more valuable than the one he turned in when the Canadiens edged the Maple Leafs 1-0 at Toronto Wednesday night.

Durnan was brilliant as all efforts of the Leafs failed to gain a matcher for the winning goal that centre Elmer Lach scored on a pass from Glen Harmon after two minutes of play. The battling Leafs fired 26 shots at Durnan while Canadiens had only 14 against Turk Broda in the Toronto nets.

That victory at Toronto strengthened the Canadiens' hold on second place. The leading Detroit Red Wings edged Chicago Black Hawks 5-4 and Boston Bruins defeated New York Rangers 4-2. Today Detroit has an 11 point leadership margin over the Canadiens. Montreal with 43 points is a game and a half ahead of the injury crippled Rangers. Boston is fourth with 38. Toronto fifth with 37 and Chicago well down in the cellar with 32.

The Leafs yanked Broda twice in the dying minutes of the game for a six man attack on Durnan's citadel, without results. Actually one puck flew past Durnan, Ezinicki slamming it in early in the third period, but wild Bill was offside by a mile on the play and none of the Leafs protested when it was ruled out.

A Heetic Night

At Chicago the Wings' rookie goalie Terry Sawchuk, up from Indianapolis to replace the injured Harry Lumley, had 35 saves in a heetic night as the Wings edged out the Hawks. Captain Sid Abel scored two goals. Gerry Couture, Gordie Howe and Red Kelly getting the others. Bill Mosienko, Metro Prystai, Gus Bodnar and Bill Gadsby scored for Chicago.

Abel climbed into a tie with his team-mate Ted Lindsay for the scoring leadership, adding an assist to his two goals while Lindsay was pointless. The Detroit stars each have 46 points.

At New York the Rangers were minus four regulars and had only 16 shots on rookie Jack Gelineau in the Bruin cage, while Chuck Rayner faced 26.

In the fourth straight loss for the New Yorkers, Boston's goals were obtained by Captain Milt Schmidt, with two, and Paul Ronty and Norman Poile. Young forward Jean-Paul Lamirande, brought up from the New Haven AHL club, scored both Ranger goals.

Buffalo Downs Providence 5-1

By The Canadian Press.

The race in the American Hockey League's eastern division is tighter today than it ever was.

Only six points separate the league leading Providence Reds from the fourth place New Haven Ramblers and Hershey Bears occupy the cellar seven points below the Ramblers.

Buffalo Bisons moved to within one point of the Reds Wednesday night by downing the leaders 5-1 in Buffalo. A goal by Roger Bedard with about 75 seconds left in the game robbed Gordie Bell of a shutout.

Springfield Indians, trailing the Bisons by two points, met up with Cincinnati Mohawks, and the Mohawks settled for their 13th tie of the season, 5-5. Giles Dube and Al Hirschfeld tallied twice for the eastern division tailenders.

Overcoming a two goal deficit and thrice breaking out of deadlocks, Cleveland Barons eked out a 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh Hornets.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Sid Abel, Detroit Red Wings' captain, Wednesday night moved into a first-place tie with teammate Ted Lindsay who had been leading the National Hockey League individual scoring parade for 10 weeks. Abel tallied twice and assisted on another Detroit marker to bring his totals to 23 goals and 23 assists for 46 points. Lindsay has 17 goals and 29 assists.

Boton's Paul Ronty jumped into second spot with 38 points, one ahead of Maurice Richard of Montreal and Chicago's Roy Conacher who are tied with 37 points. Gordie Howe, Detroit's right winger, follows with 36, two points ahead of Doug Bentley of Chicago.

Dodgers Loaded With Rookies Seeking Spot

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Jan. 19—(AP)—Offhand one might say Brooklyn Dodgers need the new faces about as much as an Eskimo needs an icebox.

Since the close of the 1949 season, the talent-laden Brooks unloaded six triple-A stars to rival National League clubs. Yet there will still be 20 eager, ambitious rookies on the Dodger varsity at Vero Beach, Fla., next March.

Naturally, the group will include the highest rating potential young star in all the minors. He is Bobby Morgan, 23-year-old short-stop of Montreal Royals. President Branch Rickey already has turned down an offer of $150,000 for him.

All-star International Leaguer at his position in 1949 and the same last season with the most valuable player mantle added, Morgan is likely to be seen at third base a great deal next season at Ebbett's Field.

Best In Four Years

Last season, Bob batted .337, his best mark in four years of pro ball. He hit 19 home runs and 35 doubles and drove in 111 runs.

Morgan is one of the new six infielders who will be hustling for a job with the Dodgers. Others are Clarence (Buddy) Hicks, Dee Fonday, Wayne Belardi, Rocky Bridges and Kevin Connors.

Of the outfielder prospects, Bill Antonello, a Brooklyn-born lad, appears on the roster for the first time. Although he failed to reach .300 by one point, the 22-year-oldester showed he could hit that long ball. His record at mobile showed 38 doubles, 13 triples and 13 homers.

Bowling Results

Ray Bennett Jr. showed the way this week in the YMCA men's senior bowling circuit, hitting a 764 triple which included a single of 355. R. Suddards had a 300 single while G. MacDonald's 719 three included a 288 game. Bob Dyer's 771 embraced a 273 P. Johnson rolled a cross of 704 Quakers had top pinnage of 3236, and Artists best single of 1241.

Aberdeens blanked B'nai B'rith 6-0, as 4-2 victories were racked up by Packers over Tip Tops, Jay Bees against Artists, and Quakers over Commercial The standing: Commercials 52, Aberdeens 52, Artists 50, Quakers 46, CPC 39, Tip Top 34, B'nai B'rith 33, Jay Bees 32.

In the Mercantile League, Ken McVeety rolled high 324 single and leading 753 threesome. Other good scores were: Fudge Ronco 291 in a 655 triple, Frank Worsencroft 252 in 679; Kay Lowes 266 to lead girls; and Gladys Hamilton a 627 triple. Addie Jackson won the Collis' nylons with 235. Braund's No. 1 took four from A & P, as Utilities, New Centre, Lift Lock and Loblaw's each took three from Prudential, Bond Clothes. City Hall and Braund's No. 2 Standing: New Centre 42, City Hall 42, Braund's No. 1 40, Lift Lock 36, Loblaw's 32, Utilities 30, Prudential 18, A &P 18, Bond's 14, and Braund's No. 2 with 11 High pinnage of 2985 went to Braund's No. 1.

COLLEEN TOWNSEND, pretty Hollywood starlet, has announced that she will give up her promising film career to study theology. She's aiming at a career as either a missionary or religious teacher. She says she feels her true happiness lies in religious work.

Four Deadlocked For Second Place

QUEBEC, Jan. 19 (CP)—Four rinks entered in the Provincial curling championships today were deadlocked for second place with two wins each after two draws were played Wednesday.

The rinks are A. H. Simons' Quebec Victoria foursome; C. O Baptist's Three Rivers, Que., veterans of the roarin' game, Ormstown, Que., skipped by Armand Brunet and a smart playing Malartic, Que., quartet under skip John Waugh.

The railbirds particularly liked the performances of Simons' Quebec curlers, who whipped Montreal Heather 17-7 in the first draw. They came back in Wednesday night's second draw to defeat F. McNab's Kenogami, Que., rink 11-8.

Another rink to get knowing nods from experts here was Malartic. Waugh's foursome won themselves two easy victories knocking out Rodrigue Cote's Matane, Que., rink, defending champions, 16-6, and the Sherbrooke, Que., entry, skipped by A. J. Peabody, 13-5.

Cote roared back in the second draw to defeat Montreal Heather 11-6.

King Edward Wins

King Edward intermediates blanked King George yesterday at the Arena 4-0 for their second straight School Hockey League shutout of the season. They looked better throughout, with the first line of Sutherland, Beggs and Rusaw sparkling. The latter scored two while his line-mates got one each. Goalie Roberts for King George went good to keep the score down. Teams:

King Edward—Halcrow, Ferguson, Hunt, Keating, Rusaw, Sutherland, Beggs, Rowe, Stevens, Simmons, Curtis, Saunders, Mills, Fisher and MacArthur.

King George—Roberts, Pollard, Clark, Harding, English, Grills, Innes, Barker, Harding, Ellis, Baptie, Hale, Donahey, Maniece.

Williams Gets Highest Pay In Major Leagues

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP) — The popular baseball argument—who draws the biggest pay cheque Williams, DiMaggio, or Feller?—won't have the old familiar ring this year.

Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox outfielder, is almost sure to stand out by himself as the highest paid employee on the major league diamonds.

Cleveland's Bob Feller, his one-time fireball now just lukewarm, took a reported $20,000 salary whack Wednesday. Joe DiMaggio the New York Yankees' sore-heeled question mark, is said to face a $25,000 scissoring on his contract.

This would remove these two baseball capitalists from the Ruthian pay brackets, leaving Williams with the No. 1 income tax headache.

The Boston outfielder received in the neighborhood of $100,000 for his efforts last season, according to reliable reports, and there is no reason to believe he won't take an equally large gouge this time from Tom Yawkey's millions because of his brilliant record last year.

He led the American League in almost every offensive department, losing the batting championship by the margin of a scratch single.

Meanwhile, the 31-year-old Feller, the onetime $80,000 a year mound wonder, inked his wocking papers yesterday after a conference with general manager Hank Greenburg. Observers say he'll pitch this year for a straight $45,000 salary, no bonuses.

DiMaggio, on best authority, earned between $90,000 and $100,000 last year.

Norwood Winners Against Frankford

NORWOOD, Jan. 19 (ENS) — Norwood eked out an 8-5 TVL victory here last evening over Frankford in a tidy tussle. Frankford had a 3-1 the first frame when McKee counted two goals and Cook one, the latter, Rankin and Mills each having an assist. Webb got one for Norwood. Webb and Hamilton tied it up early in the second, Hamilton and G. Payne aiding and, after Cook counted from Mills, Webb slapped home two, Smith and Hamilton assisting. In the third, Schmidt scored for Frankford from Rankin, but Kelly, Clements and Webb gave Norwood a margin assist each going to Webb, Evans and Lonsberry. Webb and Hamilton shone throughout in the speedy, clean contest. Teams:

Frankford—Goal, Davis; defence, Schmidt and Farmer; centre, Courtney; wings, Rankin and McKee; alternates, Cole, Mills, Cook and Prout.

Norwood—Goal, Morrison; defence, G. Payne and Hamilton; centre, Kelly; wings, Clements and Evans; alternates, Rogers, Brown, Webb, Smith, Lonsberry, Petterson, Dracup and Coons.

Referees—Craig and Leggitt.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

In most occupations it isn't too difficult for a son to follow in dad's footsteps but it's a pretty tough proposition in the hockey "business."

And it's a tougher chore when "dad" happens to have been one of the greats of Canadian hockey

Norm Schriner, son of Dave (Sweeney) Schriner who twice captured National Hockey League scoring honors, isn't certain that he is suited for the "like father, like son" role.

At 17, 160 pound Norm is as tall as his dad—six feet—and, although a juvenile, plays on the third string of Calgary Buffaloes of the Western Canada Junior League. His coach is Lorne Carr, who for 10 years with the New York Americans and Toronto Maple Leafs was a linemate of Sweeney's.

Carr says young Norm will be heftier than his dad—"he's bigger boned"—and already shows some of the polish around the nets that made Sweeney a scoring star. However, he hasn't yet acquired the easy grace with which Sweeney took a pass and made the rubber and stick appear one.

At Woodstock, hundreds of fans and many Western Ontario sports notables crowded the Community Arena Wednesday night to honor 79-year-old Frank Hyde, the jovial and still energetic dean of Oxford county sportsmen.

The former president of the Ontario Hockey Association was presented with a gold plated hockey stick in an informal program featured by a skating show and topped off by an exhibition game between Hamilton Tigers and local Athletics.

The California State Athletic Commission has lifted its suspension of lightweight champion Ike Williams, secretary J M. Genshlea said Wednesday night at Sacramento. Williams was suspended for not appearing for a scheduled bout at the Los Angeles Olympic Auditorium last August.

Bob Palmer, utility player with Guelph Biltmores of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A league, has been suspended for the remainder of the season, team manager Roy Mason announced Wednesday night at Guelph.

Mason said the action resulted from two incidents within the last week. Palmer, a former Oshawa General, failed to report for practice Monday, and at the end of the second period in Tuesday's game against Barrie Flyers took off his uniform and refused to play any more hockey, he said.

Assistant secretary George Panter of the Ontario Hockey Association said Wednesday at Toronto the OHA would conduct a thorough investigation into the brawl at the Woodstock Arena Tuesday night.

As a result of a fight between two players from the Brantford and Woodstock OHA Senior "B" teams, Arthur Paquette, Woodstock spectator, faces an assault charge.

Philadelphia Phillies Wednesday disclosed they have offered outfielder Del Ennis a 1950 contract in excess of $20,000—largest ever tendered a Phillies player A club spokesman also said the National League team's payroll will exceed $300,000 for 1950, also a club record.

May Extend Schedule For Teams In ORHA

WELLAND, Jan. 19 (CP) — A further extension of schedule time because of the lack of natural ice will be considered at the classification meeting of the Ontario Rural Hockey Association here today.

Secretary H. V. Ovenden said that classification would be established on the basis of population and team strength.

Leagues to be classified as Intermediate A or B are: Oxford-Waterloo; Erie; South Waterloo; Central Oxford; North Brant; North Oxford; South Oxford; East Elgin; North Wentworth; Pickering; Nobleton; Bolton; Haliburton-Victoria; Tri-county; Hillsburg; South Simcoe; and Lake Simcoe.

Senior team affiliations are: Orono; Gravenhurst, Breslau; Stamford Centre; Alliston; Markham; Highland Creek, Humber Summit; Westmount; Fenelon Falls; Dresden; Omemee; Port Lambton; West Lorne; and Norwich.

Deadline for the return of player certificates has been set at Jan. 21 and their approval will be up for consideration at the executive meeting.

Study Barriers For Big 4 Entry

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (CP)—The Big Four Football Union may decide Saturday how high a barrier new entries must hurdle to get into the charmed circle.

Reports today indicate two opposing schools of thought among the present four teams—Montreal Alouettes, Ottawa Rough Riders, Toronto Argonauts and Hamilton Wildcats.

It is said thot the Argos will submit a resolution to the annual meeting "that no further clubs be admitted except on the unanimous vote of the four members."

However, an amended constitution to be offered for consideration provides that new entries may be accepted if three-fourths of present members say okay. Leo Dandurand of the Alouettes is the man who has charge of revising the constitution.

Back of all this is an application from a New Toronto team which has hopes of playing home games Sundays at Maple Leaf Stadium, the Toronto baseball park.

QM Boys Win Out

Queen Mary edged out a 1-0 senior School Hockey League win over Prince of Wales in a fine fray. Cullen got the lone goal in the first period on a pass from Dunn. Evans shone in the losers' net, while Dunn and Stewart showed up well for the victors. Teams:

Prince of Wales—Evans, Speirs, Downer, Pagett, Faiers, Crough, Brockwell, Barrie, Coit, Whitney, Heron, Marchen.

Queen Mary — Deck, Dunn, Stewart, Merrett, Cullen, Roberts, Franks, Cuffe, Brady, Jackson.

Snead Beats Hogan Out For Golf Title

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19 (AP)—The greatest golf comeback of all time didn't quite hit its peak. Which is one way of saying that Sam Snead beat out Ben Hogan in the playoff for the Los Angeles open title.

He did it by four strokes, too.

But remember back a little.

Last Feb. 5, that story from El Paso, Tex., reported that "Hogan's left ankle, one bone of which was broken, was placed in a cast . . . physians plan to apply a cast for a broken pelvis bone. The golf star fractured a collarbone and rib."

And the item from El Paso March 3 read: "Golfer Ben Hogan was reported in a serious condition today as a result of a blood clot complication . . ."

The doctors said Hogan might never walk around 18 holes again, much less play that distance.

Still Fighting

But he's the same Hogan who shot a 280, four strokes under par, in his comeback to golf over Riviera's tricky, treacherous 18 holes last week. And who finally lost to Slammin' Snead, the West Virginian, in Wednesday's playoff, postponed a week by rain.

Slammin' Sam went around in 72 strokes, one over par. Bantam Ben took 76 strokes.

It was the same smooth Snead who last year won more than $30,000 as the country's top pro golfer, replacing Hogan, who banked slightly less the year before.

Snead's win meant first prize of $2,600, plus his one-fourth share of the $7,200 playoff gate. All told, Snead took in more than $4,400. Hogan's gate share, plus $1,900 second money, boosted his bank account by $3,700 plus.

Port Hope Captures Easy Cage Victory

Port Hope beat St. Peter's junior "B" cage crew 58-15 here last night in a group game. The experienced Hopers had it their way throughout, though the Saints fought hard. Lenahan counted eight points in the first quarter and Ross got four, with Carson and Trawin having two each. Plummer's single made it 9-0, but Brioux got two points for the losers. Killen, Richardson and O'Neill worked hard in the second for SPS, Richardson hitting the hoop twice, but the half ended 35-8.

Play was up and down in the second half with a lot of fumbling. Lenahan led the attack as the Saints were held off in the third quarter, the frame ending 46-8. Armstrong got three early in the last heat and Killen hit the basket for SPS twice, but the Hopers kept getting in there near the finish to win well in front.

An early type of bicycle was known as the "boneshaker" because of its extreme vibrations, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

TWO IN A BASKET—Snarling a wastebasket in Hatfield, Eng., are Tarahumara and Tolteca, a couple of Chihuahuas from down Mexico way. They are two of only a dozen of their breed in England, and though they don't weigh so much, they are worth quite a few pounds.

Canadians Have Good Curling

FALKIRK, Scotland, Jan. 19 (CP)—Canadian curlers had a good day in exhibition play on Wednesday, defeating Scottish teams in Falkirk and Perth by 122 shots.

The Canadian A team in Falkirk downed the Scottish Central Province team 149-50 while in Perth the Dominion's B team defeated the Dundee Province team 116-84.

Today the teams go into practice sessions again for Strathcona Cup play Monday when the third of five test matches is scheduled. The Canadians are at present 39 down in their attempt to bring the trophy back to Canada.

The A team goes to Ayr while the B team comes to Falkirk.

The winning A rinks Wednesday were skipped by Gordon E. Mould, Winnipeg; B. S. McNiece, Regina; A. F. McDowell, Timmins, Ont.; A. J. Parkhill, Oshawa, Ont.; Jack Hutton, Calgary, Alta; and A. R. Stirling, Wolfville, N. S.

B team winners were J. L. Bowman, Dauphin, Man.; Alex J. Latta, Edmonton; Archie Young, Carlyle, Sask.; and Emmett Smith Bourlamaque, Que.

Spitfires Crush Generals In 11-6 Triumph

WINDSOR, Jan. 19—(CP)—Earl Reibel, leading scorer in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League, added seven points to his total Wednesday night as he paced Windsor Spitfires to an 11-6 win over Oshawa Generals.

Five goals and two assists made up his seven point total in the Spitfires' eighth consecutive victory. The win moved them to within two points of third-place Guelph and the Spitfires are slated to play the Biltmores in a four-point game on Friday.

Windsor surged into a 5-0 lead in the first period and increased it to 9-2 at the end of the middle session. The Generals outscored the prolific Spitfires 4-2 in the finale but fell far short of the required nine markers.

Erwin Grosse followed Reibel's red-hot performance with three goals and an assist. Other goal scorers in the Spitfire cause were Eddie Stankiweicz, Bob Bailey and Jim Hay.

George Samolenko and Caron paced the Oshawa attack with a pair of goals each. Lou Jankowski and Marcel Clements notched the others.

Oddly enough the records showed that the Windsor crew were playing the opportunist role for a change. Only two of the winners' goals were scored when the teams were playing at even strength. On the first nine goals Windsor held a one-man advantage.

Berwick, of Oshawa, was given a match penalty in the second period for kicking at Deligh, of Windsor.

Find Oshawa Curlers Dominating Play

OSHAWA, Jan. 19 (CP)—Rinks of the Oshawa Curling Club dominated play Wednesday in the Ontario tankard and Governor-General's district cup bonspiel.

Only two clubs contested the tankard event, Oshawa emerging with a 39-20 margin over Cobourg. In the district cup event Oshawa eliminated Woodville in the first draw 40-17. Cobourg curlers, who beat out Port Colborne 37-24 in the first round, bowed 39-36 in the finals against Oshawa.

Plans 3-Week Tour

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (CP) — Sidney Smith, president of the University of Toronto, will leave Jan. 28 on a three-week visit to alumni groups in seven western Canada cities, to make what he calls "a report to the shareholders." Dr. Smith will bring Varsity graduates up-to-date on what has happened to their alma mater since they left.

Affected By Prejudice

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (CP)—The director of a Toronto community centre estimates that 1,500,000 Negroes, Jews and Catholics in Ontario are affected by racial and religious prejudice. Discrimination is "no respecter of persons," said Mrs. Vyola Miller of the Home Service Association in an address to a Home and School club Tuesday night.

Apply For Increase

GUELPH, Jan. 19 (CP) — The Guelph Light and Heat Commission announced Wednesday it has applied to the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission for a 19.6 per cent increase in Hydro rates. A spokesman for the commission said the boost would just be sufficient to offset the increase in cost of power to the local board.

Produces Orchid

EDMONTON, Jan .19 —(CP)— An orchid, a delicate tropical bloom usually grown only in hothouses in the northern hemisphere, has come to light here during one of the worst cold snaps in Alberta's history. Three purple and pink blossoms burst on a plant kept in the home of Mrs. Dairy Wilders. Florists said it is unusual for an orchid to live in a house.

Ontario Legisature Opens In Two Weeks

TORONTO, Jan. 19 — Second session of the 23rd Ontario Legislature will open four weeks from today. Premier Frost announced Wednesday that the opening date would be Thursday, Feb. 16, which coincides with the start of a new session at Ottawa.

Allowing for the traditional prorogration at Easter, this means the government will have seven weeks during which to legislate. It will also allow the rural members to get back to their farms for an early start on the spring work.

The opening will mark the debut of two government members elected since the last session. They are Hugh Reynolds, Leeds, and Marcel Leger, North Cochrane. Mr. Reynolds will move for adoption of the Speech from the Throne, thus leading off in the debate, and Mr. Leger will second the motion.

STURGIS, Sask., Jan. 19 (CP) —An engineer and a brakeman were injured Wednesday in a collision between an extra freight train and the Canadian National Railways' Regina-Flin Flon passenger train. The accident occurred in 40-below-zero weather at Hinchcliffe, 12 miles north of here. Sturgis is 50 miles north of Yorkton and about 180 miles east of Saskatoon.

Norwood Soldier Camps Out In Zero Weather

A thin tent, flannelet pyjamas and wax candles may seem like little protection from 40 below zero weather, but John Rae, Norwood, together with 160 other Canadian Army men have little else between them and a cold outside at a training camp at Wainwright, Alberta.

The men at the camp, 135 miles south-east of Edmonton, are preparing and are being subjected to winter indoctrination to prepare them for next month's joint Canadian-American winter manoevres along the Alaska highway.

Private Rae, son of Mr. and Mrs Joseph Rae, Norwood, is a member of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps. He joined the army more than a year ago.

The men taking the training form groups of five for living in a tent. The chores rotate, with two men always on sentry duty at the same time and one man in charge of cooking for a day.

Their commanding officer is trying to stress team spirit. He is teaching the men to make full use of their clothing and equipment.

They can sleep in their bare skins in sleeping bags in 40 below weather. They lie on top of their clothes, body warmth protecting their clothes from the extreme cold. The man who is cook for the day serves the others their breakfast in their sleeping bags.

Pyjamas are being worn in preference to long underwear for the sub-zero temperatures.

Candles, containing 50 percent food value, by weight, are to be chewed in case of emergency. The men are reminded not to waste this food. They can't burn their candles and eat them too.

JOB FOR THE ARMY—Called to help fight floods along the Wabash River, soldiers build mud boxes to hold back the rampaging waters. These troops of the 67th Field Artillery are helping out at Vincennes, Ind. Major floods also loomed in many parts of the Ohio and Mississippi valleys, in what was called the most severe flood threat since 1937.

PRIVATE JOHN RAE, Norwood, is one of 160 men living out in tents in sub-zero weather in a Canadian army training scheme at Wainwright, Alberta. The men are preparing for joint Canadian-American manoeuvres to be held next month on the Alaska highway.

Brave 70 MPH Gale

OTTAWA, Jan. 19 (CP)—Daring steeple-jacks, swaying in winds as high as 70 miles an hour, Wednesday dismantled a weather vane 16-storeys high on the Confederation Building at the corner of Bank and Wellington Streets. Denies Racing Caused Crash

WELLAND, Jan. 19.—(CP). — Accused of manslaughter in the highway death of Theodore Willick Dec. 1, Rocco Ciarllo testified Wednesday he was reaching to release a stuck accelerator when he hit something which broke his windshield.

Ciarllo denied under questioning he was racing with another car driven by Alex Battista.

Willick, who lived in Willoughby Township, was killed while cycling home from a dance in New Germany. Ciarllo and Battista, who is similarly charged, had attended the same dance.

Ciarllo denied evidence of a previous witness, Frank Pasco, a passenger in Battista's car, that he had passed Battista twice and that Battista was trying to repass him when the fatality occurred.

Ciarllo said his accelerator stuck while he was going about 45 miles an hour. After something broke his windshield, he stopped at the scene for two or three minutes, but saw nothing. He and Battista, who also stopped, decided it must have been a mail-box.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 19 — (AP) —The State Water Power and Control Commission today granted water-short New York City temporary permission to take 100,000,000 gallons a day from the Hudson River until Jan. 1, 1957. Franco Said Turning To Russia Because West Let Him Down

MADRID, Jan. 19 — (AP) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco the arch anti-Communist, is reliably reported to be trying to do business with Russia because the Western Powers won't deal with him financially.

Informed sources yesterday said Spanish representatives in Cairo and Paris are negotiating a multi - million - dollar barter agreement with Soviet diplomats. If concluded, the deal would provide for an exchange of Spanish mercury, wolfram, olive oil and wines for Russian wheat and petroleum products.

The informants said Spain was forced to separate her economic policy from her political policy of ardent anti-communism because of the complete breakdown of her trade agreement with Argentina and the United States' unwillingness to give Spain a dollar loan on easy terms.

Wheat From Argentina

Spain has staved off famine since the end of the civil war mostly with wheat shipped from Argentina on credit. Last month Argentine President Juan D. Peron told Franco he had his own money troubles and couldn't keep up the unpaid shipments.

When the Argentine shipments lagged Spain was forced to spend the last $8,000,000 of a $25,000,000 loan from New York's Chase National Bank to buy wheat in the United States and Canada. Spain also bought an undisclosed number of dollars in the Tangiers free money market to pay for food imports.

American experts in Madrid estimates Spain will need about 250,000 more tons of wheat before her own harvest comes in to avoid starvation.

(In Ottawa Sunday night Canadian trade officials said the Dominion would be "only too glad" to sell wheat to Franco Spain for United States dollars. But so far there has been no official request for additional wheat. Spain already has completed one wheat deal with Canada, covering the shipment of about 900,000 bushels at more than $2 a bushel.)

An advertisement, obviously directed at Soviet Russia, appeared Friday in the Ministry of Commerce and Industry's official bulletin. It called for bids to supply 500,000 tons of grain payable in dollars, convertible pesetas or through barter.

Spain would, of course, give first choice to anybody offering to swap wheat for Spanish products. But if nobody offers, she would have to try to find the dollars to pay.

Franco's government began trading with Communist countries directly several months ago. An unannounced quantity of cork was shipped to Czechoslovakia November 3 and 3,000 gallons of olive oil in December. Now the government hopes its representatives in Paris and Cairo will be able to turn up bigger deals.

Membership Up, Fund Increase At Murray St.

A membership of 529 was reported Wednesday at the annual meeting of Murray St. Baptist Church. This was an increase of 12 during 1949.

Murray St. Church was raising $5,000, $3,140 of which had been pledged and $1,860 received, towards the Baptist jubilee fund. The jubilee fund was being used to build Baptist churches in places in Canada where there were no Protestant churches. Murray St. Church had been asked for $3,150, but pledges and receipts already exceeded that figure by $1,850.

Receipts Up

Receipts of Murray St. Church during 1949 amounted to $19,670, an increase of nearly $3,000 on the previous year. This was accounted for mostly by donations and pledges to the jubilee fund, and also to increased free-will giving.

Most important event for the Baptist Church during 1950 was the Baptist World Alliance to be held in Cleveland, Ohio, in July, the minister, the Rev. Ivan Morgan, announced. The convention will be addressed by President Truman, and Mr. Morgan pointed out to his congregation that the location of the convention was rarely as near Peterborough and urged a large attendance from his church. The alliance met on the American Continent probably once in 20 years, he said.

Other major events taking place this year were the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec in Montreal in June, and the triennial meeting of the Baptist Federation of Canada in July in Toronto.

Appreciation To Minister

A vote of thanks in appreciation of the work of the minister, the Rev. Ivan Morgan, was proposed by Clarence Boorman, and Douglas Loomis spoke in appreciation of Stanley Northrop, the musical director.

Annual reports were presented by the following: A. J. Madill, Board of Deacons; G. W. Fitzgerald, Board of Trustees; W. G. Shiner, Finance Committee; and Douglas A. Loomis, Music Committee.

Deacons re-elected after completion of three-year terms of office were: A. J. Madill, D. A. Loomis, A. W. Wray, and E. L. Horning.

SHOWN IN THE ABOVE PHOTOS are the two grandchildren of Mrs. Joseph Locas. Mrs. Locas, 50 years old, is being detained by the Montreal Police after admitting she had drowned her daughter's two illegitimate children in the murky, ice-crusted waters of the St. Lawrence. In a state of near-collapse, Mrs. Locas told police her daughter had planned to place the youngsters in a foster home and she could not stand the strain of not seeing them playing around their home in Montreal East. Horror-stricken at what she had done, Mrs. Locas wandered aimlessly around the harbor area until, sobbing like a child, she found her way to the police station where she told her story.

Bakery Robbery Separate Job

No arrests have been made in the four breakins which took place in the city in the early part of the week.

Police believe that the thieves who broke their way into the Trent Valley Bakery building early Sunday morning and took $2,600 from the safe were experts from out of town.

The safe was cracked open by men who knew obviously their business. The theft was not discovered until 6:15 a.m. some time after baker Sidney Revoy had come to work.

Police belie vethere is no connection between the bakery robbery and the breakins at two houses.

Six $100 bonds were rifled from a steel cash box in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sproat, 752 Armour Rd. sometime Saturday night.

Mrs. Jack Dormer, 645 Charlotte St., disturbed intruders when she returned to her home about seven o'clock. The men escaped through a cellar window before she got inside the house, taking with them a $75 diamond ring, $30 in bills and $20 in silver dollars.

Monday night someone broke into Montgomery Bros. Locker Plant but took nothing.

Five men and three girls from Toronto were arrested early Sunday morning in a downtown restaurant. They faced vagrancy charges which were dismissed Monday morning in court.

Pinch Of Bethune St. $10 Lease By City

Closing of a sliver of Bethune St. for lease to H. B. McGinness has been approved by the council. It was described as: a rectangular piece of land with 8-foot frontage, commencing at the intersection of Bethune and McDonnel streets, southeast corner; extending westerly a distance of 8 feet along McDonnel St., and southerly at right angles a distance of 96½ ft. along Bethune St., thence easterly 8 feet, thence northey along the eastern boundary of Bethune St. to the point of beginning.

Rental is at the rate of $10 a year plus taxes. Out of this action stemmed a further decision for the future: "Persons owning buildings or other structures encroaching on the street, who desire to lease a portion of the street from the city, be charged an annual rental of 5 per cent of the value of the property required by the encroachment, as fixed by the assessment department, plus taxes."

40 Tons Of Gold Hidden By Japs Flown To States

By FREDERICK GRAHAM.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 — More than forty tons of gold bars valued at $45,000,000, belonging to the Kingdom of Thailand, were flown into New York from Japan in what is believed to be the biggest gold airlift in history.

The bars, the last shipment of which arrived at Newark Airport early this week, were turned over to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York to be credited to the Thailand Government. Secrecy has surrounded the movement and heavily armed guards have covered the gold-carrying planes at every stop along the 9,000-mile route.

When the Japanese Army overran Thailand in 1942 and captured Bangkok, the capital, it found the gold stored in bars of about 120 pounds each, including the heavy metal covers.

The Janpanese shipped their loot to Japan, where it was buried in scattered places over the home island. There it remained until discovered by American occupation troops.

No doubt existed that it belonged to Thailand, for on each bar was stamped the tiny kingdom's royal seal. The looting Japanese apparently forgot to obliterate the seal—or did not think it was necessary.

Gen Douglas MacArthur and the State Department of the United States handed the gold over to the Thailand Government some time ago. It is being shipped here in the name of a Mr. Pryad, an official of the Thailand national bank.

The reason for the shipment to New York rather than to Bangkok could not be learned. One report was that it was to avoid any possibility of the wealth falling into the hands of Communists Officials of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York were not available for comment.

Surface vessels and airlines were asked to bid for the job of bringing the metal to New York, and Transocean Air Lines was chosen. Transportation by surface vessel would have required about a month, against the four or five days needed by air.

Transocean used seven planes to move the gold to Oakland, Calif., each carry about $6 000,000 worth. There it was picked up by Slick Airways and flown to Newark.

The metal containers were lashed to the seats and the floor of Transocean's four-engined DC-4s. It was loaded under the eyes of armed guards, and although there were no guards aboard on the flights, all six crew members were armed.

For security reasons, the planes flew alternate routes from Japan Some took off from Misawa, in the north, others from points farther south. One course took the planes to Shimya, a small island in the Aleutian chain, thence to Elmendorf Field at Anchorage, Alaska, and on to Oakland. Others went by way of Honalulu to Oakland.

Guards Cause Rumors

At each stop armed guards surrounded the planes while they were refueled and the crews were fed. At Anchorage, the guards attracted attention, and one report developed that the planes were carrying gold belonging to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek of Nationalist China.

Twin-engined craft of Slick Airways picked up the precious cargo in California and brought it on to Newark Airport. Federal Reserve guards covered the unloading there and convoyed it to New York.

Just when the gold movement started could not be learned, but if flying weather is favorable today, the last of the gold should be deposited safely in the vaults of the Federal Reserve Bank here by tomorrow. As far as could be determined, the two airlines, both experienced in moving unusual cargoes on short notice, had no difficulty.

Boston Judge Claims Dry U.S. Would Have Been Heaven On Earth

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP)—A Boston judge told Senators today there would have been "heaven on earth" in this country had the prohibition law been enforced properly.

Joseph T. Zottoli, associate justice of the Boston Municipal Court, made the statement to the Senate Commerce Committee. He was testifying for a bill to bar liquor advertising over radio, by television, or in newspapers, magazines and direct mail advertising that moves across state lines.

An opposing witness, Mrs Franklin G. Sartwell, national secretary of the Women's Association of the Allied Beverage Industries, called the bill a "giant stride back toward prohibition."

She said members of her association "want to go forward. . not backward."

Representative Edward H Rees, Republican, of Kansas, said the proposed curb on advertising would not stop the use of alcohol But he contended it would "save a lot of deception and misleading of the facts and to some extent at least, will prevent the increase of crime and tragedy in this country."

Representative Joseph R. Bryson, Democrat, of South Carolina, sponsor of a similar bill in the House, said it was vitally needed legislation.

Role in Farm Economy Cited

Philo Baine of Fruit Industries, Ltd., San Francisco, countered:

"The wine industry is a substantial part of the agricultural economy of the United States, and we believe we have just as much right to furnish truthful information about our products to those of the public who want to use them as any other industry in the United States."

Judge Zottoli contended that the "present overcrowded condition of our penal, hospital, welfare and charitable units is due in large part to the enormous volume of alcoholic beverages now being consumed."

He said he was not testifying for or against prohibition, but thought it was time for the youth of the country to be "saved."

Mrs. Eugene Callaghan, chairman of the Washington committee on legislation for the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, testified that thirty-three Congresses favored the bill. One, New Mexico, she reported as voting no.

Liquor industry spokesmen yesterday denounced the Langer measure as a "prohibition bill."

Links Crime and Liquor

Harold E. Burns, editor and publisher of the new Wilmington (Pa.) Globe, told the committee that "papers carrying liquor advertising help to create drunks."

He added:

Which I am firmly convinced, is that the increase in front page space devoted to sex and other crimes is in direct ratio to the increase in drinking stimulated by the paid columns on the inside pages."

Mr. Burns said that a survey he made showed that in Pennsylvania sixty-four out of 344 papers, or 18½ per cent, did not carry liquor advertising; in Ohio, 119 out of 293, or 41 per cent; Indiana, 106 out of 252, or 42 per cent; Kansas, 245 out of 310, or 67 per cent, and Oklahoma 167 out of 247, or 64 per cent.

"I am convinced," he said, "that the very foundation of our nation is being eaten away by alcohol."

Convicted By Court

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (CP) — Stanley Butt Wednesday was convicted of keeping a common gaming house, although he presented balance sheets indicating he lost money on three of four bingo games he was charged with operating. He was fined $50 and costs. Butt said he lost 55 cents after 153 persons paid 35 cents each to attend the privately operated bingo. He ran this, and other games, he said, to drum up business os organizations would hire his premises for bingoes.

Soprano Has Operation

New York, Jan. 19 (AP) — Lily Pons, soprano star of the Metropolitan Opera, will be operated on next week for removal of a kidney stone. She has been under medical treatment since she became ill Dec. 25. The singers representative said she is expected to spend about 10 days in the hospital and then go to Florida to complete her recovery.

TTC Workers Reject Union Suggestion

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (CP) — Employees of the Toronto Transportation Commission in a two-day referendum voted to reject the recommendation of their union executive, whirh urged acceptance of the TTC's proposal of a wage increase of five cents an hour.

The Street Railway Union (AFL) originally asked an increase of 12 cents on hour. The first offer of the city owned street car and bus system was one cent, later raised to five cents. The commission also offered to incorporate the present 12 cents an hour cost of living bonus into the wage scale.

VOL. C. No. 15 THURSDAY, JANUARY 19, 1950

Architects Defend City Hall Clock Cupola Traditional Mansard Roof Good Wren

Design and plans of the new city hall were unanimously and finally approved by the council at an informal meeting in committee Wednesday afternoon. The motion by Ald. Arthur Burrows was seconded by Ald. P. J. Anglesey. The architects, Marani and Morris of Toronto, were instructed to advertise for tend ers. Mayor Swanston said he called the meeting for the purpose of reviewing to the council of 1950 the progress of preliminaries, and especially for the information of the new members, Alderman John A. Dewart and Ernest C. Braund. His Worship also said there had been criticism from one source of the design of the building. Before advancing further to the stage of obtaining tenders, it was essential that the new council should have an opportunity of studying the design and plans in the decisive step of acceptance.

Trustees In Accord

Mayor Swanston mentioned the fact that representatives of the National Trust, executors of the will of the late W. G. Morrow whose bequest is providing the funds for the construction of the building, had been in complete accord with the council, and had taken a lively interest in the preparations as they have proceeded.

Mr. F. H. Marani of the architectural firm and Mr. Ronald Winter of Hamilton, the council's adviser, were present at the meeting.

For the reason that a certain aspersion had been expressed about the design of the new city hall, Mayor Swanston suggested that Mr. Marani explain its type of architecture. Criticism had been directed specificaly at the cupola, the mansard roof and the visibility of the clock in the cupola or tower from the George St. sidewalk.

Ald. Burrows commented that he had recently seen a picture of the Shenandoah Life Insurance Co. building in Virginia, a large and imposing structure, as published in the recent issue of the Architectural Forum magazine. Some of its overall details, including cupola, had reminded him of the Peterborough city hall design.

"I was impressed by the evidence that we were not departing from traditional architectural practice," Ald. Burrows said.

In English City Hall

Mr. Marani explained that the cupola on the main building of the city hall went back a long way in the architectural history of England, the United States and Canada. Incidentally, it was a detail of the town hall in Peterborough, England. Mr. Marani was all through that building.

The cupola or tower, sometimes with clock, was traditional with town halls and county buildings, Mr. Marani said. He mentioned many of them across Ontario as indicative of a long established tradition in municipal architecture of this province.

"In consulting with you last year, we felt that you did not wish to depart from that tradition and break completely with the past. The design of your city hall will, therefore, not be dated, but will look even 100 years from now as it does at present coming out of the past."

Mr. Marani estimated the cost of the cupola at approximately $2,000, or not more than $2,500. Its base was equipped with ventilating equipment. "The clock in the tower can be seen from both sidewalks."

Atheists' Club

KINGSTON, Jan. 19—(CP)—An Atheists' and Agnostics' Club has been formed by students at Queen's University. About 15 persons attended the organizational meeting.

It was decided that the club will meet each Monday to discuss and study comparative religions. Next week's topic is "Judaism."

At the University of Toronto, an attempt last month by two engineering students to form an undergraduate atheists' club failed.

Landlord Sued By Tenant

His Honor Judge S. L. Smoke Wednesday afternoon reserved judgment on a $500 trespass action brought by Herbert Merrett, formerly of 30 James St., against his landlord.

Merrett, a tenant at 30 James St., told the court that his landlord, Lewis Simpson of Sophia St., came to his home early in the evening of September 1 and began to tear down part of the back kitchen.

Simpson posted a building permit on the back kitchen and then began demolition work with a crowbar. A scuffle ensued between the two when Merrett objected.

The landlord stopped when darkness came after tearing out two walls, a window and a door. He returned the next day but was enjoined by an injunction from proceeding.

Says Notice Given

Simpson claimed he had given notice to the tenants to vacate and that he had authorization from the WPTB to proceed with the subdivision of the house with a view to enlarging it.

Plaintiff claimed through his solicitor, W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, that the defendant made forcible entry and was guilty of trespass. He asked the court for $500 damages.

Since then the family has moved and are living among various relatives in the city.

James Dunn defended Simpson.

Campbellford Truck Damaged In Toronto

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (CP) — A traffic accident involving a streetcar, a transport truck and a parked automobile, delayed east-west street-car traffic on downtown King Street during the rush hour this morning. Police said the west-bound street-car ran into the side of a transport truck from Campbellford, Ont, driven by 32-year-old Earl Radley, and jammed it against the parked car. No one was injured.

Unions Protest Suspension Of UE By CCL

In telegrams to A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, Local 524 UE and Local 527 UE have protested the suspension of the UE by the Executive Council of the Congress.

The Executive Council, scheduled to meet today in Ottawa, was also asked to give a hearing to C. S. Jackson, Canadian UE president.

"We urge you to begin (giving leadership) by lifting the suspension of our Union from the CCL so we can participate in a united campaign to defend the basic interests of the working people," the communication from T. P. Davies, Local 524 president, said in part.

Mr. Davies stated that in Peterborough more than 2,000 workers were registered for unemployment insurance benefits and labor unity was urged to protect living standards and safeguard the workers from speedups, unemployment and the efforts of the boss to cut wages and weaken unions."

(One week ago the Examiner reported 1,110 drawing unemployment benefits with another 754 unable to get aid. Some of the latter group were included in the 196 receiving aid from the city.)

Mr. Davies let go with a blast against the CCL in Peterborough.

"Here in Peterborough. . . we see a concentrated raid being conducted against our Union by officials of the CCL and the other CCL affiliates," he said. "At the same time the CCL has affiliated the rump organization started by James B. Carey of the CIO. . ."

He claimed that through this action 3,000 CGE workers have lost hundreds of thousands of dollars in contract improvements.

Warne Trophy 'Spiel Opens As 10 Ontario Clubs Enter

With 28 rinks from 10 Ontario ladies' curling cubs competing, the annual two-day Warne Trophy bonspiel got away at nine this morning at the Charlotte St. club. Rinks from three Toronto clubs, Hamilton, Lakefield and Peterborough started in the first draw of a 'spiel which goes to the three-game winner with the highest points. The defending champion, Mrs. M. C. Code of Toronto High Park, had her rink ready at the start.

Mrs. G. Wood of Peterborough, convener of the bonspiel committee, welcomed the visitors, read the rules and started play. The gaily-costumed curlers gave many interested spectators some fine exhibitions throughout the morning. First day results:

Reeve James Gifford has been dropped from Finance which is now composed of Reeves William Grant and Gale Elliott.

The committee on Equalization and Assessment has been enlarged by the addition of two more members. It is now composed of Mr. Gifford, chairman; Richard Stewart, Melville Johnston and Ernest J. Paving Plans Made For Next Summer

Resumption of the paving program that was begun here last year is proposed for the following streets this coming summer: Park St. between McDonnel St. and Park Hill Rd.; Rogers St from St. James St. north to the end of the present pavement.

Lock St. from Lansdowne St. to King George St.; Monaghan Road between Sherbrooke and Wolfe Streets; Monaghan Road from Frank St. to Lansdowne St.; Townsend from Park St. to Aylmer; and Perry from Park to Aylmer.

That is the list recommended to the council by City Engineer Chalmers. It may be noted that all but Perry and Townsend Streets are in the circuit of the city's bus service. The paving program for this year is to be considered by the board of works.

John Beaver Elected Chief

ROSENEATH, Jan. 19 (ENS)—John Beaver was Wednesday elected chief of the Mississauga Indians of Alderville Reserve, Alnwick township, in succession to Norman Marsden, who has been chief for the past 20 years.

When Mr. Marsden announced his intention of retiring two candidates entered the field, Mr. Beaver and his father-in-law, Amos Marsden.

Two councillors elected were John Simpson and John Smoke.

Graduating from Queen's University last year with a B.Sc. degree, Mr. Beaver is now employed by the Hydro Electric Power Commission in Cobourg.

During the war he was a wireless operator with the RCAF.

Eleven years ago Mr. Beaver married Marjorie Marsden and has three sons, Wayne aged eight, Denis, three, and Ricky, one.

Main Street Topics

CENTENARY FLOWER BED

City council has authorized its parks committee to plan and plant a suitable carpet bed of flowers in Confederation Square as a feature of the centenary.

BANK CLEARINGS

Total clearings passing through the Peterborough Clearing House for the past week ending today amounted to $2,180,158.

MEETING FALLS THROUGH

Cobourg must not have too great an interest in the ferry service from Rochester for their delegation to Ottawa failed to show up Wednesday. James Fraser, manager of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, went to Ottawa to find that he was the only one who had kept an appointment with the Minister of Transport, the Hon. Lionel Chevrier.

NEW RESORT PRESIDENT

C. O. Phillips of Cedar Villa Lodge, Fenelon Falls, was elected president of the Resort Section of the Ontario Hotel Association at a convention in Toronto on Wednesday. Members of the executive from this district are: Roy Hicks of Rockland House, Bobcaygeon; Reginald Handscombe of Deer Lodge, and Robert Harvey of Tall Pines Lodge, both of Haliburton.

South-End Hot On Warpath For Street Through 'Ex'

Bigger and better petitions and deputations will be the reaction of the neighbors south of Lansdowne St. if the council fails to get for them a street through Morrow Park.

That was the intimation to Ald. Adam Sands Monday afternoon by a numerous group who called at his office to talk about opening up the park. Similar sentiment was expressed in much the same form by Rev. E. C. Moore of St. George's Church to Mayor Swanston Wednesday. Some of the people quite frankly have been suggesting for a long time that what the city ought to do is expropriate the park and sell it in building lots.

Present consideration, however is accepting it as a continuing community centre, gathering new buildings (the largest of all is mooted by the Exhibition Board) and contributorily financed with help from the city and province.

Road Cost $1500 Plus

Mayor Swanston said today a road could be laid through the park for $1,500 or up to $2,000, presumably an estimate from City Engineer Chalmers.

"And no fence," said the Mayor. "That was an idea of City Clerk Outram, but I think we can fix up the place without it."

Concern of T. J. Carley, K.C., with the Morrow Trust at Monday night's discussion, was sharply directed to the maintaining of good order in the park if the proposed road were opened. He was suspicious of cars frequenting the place after dark, with consequent complaints from residents, and so on.

Opinion of cost of the proposed road Monday night was up around $8,000 to $10,000.

PLAN ANNUAL MEETING

Peterborough branch of the V. O. N. will hold its annual meeting February 15 in the YWCA recreation room. Various organizations are to be invited to send representatives and Miss Mary C. Ferguson, a member of the supervisory staff of the Order, is to be invited to be guest speaker.

NEW TRAFFIC BYLAW

Changes in the city's traffic bylaw were approved in a bylaw passed by the council Monday night. The revision was the work of the legal committee. Ald. Sands informed the council there were twenty pages of regulations, old and new. With that formidable reading job before them, the council took the bylaw "as read."

BRITISH TO SEEK AID FOR ASIA — British Commonwealth foreign ministers, meeting in Ceylon this month, agreed that their countries would make every effort to bolster Southeast Asia economically, with an eye to some future form of US Marshall Plan aid in that area. Noting that Communist conquest of China immeasurably strengthens the Reds throughout the entire Far East, Commonwealth officials said, "Further reverses in Southeast Asia could undermine Western European economy, which is America's first defence." The map above shows status of Far Eastern countries with respect to communism, and lists principal items of their rich resources which might tempt further Red aggression.

Millar Explains Tax Spending

TORONTO, Jan. 19 — (CP) — John D. Millar, Ontario Deputy Minister of Highways, Wednesday told what happens to the motorist's provincial tax money.

He told the Electric Club of Toronto that $55,000,000 a year is levied in gasoline tax and $15,000,000 in licence fees. That makes a total of $70,000,000.

The province spends $25,000,000 for maintenance, another $25,000,000 is paid to municipalities for upkeep of their roads; $12,000,000 goes for modernization of old highways and $13,000,000 for construction of new highways. That makes a total of $75,000,000.

One of the biggest items, he said, is clearing snow and ice. The Highways Department last year used 400,000 tons of sand and 30,000 tons of salt.

Decide Plane Wing From Crash In 1942

OTTAWA, Jan. 19 (CP)—RCAF aircraft investigators said Wednesday they had established that a 23-foot section of an aircraft wing washed ashore near Watertown, N. Y., last Sunday was part of an Anson aircraft lost on a training flight in 1942.

Four men were lost when the aircraft disappeared Jan. 8, 1942, while on a navigation training flight from Malton Airport, near Toronto, to St. Johns, Que.

Other pieces of the wreckage previously have been washed ashore near Watertown.

SIR EUGENE FISET—Lieutenant-governor of Quebec province since 1939, Sir Eugene Fiset has a proud record of military and public service. He is former director-general of the Candian Medical Services and surgeon-general of the Canadian Army. He represented Rimouski riding in the House of Commons from 1924 to 1935. He was born in Rimouski March 15, 1874.

Danger Of Fire

VANCOUVER, Jan. 19 (CP)—Shipping men were warned of fire danger in the harbor Wednesday after 42,000 gallons of fuel oil and gasoline spilled into the water from an overturned barge Tuesday night. Harbor master Capt. Gerald Lancaster warned that nothing inflammable should be thrown from craft in the harbor. Police told ferry captains to prohibit smoking on the decks of their vessels.

Hospitals Get $900,036 Grants

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (CP)—So far this year cheques totalling $900,036 have been issued by the Ontario Government to hospitals in the form of grants toward capital construction, Health Minister Russell Kelley announced on Wednesday.

The latest cheques were those for $168,500 to Kitchener-Waterloo General Hospital; $17,166 to Brockville General Hospital and $53,750 to Fort William Sanatorium. The Kitchener payment is half the grant which the hospital is to receive. In the other two cases, it was the final instalment.

Since the province initiated its program of making such grants in April, 1947, a total of $11,235,137 have been approved for construction which will provide 8,177 beds and 1,433 cubicles. Of this number 1,835 beds and 316 cubicles are already in use.

Trap Deer On Island Ship To Mainland

MIDLAND, Jan. 19 (CP) — Federal parks officials plan to trap deer on Beausoleil Island and ship them to the mainland for release in sections where the deer population is low.

Beausoleil Island, in the Georgian Bay Island National Park, lies in the southern end of the 30,000 islands chain about six miles from Midland.

Deer traps are being constructed here. Four feet high by four feet wide, they are 16 feet long and will be baited with such natural food as cedar. Woodsmen say the white-tailed deer are temperamental so great care must be used in trapping and handling them.

CANADA'S GROWTH

In the first ten years of direct French control of the colony of New France, from 1663 to 1673, the population nearly trebled.

Communists With Russ Help Restore Chinese Rail Service

HONG KONG, Jan. 19—Communist publicity in China is proclaiming the restoration of the country's railway network during the past year as one of the outstanding accomplishments of the new regime. The fact that the restoration has been achieved with the technical and material assistance of the Russian's is being emphasized as an example of the advantages to be gained by collaboration with the Soviet Union.

Hong Kong became especially aware of the effect of the Peiping Government's success in the railway field a few days ago when mail only four days old started arriving from Shanghai. Shanghai has been very remote from Hong Kong since the occupation by the Communists last year. Heretofore mail from the northern city took ten days to six weeks to reach here.

A quicker link between Hong Kong and Shanghai was made possible by the opening of traffic Jan. 5 on the railway from Canton to Hankow and on the line branching off from this railway at Chuchow, in Hunan, to Nanchang, Hangchow and Shankhai. The Nationalists, at times, operated sectons of the Chuchow and Shankhai sections route paralleling the Yangtze River on the south, but never the whole line at onct and train service from Canton to Shanghai south of the Yangtze has now become possible for the first time.

Al Working

With the exception of a few short sections on less important lines, all the railways of China have been put back into operation. A Peiping report received here said 5,000 miles of rail line had been repaired during 1949.

More than 500,000 railway workers were mobilized for the job, aided by military repair squads. Russian technicians helped and hundreds of miles of rails were obtained from the USSR.

The Russians achieved the maximum publicity effect by living with their Chinese colleagues and accepting the same income. As Americans have also found in China, the Russians discovered that Chinese engineers had been disinclined to do manual work. The Russians further created a good impression by their readiness to turn a hand to physical tasks in the process of showing how things should be done.

Foreign arrivals from Communist China say the restored rail network is operating on a low standard of efficiency. Many of the repairs, including bridgework, is temporary and much additional rehabilitation and replenishment of rolling stock will be necessary before the Chinese rail system will operate really well.

Closer Co-operation Urged Among Farmers

TORONTO, Jan. 19 (CP) — Closer co-operation between Canadian and United States farmers to gain a tighter grip on marketing of produce was urged Wednesday at the Ontario Fruit and Vegetable Growers' Association annual meeting.

M. M. Robinson, association secretary, said "There is an urgent need for action. . . Producers must take the action and then tell the shippers after it has become an accomplished fact."

Stallion Burned

DORCHESTER, N.B., Jan. 19—(CP) — Fire, believed to have started in a section man's shanty, destroyed the Canadian National Railways freight shed Wednesday and then spread to the nearby brick station building. The station building was also expected to be a total loss.

Truck Driver Killed

HAMILTON, Jan. 19 (CP) — A 27-year-old truck driver was killed and two other men injured near here Wednesday when a 10 ton transport hit a car and careened off the highway, snapped off a Hydro pole and crashed into a tree. Douglas W. Prior of Guelph, was crushed to death in the truck cab. William Moore, 19, riding in the cab, and Ryer Albers, 25, of Waterdown, whose early model automobile was also involved in the accident, suffered minor injuries.

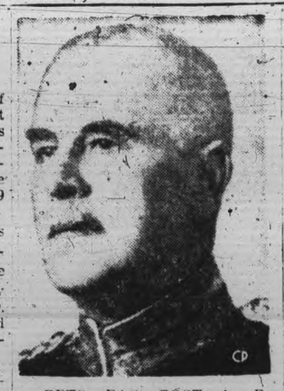
Newsprint Production Well Ahead

COOSA PINES, Ala., Jan. 19 (AP)—Newsprint from southern pine began rolling out of the $32,000,000 paper plant Wednesday.

First production by the Coosa River Newsprint Company plant was three months ahead of schedule. The plant will turn out 300 tons daily when it reaches peak operations.

It is the second such plant in the southern states and first in more than a decade. The other plant using southern pine for newsprint is at Lufkin, Tex.

Southern newspaper publishers planned and provided much of the financing for the newsprint plant. Stock in the concern is held by 126 newspapers throughout the United States and contracts for the purchase of the plant's products are held with 119 newspapers.



Pine from the river valleys around this area, 40 miles southeast of Birmingham, Ala., will be used at the plant. The company will employ approximately 750, with another 1,500 part-time and seasonal workers in woods operations.

Reject Request

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 19 (CP)—The Board of Education Wednesday night rejected a request from the Ontario Education Department that a proposed new system of grade schooling be tried here, beginning next September. Reports Schoolmasters Depressed Class In U.K.

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Jan. 18—(CP)—For many of Britain's best teachers, the badge of office is a tattered gown concealing patched knees, threadbare elbows and a bitter heart. Schoolmasters, in short, are a depressed class. So says Maurice Constable, 46-year-old French master at a Birmingham grammar school. Ever since he left Oxford 25 years ago, Constable told a teachers' conference, he has had a hard time trying to make ends meet. Speaking to a "struggling, middle-aged father of five," Constable said his reference to patched knees and threadbare elbows is not exaggerated, and applies to many in the teaching profession.

His salary is only 28 per cent. higher than in 1939.

French With Tears

"As a result, I haven't been able to buy a suit since 1934," he said later. "Though I specialize in French, I've never been able to afford a visit to France."

He is still wearing the same old teaching gown, patched with blackout material.

Further evidence that teachers are in a bad way came from A. R. Woolley, Secretary of a University Appointments Committee, who said that slowly but surely grammar schools are being drained of men of character and ability.

In the old days, he said, schoolmasters ranked with the local doctor, the lawyer and the bank manager.

"The new recruit to the teaching profession, if he can find anywhere to live at all, lives in a 2½-bedroomed house in a milieu which is, for him, culturally a desert, and the good-hearted artisans around him are as often as not earning more money."

"It is now almost impossible to find tip-top classics masters, chaplains or music masters, whatever the school, whether it be Eton or little-piddington-in-the marsh," Woolley told the conference.

Emergency Action

There are 1,229 grammer schools in Britain. Under the State Education System, grammar schools—roughly equivalent to Canadian High Schools—offer a Broadly Academic Education designed to prepare students for universities.

The other two types of state secondary school are the so-called "modern" schools, with a curriculum embracing up to 28 subjects and technical schools, offering a general education with a technical emphasis.

Public schools, corresponding to private schools in Canada, are outside state control.

Salaries of assistant masters at grammar schools range from £300 ($930) a year, increasing £15 a year to a maximum of £660.

Rap Price Support

FORT FAIRFIELD, Me., Jan. 19—(AP)—A potato marketing authority claimed Wednesday night that because of price supports, Maine potato growers are "holding the umbrella for Canada." Harold E. Bryant of Presque Isle, president of the Maine Potato Growers, Incorporated, said "by means of price support we hold prices at a fixed level, making it possible for Canada to merely reduce prices below ours and then they market more potatoes in the United States than ever before."

Worried About Trapper

SUDBURY, Jan. 19 — (CP) — Anxiety is felt today for the welfare and whereabouts of Jim Dwyer, 74-year-old trapper and employee of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests. Trapping on the south end of Sinaminda Lake in Gilbert Township Dwyer was supposed to have visited his permanent headquarters at Sheehan for New Year's but failed to appear. A trapper in the winter and a ranger in the summer, Dwyer has been on the staff of the Department of Lands and Forests since 1923 and is a veteran northern bushman.

HUGE COPPER DEPOSITS

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

"HIT THE SAWDST TRAIL," shouted the Rev. Billy Sunday, evangelist extraordinary when the Twentieth Century was in its 'teens. And during his 35 yearsof preaching, more than 1,000,000 persons ran—shouting, weeping, moaning—down the sawdust trail to be converted. Sunday, once a big league baseball player, preached the "old-time," hell-fire-and-brimstone religion. The devil, he'd shout, has horns, hoofs and a tail. Sunday spent much time on the platform shadow-boxing with Satan. His revivals had the atmosphere of a circus. His sawdust trail was real—a wide, sawdusted aisle through the audience to his platform. Money donations toward his "good works" ran into tremendous sums. He died, almost broke, in 1935 at the age of 72.

Mrs. Wm. Kenneally Dies In Fort William

FORT WILLIAM, Jan. 19—Mrs Winnifred (Emma) Kenneally, 302 Brown street, died in McKellar hospital in her 93rd year. She was the wife of the late William Kenneally.

Mrs. Kenneally broke her arm and hip in a fall at Hudson, Ontario, in 1947 and after spending some time in Sioux Lookout hospital, was taken by air to Fort William on June 6, 1949, at the age of 92. She resided with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Kenneally, 302 Brown street.

Born in Douro Township, she resided there, at Lakefield and Peterborough, Ontario, until 1928. She then moved to Hudson, Ontario, where she lived until 1947.

A member of the St. Agnes Roman Catholic church and the League of the Sacred Heart, her interest lay with her home, family and church in which she was active throughout her whole life.

She was predeceased by her husband in 1907 and a daughter, Mrs. P. J. Ament, in 1947.

She is survived by three sons, Joseph D. and Harold M. of Hudson, and John L. Kenneally, 302 Brown street, veteran's officer for the N. E. S. here.

Also surviving are one daughter-in-law, Mrs. John L. Kenneally and one son-in-law, P. H. (Mike) Ament, or Sioux Lookout. There are several other relatives in Eastern Canada and the U. S. A.

The body was forwarded to Sioux Lookout where the funeral was held with interment in the family plot at Sacred Heart cemetery.

Iraq Moves To Have Graduates Of Rural Schools Work The Land

BAGHDAD, Iraq, Jan. 19 — A special committee has been formed to study legislation to put into force the recommendation of a previous ministerial committee that each graduate of a rural school receive, with his diploma, a piece of land to cultivate.

The proposal is the most drastic offered yet to the problem throughout the Middle East of the tendency of the ignorant and incompetent to stay on the land and of those who have a little education and ambition to abandon the area's chief source of productive wealth for the towns.

In the case of Iraq, this also is one of the proposed weapons to break tribal domination by the individual, which has transformed the sneiks into great, and with few exceptions, notoriously incompetent landholders and reduced the tribesmen to a status practically of serfs.

There appears to be a lively revulsion in the ministries here against the type of education that turned out typical class-conscious, impractical effendi, interested primarily in politics, a white collar Government job and coffee house chatter. The Ministry of Education in insisting it must have funds to open right away agricultural and technical schools of approximately United States high school level in the provinces. On registration, students would be called on to sign a pledge to work on the land or in factories or similar establishments.

A suggestion by two British educational experts, Sir Charles Darwin and Dr. Arthur Morgan, for the foundation of a full university in Baghdad suggests that immediately upon the opening of an arts and science faculty, the existing law faculty should be closed to new students for a period of several years. The law school, it is said, is a great source of uprooted, educated Iraq. A similar proposal that the law school be closed for a period has been made in Damascus in connection with reforms of the Syrian University, and law school graduates have been sharply criticized in Egypt.

The present Minister of Education in Iraq, Najib al Rawi, has laid down the rule that the annual group of five students be sent abroad to study must concentrate on scientific and technical subjects and prepare for scientific and technical careers.

Matter Of Course

HULL, England (CP).—Butcher boy Donald Wells saw smoke pouring from a house. He dashed inside and rescued an 18-month-old baby from her burning pram. Donald said: "It's the sort of thing Boy Scouts are expected to do."

HEADS U. N. COMMITTEE Leslie Chance, head of the consular division of the Canadian external affairs department, has been elected chairman of the United Nations Committee on statelessness. The 13-country committee, meeting at Lake Success, N. Y., is studying the problems of stateless persons.

To Study Soil

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask. — (CP)—Dr. T. J. Marshall, a noted Australian soil specialist, will spend five weeks in Canada this spring studying Canadian soils. Much of his time will be spent at the Dominion experimental station here studying methods of preventing wind erosion and soil drifting.

Home Nursing For Three Firms

The Victorian Order of Nurses in Peterborough is providing home nursing service to employees of two firms under a group insurance plan inaugurated six months ago.

Application from a third firm to be incorporated in the scheme was approved by the Board Wednesday.

To enable people to get in touch with the VON during the evening, weekends, holidays and all times when the office is closed, the Community Nursing Registry handles requests for nursing service.

During 1949 VON nurses made 176 visits to homes as a result of requests made through the Nursing Registry at times when the office was not open.

In order to publicize the fact that nurses are available at all times, members of the VON staff will distribute stickers giving particulars of the Registry, among the homes they visit daily.

911 Under VON Care

Total number of patients under the care of VON during 1949 was 911, Miss Mary Ross, superintendent, reported. This is an increase of 31 on the previous year's figure, a greater number of prenatal patients having been attended.

More than half of the patients visited during the year were rendered free service, their being unable to pay a fee. Twelve per cent made part payment for the service, eight patients' fees were covered by insurance and 58 per cent paid nothing.

Miss Ross said that although the Order had experienced "a good year" in 1949, she felt there was ample [illegible] for a much wider use of its [illegible]e to the community. A [illegible]ing service was available to people in their homes at a cost which was nominal and adjustable, she said.

Miss Cullen led in the discussion of the question "Should we have more refugees in Canada?"

Once German Armaments King Gustav Krupp, 79, Dies At Salsburg In Austraia

ESSEN, Germany, Jan. 19 — (AP)—Gustav Krupp von Bohlen und Halback, one-time German armaments king, died Monday in Salzburg, Austria, American sources said. He was 79.

Krupp had been paralyzed since the end of the war. He was excused from facing a war crimes tribunal because of ill health.

Krupp headed a vast steel empire throughout the Nazis' rearmament program and through a major part of World War II. His great plants turned out cannon, tanks, submarines and other weapons for German forces in both world wars.

Among his survivors are his widow, Bertha, "Big Bertha", the famous long-range cannon that bombarded Paris in World War I, was named after her.

The aged munitions king was born Gustav Halbach in The Hague, The Netherlands, where his father was in the diplomatic service. Both his father and mother were born in the United States.

Halbach served with the German Embassy in Washington and then was transferred to Rome where he met Bertha Krupp heiress to the immense steel and ammunitions works in the Ruhr.

They were married in 1900 at a ceremony attended by Kaiser Wilhelm II, who gave Halbach the right to bear the name Krupp Von Bohlen und Halbach as a tribute to the Krupp family, which was largely responsible for the growth of German military power.

The aged Krupp was pronounced senile by the Allies in 1947 and declared unable to stand trial as a war criminal.

His son, Alfred, however, was sentenced to 12 years' imprisonment as a major offender.

The sentence against Alfred, 42, was imposed by a United States tribunal at Nuernberg July 31, 1948.

Alfred was charged with exploiting slave labor and plundering property in countries overrun by Nazi armies.

Gustav Krupp himself ran into trouble with the victors following Germany's defeat in World War I.

He was sentenced to 15 years in prison and fined 100,000,000 marks by the French in 1923 for resistance to occupying authorities. However, he only served a few months of his term and soon was back in business again.

Gustav Krupp was one of the earliest supporters of Adolf Hitler and for a time served as president of the German Council for Business and Industry.

In 1940 he was presented with a gold Nazi honor badge by Hitler on the occasion of his 70th birthday.

However, by 1944, Krupp's relations with the Nazis had deteriorated to the point where he was arrested for defeatist statements.

Then after Germany was defeated for a second time he was indicted as a war criminal October 18, 1945, and would have been tried except that a medical examination showed him to be partly paralyzed and suffering from softening of the brain.

The value of the Krupp holdings at their peak had been estimated variously at from $200,000,000 to $1,000,000,000.

The central plant at Essen was approximately 70 percent destroyed by Allied bombs during World War II. Since then the war-making part of the plant has been about 90 percent dismantled.

Magellan, in 1520, was the first man to sail the Pacific Ocean, and named it El Mar Pacifico, meaning "the gentle sea."

1950 Expected Be Big Tourist Year

MONTREAL, Jan. 19 —(CP)— Canada should enjoy this year as prosperous a tourist year as 1949 —unless there is a very remarkable shift in the economic winds.

D. Leon Dolan, director of the Canadian Goverment Travel Bureau, made this prediction today to the Canadian Construction Association. He put last year's expenditures by United States visitors at $300,000,000 and added:

In this last year, more people than ever came to us for rest, relaxation and enjoyment.

"During the coming year I think we are going to find a greater demand for medium or lower-priced lodgings, because the traveller of today is becoming more choosey.

"There will be, too, a more intense competition for the travel dollar. Some economic experts in the United States say that more than 750,000 United States citizens will go abroad, exclusive of those who will come to Canada."

Urging highway improvement to attract tourists, Mr. Dolan stated:

"To my way of thinking there is no money spent by governments, federal or provincial, that has been a finer investment for the whole people.

He declared that for too long Canadains have been reluctant, for some strange and curious reason, "to boast about the greatness and grandeur of this nation and its people."

"Here we have the finest piece of real estate one can find in any part of the world. Our record of achievement in recent years has not been excelled by any 13,000,000 people on the face of the globe, and yet little is known outside of Canada of these achievements or of our development."

McNAUGHTON'S SUCCESSOR?—John Holmes, 39-year-old former schoolmaster, will likely become temporary head of Canada's delegation to the United Nations, succeeding Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton. Mr. Holmes, now is head of the U. N. division of the external affairs department.

For Slim Silhouette: Inches Off

MOVIE COLUMN

Glenn Fords May Team Up To Make Film

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 19—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ford may soon join the ranks of wife-husband film teams.

Mrs. Ford is dancer Eleanor Powell, who recently made a stab at a movie comeback in a musical. Now the couple is actively considering teaming up. Both are more or less free-lancers and can direct their film destinies.

The Quebec-born Ford is also considering the reporter's role in "Born Yesterday." He realizes the part is less flashy than the other two leads, which will be played by Broderick Crawford and Judy Holliday. But he may play it — if Columbia will meet his terms.

Fancy Clothes

Irene Dunne is glowing over her fancy wardrobe in "Come Share My Love." says she: "Most women love to see beautiful clothes on the screen . . . and so do I. They will notice clothes and comment on them, even if the picture sin't too impressive."

She added that the picture's dresses are "really shorter than I like. But since the picture won't be released until the new short skirts are in vogue, I don't want to be caught with my skirts down."

Odd Bits

Ticket demand has already begun here for "South Pacific," which doesn't open until May. It will stay eight weeks, but the number of tickets will be limited to each customer. . .

Robert Rossen's Company is flying to Mexico city for locations of "The Brave Bulls". . .

Ruth Roman has crashed the top 10 list in fan mail at Warners. With only three released pictures, Doris Day leads the list

Hips Must Be Streamlined To Wear New Spring Skirts

By ALICIA HART

The predominant line in this spring fashions is a slim one. This means slim hips if the new slender skirts are to look right on you. And the time to start reducing hip size is now, before you have to step out in new fashions.

Hips don't melt under the impact of a diet alone. One sure way to speed spot reducing is by exercise.

There are any number of recommended hip-slimming exercises but for quick action there are two which will get those hips to the right proportions in time for the new slim skirts.

Girls whose hips ride out behind like a bustle will benefit by this one: sit down on the floor and, keeping elbows raised to act as balancing flippers, "walk" across the floor sitting down. Use your legs to propel you forward. Since your full weight is resting on the spot which needs reducing you're literally pounding off the excess inches in double-quick time.

Another good exercise for problem hips lies in the sprinter exercise. Take the stance of a sprinter ready to go, with hands on the floor, right leg stretched out in back and the left knee bent. Now, reverse the position of the legs with a vigorous jump and repeat this 10 times. Later, you can increase the count to 20.

Once your hips are slimmed to the right proportions, stay with the exercises. They'll keep your hips in place.

Malvern Festival Dropped for Year

MALVERN, England, Jan. 19 (Reuters)—The Malvern Drama Festival for which George Bernard Shaw wrote six plays over the years will not be held this year.

Its director, Captain Roy Limbert, said Wednesday it was too late to make the necessary arrangements.

Founded in 1929, the Malvern Festival drew drama lovers yearly to this quiet health resort.

Limbert blamed the town council for refusing "adequate financial assistance."

Spring Hats Much Larger More Care In Trimming

By EPSIE KINARD

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The hat that fashion tosses into the ring this spring makes news with its more impressive size and fancier effects. As bonnets grow bigger, milliners are able to give more play to the tricks of trimming and design, which were strictly limited by the ultra-simple little cap.

Silhouettes, mindful of today's slim fashions, are kept trim and clean-cut. Brims of medium width frame the simple round-crowned bonnets or slope sharply from shallowe "coolie" crowns. Whimsy is confined to amusing "conversation piece" trimmings such as peanuts, sequinned butterflies, jeweled bees, garden foliage and flowers. Typical of the trick effects are pearl-encrusted forehead bands and removable wreaths which make one hat serve the purpose of two.

Prophetic silhouette that marks a new trend in larger hats is Christian Dior's "coolie" hat. This shallow-crowned hat with its sloping brim line is shown in natural straw. Dior points to this model as his idea of a hat that is neither too large nor too small o complement current fashions.

Spring hats offer the flattery of larger brims and unfussy styling and the charm of ingenious tricks of design and trim. Checked gingham bambino bonnet with shirred brim (upper left) has a detachable wreath of chartreuse straw. Peanuts, dangling from a sequin band, trim the natural straw bonnet (upper right). A red velvet forehead band decorated with pearl-encrusted medallion anchors the romanesque snood of Tuscan straw (lower right). Natural straw shapes the new 'coolie' hat silhouette (lower left).

Spicing up simple bonnet-cloches resigned by Mr. John are clever trimmings for which the designer is noted. Peanuts, for example, plucked from the vendor's stand, dangle from a gold-sequinned hat band around the brim of a natural straw. An almost invisible net holds the nuts in place.

The headdresses which capped the short hair-dos of the Italian Renaissance provide design cues for designer Sally Victor's hats for modern bobs. For one show-stopper, a forehead band of red velvet centered with a velvet and pearl medallion anchors a romanesque snood to the head. Tiny pearls are sprinkled over the back of this snood of lacy Tuscan straw. Wreathing Victor's bambino bonnet of red and white checked gingham is a removable circlet of chartreuse straw flowers and ribbons which may be worn separately. The soft shirred brim of the bonnet dips low over each ear and narrows to a small ruffle across the front and back.

Of Interest to Women

What's Right

A boy takes you into a drug store for a soda and you see a friend sitting in a booth with her date.

WRONG WAY: Stand and talk to your friend, while the boys wait for you to get through with your conversation.

RIGHT WAY: Say "Hello" to your friend, but don't stand talking to her, since you date rates your attention.

✧ ✧ ✧

In a few days your daughter will be going to her first dance.

WRONG WAY: Let her wait until she gets there to find out what social situations she will be faced with.

RIGHT WAY: As nearly as you can, tell her just what to expect.

DOROTHY DIX

Study Man Before Marriage Don't Quarrel, Argue, Nag

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 24, desperately in love with a young man who loves me even more, and we are soon to be married. I want our marriage to be a success. Please tell me the most logical way of making it one. I hear of divorces because the wife is too good, too kind, making too great an effort to please her husband so that it gets monotonous. I hear of divorces because the wife is unreasonable, so ill-tempered that it gets unbearable. Isn't there some middle way that a woman can take?

ANNABELLE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you and your husband want to make your marriage a success you can do it if you are willing to work together and put your hearts and backs in it, and if you are willing to put one-tenth of the thought in it you would to make a success in any other line. But you have to work together. Neither one can do it alone. No business can prosper if one partner is a slacker and a quitter.

Dorothy Dix

But if one partner has to be more on the job than the other it is the wife. Possibly this isn't fair, but it is the way things are.

If I were giving any general rule to a woman for making marriage a succes I would say: First study your man. Find out how to handle him and then, instead of bumping into all the angles of his disposition, gumshoe around them. Every man desires above everything else on earth to have his wife admire him, for her to think he is the wisest, handsomest, strongest, bravest man in the world, and as long as she does this his interest in her and his affection for her never wanes.

If your husband has a head-of-the-house complex, let him have the empty honor. Don't dispute it with him. As long as you ask his advice about everything he will never notice whether you take it or not. If your husband is of a gay and pleasure-loving disposition, grab your hat and go whenever he wants to step out. A man who loves to play has to have a playfellow, and if his wife won't play with him there are plenty of other girls who will.

Don't quarrel. Don't argue. Dont' nag. Don't interfere with all of your husband's personal habits. He was a grown man with established tastes and ways before he married you, and you interfere with these at your peril. Make your husband a comfortable home. Feed him well. Respect his individuality and make him respect yours. Play the game fairly and squarely and you need not fear that your marriage will be a failure.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: For the love of goodness please say something to mothers about the way they discourage their children. I have one of the best mothers in the world, but she takes all of the ambition out of me by her perpetual criticisms of everything I try to do. I am "slow" and "awkward" and "dumb" and a "bungler" and so on. I am naturally shy and timid and she is always holding my shortcomings up before me. I know my mother thinks she is helping me by telling me of my faults, but she is intensifying them. Why can't mothers see what they are doing to their children by always baiting them?

G.B.

ANSWER: I don't know, unless it is that mothers are so anxious for their children to be perfect that they get an exaggerated view of their shortcomings and feel that they must spend their time hammering at them.

And she does not see that when she tells Johnny how awkward he is and Mary how dumb she is, she simply makes them more awkward and dumber because she makes them self-conscious. Worse still, she kills in them not only ambition but the power to achieve things. For we can only do what we believe we can do.

Great is the power of suggestion, but it works both ways. It can kill as well as cure. It can take every bit of the heart out fo children or it can inspire them to do great things. And wise is the mother who makes her children believe that she expects the best of them instead of dismally prophesying the worst for them.

In olden times it used to be thought necessary continually to tell children how ugly and dull and generally worthless they were in order to keep them from being vain, but now we know that we need a lot of self-conceit to get us through the world, and the children need to be encouraged instead of discouraged.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: We have had an argument and a disagreement about which has the more privileges, men or women. As we cannot agree, we have left the matter to you to decide.

X. Y. AND Z.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I don't see how there could be any argument on that subject because from the very beginning of it this has been a man's world. Men have the privilege of going where they like, doing what they please, the privilege of picking out the women they want for wives, the privilege of even breaking the moral laws without paying the penalty as a woman does when she transgresses. Oh, the men get all the cake and ale and the women only a few crumbs.

Bury Sq. Leader With Full Military Honors

CAMPBELLSORD, Jan. 19 — (ENS)—Christ Church, Campbellford, Wednesday was the scene of one of the largest and most impressive funerals to be held in this town for some time, when Squadron Leader John Eric Bythell, victim of an RCAF plane crash at Edmonton on Thursday last week, was buried with full military honours.

The cortege was preceded by a firing squad from the RCAF station at Trenton, and a detachment from RCAF base at Rockliffe, near Ottawa, where Bythell had been stationed.

W/C F. R. Frayne, Principal Protestant Chaplain of H.Q staff in Ottawa, and F/L E. Gilbert, Protestant Chaplain of RCAF, Rockliffe, officiated at the services.

Members of the local Canadian Legion acted in the capacity of flower bearers. The casket was borne by Air Force personnel.

S/L Bythell, who was 32 years of age, is survivel by his wife, Mary Louise Coxwell, and two two brothers, Randal K. Bythell, of Toronto, and Donald C. Bythell of Montreal. He was the son of the late Rev. John R. Bythell and Mrs. Bythell.

A graduate of Ridley College, St. Catharines, and of the University of Western Ontario, he had recently returned from Texas, where he spent two years with the American Air Force on an exchange program, and had many flying hours to his credit. S/L Bythell and his family had spent considerable time in Campbellford, making many friends here.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19 (AP) — Grains opened strong on the Board of Trade today. The market rebounded in active dealings from the sell-off registered in Wednesday's late trading.

A second look at the Commodity Credit Corporation's new program for disposing of farm surpluses made some traders think it was not as bearish at it first believed.

It was argued that if the new export program should hold down the price of corn, more of that grain will go under the government loan. Therefore, a tight supply situation in the free market could develop later in the year, traders said.

Wheat started ⅝-⅞ cent higher, March $2.14¾-⅞, corn was ⅜-1¼ higher, March $1.27½, and oats were ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, March 71. Soybeans were unchanged to a cent higher, March $2.30-$2.30½ roof, Mr. Marani said it was partly for economy and partly for appearance. It was the cheapest way of giving ornamental effect to the third floor, being at the same time suitable to the general design of the building. The great English architect Wren had used the mansard roof on some of his buildings.

[A mansard roof, named after a seventh century French architect, is one in which each face has two slopes, the lower one steeper than the upper.]

Mayor Swanston said that Ald. Hugh Waddell had noted a similarity between many of the town halls and muniucipal buildings he had seen in New England, and the design the committee of last year had chosen.

City Clerk Outram recalled to the new members that the committee had agreed that in building a city hall they did not want a design "that looked definitely like 1950."

"The committee felt that in a few years this design of building would have the appearance of having been there for generations," he said. "They preferred to adopt a principle of municipal architecture that had come down through the centuries, something which had always been used in good buildings, and was in the tradition of English speaking communities."

"Contemporary Georgian"

Mr. Marani said the city hall design was not contemporary Georgian. He denied emphatically that there was any Byzantine or academic Tudor in it, but it did reflect Georgian and Renaissance influences. Mr. Marani said the Georgian was an English development of Renaissance architecture, and in an outline of the history of architecture he traced changes through the medieval and Romanesque periods into the Gothic and down to the present day. He referred to what he called the poetic influence, reflecting the influence of poets and other writers in attempting to decide for the people what they should like, instead of following the ideas and practice of the architects.

At the turn of the century there was a movement back to traditional architecture which relied on simple form and method, color and rhythm and balance for its effects. It was expressive of a clear philosophy, instead of the confused philosophy of today.

Architectural Folly?

Mr. Marani spoke of the poetic and romantic influence, a phase of which was emanating today from California. United States architectural magazines were accepting it. With them, if a design was new it was fine and acceptable, if it was traditional and good it was rejected by them. They were even trying to foist this trend of the California ranch house upon New England. Mr. Marani mentioned a nine or ten storey building in Portland, Oregon, built chiefly of glass and aluminum. One architectural magazine wrote: "Here we have it at last. It gives us purpose and the functional with no waste of ornament."

The English Architectural Review said of that type that it looked as if it was wrapped in cellophane. "You could set it on any side or upside down, and it still looked the same, and depended for its effect on the sheen of glass or aluminum," the Review commented.

"I sincerely hope Canadians are not going to pay too much attention to this present poetic influence," Mr. Marani said. "We believe that your design is the logical answer to the problem of Peterborough's new civic building. I appreciate the opportunity of being here again, and, it appears, in rebuttal to some things that have been said. Really, criticism is a good thing. It shows an interest, and there were more discussion of public buildings it would be a good thing."

Small Cost of Ornament

Ald. Braund said the small cost of ornament of the building in the cupola and the terrazo floor in the lobby, was a remarkably small item against the estimated total cost of more than $600,000. He was assured by Mayor Swanston that the National Trust had followed every stage in the development of the plans and had expressed complete approval.

Ald. Braund: "What about the public library? Will it stay there? This will make it look like a sore thumb."

"Some day," said Mayor Swanston, "the library may be torn down."

Ald. Dewart said the cupola and tower clock appealed to him. "It is distinctive. It sets the city hall apart from the ordinary building of commerce, and gives it a civic effect."

Ald. J. E. Gillespie: "I think it is as distinctive to the municipal building, as a steeple is to a church."

Ald. Doug Miller: "There are some people who would want it entirely modern."

Ald. Braund moved, seconded by Ald. Miller, that the architects be authorized to call for tenders.

Mr. Marani said that stage might not be reached until the and of February, possibly before then.

New Fire Hall Chief Asks In 25th Report

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 18 (ENS) — New quarters for the fire department will have to be considered in the near future, Fire Chief Allan Clark told the village council this week, when presenting his annual report. The present fire hall is too small, there being no facilities for cleaning trucks during cold weather. He also said a ladder truck was becoming necessary to the department since the growth of the village.

The lighting system of the fire hall was obsolete and required immediate attention, he said.

The chief also spoke off inadequate supplies of water. Until action was taken with the waterworks project, Bishop and Albert Sts. will be without any supply of water, he said.

New Equipment

During the year the following equipment was supplied to the department: 100 feet of two-and-a-half inch fire hose, 200 feet of one-and-a-half inch hose, two lanterns, one nozzle. The chief asked for the following supplies for 1950: 200 feet of two-and-a-half inch hose, six new helmets, two Scott Air Pak masks, a suitable container for carrying salvage covers on No. 1 truck and also several small fittings urgently needed.

The masks enable the wearer to penetrate gas and smoke of any kind, the chief explained. The present Canister type of masks being worn were inadequate protection for firemen.

The Chief was presenting his 25th anual report to the council. He reported two major fires during the year and 17 calls, and estimated total losses through fire amounted to $10,451.

During the year the chief had been re-elected secretary-treasurer of the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs.

The Department is fast regaining a standard of efficiency which was lost during the war years, Chief Clark reported.

Obituary

ROBERT P. GRAY

ROSENEATH, Jan. 19—(ENS)—The funeral service for Robert Preston Gray, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Gray, was held at Alderville United Church Wednesday.

The Rev. J. N. Lovelace, assistant pastor of Alderville Church, conducted the service, and Mrs. James Bigwin Jr. was at the organ.

The six-months-old infant died in hospital on Sunday after a short illness from pneumonia. He was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Gray. Burial was in Alderville Cemetery.

MISS ELIZABETH MARY O'CONNELL

One of a family distinguished for their contribution to education in this province, Miss Elizabeth Mary O'Connell, died Wednesday, January 18, 1950, at 6:05 p.m. in St. Joseph's Hospital. Some time ago Miss O'Connell had the misfortune to slip on the snow-covered ice on the lawn of her home, 587 Armour Road, and broke her hip. She did not recover from the shock and with loss of appetite she gradually weakened.

Miss O'Connell was educated in St. Mary's Convent and the Peterborough Collegiate Institute from which she graduated with honors, and the Ontario College of Education. Most of her teaching was done in Ottawa where she was principal of a school for some time. She was a first class, conscientious teacher, admired and beloved by both parents and pupils alike. She was modest, self-sacrificing and deeply religious.

She travelled considerably, including a voyage to France where she joined her sister who was studying at the Sorbonne in Paris. With her sister she also journeyed through Italy, and had the honor of an audience with the late Pope Pius XI in Rome.

Her passing makes a double bereavement for her family, since it is scarcely a week since the death of her brother, the late J. T. O'Connell.

Surviving are three sisters Rev. Sister St. Catherine of the Community of St. Joseph's; Mary A., and Marguerite and one brother James, all of Peterborough.

The funeral will take place from the funeral home of Mr. Bert Duffus on Saturday, January 21 to the Immaculate Conception Church for requiem mass at 10:00 o'clock.

WM. H. STRICKLAND

William Henry Strickland, 461 Gilmour St., retired CNR engineer, died Wednesday afternoon in hospital here. His age was 65.

Mr. Strickland was born in Port Hope, was educated there, and was employed by Canadian National Railways. He retired from its service last summer, on account of a heart condition; several months before his scheduled pensioning. Recent critical development of his illness resulted rather suddenly in death. Mr. Strickland was a son of Henry Strickland and his wife, Mary Pollick, both deceased. He leaves his wife, the former Agnes Michels, and daughter, Miss Doris Strickland. He was a member of St. Peter's Cathedral.

The funeral will be Saturday at 9:45 a.m. from his late home to St. Peter's Cathedral for requiem mass at 10 o'clock. Burial will be at Union Cemetery, Port Hope.

LONDON, Jan. 19 — (Reuters) The British Electricity authority, controlling all public supplies in the country, ended its first year with a surplus of £4,391,684 ($13,614,200), it was disclosed on Wennesday. This compares with deficits in nationalized railroads, coal-mining and air transport.

Trying To Boost Visitors From US Says D. L. Dolan

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que., Jan. 19 (CP)—Canada's Transport Department is taking action to ensure a smoother flow of travellers between this country and the United States, D. Leo Dolan, director of the Canadian Travel Bureau, said Wednesday night.

Mr. Dolan was addressing the annual dinner of the Dominion Marine Association—made up of Canadian companies operating on the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River—and the Lake Carriers' Association, its U.S. counterpart.

The Travel Director said the Transport Department was engaged in setting up new aids to navigation and taking other measures which he hoped would bring about a big increase in the carriage of steamship passengers between Canada and the U.S.

People Pray For Snow Resort In Business

ST. JOVITE, Que., Jan. 19 (CP) —Resort operators in surrounding hamlets of the Laurentians where villagers prayed for snow last week reported yesterday "we are back in the skiing picture" after a snowfall of five to seven inches during the night.

Since the beginning of the holiday season last month hills of the famed Laurentian Ski paradise have been bare. Resort owners, restaurant proprietors and ski-tow operators, who depend on plenty of snow for a living, are estimated to have lost $2,000,000.

Dangerous Relics

WINNIPEG — (CP) — Two danger calls in one day were answered by the bomb disposal unit at Fort Osborne barracks. A radio shop reported a set containing a bomb detonator had been brought in for repairs and a city foundry found a 25-pound artillery shell in a heap of scrap metal. Both war relics were disposed of.

Had To Steal Or Get Beating

COLLINGWOOD, Jan. 18 (CP) A seven-year-old boy's story that he was beaten by his father if he "didn't steal enough things" was quoted by police in court Tuesday.

Walter North, 43, father of the lad and six other children, was committed to Penetang Mental Hospital for a 60-day observation.

North was arrested Jan. 8 on a charge of receiving stolen goods, breaking and entering and theft. The arrest followed an interview Chief Constable Lewis Elliot had with the seven-year-old in which the boy told of being schooled in crime.

Chief Elliot said the lad told him his father forced him to take part in the robbery of a small store and was continually urging him to steal from other stores.

North's wife testified her husband had been acting strangely since suffering a stroke last year.

Venezuela Opens Her Doors To Europeans

CARACAS, Venezuela, Jan. 19 —The military Junta of Venezuela has decided to throw open once again the gates of Venezuela to Europeans, after a lapse of more than a year, during which no immigration had been permitted.

This week a special immigration agency was ordered to proceed to Rome, with a view to moving 100 Italian families a month to Venezuela. An agency for Germany and Austria is already functioning, and it is expected that a similar committee for Spain will be named shortly.

These agencies will select a total of 400 European families each month, will transport them to Venezuela and will help them to get started in a new life here. In addition to the 400 families, other persons will be permitted to immigrate, making a total of approximately 2,000 persons a month.

The new dispositions have been created by the National Agrarian Institute, which has just completed a detailed study of the immigration problem here.

Junta Charged Irregularities

The exclusion of European immigrants took place as a result of the military coup of Nov., 1948 which deposed President Romulo Gallegos. The government of the Accion Democratica party, over which Dr. Gallegos had presided had virtually opened the country without restrictions to European immigration. During the period 1945-1948 about 23,000 Europeans were admitted.

The military Junta held that the Accion Democratica government had not controlled the current of Immigration properly, and had permitted undesirable elements to enter. It was also maintained that many immigrants had obtained entranc under false pretenses, stating that they were farmers or artisans, and afterward devoting themselves to commercial activities here.

Late last year, the military Junta decided to replace the old Immigration Institution with an Agarian institute and to reorganize the agricultural colonies for immigrants. The Agrarian Institute reduced the number of agricultural colonies to forty-nine, and inaugurated new agencies to control the flow of immigration.

Farmers to Get Preference

Preference will be given to Italians and Spaniards, as it is believed that they are the most assimilable here. In addition, the quota will include 150 families of displaced persons from Germany and Austria, to be sent here by the International Refugee Organization in cooperation with a special Venezuelan agency. Small quotas also have been assigned to France, Switzerland, Belgium and the Netherlands.

Preference will be given to farmers, who will be allowed to purchase land on liberal terms, through the Government-controlled Farm Bank. These farmers will get technical assistance, so that they may be able to cultivate their lands to advantage. Some of them will be settled on cooperative farm colonies maintained by the Government.

12 People Evicted Sleep In Legion Hall In Brampton

BRAMPTON, Jan. 18 (CP) Two families made up of four adults and eight small children who were evicted from their Caledon township home last Thursday, slept on the floor of the Legion Hall here Tuesday night.

Heads of the families, Ernest Leach and Howard Hyland, both jobless, are asking Toronto Welfare officials to find them temporary shelter. Both families resided in Toronto until three months ago.

Deputy Reeve John Scott, of Caledon, says his township would guarantee the families monthly rent until they are back in order again. Meanwhile they are being fed at the Salvation Army Hall here while Army officials seek work for the fathers.

Fire Sweeps Cabin, Baby Dead

Mother In Hospital Suffering Shock, Rescue Too Late

TIMMINS, Jan. 20 (CP) — A year-old-baby is dead and his mother in hospital after a fire swept their log cabin home, 23 miles east of here Thursday night.

Provincial police said the child, Gregory Disautels, was alone in the three-room stained log cabin when the fire started about 5 p.m.

His mother Mrs. Joseph Disautels was visiting a next door neighbor. She rushed home to save the baby and tried to get into the house through a side window.

Neighbors report that the child was removed from the burning building when Mrs. Joseph Walecki made her way in the door and handed him out the window to his mother.

Mrs. Walecki was badly burned about the hands. Mrs. Disautels is suffering chiefly from shock.

Taken To Hospital

The three were rushed to hospital by two officials from Monteith Industrial Farm. The child was dead on arrival at the hospital 20 miles away.

The log cabin was one of a group of six buildings at Nighthawk Centre on highway 101.

Fifty men from a nearby construction camp were rushed to the scene to save the other buildings by spraying snow against the burning cabin.

About 100 from the surrounding area, summoned by flames that could be seen 10 miles away watched the fire.

Angry Miners Ignore Lewis

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 20 (AP)—Thousands of angry United States soft-coal miners are refusing to go back to work Monday on a three-day work week.

Large groups of diggers in West Virginia and Pennsylvania are leading the fight to stay home. They are among 90,000 united mine workers in seven states who ignored John L. Lewis's suggestion they return to the pits last Monday.

Tension is mounting hourly in the coal fields. Miners were openly rebellious at meetings in West Virginia and Pennsylvania Thursday. They shouted down leaders who urged that they obey Lewis.

A coal-hungry country is watching the titanic struggle between Lewis and the coal operators who are refusing to bow to his demands. He wants a 95-cents-a-day increase for his miners now making a basic wage of $14.05. And he wants the royalty payments to his welfare and pension fund increased from 20 to 35 cents a ton.

In some areas the coal supply situation is growing critical. The Southern Coal Producers' Association, in its most recent statement, said about 22,000,000 tons of soft coal was above ground. That's the lowest in 15 years.

The situation has forced rationing in some United States cities. Pittsburgh, the coal and steel capital, resorted to such measures Wednesday. Chicago fell into line. Then Cleveland declared a coal emergency Thursday.

Prairies Will Get Breather From Cold

By The Canadian Press.

Hope for early easing of bitter cold on the Canadian Prairies is held as a result of a movement of frigid air across Ontario early today. The cold which has gripped the West for weeks is showing signs of moving East.

The Ontario cold snap, which dropped temperatures to 54 below zero at Kirkland Lake and to 49 below at White River, coincided with a Pacific Coast warm-up that boosted the mercury at Vancouver from about zero to 34 above.

Weather men say Ontario's cold spell, one of the province's most severe so far this winter, will be shortlived. Almost everywhere in the province, the weather is to be milder tomorrow.

Bad Farmers Responsible For Subsidies—Bromfield

TORONTO, Jan. 20—Bad farmers, responsible for today's pleas for subsidies and government aid, will be eliminated during the next 25 or 30 years, leaving only the farmer who is a scientist, a specialist and a businessman, Louis Bromfield told the Ontario Crop Improvement Association Thursday night. Proper land use and efficient farming methods, he said, were the answer to the farmer's problems, rather than high prices or government aid. Government price aids merely "subsidize bad agriculture."

Mr. Bromfield, author, former newspaperman and farmer whose Malabar Farm at Lucas, Ohio, has become widely known, said half of the population of the United States derived a living from agriculture either directly or indirectly. Because the buying power of the inefficient farmer was needed to maintain the national economy, the government had to help bad farmers.

There were farms side by side in some sections of the U.S., he added, on which one farmer would produce 30 bushels of corn per acre while his neighbor produced 100 bushels.

"And it's the 30-bushel farmer who can't make a living," he said.

The United States could produce sufficient food on the present agricultural land to support a population three or four times the present level at diet level of today by proper land use, high production per acre, and low production cost, he said.

Deplores Surpluses.

He deplored surpluses and said they were caused by high prices which limited markets, and poor distribution, frequently caused by politicians blocking plans because they were trying to buy "the farm

Want Germany Mind Business

FRANKFURT, Jan. 20 (AP) — Top allied officials are deeply concerned because the West German government is neglecting threatening domestic problems for a preoccupation with international affairs.

Latest thorn in the allied flesh is the Bonn government's bitter attacks on French refusal to give Germany back the Saar valley and its rich coal mines.

The Saar, which through history has swapped from French to German hands and back again, now has an autonomous domestic government under French control.

British, American and French officials don't want to criticize openly the West German regime they helped create. But privately they say that they feel West German politicians are hurting their own cause by not buckling down to the problems gnawing at the area's vitals.

They point out there is no possibility of settling the Saar problem now. The allies have agreed that any change in the valley's status must await a German peace treaty.

The Saar dispute is not the first instance of what the allies consider undue attention to international relations.

Drives Car Without Gas Rationing No Problem

LONDON, Jan. 20 (CP) — Frank Alfred Crawley, 30-year-old London-born engineer, says Britain's gas rationing doesn't bother him—he's been driving his car for a year without a drop of gasoline.

He claims to have perfected a new "solid fuel" and an adaptor to use it in his car.

After warming up the engine on a liquid fuel such as paraffin, he inserts a tube of greaselike substance into the special fitting on the engine and drives off.

He says he gets 50 miles to the pound of fuel.

"My car is normal in every way except that I fit my own carburetor and a bigger battery.

"I also have an atomizer cylinder for the solid fuel and an expansion or starter tank. I use the vapor from the sump, gas from the exhaust and vapour from solid fuel boosted by vapour from the water in the radiator.

"These are passed through 13 jets in my special carburetor."

He adds that more than a dozen "solid fuels" are useable, including by-products from coal, petroleum and even a candle. The best would be carbon scraped from the pistons of a car when it is decarbonized.

Crawley hopes to put a conversion unit on the market within a year.

The cost of converting an ordinary motor to the Crawley method?

"About £50 ($155) and cost of the solid fuel will be about half that of ordinary gasoline."

Many Others Reported Badly Burned

Basement Windows Covered By Bars Cutting Off Escape

TORONTO, Jan. 20—(CP)—Dr. Robert Ralph, Toronto Fire Department doctor, said three persons were killed and several burned, two critically, today in a fire that trapped workers in the basement premises of Phillips Garments, Ltd., in the heart of Toronto's west-central garment-manufacturing district.

Names of the victims were not immediately available. The dead and injured were found huddled beneath windows in one end of th basement by firemen who used acetylene torches to cut bars on the windows after flames blocked doors and stairways.

The fire broke out near a doorway in the basement of the three-storey building housing other dress-manufacturing firms, including Sport Frocks, Limited, and the Adorable Frock Company.

Earlier, five persons were reported dead.

8 Overcome By Smoke

Firemen, who donned gas masks to grope through the heavy smoke, said they found at least eight persons overcome by smoke in the basement.

Emanuel Gans, manager of Sports Frocks, said he had difficulty escaping from his office on the street-level floor.

"The fire spread so fast that for a few moments I thought I wasn't going to get out at all," Gans said later.

Hospitals were ordered cleared when it was reported many persons were badly burned.

The brick building was on the south-west corner of Richmond Street and Spadina Avenue.

Firemen donned gas masks to penetrate the heavy smoke. They said they found at least eight persons overcome by smoke in the basement.

Doors Locked

The firemen said fire escape doors were locked and they were forced to use axes and blow torchs to open them.

Firemen and spectators worked on the street to revive victims.

Cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

An employee said work was just resumed after lunch. Power had been turned on when flames seemed to shoot from the ceiling.

"I had only time enough to shout fire, when the flames spread all over," he said.

Owners of the building, Jack Hilf and H. Feldman, were out when the fire started.

Mrs. Dorothy Sutton, designer with Adorable Frock Co., said there were only two exits from the building. She said flames prevented any escape from the front door and the rear door was bolted.

She said she and a few others climbed on a radiator and made their way out through a window.

Cleo Gets Around

CINCINNATI, Jan. 20 — (AP) — If Cleopatra just could talk—she'd wreck you with stories about her operation.

But Cleopatra is a 600-pound Nile River crocodile so she isn't saying much.

In fact she's still a bit lethargic from the anaesthetic given her. But that operation produced six pop bottles, some of them broken, 38 rocks, some of them as big as baseballs; several marbles; a rifle shell and a China elephant.

Some weeks ago Zoo attendants figured Cleopatra had swallowed a pop bottle. Cleo began losing her appetite so an operation was deemed necessary.

For three days they've been giving Cleo drugs to subdue her. Yesterday six husky men were pressed into service to help hold the crocodile to the "operating table."

US Threatening Break With Bulgaria

Demand Balkan Country Withdraw Order For Recall of Minister

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 (AP) —The United States threatened today to break diplomatic relations with Bulgaria unless that Communist country withdraws its demand for the recall of American Minister Donald R. Heath from Sofia.

An American note replying to the Bulgarian request was ordered delivered to the Bulgarian government in Sofia. It was also handed to Dr. Peter Voutov, ranking Bulgarian diplomat here.

The note described the demand for Heath's recall as simply the latest of a "series of indignities and restrictions" which have made it virtually impossible for the U. S. diplomatic mission in Sofia to carry on its duties.

The American note added:

"Accordingly, unless the Bulgarian government withdraws its note of Jan. 19 and demonstrates its willingness to observe established international standards of conduct, the United States government must conclude that the Bulgarian government does not desire to maintain normal relations."

Those threatened actions of the American government would constitute a break of diplomatic relations.

Bulgarian treatment of Heath brought U. S.-Bulgarian relations dangerously near to breaking late last year.

Heath's name was mentioned in the treason trial at Sofia of former Bulgarian Deputy Premier Traicho Kostov. Kostov was hanged after being found guilty of conspiring with America, British and Yugoslavian representatives to make Bulgaria a vassal of Yugoslavia.

Edgar Hoover Takes Over Robbery Case

BOSTON, Jan. 20 (AP)—Top-flight investigations commanded by the head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation today streamlined their hunt for Boston's million-dollar desperadoes.

Under orders from FBI director J. Edgar Hoover, who took control Thursday, experts involved in the investigation co-ordinated activities. They considered the possibility of setting up a central office to sift clues.

Directives from Hoover's office criss-crossed the United States to FBI branches in key cities in the hunt for nine bandits who seized $1,000,000 in cash and $500,000 in cheques at the Brink's Armored Transportation Company garage Tuesday night.

As the manhunt entered its third day, investigators clung to only a few thin leads.

Not The Man

The seizure of a New Jersey ex-convict with $1,762 on his person in Miami, Fla., Thursday as a possible suspect was knocked down by local police.

Boston Deputy Superintendent John F. Daly said, after talking with Miami police, that the man apparently had no connection with the local hold-up.

The man, identified as Arthur Longano, 51, of Englewood, N.J., was picked up by detectives who flagged down the streamliner Miamian as it entered the Boston railroad yards.

The FBI automatically enlisted the aid of millions of civilians, banks and business establishments Thursday night by publishing serial numbers of 24,050 bills totalling $98,900 of the $1,000,000 taken in the robbery.

Climbs Along Ledge To Escape Flames

TORONTO, Jan. 20 — (CP).—Mrs. Sarah Weinzweig inched her way 100 feet to safety along a narrow ledge, 30 feet above the street level, and a family of four escaped down a ladder today when fire roared through a store in West-Central Toronto, two other persons escaped from ground floor exits.

Dense smoke and terrific heat filled the store and two upstairs apartments. Mrs. Weinzweig said her father went to the basement to fix the furnace. He yelled "Fire," and smoke began pouring up into the store.

Her father escaped through a rear window, while Mrs. Weinzweig told the family to leave. Mrs. Edward Hirabashi and her children, Lloyd 16, Austin 12 and Janet 8, escaped down the ladder placed there by workmen from a nearby garage. Damage from the blaze was not estimated.

Two Men Remanded In Bank Robbery

KITCHENER, Jan. 20—(CP)—Two men were remanded one week for trial today on charges of armed robbery of the Dominion Bank branch at nearby Elmira last Saturday.

George Hughes, 29, of Glace Bay, N.S., and Toronto, and Arthur George, 28, of Newfoundland and Salem, Ont., appeared in police court for about one minute.

They were arrested Saturday five hours after two men robbed the bank of approximately $6,000 and kidnapped two drivers.

US Prepared To Scrap Boycott of Franco Spain

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—(AP)—The new United States decision to help scrap the diplomatic boycott of Franco Spain apparently had military strategy as a major reason. Diplomatic officials today reported that western military leaders long have favored this as a move toward bringing Spain into the western defence system. Their argument was that Spain's strategic position made it vital to any effective western plan for stopping any possible Russian attack on western Europe.

State Secretary Dean Acheson disclosed Thursday that the United States now favors sending an Ambassador back to Madrid.

The Senate, which has much to do with foreign policy, showed general approval. Both economic and religious pressures have been apparent. Many Roman Catholics have urged recognition of the Franco Government as a defender of religion.

Those opposing recognition have argued mainly that Franco is a dictator raised to power by Hitler and Mussolini.

Fails Purpose

Acheson said the 1946 United Nations declaration which bars its members from having diplomatic relations with Spain "has not only failed in its intended purpose but has served to strengthen the position of the present regime.

Therefore, he said, the United States would support a move in the United Nations Assembly which would leave member governments free to send ambassadors or ministers to Madrid if they so desire.

Acheson made public the changed American policy in a letter to chairman Tom Connally (Dem. Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

A vote in favor of resuming full diplomatic ties should not be interpreted as a sign that the United States now approves of the Franco regime, he emphasized.

Strachey Increases Bacon, Candy Ration

LONDON, Jan. 20 (CP)—Food Minister John Strachey today announced temporary increases in the bacon and candy ration, with the bacon increase partly due to increased Canadian supplies.

The bacon ration will be increased from four to five ounces a week and candy ration from four to 4½ ounces weekly beginning Jan. 29.

The minister said recent shipments of bacon from Canada and Denmark had been above estimates and additional supplies are expected during the next few months under the recently announced Anglo-Canadian bacon agreement for 1950.

He said the increase in the ration would be maintained until stocks, which cannot be stored beyond a strictly limited period, are reduced to "their normal prudent level." He warned that the ration would vary frequently with variations in the supply position.

Nab Teen-agers In 95 MPH Chase

OAKVILLE, Jan. 20—(CP)—Four teen-age youths were arrested today following a 95-mile-an-hour chase through Hamilton streets and along the Queen Elizabeth Way in which four shots were fired by police. The youths were stopped by a roadblock of more than 50 automobiles and trucks on the highway.

Charged with car theft are Robert McLaughlin, 17, Leonard Douglas Pugh, 18, and James North, 17, all of Toronto, and Brian Martin, 16, of Hamilton.

Police said the youths drove off when they were stopped for questioning in Hamilton. The automobile, believed stolen in Toronto, raced wildly through Hamilton streets before heading for the highway.

The road block was set up by provincial police who commandeered vehicles acting on instructions sent over its radio network.

$84,000 Diamonds Missing At Airport

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Jan. 20 (AP)—Police reported $84,000 worth of diamonds destined for Saudi Arabia disappeared Thursday night from a Johannesburg airport safe.

The small packet of 1,014 diamonds was reported missing a half hour before the plane on which they were consigned was to take off. Passengers and baggage of the plane were searched here and a further search was ordered at Leopoldsville, Belgian Congo, the plane's next stop.

Poor Little Rich Girl Wanted Life of Her Own

VANCOUVER, Jan. 20 (CP)—Beverley van Horne tried to scratch her name from Montreal's blue book when she ran away from school December 16 and to become just another pretty 'teen-ager.

The 17-year-old heiress to a $2,000,000 fortune was a pathetic figure as she climbed aboard a plane here Wednesday night to return to "the life she hated."

An acquaintance who declined to be named, Thursday positively identified the pretty brunette as the granddaughter of Sir William van Horne, one of the builders of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and told some of the poor little rich girl's story.

Her flight from a fashionable bone to a $4.50 a week attic room was an attempt to be herself, he said.

"She wanted to be thought of as a pretty co-ed intsead of a $2,000,000 piece of property, to draw her own cheque and have her own friends.

"There was nothing mysterious or sordid about her adventure. She probably enjoyed every minute of it, and now she is going home, and that is the end."

Miss van Horne, a freshman at McGill University, left Montreal for a 3,600-mile trip to Vancouver December 16. She arrived with 6 cents in her purse.

She took an attic room in a cheap boarding house and got a $20-a-week job as dishwasher. She had to pawn a $175 sapphire ring for $3 to help pay her first week's rent. The rest she borrowed from a fellow-roomer.

Before the runaway heiress left here, police reclaimed the jewellery she had pawned. The jewellery included the $175 sapphire ring, a turquoise and diamond pendant, a pearl and gold pendant, and a blue enamelled cross.

Armed Thugs Rob Pair Of $8,600

Two Lie In Wait For Victims In Forest Hill House

TORONTO, Jan. 20—(CP)—Armed thieves stole $8,600 in cash from Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Leitman in a holdup at the couple's bungalow in suburban Forest Hill village early today.

Two masked men, one carrying what police described as a .38-calibre automatic, confronted the Leitmans on their return from an evening's outing. From Mr. Leitman's pockets, police said, the men took $3,000 in $100 bills and $600 in smaller bills. Then they took approximately $5,000 which the couple had kept in the house.

Police said they believe the money was used to back Thursday night's National Hockey League game in Montreal between Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs.

The men fled after tying up the Leitmans and forcing them to lie on the floor.

Police said that Leitman while lying bound and gagged struggled to release his bonds.

Gave Up Struggle

One of the gunmen got jittery, pointed a revolver at Leitman's head and pulled the trigger, police added. The weapon didn't fire, but Leitman gave up the idea of resistance.

Police said Leitman, aged 48 or 50, is a jobber.

Leitman is well known in sport circles. He is proprietor of the Atlas Social Club, in west-central Toronto, which was held up by masked thugs a few years ago.

"They got the jump on me," Leitman said. He and his wife said they thought something was wrong when their Mexican chihuahua, Bonita, was not at the door to meet them. The thugs had locked the dog in the kitchen.

Afraid They'd Shoot

"I kept saying 'You have all you want; why don't you go?'" Mrs. Leitman said. "They had me scared the way they waved their guns around. I was afraid they'd shoot my husband as he lay there."

Police said the gunmen must have been well acquainted with Leitman's movements. They searched dining room drawers and got $5,700 in cash and then, apparently knowing Leitman would have more cash on him, waited for his arrival.

FBI Organizes Vast Manhunt

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 20 (AP)—A vast man hunt is under way for Myron (Mike) Selik, member of Detroit's notorious Purple Gang, following the capture of gang leader Harry Fleischer here.

Crawford H. Carson, special agent in charge of the Miami Federal Bureau of Investigation office, described Selik as "a very badly wanted fugitive" and said "an intensive investigation now is proceeding for him."

The spotlight swung to Selik as Fleischer was ordered held under $100,000 bond pending return to Michigan to serve a term on a robbery conviction.

Police Arrest 5 Men In Aga Khan Robbery

PARIS, Jan. 20 — (Reuters)—French police have arrested five men in the theft of $560,000 worth of jewellery from the wife of the Aga Khan, last August, it was disclosed today.

But they have not recovered the jewels nor found the leader of the gang, believed to be "Big Roger" Senane.

According to Pierre Bertheaux, Director of the Surete National, "Big Roger" and his mistress, 21-year-old Renee Remy, were "executed" by the others after the theft.

The jewels were stolen by four armed bandits who stopped the Aga Khan's car and slashed the tires. He and his wife were on their way from their villa at La Cannet, near Nice, to Deauville to meet Prince Aly Khan and his wife Rita Hayworth.

Still Show Profit On Grain Livestock Commissioner Tells Ontario Farmers

Likely Have Market For Hogs In 1950, Grain Prices Also Keep Up; Poultry Men Caused Own Trouble — Watson

TORONTO, Jan. 20—(CP)—Farmers can still show a profit from grain and will likely have a market for hogs raised in 1950, W. P. Watson, Livestock Commissioner for the Ontario Department of Agriculture, said Thursday night. Speaking before the annual banquet of the Ontario Crop Association, Mr. Watson said there was no prospect of grain selling cheap in 1950. To hog producers he said: "You're not producing hogs at a loss if you are doing the job efficiently." He said that foreign hog markets didn't matter because all hogs produced this year would be absorbed by the domestic market, barring a production spurt in the last two or three months of the year.

He indicated that poultry producers had brought the present gutted market on themselves by expanding flocks during the year despite a warning that the 1949 egg contract with Britain would be the last.

Advising poultry producers to reduce the number of hens in Canada by 10 per cent, he said this would bring production close to demand.

Cattle producers also came in for a shake of the criticism. Remarking the less than 25 per cent of cattle slaughtered in 1949 rated blue or red breed brands, he advised producers to improve the quality of their product.

Held in conjunction with the association convention was a provincial junior farmers' tractor roadeo. Winners were Howard Fawcett, of Brantford, and Murray Cupples, of York.

The two winners were among 32 survivors of local contests.

Victoria Asked For $5,000 To Aid Hospital

LINDSAY, Jan. 20—The County of Victoria has been asked to grant $2,000 more towards the operational costs of the Ross Memorial Hospital than in former years. A request for a $5,000 grant in place of the usual $3,000 grant was made by a deputation comprised of H. S. Johnston, chairman, T. H. Stinson and Mayor Chas. Lamb. The deputation received a very favorable hearing.

Principal reason for seeking the increased grant is said to have been to try and offset costs of operation without increasing hospital rates to patients. Labor costs are reported to have increased from 33½ cents per hospital operating dollar in 1936 to 48 cents per dollar in 1949. The increase was brought about principally by a shortening of the working day for nurses.

Higher costs of food, equipment and supplies are also said to be contributing factors.

Fire Destroys Two Cottages

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 20.—Fire destroyed two occupied cottages located two miles south of here on the Bay of Quinte, Thursday afternoon. Belleville Fire Department received the first alarm at 3 p.m., and a second was sent in a few minutes later.

The cottages were owned by George Fralick and Adrian Cruji, both of Belleville. Both cottages had been winterized. Mr. Cruji lived alone in his cottage, while Fralick's was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Parkinson. Parkinson is a member of the RCAF, stationed at Trenton.

It is believed the fire was caused by an overheated oil stove in the Cruji cottage. Mr. Cruji had apparently started the stove and then left the cottage.

Mrs. Parkinson first noticed the fire as she saw flames in the next cottage from her kitchen window.

Accompanied by a neighbor, she entered the Cruji home with two pails of water but failed to put out the fire. Mrs. Parkinson then notified the fire department. By the time the firemen arrived, the Cruji cottage was enveloped in flames which is the strong west wind soon spread to the Parkinson home.

An autopsy has been ordered and the investigation is continuing. The commissioner said an inspector of the criminal investigation department would go to Napanee this afternoon.

Bad Farmers

vote, the industrial vote or some vote."

One solution, he felt, would be economic union among the nations of the British Commonwealth, an event which he also said was "inevitable." With such a set-up hungry nations, such as India, South Africa and Great Britain, could be fed.

Present-day system in the United States, with support prices and proposed dumping schemes, he said, was "idiotic," but he added that subsidies would have to be removed gradually because sudden action along this line would bring catastrophe.

The solution for most of the farmer's problems lay in improved use which would jack up his per acre yields. In this way he could make money whether prices were low or not, whereas the inefficient farmer would not make money regardless of price levels.

10 Per Cent Do Work

"Today 10 per cent of our farmers feed 50 per cent of the population," he told the association's annual banquet. "The other 50 per cent of the population is fed by 30 per cent of our farmers who are fair farmers, while the remaining 50 per cent of the farmers produce cotton, similar crops or very little."

"Many of the pioneers should never have taken up farming, he added, and were often forced into moving west because they couldn't make a living in the crowded east, or some similar reason. Today 60 per cent of the farm population disliked the soil and livestock and "they are the ones that are asking for floor prices and subsidies."

No man who did not love the soil and love and understand animals was ever kept on Malabec Farm, he said, "no matter what his education."

He predicted that there would be no bad farmers in Ohio in another generation or so, and said the farmer of the future would be prosperous because of efficiency, increased production and brains rather than muscles or high prices. Many farmers should have to work only half as hard for twice as much.

Livestock constituted only a means of converting grass and forage into cash returns and the farmer's income depended on how much he produced per acre, Mr. Bromfield said.

New Jet Fighter Tested; Officials Happy

TORONTO, Jan. 20 (CP)—The first test flight of the Avro twin-jet CF-100 "gives grounds for confidence Canada is in the lead as far as all-weather, long-range fighters are concerned," Defence Minister Brooke Claxton said Thursday.

The first of its kind produced in Canada, the CF-100 was in the air 20 minutes Thursday. Its pilot W. A. (Bill) Waterton of Edmonton, loaned to the A. V. Roe Company by Gloster Aircraft for the test, said the plane "handled extremely well. Avro Canada seems to have overcome many points of criticism in existing fighters."

Mr. Claxton, who watched the flight with Air Marshal W. A. Curtis, chief of air staff for Canada, said:

"What we saw today results from plans formed in 1945 and began in 1946. The prototype of an aircraft of an entirely new design has thus been produced in less than four years, a major accomplishment of which every one should be proud."

Very Powerful

The CF-100, described by the manufacturers as "the most powerful fighter in the world," was designed to meet R.C.A.F. specifications and joint defence plans without duplicating aircraft manufacturing programs elsewhere.

The fighter carries a pilot and navigator. It was powered Thursday with Rolls-Royce Avon engines but later will be equipped with Canadian-designed and built Avro-Orenda Turbo jets.

Marshal Curtis said "we hope the Avro CF-100 will put Canada in the lead as far as aircraft of this particular type are concerned. No nation has yet in service a fully-suitable all-weather, long range jet fighter, and this is the type of aircraft for which the RCAF has special need."

Burglars' Loot Four Soft Drinks

Four bottles of coca-cola were all that thieves netted who attempted to break open a safe in Fanning's Laundry between 12.25 and 1.45 a.m. today. They left a note saying: "Thanks for the coke." The laundry was broken into Jan. 1 through the same window that the thieves used this morning.

Constable M. Dennis Traynor, who discovered the break-in, reported that a desk was ransacked and some attempts had been made to crack open the safe in the front office. The would-be thieves tampered with a soft drink dispensing machine without success except for four bottles of coca-cola.

John D. Fanning, who was called by police, said he thought no money had been taken, but was not so sure about anything else.

Constable A. G. Edmison reported when he checked the building about 12:25 a.m., there was no sign of anything unusual.

WELLAND, Jan. 20—(CP)—Inspector Charles Wood of the Criminal Investigation Bureau, Ontario Provincial Police, Friday announced the posting of two rewards of $1,000 each for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the murder of Sam Delibasich, Welland taxicab operator, believed slain last Dec. 9.

Delibasich's body was found in a plowed field three miles north of here Dec. 17 by a party of rabbit hunters. He had died from blows to the head. His cab was recovered the same day abandoned on a Toronto street. He was last seen in Welland Dec. 9.

Steelworkers Get Right To Organize

OTTAWA, Jan. 20 (CP)—The executive council of the Canadian Congress of Labor Thursday gave the United States Steelworkers of America authority to organize the workers in Canada's metal mines and smelters.

Jurisdiction in this field had been held by the Communist-led International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers until expulsion from the CCL last year.

"It is the feeling of a large majority of our executive that the United Steelworkers of America is the proper group to have this jurisdiction," said A. S. Mosher, CCL president, in a statement after the executive council meeting.

"At the time of the expulsion of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers it was decided that the jurisdiction should be held by the Congress itself pending a final decision.

"The time for that decision now has been reached. The change in jurisdiction is subject to confirmation of the membership of the locals affected."

Mine-Mill was suspended by the executive council Jan. 21 last, almost a year ago. The union was expelled at the CCL convention in Ottawa last Oct. 7. The contention was that Mine-Mill was not doing a proper job of organization in Ontario.

Accept Responsibility

C. H. Millard, Canadian director of the Steelworkers, issued a statement today in which he said his union will accept the responsibilities for organizing the workers in Canadian metal mines and smelters.

"Our union has already organized completely the iron ore mines in Canada and the United States. The full resources of our international union will be placed behind the campaign to organize the base metal and gold miners."

Earlier Thursday the CCL executive council took the first steps to break into a new field of trade union organization. It appointed a committee to work out a method for organization of Canada's unemployed.

This is the first time, a statement said, that an established labor organization in any country has taken such a step.

"Chief aim of the program is to form a body representative of unemployed which will bring pressure to bear on the government for action to deal with the unemployment problem.

The committee, under chairmanship of Sam Baron of Montreal, Canadian director of the Textile Workers' Union, will meet in Montreal within 10 days.

Leaves Nine Million To Uncle 80 Years Old

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20—(AP)—The $9,500,000 estate of Thomas S. Lee will go to his 80-year-old uncle, R. D. Merrill, wealthy Seattle lumber tycoon.

In a 16-year-old handwritten will, Lee, radio and automobile fortune heir, named his uncle as sole beneficiary. Merrill has extensive lumber interests in Washington and British Columbia.

The younger Lee, 43, plunged to his death from the 12th floor of an office building a week ago.

The will, made in 1934, did not mention Mrs. Nora S. Patee, San Marino, Calif., Lee's aunt and guardian of his person since he was adjudged mentally incompetent in 1948. Willet Brown and Lewis Allen Weiss have been managing the huge Lee business empire.

Car Badly Damaged

MARMORA, Jan. 20.—(ENS).—Fred Lajoie of Marmora Township had his car badly damaged on Tuesday evening when struck by a transport near Marmora post office. The transport was travelling west on No. 7 Highway and smashed into the rear of Mr. Lajoie's car. In the car were Mr. and Mrs. Lajoie. Both escaped injury.

Serious Shipping Slump Grips Two Atlantic Ports

HALIFAX, Jan. 20—(CP)—A shipping slump, described by labor leaders as the most serious in 22 years, gripped Canada's two big Atlantic coast winter ports today.

Business was bad at both Saint John, N.B., and Halifax.

J. J. Campbell, head of Halifax's 2,000-member Longshoremen's Association, said the slump reminded him of the depression years. In Saint John, Richard Shiels, president of a Longshoremen's local, said the situation was never worse in his 22 years of experience.

Port manager Russell Yuill said the number of ships arriving and clearing was about the same as last year. But export cargo was falling off and many of the ships were carrying grain—and stevedores aren't needed in large numbers to load grain.

Work Cut In Half

Mr. Shiels said there was only about half as much work as last year. On the peak day of the winter season some 960 of the waterfront working force of 2,000 were out. But the average night shift has been only about 160; and the day shift has been ever smaller. One night only 48 men found work on the docks.

Mr. Campbell said the highest number employed during any one day in Halifax was 250.

Herbert Woodley, business agent for a freight handlers' union, said his union's average daily working force has been only about 150. There are about 650 freight handlers registered.

Many waterfront workers were reported looking for other jobs. Some freight handlers haven't had a day's work since the opening of the winter season. Scores of stevedores have been idle three or four weeks before receiving a call for work. Many were registering for unemployment insurance.

Some blamed the decline in active Canadian deep-sea shipping for at least part of the slump. Some 24 ships are tied up here for lack of cargo and at least another 12 are idle in other ports.

1,000 Workmen March On City

TORONTO, Jan. 20 — (CP).— A Toronto paper says in a news-page story today it had learned about 1,000 skilled workmen are considering a march on the City Hall Monday to discuss the building ban in suburban North York.

One workman said the firm which employs him has notified all employees that after 13 houses for which permits were granted, are completed, work on larger projects will stop.

Thursday North York officials said no further permits for houses would be issued because of a serious water shortage.

The fast-growing municipality was in the midst of a building boom, which last year saw more than $40,000,000 in building permits issued. The more than 4,000 houses built eased considerably the severe housing shortage in Toronto.

While builders were disappointed at the proposed stoppage of new work, members of the Central Ratepayers' Committee on Thursday night praised action of the Council.

UK Promises To Keep Bacon Pact

Will Find Money Somewhere Britain Tells Ottawa

LONDON, Jan. 20 (CP) — Britain will go through with her 1950 contract for 60,000,000 pounds of Canadian bacon whether or not she can use Marshall Plan dollars to make the purchase, a treasury spokesman said today.

Commenting on a Washington report that the economic co-operation administration may bar the use of ECA dollars by Britain to purchase Canadian pork products because of an American surplus, the spokesman said this announcement was not unexpected.

"But we always put our existing contracts before any provision on the use or non-use of Marshall aid dollars and if aid funds cannot be used then it's our problem to find the dollars," he said.

The spokesman indicated that Britain would take funds from her vital dollar pool if necessary to go through with the Canadian bacon contract.

Aware of Danger

The contract is for 60,000,000 pounds of Canadian bacon at 29 cents a pound. It was concluded through arrangements to defer the proportion of Canadian wheat deliveries and use the money to finance bacon purchases. Britain is using $175,000,000 of Marshall plan funds to purchase a major portion of her Canadian wheat imports in the current crop year.

ECA law forbids the use of Marshall Plan funds for foreign supplies of any commodity in surplus in the United States.

Because Britain had been fully aware of this possible development when she made the bacon contract, the spokesman said Britain undoubtedly had made a provision to find dollars elsewhere.

He leaves his wife, the former Annie Mary Wood, and a daughter, Miss Shirley Sickler, both of Peterborough, and a son, Vernon, in Toronto. There are four sisters, Mrs. H. Partridge of Hamilton; Miss L. Sickler and Mrs. Myrtle Bell, both of Toronto; Mrs. Mabel Stewart of this city, and a brother, Herman Sickler, of Toronto.

Funeral service will be from the Nisbett funeral home on Saturday at 2:30 p.m. The Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon of Trinity United Church will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

More Contrast Needed In Play Adjudicator Says

By VAL SEARS

VANCOUVER, Jan. 20 (CP).—"Candida," Vancouver Little Theatre Association's new entry Thursday night in the regional drama festival was "a little like an underdeveloped negative," said adjudicator Maxwell Wray.

The London producer-director described the acting in the George Bernard Shaw classic as "finely balanced but lacking in subtle light and shadow."

"Acting in a well-known production such as this requires more force, more of the director's whip to revive it for the audience," he said.

The play was the fourth of a series of seven Mr. Wray is adjudicating for the Dominion Drama Festival at Calgary in May.

Correctly Cast

"All the parts were correctly cast and the production as a whole was good. Good enough in fact that I am able to point out the subtle faults that are difficult for an amateur director to catch."

Dorothy Davies as Candida was "excellent" but "a little too much of a coroner's smile."

Young Peter Haworth as the idealistic Marchbanks, was "extremely good and sensitive. But he needs quite a bit more experience to get over his nervousness."

The distinguished critic conducted his nightly "actor's workshop" following the performance, outlining this time the value of intelligent selection of plays for a festival.

"A director can't go wrong in choosing classics like 'Candida,'" he said, "but I do wish you would try some new material. Amateurs have the opportunity to experiment that professionals are not allowed."

Fire Inspection By-law Urged

TORONTO, Jan. 20 — (CP).—A fire inspection by-law to clear up "fire-trap" houses was suggested Thursday night by the coroner's jury investigating the death of two children in suburban Etobicoke Township December 16.

Hugh Roberts 3, and his brother Lloyd 2, were asphyxiated in a flash fire which destroyed their frame home while the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Roberts, were absent. The victims' sister Rose 17, left in charge of the smaller children, was subject to epileptic seizures, according to evidence last night.

The jury said "evidence indicates a lack of proper parental responsibility and care of young children because the income available to the family would suggest there is no basic economic reason for the house to continue in the condition for 10 years to cause it to be described as a fire-trap." It said the parents showed lack of wisdom and concern for the children by leaving them in care of a daughter known to be subject to epileptic seizures.

Two Men Injured Car And Truck Crash

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 20. — (ENS).—Clayton Outwater, 48, of Frank St., Campbellford, driver of a coupe, suffered a broken kneecap and Alexander Green, also of Frank St., received lacerations to his forehead and legs and bruises to the right side of the body, when Mr. Outwater's car collided head on with a half-ton panel truck driven by Howard Emby of Campbellford. The accident occurred on Canal Road at the bridge over the dam lock at 2.30 a.m. on Thursday. Mr. Outwater said he was blinded by the headlights of the other vehicle, and when he applied his brakes to reduce speed on the narrow bridge, his car skidded into the path of the on-coming truck. The accident resulted in about $150.00 damage to the truck and the car suffered damage to the extent of $250.00. Constable W. E. Cargin of Campbellford investigated. No charges were laid.

Brighton School Area Issue Shelved By School Committee

COBOURG, Jan. 20 (ENS) — The question of the boundaries which would form the Brighton high school area occupied the major portion of the meeting of the schools committee Thursday afternoon and the discussion drew a large gallery of members who were not on the committee.

Brighton township wished to withdraw if the original boundaries of the high school area were altered, and these boundaries took in the southern part of Percy township. Percy township wanted to rescind the part of the by-law which put the southern section in the Brighton area and as a substitute wanted all the real property in Percy township in their own school area.

At the November session the boundaries of the Brighton area were objected to on the grounds that some children in Percy township would have to go a long distance to the Brighton area. After a long discussion, the committee passed a resolution recommending that the resolutions in regard to the respective high school areas be tabled until the June session so that the matter could be gone into thoroughly.

Warden Jandrew told the committee that Murray township consented to go into high school area of Brighton because they expected that it was going to include part of Percy. Cecil Carveth, former member of counties council and a veteran in school affairs, told the meeting that when the original high school areas were mapped out it was realized that an area had to be large enough to support the school and it was felt that the assistance of the assessment of part of Percy township was necessary to finance a high school area the size of the one in the Brighton area.

At the session of the council preceding the schools committee meeting, the chairman of the Port Hope High School Board deplored the fact that a special meeting held at Newcastle had been poorly attended and he felt that the consultative committee was not co-operating as it should be.

School inspector A. A. Martin said that in accordance with the feeling that the school sections had not been familiarized with the boundaries of the Brighton area it was decided to call them all in to a meeting. Reeve Arthur Wartman of Percy township wanted the meeting held in Cobourg and with only the four sections of Percy attending. However the committee wanted it held at Warkworth and so notified all Percy township school boards. Mr. Martin said he did not want anyone to think that anybody would be excluded. He had Mr. Gordon Duffan down to explain the whole thing.

"The Consultative Committee never tried to push anyone around. We are not trying to run the show. We are not trying to favour anyone. We hope what is done will prove to be the wise thing in years to come," Mr. Martin declared.

Reeve Bert Lingard of Port Hope asked Mr. Martin as to who was responsible for notifying the people about the meeting referred to by the chairman of the Port Hope School Board. Was it the secretary of the board or the secretary of the consultative committee?

In reply, school inspector Carleton said that he was in touch with Mr. Mitchell of the Port Hope High School Board and was told by Mr. Mitchell that everybody concerned had been notified.

Speaking from the gallery, Reeve Wartman said that the committee felt it better to line up the areas without any municipal councils involved in the discussion as it was muddled up enough. He asked who called the meetings in Percy township. Mr. Martin replied that it was the school boards who called them, and that he had sent notices out.

The discussion resulted in a motion that the by-law be rescinded completely and new areas established, but it was pointed out that this would have rather drastic and far-reaching results, involving other high school areas, such as Peterborough. The amendment to table the resolutions from the school areas involved, then carried.

F. R. Douglas, chairman of the Port Hope High School Board, addressed the council on high school areas. He said that it had been the policy of the Dept. to favor formation of larger high school areas so that better schools could be provided and students would be able to participate in a wider variety of courses, including agriculture, shop mechanics and home economics. For some years Port Hope had been trying to get a large enough accommodation to permit these enlarged courses but had been beset by difficulties of one kind and another. To achieve it, the Board would require greater co-operation from the educational committee that had been appointed by counties council. He said he would like to see the committee comprised by new appointees who were broad-minded enough to disregard sectional feelings.

Some months ago, continued Mr. Douglas, the Port Hope High School Board wrote the consultative committee for a meeting to be held at Newcastle and received a letter in reply which approved the meeting. A meeting was arranged, the hall was hired and a very prominent authority on the subject was secured. It was expected that the required co-operation would have been forthcoming but only a handful turned up at the meeting.

Reeve Ted Woodyard of Clarke township, in commenting to council on the matter said that Clarke township was never notified of the meeting. The consultative committee did have an interest in educational matters but as the school board changes with the first of the year, it was considered best to defer any action until the new board assumes office.

Erect Plates To Acknowledge Gifts To Hospital

What form official recognition of donations to the New Civic Hospital shall take was discussed by the Hospital Board of Governors Thursday. John Hornal, Hospital Superintendent, voiced the opinion of the entire Board when he said it was important to adopt a policy pleasing to both the hospital authorities and the donors.

The following arrangement was accepted by the Board:

"Where furnishings for an area such as a room are provided, acknowledgement will be made by a plate at the entrance to the area, stating by whom the area was furnished, or alternately in memory of whom the area was furnished and if desired by whom.

"It would be understood that this plate will remain so long as the statement it bears is essentially true, and that when it ceases to be true because of non-maintenance of the furnishings as required it will be removed.

"The original donors or their successors will always, where possible, be given the opportunity of carrying on the maintenance of the original gift and when this is done, the plate bearing the acknowledgement will remain. In the case of smaller pieces of furnishings or equipment, small plates acknowledging the donor will be placed on the equipment. When the equipment is retired the acknowledgement will disappear.

A special book will be kept in which all donations received to date and in the future, will be kept at the hospital.

Seek To Curtail County Roads

COBOURG, Jan. 20 —(ENS)—Recommendation that no more roads be added to the counties' road system until such time as the unimproved roads are brought up to standard, was contained in the report Thursday of the road superintendent, J. M. Jordan. He also said that it would also be better if no more roads were taken into the counties' road system until sufficient paving has been done so that maintenance costs are reduced to the point where additional miles of road can be taken care of.

Non-subsidy expenditures in 1949 amounted to $2,744.35. Maintenance was $132,662.02; miscellaneous was $17,412.50. Construction in 1949 amounted to $133,653.20. New machinery bought totalled $25,128.80, covering grader, plow, car, truck, snow blower and sander. Other machinery was $67,779.74. Total expenditure was $312,227.81 and after non-subsidy items were deducted, the balance for subsidy was $301,509.20.

Snow removal in 1949 was only $8,857 as compared with $18,910 the year before but where snow removal was once public enemy No. 1, now it was the annual spring break-up. Total maintenance costs in 1949 were $321,227 and estimated for 1950 was $306,750. Anticipating heavy damage this year, the estimate for that is $10,000 as compared with $8,289 last year.

Only Three Months More Of Power Shortage

Mr. Robert Saunders, Chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, in speaking to the Peterborough Rotary Club Monday gave some encouraging figures on present and future power resources.

* * *

The Ontario system is in three divisions: Thunder Bay (north-west); north-east (Abitibi-Sudbury); and Southern. Mr. Saunders reported that Thunder Bay area was in good power condition. While he admitted that God had been kind to the Commission in its southern Ontario spheres since the rains before Christmas, and that the situation was vastly improved, there was need yet for voluntary conservation of power, and the present restrictions. In the Sudbury-North Bay area, there have not been the providential rains, and the shortage there is acute. Mr. Saunders confidently stated that after the next three months, the Hydro system will have got over the hump; first units of the huge, hundred million dollar Des Joachims project will be ready for operation, and work on 360 other projects great and small is so well advanced, that dimout days will be over for Ontario—until at least the end of 1952.

* * *

Only two days after his visit to Peterborough, Mr. Saunders announced that the dim-out would end for southern Ontario next Monday. Perhaps he should have visited the roaring Otonabee weeks ago! There is still a shortage, though much less serious than before. We remind our readers, as Mr. Saunders did his hearers, that the greatest need for the greatest care in saving power is during the day from seven to seven, and of those hours, the most critical are from ten to twelve, and from four to six.

Stalling On The Montreal Air-Line?

Last June Canada and the United States did a dicker over air line routes. In exchange for certain concessions which Canada was prepared to grant to American companies, the U.S.A. was to open up certain routes to Canada. Canada has lived up to its end of the bargain. American planes, for instance, are now plying a profitable trade from and through Newfoundland bases. The Americans have not met their commitments. T.C.A. was supposed to be given air rights from Montreal to New York, a monopoly now held by the American Colonial Airlines. That company secured a U.S. federal injunction restraining the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board from granting the charter to the Canadian company. Canada made threatening gestures at the end of the year, but now the whole affair seems to have bogged down.

Is Canada meekly sitting still? It is time that T.C.A. got its Montreal-New York charter, or some of the American lines were kicked off Canadian routes. One mildly satisfactory item in the noxious business is this: the American Government, not pleased with the attitude of Colonial Airways, has succeeded in getting the U.S. Supreme Court to start hearings early—in mid-February.

Voting At the Edge Of The Iron Curtain

Last Monday and Tuesday the Finns voted in their first presidential election since 1937. They re-elected the 79-year-old Juho K. Paasikivi with the support of the Social Democrat party and against the opposition of the Communist People's Democrat party. It was a victory for a coalition of conservative, liberal and socialist forces opposed to Russian Communism. So urgent seemed the need to demonstrate against the Communist power threatening to chain if not engulf Finland, that Field Marshal Mannerheim, aged Tory hero of the Finnish revolution, and President until ill-health forced his resignation in 1946, returned from a Swiss health resort to cast his vote. President Paasikivi succeeded Mannerheim, by vote of Parliament in 1946.

Seeking The New And Strange

Yesterday we published on this page an appreciation of the work of Barbara Hepworth, a modern English sculptress; the article was illustrated by two pictures, one of a sculptured head, and the other called "Oval Form With Strings". Some of our readers have been asking us whether we like Miss Hepworth's work, and if we take it seriously.

We neither like it nor dislike it, but we are ready to give it the benefit of the doubt. We published the article and the pictures because it is our job to give Peterborough the news. Miss Hepworth's work is the latest thing in sculpture, and sculpture is just as much news as hockey. Our own opinion is of little importance in the matter.

However, we may say that we are surprised that so many modern sculptors and painters expend their energy in seeking for new forms. Whatever is new and strange seems to have a special value in their eyes. We do not believe that there are any really new forms. There are old forms, in which the sculptor and the painter express an individual point of view. Because of the infinite variety of human minds, the old forms thus are perpetually renewed.

The head which was shown in the illustration yesterday does not appeal to us. Perhaps that is because we are ignorant and insensitive. It might also be because Miss Hepworth has struggled for novelty of form to the point where she has forgotten content. We shall know better how to judge The Cosdon Head in the year 2000. Meanwhile, it must not be ignored merely because it is strange.

The Abuse Of The Mortarboard

We were interested, and mildly grieved, to see a picture recently of the Warden of York County being sworn into his office; he wore a gown and an academic cap, of the type called a mortarboard. The proper wear for the Warden is a cocked hat, and we suggest that York County buy one for him.

The mortarboard is the most abused of all ceremonial head-dresses. It is specifically an academic cap, originally ecclesiastical in its significance, and closely related to the biretta which is worn by the clergy of the Church of Rome. To wear it is the prerogative of undergraduates and graduates of universities, and pupils in certain schools. But in Canada it is worn indiscriminately by women in church choirs, by county officials, by the funnymen on quiz programs—by anybody and everybody who wants a fancy hat. In the U.S.A. infants leaving nursery school wear white mortarboards, and girls who have taken a two-weeks course to become beauticians also wear them. None of these people would dare to debase a soldier's cap or a bishop's mitre to their purposes, but they freely doll themselves up in mortarboards.

The mortarboard was never designed for women to wear, and women should leave it alone; its severity is as unbecoming to them as its priestly associations. The English universities supply their women students with soft caps like those seen in portraits of Bishop Lancelot Andrewes. Let women wear those. Let county officials wear cocked hats. Let quizmasters wear toupees. Let children wear their own curly locks. Let beauticians wear false hair.

And in the name of all that is decent and fitting and sanctioned by five centuries of usage, leave mortarboards to scholars.

Motherhood Is Good For The Figure

We are pleased that a Hollywood designer has said that motherhood is good for the figure. He brings to his aid the examples of Lana Turner, Betty Grable, Betty Hutton, Gene Tierney, Esther Williams, Kathryn Grayson, Susan Hayward and Maureen O'Sullivan, all of whom are mothers, and all of whom are renowned for their beauty of form. Motherhood, he says, frequently improves the figure, and even if there is no change of measurement a new quality of softness may be added to it.

There are not many girls who shrink from motherhood these days for fear of spoiling their appearance, but there are a few. It will be good for them to compare their appearance with that of, say, Maureen O'Sullivan, who has six children, and is still very presentable as Tarzan's mate. In these days of good care for expectant mothers, and proper diet and exercise after the birth of a child, there is no reason why a girl should not look all the better for having a family.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Tax collectors in West Germany cannot decide whether ice cream is a food or a drink. If they don't hurry up and get it off their desks it will be a drink.

Census takers, we read, "will need sturdy legs, tact and infinite patience". Is there any woman so hard up for a job that she will lay claim to the first qualification?

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: I think The Examiner's reports on temperature and amount of rainfall are wacky. It will be 12 below zero all over town and the official newspaper report says it's only been eight below. It rains cats and dogs and The Examiner says only .2 inches of rain fell. A foot of snow covers the country and the newspaper report says eight inches fell. How come?

ANSWER: You are going by guess and unofficial thermometers. I have been informed that The Examiner's weather records are based on the equipment at the Filtration Plant, which is official. The equipment (encased thermometer, rain-catcher etc.) belong to and have been scientificially set up by the Dominion Meteorological Bureau of Toronto. The figures are therefore accurate and official. The filtration plant figures are relayed daily to Toronto for Dominion Weather Office use.

ALPHA, SEER: The Examiner's editorial page is filling up with articles, columns and what-not by writers using pen-names. There's you, there's Samuel Marchbanks, and, latest in list, the new Monday musical column by "Peter Piper". I wonder who all these people are? There are the initials to the book reviews. Please tell me their names.

ANSWER: I've wondered about them myself.

Pen-names — pseudonymns which writers use—have an ancient and honourable history, and I am happy to state, the custom has not fallen into desuetude despite the hordes of modern columnists and political commentators now making their names capital and capital of their names. The best (sic) journals of the day carry articles by Scrutators, Candidus, Gentlemen With Notebooks, and Atticus. The London (England) New Statesman and Nation's topical verses by Sagittarius are gems of wit, rythm and rhyme.

Who was Homer? Who burning Sappho? And there are people who still studiously and sincerely ask, who hid under the pen-name of Shakespeare? The famous political writer Junius whose articles (1769-1772) bit high statesmen and shook the English throne was so successful in concealing his identity that to this day scholars are not certain of it.

The most awkward mouthful of pseudonym that I have encountered is Smectymnuus, but that is a collection of letters which can be compared with the modern UNESCO. Smectymnuus did serve for a time to hide the identity of five Presbyterian divines whose initials made the word. (Why the extra eleventh letter? Because the last of the five was William Spurstow—W.S. The letter W is, of course, two u's—that is why we call it "double-u".) The five published a pamphlet in Charles I's time attacking bishops. They needed a false name! It, and they, are remembered because Milton defended them in 1641 against a Bishop who attacked them—in print. Milton's effort, his response to the response, was called "Animadversions upon the Remonstrant's Defence against Smectymnuus". I do not recommend it as light reading, though it is notable stuff as political pamphleteering. Next year he published another tract on the subject, which is better known because it gives an account of Milton's early studies.

Mark Twain is famous: the real name behind the pen-name, Samuel Clemens, is not. The late Canadian writer the Reverend Dr. C. W. Gordon of Winnipeg is remembered as Ralph Connor. "Sam Slick" is a sort of pen-name better remembered than the name of the author of "Sam Slick The Clockmaker"—Thomas Chandler Haliburton (1796-1865) of Windsor, Nova Scotia, judge of the Supreme Court of the province. "Sam Slick" still remains the finest work of political propaganda, disguised as humour, ever written in Canada.

Pen-names have the virtue of being stylish, the glamorous pretension of hiding the writer's identity, and the comfortable illusion of separating the man in print from the private person.

Voltaire began as a pen-name and became the only historically recognized name of Francois Marie Arouet, the great French sceptic, philosopher and revolutionary (1694-1778).

George Sand was the pen-name (used much in the manner that film actresses take on pseudonymns) of Armandine Lucile Aurore Dupin, Baroness Dudevant (1804-76), more remarkable as a woman than as a novelist. After she left her husband, whom she had married when quite young, she was the companion of some of the greatest artists of the day, including Alfred de Musset and Chopin.

I trust this answers your question.

ALPHA: Are there only two railway companies in Canada, the C.P.R. and the C.N.R.?

ANSWER: There are 41. The two largest are the C.N.R., with 24,477 miles, and the C.P.R. with 17,035 miles of track.

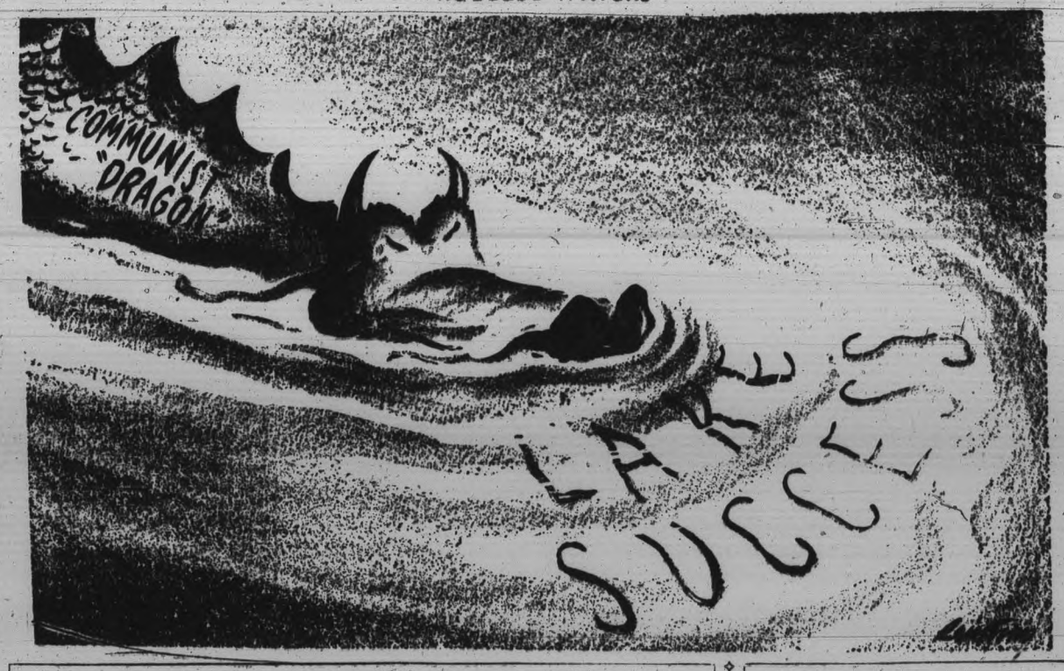
DEAR ALPHA: Regarding your statement in last Friday's Examiner as to foretelling weather by the ring around the moon, part of your statement can be supported by facts and part put down to fancy.

As you may know, the first type of cloud preceding a storm is the high cirrus cloud, or "mare's tails". As this cloud is made up of ice crystals and the cloud thickens as the storm approaches, the rays of light from the moon are bent or retracted as they pass through the ice crystals and thus a halo is seen. The thicker the cloud, the brighter the halo and hence the closer the storm. But the storm may change its course or die out and we may never get it, so it does not always follow that we shall have a storm because of a ring around the moon although the risk is greater in winter than any other season.

It has been observed that on two out of three occasions rain or snow will fall within twelve to eighteen hours of seeing a halo. The number of stars is of no account for obvious reasons.

It is generally agreed by weather experts that the moon has no bearing on the weather, as witness the fact that all parts of Canada see the same moon the same night, and yet all parts of the country do not have the same weather.



The moon and the weather
May change together;
But a change in the moon
Does not change the weather.
If we'd no moon at all
(And that may seem strange)
We still should have weather.
That's subject to change.

RESPONSE: Thanks for light on murky moons. Comments, and other accounts of folk-lore on weather will be appreciated.

FOR THE RECORD: For the benefit of my readers who may not have this newspaper's easy, amiable access to our County Court House records, the last judicial hanging in Peterborough was not of the two Russians noted last week in The Examiner's "How Time Flies" column for January 1920. The last hanging at the Peterborough jail was in 1933, when E. Jackson, a negro, was hanged for the murder of Eugene Lee, another negro, at the home of E. Saltern, Dummer township, on October 7th, 1932.

TROUBLED WATERS

Letters To The Editor

NEIGHBOUR OF SUMMER THEATRE SPEAKS

Sir: I would like to take this opportunity of saying a few words regarding the Peterborough Summer Theatre.

Last summer's experience of being able to see eleven fine plays within eleven weeks, acted and directed expertly well, was something that gave a wealth of pleasure to a great many people of Peterborough. To have been able to enjoy this in a modern and attractive auditorium, here in our own city, was almost too good to be true. In its first season Michael Sadlier's Summer Theatre was a success and Peterborough became theatre-conscious. It was a feather in Peterborough's cap that the Summer Theatre throve so well here, while in other parts of the province it had failed, due to lack of support.

The Board of Education, who control the renting of the Queen Mary School auditorium, which was used by the Summer Theatre last season, feel it necessary that the rent be raised more than double that paid last year for use of the auditorium, and that new conditions and restrictions be imposed should the Summer Theatre return next year.

I sincerely hope that it will be the final decision of the Board to keep rent and restrictions practical enough for the acceptance of the management of the Summer Theatre. If not, it will mean that this project, which has made such an outstanding beginning in Peterborough, will have to move to some other community, and thus we will be robbed of something that would have added much to Peterborough's summer entertainment, and a drawing card to countless tourists of the surrounding district.

I speak not only as a close neighbour of the Summer Theatre, but as one of hundreds, who will be greatly disappointed if this year there is no Summer Theatre in Peterborough.

Very truly yours,
GWEN BOND BROWN.
496 Monaghan Rd.

CITY BIG ENOUGH FOR SUMMER THEATRE?

Sir: "Peterborough is a nice little town!" How many times do we hear this remark and bristle when we consider Peterborough a very fine city. But is it any wonder it is considered as such when so many opportunities which are presented to us are turned down?

For many years Peterborough has been deprived of any form of legitimate theatre; many of our younger folk never having had the privilege of seeing such plays as "Fortune My Foe", "Angel Street", "The Importance of Being Ernest", unless they were fortunate enough to run to Toronto for a few hours which is both costly and tiring, and in many cases beyond the means of those interested.

Education, I venture to say, in one sense only starts after Grade School, and much talent which is to be found in our city is not given a chance to develp. Isn't this a bit old-tashioned for 1950?

Now we have a splendid auditorium in Queen Mary School. Surely it should not be allowed to remain idle so much of the time, when it can be put to use in such a profitable way as a Summer Theatre which gave so much pleasure to so many last summer.

If property were destroyed by a few, could that not be remedied very easily without making the cost to the producers so exorbitant that they could fail in their efforts financially and move to another city, where they would be appreciated.

This in my humble opinion would be a great pity . . . or shall we resign ourselves to remaining "a nice little town"?

WEST-ENDER ENDORSES SUMMER THEATRE

Sir: May I add my voice to those, who have already expressed themselves on the subject of the return visit of the Summer Theatre to Peterborough in the season of 1950, also to thank you sir, for your concise leading editorial in Wednesday's issue—placing before readers the facts, and points to be considered.

I feel there is very little I can add to what has been expressed so ably by a former correspondent, Miss Margaret McCulloch, but being a west-ender, living in close proximity to the school grounds, I must in all fairness say the west end people who feel the company a nuisance, must be a very small minority, doubtless they exist, but I, personally have never met one. Those with whom I have spoken all thoroughly enjoyed the atmosphere created by such an endeavour, to say nothing of the honour felt in having Peterborough chosen to launch this cultured group.

I think there is merit in the suggestion put forward by Miss McCulloch, that the committee in charge of centenary celebrations consider ways and means of underwriting some of the expenses to ensure a 1950 season of Summer Theatre here, truly a fitting centenary observance, one upon which we can look back with pride.

LILIAN E. CRIDLAND.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Hear, ye children, the instruction of a father, and attend to know understanding... The way of the wicked is as darkness: they know not at what they stumble.

My son, attend to my words; incline thine ear unto my sayings. Let them not depart from thine eyes; keep them in the midst of thine heart. For they are life unto those that find them, and health to all their flesh..

Ponder the path of thy feet, and let all thy ways be established. (Prov. 4: 1, 19-22, 26.)

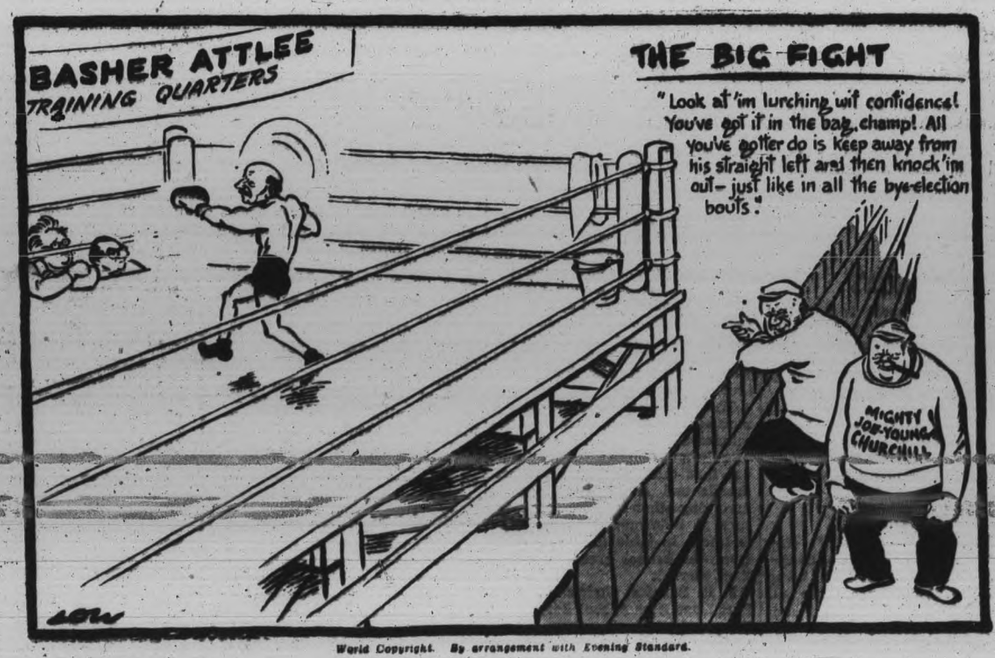
◆ ◆ ◆

Doth not wisdom cry? and understanding put forth her voice?... Unto you, O men, I call; and my voice is to the sons of man.... Blessed is the man that heareth me, watching daily at my gates, waiting at the posts of my doors.

For whoso findeth me findeth life, and shall obtain favour of the Lord. (Prov. 8: 1, 4, 34, 35.)

◆ ◆ ◆

He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the tree of life, which is in the midst of the paradise of God. (Rev. 2: 7.)



Self-Criticism

Orson Welles has suggested that Hollywood should stop sending Europe so many films extolling the riches of the United States and put on a few showing its faults. "Nothing stops criticism like self-criticism," he says.

Probably he has something there for individuals as well. If each of us would take stock and see ourselves as others see us, perhaps it would be better all around. For a change, we might try being as critical of ourselves as we are of others.

U.S. Scientists Attempting To Breed Hot Weather Cow

By GEORGE KITCHEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—(CP)—United States Agricultural scientists are trying to breed a "hot weather" cow. If successful, they say, the experiment may change the dairying picture of the southern United States.

The cow is the first two-way cross in a breeding program to develop a dairy-cattle strain which will be resistant to the hot weather of the southern states and still produce milk in amounts comparable to northern cattle.

The experiment entered a new phase recently when a calf was born of a cross between a Jersey heifer and a red Sindhi bull at a government experimental station in nearby Maryland. The Red Sindhi is the dairy strain of the Brahma cattle of tropical India.

Test Milk Production

Tests shortly will be made to determine what kind of milk-producer the calf ultimately will become.

The average milk production in India is about 900 pounds annually a cow. The herd from which the Red Sindhi being used in the breeding experiment came averaged above 4,000 pounds annually. It is being bred to cattle here whose records run from 12,000 to 15,000 pounds a year.

The experiments with the Red Sindhi have made government dairy experts optimistic.

They started in 1946, when a United States admiral stationed in the Pacific helped to push the experiments ahead. He had four head of Sindhi—two young bulls and two heifers — flown out of India to the United States. After several months in quarantine they were released to the scientists.

In addition to the tests in Maryland, others are under way at three Louisiana experimen stations—at Baton Rouge, where the Sindhi are being crossed with holsteins, at Homer, where they are being crossed with brown Swiss, and at Jeanerettee, where more jerseys are being used.

Greatest Prospects

Agriculture officials say the dairy industry has the greatest prospects for increased business of any phase of agriculture.

For example, the average milk production by cows in the United States has increased only from 4,200 pounds 20 years ago to about 5,000 pounds now. In the same period, corn yields have increased 65 per cent an acre wheat 40 per cent, cotton, nearly 100 per cent more dairy products if the price is right.

LONGEVITY FORMULA — No smoking, no drinking and no pastry—that's the longevity formula of William Craig, who celebrated his 101st birthday at his home in Johnston's Corners, near Ottawa, this week. Still spry and active, Mr. Craig deplores the trend to wide-open Sundays. For his own part, he calculates he has religiously observed more than 5,000 Sundays during his lifetime.

Labor Council Suggests Scholarship Plan

By DAVE McINTOSH

HALIFAX, Jan. 20—(CP)—The Halifax District Trades and Labor Council today suggested a plan of national scholarships that would take in trade union members and members of their families.

The council told the Massey Commission it thought that the scholarship should start at the public school level and that qualified labor union members should be in the majority on any administration board.

On Canadian radio, the brief said: 'We feel that it is general knowledge that the CBC has become, against great obstacles and opposition, the most outstanding broadcasting agency in North America."

"The council is convinced that the CBC should not have to go to the government each year like a child begging for candy, and, like a child, promising to meet certain conditions laid down from pressure groups or partisan expediency.

Needs Independence

"The council recommends that the increased financial needs of the CBC should come from consolidated revenue so that its independence, impartiality and its essential character of service to the Canadian people may be preserved."

On the National Film Board: "For years the board has been an unfortunate political football. For some, no charge has been too wild, no gossip too malicious, to hurl at it. Instead of vigorously exposing these concoctions of inaccuracies and petty gossip for what they are—either petty politicking or the propaganda of jealous commercial interests — those in authority have always acted defensively.

". . .At no time did private industry sponsor the kind of films that the board has been producing for the past 10 years, and films of the kind produced by the board simply would not see the light of day if the film board went out of existence . . ."

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

THE DANCING CASTLES symbolize a pre-World War I ballroom dance craze that swept over two continents. Doing the "Castle Walk" was a "must" for smart international society. And slim, beautiful Irene Castle set other styles—in fashion, figure and coiffure. Back in 1914, a woman's hair was still her "crowning glory." When Irene bobbed hers, it created a national furore. Deflying their outraged husbands and brothers, women all over followed suit. In World War I, Vernon, an Englishman, saw action as a Royal Air Force pilot. After his death on a 1918 training flight in Texas, Irene went to to screen stardom, remarried twice, and became a Chicago socialite. She supervised the 1938 movie, "The Story of Vernon and Irene Castle," and watched her past unreel before her at its premiere.

Prof. Landon Will Retire

For 10 years to 1916 he was a member of the editorial staff of The London Free Press and during part of that period represented the paper in the Parliamentary Press Gallery at Ottawa.

A long time student of Ontario history, he has written several volumes including "Western Ontario and the American Frontier" and "Lake Huron," the latter one of an ambitious series on the Great Lakes sponsored by an American firm.

A fellow of the Royal Society of Canada, in 1945 he was awarded the Society's Tyrell medal for the outstanding work in the field of history.

Prof. Landon has been a member of the historic sites and monuments board of Canada nearly 20 years.

Rooney Thinks Modern Women Need Femininity

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 20 (AP)—Mellowing Mick y Rooney, thrice-married and nearing 30, offers his views on what's wrong with modern women:

"They try to be everything but women."

He explained: "They crop ff their hair, wear men's clothing and look like a bunch of 'feminine' men."

The actor declared that he prefers "the clinging vine type, the womanly woman who knows she is the weaker sex.

"I don't mean the kind who can't do anything for herself. I think everybody should be self-sufficient. It's fine for a woman to be independent in her job. But in social relationships, a guy likes to have girl lean on him and look to him for support.

Strong Sex!

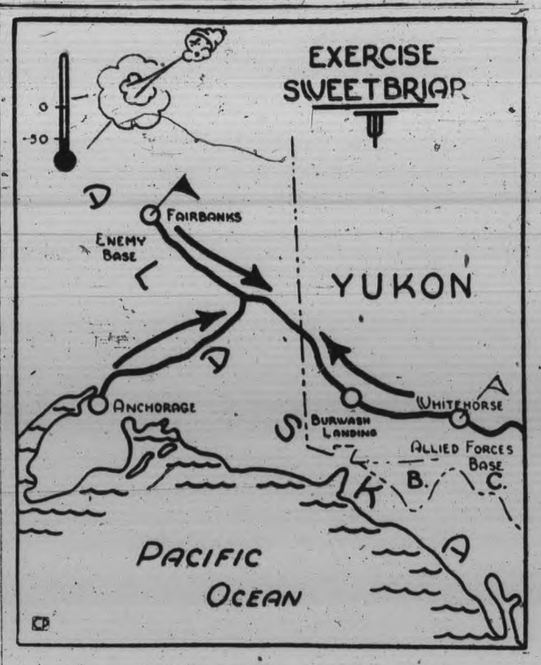
"A woman should realize that man is the stronger sex. I'm not trying to ballyhoo the males, because I know they are weaker in a great many respects. But if a woman is smart, she will treat men as the stronger sex.

"After all, the most important thing a woman can do is just to be woman. To be a good wife and mother is a goal worthy of every woman. Too many lose sight of that fac in their struggle for recognition in the world."

Raising Family

He reported that his wife, Martha Vickers, has definitely given up her film career. "she's going to raise a family," he said.

It may seem hard for some to believe, but the onetime child star will be 30 in September. (His biographies list him as two years younger, but that is one of Hollywood's most common fibs.)



"I'm just a kid," the ebullient actor admitted. "People say you're supposed to act a certain way because you've reached a certain age. But just because I'm 30 doesn't mean I'm going to stop having fun."

TORONTO, Jan. 20 (CP)—Rev. J. R. Alaskan Proves Too Strong For Aussie Mat Champion

Fred Atkins, the Australian heavy pro mat champ from the land "down under", was certainly down under at the end of the main match at the Brock Arena last night. Yukon Eric, the oak tree that walks like a man, flattened Atkins in two straight falls to win the boat handily as a huge crowd cheered him on. It was a good scrap to top a lively three-bout wrestling program.

Eric strode out in lumberjack boots, dungarees and mackinaw as usual, wearing only the dungarees in the ring. The powerful Alaskan—with a 56-inch chest—proved quite popular as he demonstrated his terrific strength against a rough and tricky wrestler. Atkins was a much better wrestler, but he spoiled it with rough and illegal tactics. Eric lacked mat experience but more than made up for this with his strength. Both had plenty of endurance, Atkins also coming back strongly at times after being thrown about hard. He gave Eric a hard go and the calm husky was puffing and sweaty after the final fall.

Awarded Fall

The first fall terminated in 15 minutes when referee Cliff Fox disqualified Atkins for rasping Eric in the eyes with a taped hand, knocking the Alaskan in the ropes and finally knocking the protesting referee to the floor. Fox had a tough time with the hot-headed and powerful Aussie, who persisted in roughing it when he found Eric stronger than he was. Yukon disdainfully took his worst and kept boring in, even after a rough going-over, and he broke holds calmly and took punches on the breaks in the ropes without any apparent trouble. The fans cheered the fall.

It took just 14 minutes for the 272-pound hero to pin his rough 253-pound opponent for the second straight fall. He did it with his shoulder back-breaker grip, the referee not even bothering to count out the sprawled Aussie when Eric dropped him carelessly to the floor. Atkins was aggressive and played it rough but he took quite a beating as Yukon Eric began to flail his beam-like arms at him and grip him powerfully in bear-hugs. He saw the referee couldn't cope with Fred's tape-rasp tricks and took things into his own huge hands. Atkins kept coming back for more but Eric slammed him around, hit him a few telling blows and then picked him up and bounced him on his shoulders. No one complained at the finish of the exciting struggle, except Atkins, and no one cared about that.

Seelie Smart

Seelie Samara, 240, beat huge Wee Willie Davis, scaling 275 and towering over him, in 24 minutes. Both were out of the ring near the finish, but Seelie came back in while the count was going on and butted out Willie as he tried to get in. The count beat Davis and everyone (but Willie) was happy. The latter played his usual Hollywood villain type while the chunky colored grappler played it straight, and got in a few butts of his hammer head when the going got tough. He also slowed the big fellow down with elbow smashes, and had a big margin on scientific wrestling. It was a fair semi-final scrap but Seelie proved too fast and clever for the big lumbering villain and he could also get rough in the right spots.

Juan Hernandez, 228-pound Mexican, and Al Korman, at 226, went to a time limit prelim draw in a good show. Juan offset nasty tactics by Al with smart grappling that proved popular. Korman had to get out of the ring to escape the Mexican's anger after pulling some raw stuff in fast going that kept the crowd roaring. The referee took a panning and Al suffered plenty from an armlock but it went the distance and was declared a draw.

Local Ladies Well Up In Big 'Spiel

By HERB MARTIN

Curling in rare form Thursday in the first day of the two-day Warne Trophy bonspiel three local rinks—Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Selkirk and Mrs. Fanning—came through with two wins and are today playing in the final round.

Other two-game winners are:

Mrs. Brereton, Toronto Granites; Mrs. Mackenzie, Toronto High Park; Mrs. Mitchell, Toronto Ladies' Club; Mrs. Thompson, Toronto Granites.

Probably the best matches were the Selkirk-Neff game and the Code-Thompson game.

Mrs. Selkirk, one down going home, made a beautiful tee high draw shot to win; and Mrs. Code, High Park, last year's winner, went down on the extra end to Mrs. Thompson.

The gallery was filled all day with interested spectators coming and going, as the 28 rinks competed. The trophy winner will be declared by late afternoon today.

On Saturday night we have the mixed rink bonspiel and we understand that Mr. Don Clarke, on behalf of the Peterborough Printing Co., is presenting the first prize. A big crowd is expected.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Plenty of hoop action again this week-end, commencing with a couple of colleen's contests tonight in the YWCA. Normals meet CGE at 8.15, followed by Neill's vs. Nurses Juniors, the schedule winding up just one month from now. Towne Togs go to Port Hope next Tuesday and are home here Wednesday at 7.30 to Belleville. PCVS junior "A" and senior boys are off to Oshawa this e'en in COSSA group fixtures, while there are three tilts at Collegiate tomorrow night. They start at 6.30 with SPS and PCVS bantams playing, the junior "B" teams of these schools then going on, and Toronto Eaton's meeting the senior PCI-ers in an exhibition after. At the YMCA on Saturday night at seven, Marines and Orfuns have a City Loop tilt, followed by an exhibition betwixt Toronto West End "Y" and Outboard Marines in what should be a nifty number.

Church Hockey League schedules are in tonight, the darned mild weather pretty well ruining hockey here—as elsewhere—on outdoor rinks up to now. Play commences at the Riverside rink on Monday eve with three games, some tussles being listed later for King Edward rink. Juves, juniors and seniors combine in one group, and there are bantam and peewee groupings, all winding up early in February. So, schedules have to be pretty short to permit the three-of-five playoffs in each. Tough, but you can't beat the weather, and there just isn't room in Civic Arena for every league. Team managers are advised to have player lists, with ages and entry fees, at their first games.

Nylons Play Legion

Kingston Nylons vs. Legionnaires is the big puck attraction here this Friday night. They play at 8.30 this eve in Civic Arena, and it should be another humdinger of an OHA senior "B" fixture. Nylons are now in second place and apparently, at the moment, anyway, the biggest threat to the top-place Legion crew. A lot of colorful and husky hockeyists in this Kingston combine, but they'll have to be good to beat the speedy and scrappy Ellis outfit. Yeah, a swell struggle likely and some mighty fine hockey, rating a packed arena for sure.

* * * * * *

Gananoque scribe was pretty high on Legionnaires after their neat 12-6 win right in Gananoque on Wednesday. Fans there figured 'twas the best shewing they'd ever seen by a visiting club, including intermediate "A" playoffs last year. Legion came up with sound all-around hockey after their long trip, checking, passing and rushing smartly. Their power play is clicking good, now, and that first line of Rochetta, Crowley and Vitarelli is beginning to look like a championship trio again. Other lines plenty good, too, with a most effective defence and good goalie. Yeah, the champs are starting to really roll once more.

Can't Get Together

Apparently, never the twain shall meet—except, that is, in combat. We mean the Petes and Legionnaires. Can't even get together for that proposed skating race. Some of the players (not the coaches, mind you) have the old feudin' spirit to such an extent that they don't want to do anything which might help increase the attendance for the other side, so they want such added attractions for their own home games. At least, that's how we figure it, and it looks like the proposition will have to be shelved for the time being. Maybe they can get together on it again, but we won't worry any more. 'Twas just a suggestion on our part, and we appreciate the offers of prize money by Johnny Russelle, Spiros Zakos, Carl Wetherall and Mike Caravaggie.

Wrestling fans sure go for this Alaskan lumberjack, Yukon Eric. Brock Arena was filled last night and the fans went away happy when Eric downed Fred Atkins in two straight falls. Took a lot of rough punishment as he offset Fred's mat knowledge and illegal tactics with sheer strength. A powerful brute of a man, with a 56-inch chest and a weight of 272 muscular pounds. A guy like that doesn't need to know holds! Seelie Samara, the scientific 250-pounder with the hammer head, won his semi-final from Wee Willie Davis. And Seelie might be the type to beat husky Eric, being a tricky and fast big man with oodles of endurance. Plus that hammer head. He also drives a $5,000 Cadillac—and we wonder how many mat fans can do that. Not us, that's for sure! The prelim went to a lively time-limit draw.

Havelock Wins

MARMORA, Jan. 20 (ENS) — Marmora's Circle League team played their second game on Thursday evening with Havelock being visitors and winning a close game by the score of 8-5. Havelock iced a team slightly superior to the homesters, who depended on the same line-up that was victorious against Campbellford on Tuesday evening. Havelock at the end of the first period led by 3-1. Marmora added four in the next period but Callery let in three goals. Havelock added two more goals in the final period to deservedly win their first league game.

Echo Finds Fish

OSLO (CP).—An echo sounder is becoming standard equipment aboard the modern Norwegian fishing vessel. Used to determine the depth and location of fish schools, they have been installed aboard scores of ships and applications have come from 350 additional would-be purchasers.

ALL SIZES—Canadian athletes on the British Empire Games team come in all sizes as this photo reveals. Flyweight boxer Ronnie Muir of Toronto, 4 feet 11¾ inches tall and weighing 112 pounds, has to stand well up the loading platform of the Canadian Pacific Air Lines plane which carried the team to Auckland, to talk to towering, 6 foot 4 inch Montrealer who is a member of the fencing team.

Pammett Leads Way As IOOF Juves Win

Scoring five goals for Oddfellows in Keene last night, Kenny Pammett sparked the visitors to a 12-0 PMHA juvenile victory. Collins counted two goals, Golaski, Ryan, Ferguson, Floyd and Bigford getting one each. Buckton, also turned in a fine chore with four assists, two each going to Shearer, Jensen and Robinson, with one apiece to Floyd and Ferguson. Play was clean but one-sided all the way. Teams:

IOOF: Goal, Batley; defence, Bigford, Armstrong; centre, Pammett; wings, Ferguson, Buckton; alternates, Shearer, Kimball, Jensen, Floyd, Ryan, Robinson, Bacon, Collins, Golaski.

Keene—Goal, Hatfield; defence, Whalen, McNevan; centre, Cowie; wings, Thaine, L. Sellaby; alternates, McIntyre, Panter, Graham, Musgrave, Stock, Davidson, G. Sellaby, Mather.

Referees, Romhanyi and Nigh.

Exciting Clash

LONDON, Jan. 20 (CP) — The touring Edmonton Mercurys Thursday night won a 10-8 thriller from Wembley Lions in a hockey clash free of penalties and studded with brilliant attacks by both teams. Some 10,000 fans screamed solidly throughout the whole 60 minutes.

Leaf Rookie Steals Show As Habs Walloped 4-2

By HARRY ECCLES,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, doesn't see any immediate prospect of expanding the six-team circuit.

That's just as well, for in between the top and bottom teams today there's the darndest traffic jam. Toronto Maple Leafs walloped Montreal Canadiens 4-2 in Thursday night's only game, shoving the Leafs into fourth place by a point over the Boston Bruins.

The standing today showed Detroit with 54 points, Montreal still second with 43, New York 40, Toronto 39, Boston 38 and in the cellar the Chicago Black Hawks with 32.

They were at top form in Montreal Thursday night, after being shut out 1-0 by the Canadiens on Durnan's brilliant goal tending at Toronto Wednesday.

Steals Show

And it was rookie Johnny McCormack, late star of the Toronto Senior Amateur Marlboros, who stole the show at Montreal's Forum. McCormack scored two of the Leaf goals, with Ray Timgren and Sid Smith netting the others. Norm Dussault and Ken Mosdell scored for Canadiens.

The Forum crowd of 14,006 was treated to the first penalty shot at Montreal this season. The shot was awarded to Canadiens after Timgren and Gus Mortson of the Leafs had dived into the Toronto cage when goalie Turk Broda was way out in stopping a shot from Mosdell. Maurice Richard took the penalty shot but Broda slid out of his cage at the right moment to stop the drive.

Clarence Campbell's remarks about no expansion came at a meeting of the New York Hockey Writers' Association. He said also that the drop in National Hockey League attendance this year, around nine per cent compared with last season, is not as bad as was expected.

YM Annual Reports Show Good Year Despite Deficit

A deficit of $1,057.64 for 1949 was announced for the YMCA by acting-treasurer Fred Hilis in the absence of Charles Lacheur who was ill. This was an increase of $564.29 over the deficit reported last year for 1948.

Mr. Hills said in giving the report at the annual meeting of the YMCA that the Associations are not money-making institutions. Most of the YMCA's he said show deficits. Referring to the Peterborough building he said that a little has to be paid each year on the mortgage. He expressed the hope that the YMCA will sometime show a surplus.

Total expenses for 1949 were $39,374.76. The largest expenditures was the operating cost which reached $13,416.22. Other large items were: administration expenses, $8,088.29; dormitories, $4,157.81; physical department, $7,147.37; Boys' work, $2,867.86. The small expenses were: billiards and bowling, $599.88; religious educational and social $299.08; national council, $650.; world service, $960; payment of building fund interest, $688.25; mortgage principal, $500.

Chief receipts were: Subscriptions, $13,500 (including Community Chest); memberships, $8,004.40; dormitories, $2,251.68 and baths, $3,514.80 were the largest items under the receipts. Billiards receipts totalled $578.22.

Physical Director's Report

J. L. Gillespie of the Physical Department committee, read the report prepared by Al Clark, the physical director. Mr. Clark reported that in 1949 34 classes a week were operated inn the gym and in the pool. One new class was added, for business men on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The class is small, he said, but is expected to grow this year.

In volleyball and basketball the local YMCA did comparatively well in 1949. Mr. Clark said that the Saturday afternoon league has the best record for continuity of any such league in Canada. Volleyball is becoming more popular with the younger members, he reported ,and is being played in all groups from juniors to seniors.

A brief house league was operated in the spring for basketball while an eight-team league was organized this Fall. At the conclusion a four-team city league was drawn up. Two teams represented the YMCA in the Ontario Amateur Basketball Association play. The Intermediate B squad took the honors in the district league but lost out to Belleville. The Intermediate A team played exhibition games with West End YMCA of Toronto, Buffalo, Queen's University, Guelph Agricultural College and others in the Ontario playdowns was taken out by the St. Catharine's Legion quintet. Mr. Clark said that the work of the basketball group plus the backing of the Outboard Marine and the interest of Hugh Campbell made 1949 an outstanding year in basketball.

Swimming Classes.

Sixty seven boys were taught to swim in the non-swimmers' classes, 22 in the Vacation Club and 36 in the Public School "Learn to Swim" campaign. One hundred and twenty-five boys advanced to the Tadpole Club and 13 to the Junior Swimming Club. The swimming club held three meets as well as attending six others. Alex Baptie won the Ontario 100-yard free style championship for boys under 12 years and the 50-yard championship at the C. N. E. John Boorman matched this feat at the C. N. E. winning the C.N.E. championship at 50 yards for boys under 12. In the Ontario Y M C A championship at Hamilton. James Heffernan won the 50-yard breast stroke championship.

Ian McCarroll reading the Boys' Department report prepared by Donald Duncan, Boys' Work Secrtary noted a membership in the department of 362. The total membership for 1948 was 374 while the average membership for the past 10 years is 340. The Y's Men's Club donated $150 memberships for needy boys and to date 24 boys have entered through this donation.

HiY Clubs.

Mr. Duncan reported that the Hi-Y clubs had one of its best years in 1949. In the spring a series of vocational talks were presented by speakers and was followed by two visits during the Easter holidays to industires in the city.

At present there are four Hi-Y clubs, two senior, an intermediate and a junior with 25 new members taken in this year. The clubs are sponsoring the weekly teenage dances as their main project. Mr Duncan said that the Hi-Y program has benefitted from the leadership of Dr. E. P. Ray, John Londerville, J. B. Lillico, Mr. N Hamilton and Mr. D. Anderson.

During the summer two programs were operated for the boys Camp Kawartha, which is sponsored by the Y's Men's Club and the other under the direction of Mr. Duncan was open for six weeks on Clear Lake. There were 176 boys enrolled for a total of 365 camper weeks, a good percentage being Peterborough boys. Sixty-five of the 82 boys who registered as non-swimmers passed their beginner's test. Nine campers reached the Life Saving level. For the boys unable to go to camp a city camp was held in the YMCA for two weeks under Al Clark.

Editors Pick Sportsmen Of Last 50 Years

By MICHAEL O'MARA

LONDON, Jan. 20—(CP)—Who were the great British sportsmen and women of the first half of the 20th Century? Sports writers tumbled over one another to answer that question as 1950 dawned.

High on most lists stood three men: Champion Jockey G Richards, tennis ace Fred Perry and soccer wizard Stan Matthews. Cricketer Jack Hobbs and snooker demon Joe Davis drew many mentions. Freddy Mills, light heavyweight boxing champion of the world, won a cheer or two.

In a poll conducted by the Sunday Pictorial, readers of one of Britain's most widely-circulated weeklies voted seven stars into the half-century hall of fame:

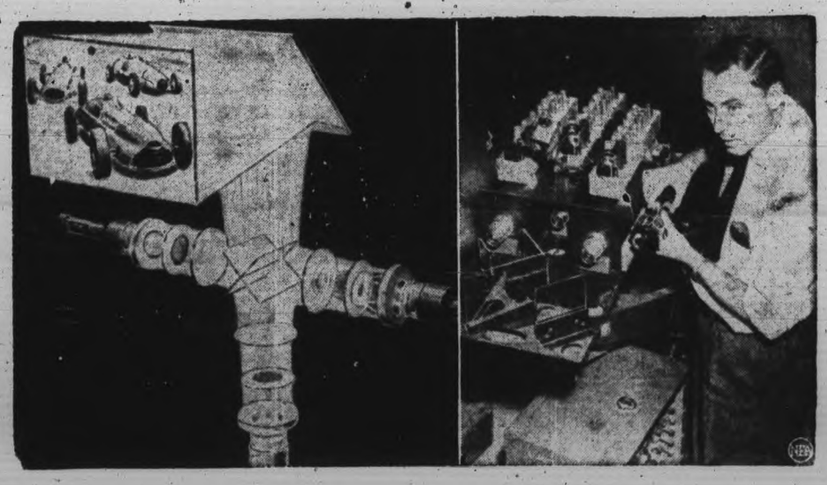
Matthews (soccer); Wallis Hammond (cricket); New Zealand-born Jack Lovelock (athletics) who died tragically in a subway accident in New York as the votes were being counted; Mills (boxing); Perry (tennis); Richards (racing) and Jack Parker (speedway).

"First Eleven"

John MacAdam of the Daily Evpress named this 1900-50 "first eleven," including three Americans:

Golfer Joyce Wethered; boxer Jack Dempsey; soccer star Billy Meredith; Richards; Matthews; golfer Bobby Jones; boxer Freddie Welsh; boxer Jim Driscoll; Welsh rugger star Teddy Morgan; sprinter Jesse Owens; cricketer K. S. Ranjitsinhji.

Geoffrey Simpson of the Daily Mail permitted himself a list of 22 "immortals:"



Crickete

"Immortals:"

Cricketer Hobbs, Hammond, W. G. Grace, Denis Compton and Sir Donald Bradman; boxers Len Harvey, bombardier Billy Wells, Ted (kid) Lewis, Tommy Farr, Benny Lynch and Driscoll; jockeys Steve Donoghue, Todd Sloan and Richards; soccer stars Bill (Bixie) Dean, Bryn Jones and Johnny Morris; golfers Harry Vardon and Henry Cotton; rugger ace W. W. Wakefield; and tennis giants Suzanne Lenglen and Perry.

COLOR TELEVISION: Here's How It Works

We can't tell, but the people on the receiving end of the color television program at left did know what color gown the singer was wearing. This was part of the test broadcasts of color television presented recently by RCA before the Federal Communications Commission in Washington. The artist's sketch, left, above, and the camera with cover removed, right, above, demonstrate in simplified form how color television works. Each of the camera's three tubes receives one of the primary colors, and no other. By use of reflective optics the colors are combined and appear on the screen as a complete color picture.

Canadians Give Lauder Serenade

AYR, Scotland, Jan. 20 (CP)—The visiting Canadian curlers Thursday serenaded Sir Harry Lauder, ailing Scottish comedian, and then proceeded to defeat his countrymen at their own sport.

The A team defeated an all-star Ayr aggregations by 17 shots while the B squad travelled to Falkirk where they prevailed over the Angus Province curling club 118-110.

On the trip from Falkirk to Ayr the A team made two detours, first to visit Sir Harry's palatial home at Strathhaven, and then to the little town of Glaston so that Regina's L. Richardson could visit his brother John, whom he hadn't seen in 35 years.

At Strathhaven the curlers' bus packed outside the Lauder home, where the elderly comedian is waging a stalwart battle against uremia and thrombosis. The Canadians then sang one of Sir Harry's most famous songs, "The End of the Road."

Later they sent a telegram "on behalf of the people of Canada," wishing him a speedy recovery.

After being banquetted by the town provost and magistrate of Ayr, the A team took to the ice and whipped the local rinks 102-85.

Hastings Victors

HASTINGS, Jan. 20—(ENS) — Hastings juveniles continued to show their heels to the rest of the pack in the TVL, defeating Norwood 5-3 in the Hastings Arena.

Play was fast and clean, but in the third period feeling ran high and two fights broke out, but the officials kept the game well in hand.

Doug Montgomery, in the net for the first time, replacing the injured West, turned in a good performance, taking the shots like a veteran.

Hastings are still without the services of J. Morrow and J. Fairman, out with injuries.

Play was fast and even in the first period, and neither team found the target till Fairman opened the scoring for Hastings on a pass from Isaac. Seconds later Hastings made it 2-0, D. Forde scoring from Laver, and Ken Forde. At 16 minutes the Spencer brothers combined to put Norwood back in the running.

In the second, Hastings made it 3-0, W. Wartman bending the twine, McMillan assisting. T. Stack added one for Norwood, Davis drawing the assist. Stevenson completed the play in a neat combination play with Laver and D. Forde.

In the third, Norwood pressed and E. Spencer got his second goal, on a pass from Bob Spencer and Scott.

At 15.30 Hastings got that back and ended the scoring, McMillan scoring on a scramble, with K. Forde and Stevenson assisting.

Lynch and Scott were banished for fighting and shortly after K. Forde and Monohan drew penalties for swinging. Lockhart drew the final penalty for high sticking.

Officials, Puffer, R. Scriver.

Re-Engage Singer

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 20 (CP)—Jean Watson, Canadian contralto, now in London, Eng., with the Royal Opera at Covent Garden, has been re-engaged by the Glyndebourne Opera Company for the Edinburgh Music Festival this year, her father said Thursday. Her singing at the 1949 festival was acclaimed. In nine performances this year she will take the contralto role of Meccelina in the Marriage of Figaro.

Irvin's Boys Use Red Sticks

MONTREAL, Jan. 20 (CP) — It was Dick Irvin and not Joe Stalin who came up with that red color scheme for hockey sticks.

When coach Irvin's Montreal Canadiens invaded Toronto on Wednesday night for a National Hockey League game with Toronto Leafs, the 14,000 fans thought they were seeing things.

Several Canadian forwards and defencemen Ken Reardon carried sticks with red colored tape on the blades. It was the kind of tape ordinarily used for binding parcels. As the game went on the tape was found too slippery and it wore through too easily. So the boys went back to sticks with the usual heavy black tape

"My idea is that a distinctive color on the stick makes it easier for players to spot their teammates in power plays, scrambles and passing," said Irvin Thursday. "The fellows don't have to look up."

General manager Frank Selke now has a tape chemist working not only on the suggestion of heavy, durable, red tape but also finding an extremely light weight ineradicable paint that will grace the sticks in the French-Canadian club's colors—bleu-blanc-rouge.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

The Toronto Leafs-Montreal Canadiens hockey game scheduled for Jan. 21, was ordered postoned 14 years ago today as a mark of respect to the memory of King George V who died Jan. 20. The tribute was the first of its kind in the National Hockey League's 19-year existence. The Chicago-Maroon game at Montreal also was called off Jan. 28—date of the King's funeral.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Farm Radio Forum Will Discuss Tariffs In Monday's Broadcast At 8:30 P.M. — G. A. Brethen Receives Reply From Robt. McCubbin, MP, On Support For Egg Prices — Three-Cent Subsidy For Cheese Announced.

The Canadian farmer is standing by vocally but rather helplessly these days while the federal government is apparently trying to salvage as much as possible of the British market for his exportable surpluses.

That seemed to be the actuating spirit behind the new cheese agreement announced Thursday by which Canada gets a market for 85,000,000 pounds of cheese this year at 25 cents and Ottawa provides a support of three cents a pound, increasing it to 28 cents to the producer.

Ontario Cheese Producers said recently they were willing to accept a floor of 30 cents a pound, which some considered below the cost of production. The reduction of six cents a pound under the previous British contract was termed by V. S. Milburn in Toronto: 'Another jolt for the farmer. It is quite definite he will insist that other groups of society make comparable reductions in their returns, because the farmer is a large buyer of their products."

John Ballentine of Atwood, Ont. vice-president of the Canadian Dairy Farmers' Association, said the industry was still hoping for a 30-cent price to the farmer for his cheese.

Britain has agreed to take at 25 cents a pound 35,000,000 more pounds of cheese than the 50,000,000 quota of last year.

The bacon deal at 29 cents, a drop of seven cents from last year, was moved up to 60,000,000 pounds by a diversion for the purchase of that product of dollars previously marked by Britain for Canadian wheat.

The prospects for 1950 in export of farm products appear to be shaped by compromise and expedience resulting from the dwindling of Britain's fund of dollars.

These are only surface observations at the export price level. The outlook for farmers is still further disturbed by effects of U.S. surpluses. It was announced this week that Marshall Plan dollars will no longer be available for the purchase of Canadian bacon. Something was mentioned a week ago about U.S. government expenditure on price supports and crop loans. The outlay for potatoes amounted to move than $200,000,0000. They were bought by the government at $2.10 a bag, and it was announced several days ago they would be offered at one cent a bag. There are other huge accumulations of corn, oats, barley, dried eggs and milk, to mention some of the products which the U.S. government supported.

Favors Egg Support

Meanwhile, and near at home, G. A. Brethen of Norwood has received a reply from Robert McCubbin, M.P., parliamentary assistant to the Hon. Jas. G. Gardiner, repeating his assertion at Woodstock last Saturday of confidence that the government would put a floor price under eggs for at least six months.

"I stand behind that statement" Mr. McCubbin wrote Mr. Brethen. 'I feel that a floor price should be put under eggs for the next six months until the slack period is over. Where to put the floor price is another matter. A while ago the Federation was asking for 46 cents, Montreal, for grade A large eggs. Now they are asking for 40 cents, and I feel that when they come down to the American floor prices we can do something about it. At least we would have some argument with the government.

Naturally, as a farmer I am very interested in getting the best possible prices that I can for all farm products, but there are many things to be taken into consideration. I feel that the poultry producers should get together under the Provincial Marketing Act, come to the government and ask for a reasonable floor price to assist them in the marketing of their products. I have no doubt that something could be accepted, and that is the thought that I am trying to get across at all the farm gatherings I am addressing.

I am still optimistic that something will be done to help the egg producers at this time."

FARM FORUM SUBJECT

"Should Tariff Barriers Be Abolished?" is the subject of the Farm Radio Forum broadcast Monday, January 23. It is the last o fthe January series dealing with trade and economics.

✦ ✦ ✦

DRURY ON VALUES

Says Sheriff Ernest C. Drury, Barrie, in a recent interview: "Value is not cost, nor cost plus. It is what you can get for an article and no more. If that is not sufficient to cover our production costs, then our costs must be too high.

"There is always a market for foodstuffs if we are willing to accept its prices. Our farmers today are centering their attention on prices, and not thinking enough about costs. Let us get this clearly into our minds: that we must sell our surplus products in the world's markets at the prices those markets can pay; and we must bring our costs into line with those prices."

Sheriff Drury was the only premier of a farm party to lead an Ontario government. His assertion "we must bring our costs into line" must be limited in its direction to farmers who have to buy seed grains, fertilizers, mechanical equipment of production, electrical appliances, gasoline, motor cars that are now essential to rural living, and many other commodities over the cost of which farmers have no control.

✦ ✦ ✦

ASKS 42c FLOOR FOR EGGS

In his energetic campaign for a reasonable floor price for eggs until next summer, G. A. Brethen has written Robert McCubbin, M.P., adviser to the federal Minister of Agriculture, an analysis of prices showing that the proposed floor should not be less than 42 cents a dozen for "A" large eggs.

The poultry industry and the farmers generally will be interested in Mr. Brethen's appeal for a fair deal from the government through its Department of Agriculture.

Text of the letter Jan. 16 follows:

Dear Mr. McCubbin:

I note in this morning's broadcast, and today's issue of the London Free Press, that at a meeting of fifteen hundred farmers at Woodstock on Saturday, you are quoted as saying "I feel sure that the Government will put a floor price under eggs for the next six months until the slack period in production." Mr. McCubbin felt that the farmers of Ontario are entitled to a floor price.

This delayed announcement of a floor price or any substitute action, is daily driving thousands of poultrymen out of the business, cancelling or withholding seasonable chick-ordering, impeding hatchery operations, thereby causing a situation whereby millions of eggs that should be in the incubator, hatching next fall's layers, are thrown upon the consumers' market, thereby further aggravating a market surplus situation that has driven egg prices seriously below even feed cost of production. With no returns whatever to cover cost of living, wages, taxation, flock losses, etc., a policy of placing a floor price under eggs as suggested cannot be made effective by the government at too early a date. Further delay is not only fatal to many in the poultry industry, but is fast reducing the morale of wage earners and industry in every walk of life, who are onlookers, are now asking "Will it be our turn next."

At a very large and representative gathering from those of every phase of the poultry industry at Toronto last week, it was unanimously resolved: "That the Federal Government be asked to put into effect at once a floor price of forty-two cents—Montreal—for 'A'-large eggs.". We understand the above figure per dozen is acceptable to poultry organizations in every Canadian province. After much discussion, the above figure was arrived at as one not netting the egg producer back on the farm enough to encourage increased production, and yet providing sufficient profit over cost of feed, maintenance, and operation to enable him to stay in the business.

In support of the above price, I would like to point out, that quotations seaboard - Montreal, etc., have been very misleading in the press and over the radio in presenting the true picture of the actual take-home pay by the man producing the eggs.

Forty-two cents per dozen, 'A' large—Montreal—actually means with transportation, free cases, grading and other services deducted) around thirty-three cents per dozen "A" large—to the producer at the Grading Station Actually hens do not lay all "A" large eggs. A careful survey of customers' egg-grading slips will show that eggs on nest-run size, with regular market reduction for "A" medium and pullet size eggs—sold on a thirty-three "A" large grading station basis, will scarcely net the farmer thirty cents per dozen for all eggs in the case of A quality.

With present retail food cost being around twenty-five cents per dozen for average flock production, on a forty-two cent "A" Large Montreal basis, the producer actually receives, overhead, taxes, cost of living, flock replacement, etc., etc., about the same remuneration as the wholesaler receives for turning over his cases to the retailer, and what the retailer receives for passing out a dozen eggs to the consumer.

Forty-two cents per dozen "A" large—Montreal—will provide a reasonable basis, upon which to store eggs that will assist in providing more orderly year-round marketing, in preventing seasonable slump, causing below-cost prices to the producer, and discouraging extremely high peak prices in periods of short supply, thus materially benefitting the consumer who wishes to continue to purchase Canadian top-grade eggs.

Sincerely,
G. A. BRETHEN

RING-TO-RAIL JUDGING

Prof. J. G. Steckley, director of the experimental farm at Ridgetown said at the western Ontario Farmers' Week said "ring to rail" was the preferable procedure in judging beef cattle.

"It has got to come to this type of judging finally, when the animal judged in the ring is slaughtered and these results tallied with the earlier opinion This way we will obtain a yardstick by which we can get fine breeding stock to produce animals giving better meat and dressing percentages."

Peter Cameron, beef breeder of Howard township said: "This is the only way to tell what type of meat our animals make. There is no check following judging on the hoof. I'm sure some of the champions which look so good in the ring at the Royal would be mainly waste fat when processed for meat sales. I think this type of competition should be included in the Royal's program. It would be very informative to breeders and also a check on judging ability."

THE INDIVIDUAL FARMER

"Perhaps it is good for the state that farmers are individualists," said Hon. T. L. Kennedy as speaker to St. Catharines Lions Club and their rural guests on Tuesday.

Historic revolutions showed that trouble breeds in large centres of population. "It is stopped by the God-fearing people in the country. It is they who bring religion and sanity back with them."

As evidence that sons of the farm were not deserting their industry for urban retreats, Col. Kennedy said 78 per cent of the sons of agriculture were living on farms that their fathers had owned. "On good farms 98 per cent chose to stay, rather than migrate to cities."

"These young people with the pride of their profession in their faces have happy lives and win success."

Success was not to be measured only by accumulated money, but in terms of friendship and usefulness in the community.

The Minister said more than $500,000 had been expended by his department in research ranging from efficient farm management and increased yields to hybrid grains, vegetables and fruit, and to control of livestock disease.

Only efficient farming could be profitable. "It is better to make money on one acre, than lose on ten. Surveys of 54 farms had disclosed that while one-third made a substantial profit, another third made a little, and the remaining third lost money."

Livestock breeders in Peel had exported dairy cattle last year to 18 countries and 44 of the states of the U. S. Union. Col. Kennedy said tuberculosis and couragious abortion in cattle were both under control. He predicted that mastitis would "be licked" in another two years. "We will then be the only country that has those diseases beaten."

Call For Unity In Trade Unions

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 20—The need for unity in the trade union movement in the interests of the working man was emphasized at a public meeting sponsored by the Niagara Labor Committee Thursday night.

In particular the speakers called for an end to raiding of the United Electrical Workers locals by the Canadian Congress of Labor Union recently created to replace the expelled UE within its ranks. Speakers included many leaders in the CIO local in the Niagara Peninsula.

Dolan 20 Years In Tourist Business Honored At Testimonial Dinner

TORONTO, Jan. 20 (CP)—A. Leo Dolan, former Maritime newspaper man who since 1934 has eben director of the Canadian Government Travel Bureau, was honored with a testimonial dinner Thursday night on his 20th anniversary in the tourist industry.

Mr. Dolan, who left newspaper work in 1930 to become director of information and tourist travel for the New Brunswick Government, was given a sheaf of Canadian Government bonds by the gathering of 280 tourist industry representatives from all parts of North America.

In addition, he received a hand-tooled brief case, gift of the Mexican Tourist Association.

Mr. Dolan, "Mr. Travel of Canada" to the hundreds of Travel Bureau officials in Canada and the United States, called himself "a humble civil servant" when he rose to express his thanks.

Worth Honoring

But David B. Mulligan, of New York City's Baltimore Hotel, toastmaster for the dinner, said of him:

"Very few men are honored by an international group while still alive and active in their professions, as Mr. Dolan is being honored tonight."

Designated as official Nova Scotian delegate to the dinner was A. D. Simpson, of Niagara Falls, Ont., president of Chateau-Gai Wines, Ltd. Mr. Simpson brought with him a telegram from Hon. Harold Connolly, Nova Scoita's Minister of Publicity and Information.

Appreciate Talent

"I shall consider it an honor if you would represent Nova Scotia at tonight's testimonial to Leo Dolan," Mr. Connolly's wire to Mr. Simpson said. "It is appropriate that you should do so because you are a Nova Scotian and, as such, an ambassador-at-large for this province, and also because you have known Leo almost as long as I and have an equal appreciation of his talent."

Mr. Dolan, recognized throughout this continent as an authority on the tourist industry, worked on newspapers in various parts of Canada before he became interested in the travel business.

At 16 he took a job as sports reporter on the Gleaner in his native Fredericton. He followed this up with reporting on the Sydney Record, the old Regina Post, the Border Cities Star in Windsor, Ont., the old Saskatoon Star, the Sydney Post, the Saint John Telegraph-Journal and the Halifax Herald.

Japanese Reds End Defiance Bow To Moscow

TOKYO, Jan. 20 (AP)—Japan's Communists today shed their cloak of defiance and bowed low to their critics in the Cominform and Russia.

Their central committee issued a statement admitting errors as charged by the Cominform Journal of Bucharest Jan. 7. That organ of international Communism had blasted away at Sanzo Nozaka, leader of Japan's Communists.

Nozaka likewise admitted error. He was not disciplined. A spokesman said he keeps his party membership and office. He is a member of both the powerful Japanese Politburo and the central committee.

Red leaders in other lands have disappeared in a hurry after being charged with the deviations of which Nozaka was accused.

The Cominform charged Nozaka was "anti-democratic and anti-socialistic." It accused him of serving "the imperialist occupiers of Japan" by insisting Japan could go socialist under the occupation.

At first Nozaka and the Japanese Politburo struck back. The Japanese Communist party kicked out four members who sided with the Cominform. Politburo spokesman Ritsu Ito last week issued a statement saying the Cominform's conclusion was "unacceptable."

A statement handed correspondents today said Japan's Communist central committee thereupon "will make endeavors in the future not to repeat mistakes of this sort and to live up to the expectations of the international proletariat."

Defeat Truman On Korean Aid

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20—(AP)—Republicans hung a "no-confidence" tag on the Truman administration's Asiatic policies today after the House of Representatives by a vote of 193 to 191, defeated a Korean economic aid bill.

Caught by surprise, the administration took its severest foreign policy blow since pre-war days when 131 Republicans joined 61 Democrats and one American Labor Party representative late Thursday to smash down the aid bill.

The bill would have authorized $60,000,000 more to round out a $120,000,000 program to help Southern Korea keep its economy going in the face of the Communist-dominated Korean regime to the north.

Republicans termed the result a clear sign that members of their party—and some of the Democrats—have lost confidence in the state department's handling of the cold war against communism in the Far East.

CCF Gov't Defeated In Mock Parliament

TORONTO, Jan. 20.—(CP).—A CCF "government" which took office when the Liberals resigned was defeated in the University of Toronto's mock parliament at Queen's Park Thursday night.

The Liberals were to have been the "government," as the different political clubs on the campus rotate, but they resigned over what they said was a ruling from the Ontario government that they could not debate controversial provincial political issues while accepting the government's invitation to use the provincial legislature chamber.

The University's C.C.F. Club therefore took over the government benhes and asked enactment of the national C.C.F. party's first-term program. It survived a Progressive Conservative amendment but was defeated by 109 votes to 80 on the main motion, on which students in the gallery voted along with the 90 members of the "parliament."

The C.C.F. government had 30 members; the Progressive Conservatives 25, Liberals 20 and Labor-Progressive 15.

Urge Leaving Jerusalem Alone

NEW YORK, Jan. 20—(AP)—A fact-finding group recently returned from Israel is sharply critical of a United Nations plan to internationalize Jerusalem.

Reporting on its findings Thursday, the group termed the plan dangerous and unnecessary," and added:

"The overwhelming majority of the leaders of religious groups we interviewed expressed the belief it would not work."

The trip was sponsored by the American Christian Palestine Committee, an interfaith group.

The fact-finders included Dr. Samuel Guy Inman of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, and leaders in the Methodist, Baptist, Congregational Christian and Presbyterian churches.

They urged the U.S. to seek abandonment of the international-ization plan, and to support, in its place, a UN commission with no territorial sovereignty but with the right to provide free access to holy places in Jerusalem.

Building Men Urged To Boost British Buying

By FORBES RHUDE.
Canadian Press Business Editor.

James S. Duncan's address to the Canadian Construction Association Wednesday was what one might call a document.

Specifically, he asked the construction men to increase their buying of materials from Britain from $35,000,000 to $85,000,000, and stated that this could be done without injury to Canadian producers and without discrimination against the United States.

It was a document because it set out in clear language Canada's problem and Britain's position.

Canada's problem, briefly, is to make it possible for her customers to keep on buying from her, and one way to do, said Mr. Duncan, is t buy from them.

The statement on Britain's position by Mr. Duncan, chairman of the Dollar-Sterling Trade Board and president of Massey-Harris, Ltd., bears repeating because it is easy to forget what created it. Here are some quotes:

Until 1914 Britain was not only the largest creditor nation, the centre of world finance, and her influence made itself felt to the far corners of the earth.

1914 Made Changes

But 1914 changed all that. Britain emerged from that world conflict greatly weakened. But it was in the Second World War that she assumed burdens that it was beyond her strength to carly. She knew that to win she had to throw everything she had into the balance, and she did so without hesitation. May this ever stand to her credit . . .

So long as the money held out she bought her weapons of war on a cash-and-carry basis. Then she liquidated $1,712,000,000 of her dollar investments to meet her ever-expanding requirements of food and ammunition from North America.

But this was still not enough. Her industry was re-directed to war work to a point where her export trade was deliberately sacrificed exports which she knew to be the very life-blood of her economy and the only source of her future recovery.

She emerged from the Second World War victorious but sadly weakened. Her export trade, which in pre-war days represented approximately 16 per cent of her national income, had dwindled to less than three per cent., whereas by contrast Canada's export trade, which before the war represented 26.5 per cent of her national income, had increased in 1944 to 36 per cent.

Moral Shock

Add to this the moral shock of her population, who having won a victorious war, now were faced with the same privation, the same rationing, the same queueing-up, the same austerity as when the war was at its height.

Then Mr. Duncan went on to say what Britain has accomplished in the way of recovery:

Industrial production in volume 30 per cent above pre-war; agricultural production in volume up 25 per cent; exports in volume 50 per cent greater, and so on.

Where she has failed, said Mr. Duncan, is in earning dollars. And this he argued is what Canadians, in their own interest, must help her to do, by buying from her, if they expect her to continue buying from them.

BARKLEY, vice-president of the United States, is shown in the above photo with members of the party that welcomed him in Montreal recently where he addressed the 26th annual dinner of the Histadrut, the national committee for Labor Israel. Wm. de Graves Ex-Editor Dies

OTTAWA, Jan. 20 — (CP) — William A. de Graves, a commissioner of the War Veterans Allowance Board and former executive editor of the Edmonton Bulletin, died suddenly in hospital Thursday night. He was about 64 years of age.

A veteran of both world wars, Mr. de Graves entered the Veterans Hospital in Ottawa shortly before Christmas for a few days. He entered hospital again Wednesday following a heart seizure.

Prominent in Western Canada newspaper circles, Mr. de Graves resigned as associate editor of the Bulletin in the summer of 1946 when he was appointed one of Canada's five pensions commissioners.

Newspaper men at Vancouver recalled that Mr. de Graves worked for Vancouver newspapers including The Sun, The World and The Herald. Only the first still operates under that name.

He was legislature reporter for The Sun at one time.

Mrs. Rebecca Joss pleaded guilty to possession of an opium alkaloid.

May Subsidize Apple Growers

OTTAWA, Jan. 20 (CP) — British Columbia apple growers who recently donated about $1,000,000 worth of apples to the United Kingdom may be in line for federal government subsidies, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Thursday.

If the growers can show at the end of their annual operations that they gave the apples to the UK as an alternative to letting them rot in fields or in storage, they would appear to have a case for price support, Mr. Gardiner said.

Mr. Gardiner said the government has a fund of $200 000,000 set aside in 1944 for the specific purpose of maintaining market prices for farm commodities.

Some of that money was used to help negotiate an apple contract with the United Kingdom last year. East coast producers received subsidies of $1,500,000 in the shipment of $3,000,000 worth of apples.

Apple producers have received no federal aid for apples so far this year, Mr. Gardiner said.

Glamorous Film Star Living In Ottawa

OTTAWA, Jan. 20 (CP)—Anita Page, glamorous movie queen of the early '30's, is living in Ottawa as the wife of a United States naval officer, it was learned Wednesday.

The naval officer, Capt Herschel House, is an airlogistics expert on loan to the Canadian Navy for two years.

The Houses arrived here last August and only a few friends were aware that the pretty blonde was the star of 33 moving pictures, including Broadway Melody, produced in 1929 and the first big musical production ever attempted by Hollywood.

Mrs. House, the mother of a 6-year-old daughter, played opposite such stars at Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Clark Gable, Robert Montgomery, Greta Garbo, Norma Shearer and Robert Young.

Log Cabin Home Of Pensioner Lost In Blaze

DOWNEYVILLE, Jan. 20 — (ENS)—Fire destroyed the log cabin home of Patrick Dorgan, 77, an old age pensioner living by himself at King's Wharf, on the 13th concesion of Emily township Thursday evening.

Flames were seen at 8.30 p.m. by Jack and Claude Perdue, who live nearby. They rushed to the cabin by car and found Mr. Dorgan standing helpless outside the burning building.

There was no water with which to fight the fire and the entire cabin was destroyed. A wood pile beside the cabin was saved.

Taken To Home

Robert Sullivan took Mr. Dorgan to his home.

Mr. Dorgan had had the cabin winterized and a new stove was installed last fall. He saw sparks coming from the stove and thought he had overcome the trouble, when he smothered them. But the house caught fire and he managed to escape with only the clothes he was wearing.

Born in Emily township, Mr. Dorgan has spent his entire life in the vicinity. Before retiring he was a thresher and carpenter

Mrs. James Douglas, Cavan, was brought to Civic Hospital here after she fractured her nose in a fall Thursday. Mrs. Douglas slipped on a patch of ice on a sidewalk in Cavan.

PIPES BLAMED FOR FIRE

Overheated furnace pipes are blamed for a small fire that broke out Thursday afternoon in the basement of the home of Ed. Simmons, 274 Caddy St. and caused about $50 damage. The pipes started the fire in the floor joists, and some paper in the joists helped the blaze along. Thick smoke rose into the kitchen and front part of the house. Mrs. Simmons took her two small children—Douglas, aged 2, and Donald, 1, to safety. Firemen used a booster pump to quell the outbreak.

C. B. Neal Named President Outboard Marine Mnfg. Co.

The directors of Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company have announced the election at a meeting here, of Mr. Clarence B. Neal to the presidency of the company, and Mr. Larry L. Tremblay to its directorate.

Mr. Tremblay is vice-president in charge of merchandising.

Mr. Neal has been a resident of Peterborough since 1929, when he was transferred from Waukegan, Ill., a year after joining the Johnson Motors Company at its headquarters. He came here as accountant with the Canadian company, and in 1931 was appointed assistant secretary-treasurer, advancing to the treasury post in 1938. Early in 1945 he became assistant to the president.

The penultimate promotion of Mr. Neal was Sept. 1949 as vice-president and general manager.

C. B. Neal received in Little Rock, Ark., the education which he expanded and rounded with a complete course in accounting and business administration in Kansas City, Mo. He was married in Peterborough, his wife being the former Kay Whitehouse. Their home is at 593 Weller St.

The interest of Mr. Neal in the community affairs of this city was reflected in his chairmanship of the building committee of the Memorial Community Centre. Circumstances of rapid changes in building costs conspired against that undertaking when its funds appeared to be ample. Proposals of diversions from the original hopes and purposes of the Centre committee failed to sway Mr. Neal from the public charge which was entrusted to that committee. Its funds are still intact, and plans are still in progress through the recent instructions of the council to obtain complete information about the proposed site at George and Rink Streets.

CLARENCE B. NEAL

Mr. Neal took an energetic interest in the various Victory Loan campaigns at Outboard Marine, bringing him into personal touch with all its employees. He is a member of the Peterborough Curling Club and manages to find some time for the schedule of games, and he is also a lover of the outdoors, particularly in hunting and fishing, and naturally with much motor boating from spring to fall.

Mr. Tremblay became associated with Johnson Motor Company, forerunner of the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing, in 1929 when he first came to the Peterborough office. He acted as sales representative in his native province of Quebec, and beyond that in the Maritime provinces. Combining his engineering knowledge and merchandising experience he was appointed industrial sales manager for Johnson Iron Horse and Johnson-Tremblay fire pumps.

In March 1946 he was promoted to the position of vce-president in charge of merchandising with jurisdiction over the sales, advertising and service departments. He continues in that capacity, and his well-merited appointment to the board of directors of the company is now announced.

Mr. Tremblay is himself a keen outdoors man, and has ranged far and wide in hunting and fishing through the principal lake areas of Quebec and Ontario. For some years he has been a director of the Quebec Federation of Anglers and is the moving spirit in the newly formed club Trembec in the Mt. Tremblant section of the Laurentians.

The election of Mr. Neal to the head of Outboard Marine and Manufacturing followed the retirement several months ago of Mr. Hugh M. Campbell after years as president.

6,000 Capacity Grandstand Suggested At Ex

An increased seating capacity of 6,000 in the grandstand in Exhibition Park was called for by Hugh Stewart, president of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition at the annual meeting of the board of directors Thursday afternoon in the City Council chambers.

In recent years people have been spending their money freely, but from now on they are going to expect more for their money, he said. When they pay to see the grandstand performance and races they will want to be close enough to the performers or the finish of a race to know what is going on, he added.

The 18-member board of directors includes only two changes from the 1949 board. Clayton Sanderson, of Smith township, is a new face. Melville H. Johnston, reeve of North Monaghan, has returned to the board after a year's absence.

The grandstand now seats about 3,300, but Mr. Stewart felt it should accommodate from 5,500 to 6,000. An addition should be made to the grandstand even at the sacrifice of other biuldings at the moment. He felt the increased income derived from an enlarged grandstand would soon provide the money for other buildings.

He thanked the members of the 1949 board of directors for their co-operation. He commented that the exhibition had had splendid exhibits in the livestock, horticultural and implement division.

He said he thought the midway was the cleanest that had been presented to the city.

Bert McLean and W. E. Stewart heads of the Lindsay fair, were among those who spoke at the meeting to congratulate the Peterborough board on the fair they had put on last summer. Gordon K. Fraser also offered his congratulations. It was an enterprise, he said, which helped both farmers and merchants throughout the district.

The 1950 board of directors is as follows: Hugh Stewart, Harold Rehill, Norman McConkey, C. E. Moore, Frank Savigny, R. L. Dobbin, Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser, Vern Campbell, F. E. Birdsall, John Kitney, Clayton Sanderson, Alex Huston, Melville H. Johnston, Haig Kelly, Clare Collins, Dr. H. H. Hamilton, Clarence Mann, and Henry McIntyre.

For its activities over the whole year, the board announced a profit of $2,662.21 in its financial statement. Of this $2,512.22 was made from the exhibition itself.

The greatest single source of income was $17,812 brought in by admission tickets sold for the exhibition. From the provincial government the board received $1,500 and from the dominion government two grants amounting to $4,000. Proceeds from the midway were $4,687.87.

The board paid out $12,711.30 in prize money. Cost of new building and improvements to buildings and property totalled $10,071.64.

The new board of directors will meet Thursday night to elect their new officers for 1950.

Falls Into Boiling Bath Pan 4-Year Donald Badly Burnt

Stumbling and falling into a pan of boiling hot water, four-year-old Donald MacFarland, was badly burned over most of his body Thursday evening. He was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital where officials reported today his condition was "just fair."

DONALD MacFARLAND

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. MacFarland, Maniece Ave., fell into hot water while playing with his six-year-old brother Billy. Mrs. MacFarland had put the water on to heat to give young Donald a bath.

Harold MacFarland, brother of William MacFarland who lives with the family, took the pan of hot water down from the stove and placed it on the floor before going outside to get cold water to mix with the hot.

While he was outside, the two boys started to play in the kitchen. In the game, Donald stumbled and fell. Only his face escaped the hot water.

There is a younger brother, Gerald, 3, and a sister, Alberta Lemmie, 8 months.

Fire Committee Considers Bunaglow Sub-Station Proposal For South Wards

Peterborough has outgrown the habit of its council in striking annually from its budget an item for an auxiliary fire station, Ald. Doug. Miller, chairman of the fire and light committee, suggested to its members at their meeting Thursday night at the fire hall. Discussion for an hour or more of the increasing problem of adequate fire protection, as residential distances from the fire hall increase, ended in a motion by Ald. A. B. Burrows, seconded by Ald. J. A. Dewart, requesting the council to consider seriously the need and site of a bungalow type of substation south of Lansdowne St.

Outer fringes of the city have extended to 1½ and 2 miles from the fire hall, and in time, around 15 minutes. Ald. Miller said the growth of the city had developed obstacles of traffic such as, red lights at important street intersections, halted lines of vehicles, and trains blocking streets. He remarked that Peterborough had been fortunate so far in escaping circumstances of congesting of traffic, and streets otherwise occupied, delaying fire apparatus in a hurry.

Realistic View

"As long as I have been in the council," said the chairman, "the annual recommendation for an auxiliary station has been deleted from the budget. I feel like suggesting to the members that it is time we took a realistic view of the problem that has developed with the expansion to the south, north, west and east.

"It is something we have to face in the interest of the citizens who own their homes and pay taxes for fire protection."

Ald. Miller said everybody realized that generally speaking the most important stage of a fire was when it broke out and the department was called. Minutes saved in getting to the fire were of utmost urgency.

Attending the meeting with the chairman were: Ald. Burrows, Gillespie, Dewart and Mayor Swanston, with Chief George Smith and City Clerk Outram.

Long Term Plan

The chairman said that facilities for the efficiency of the department in the interest of property owners appeared to recommend that a long term plan, possibly up to ten years, should be considered.

The first substation should be allotted to the south end, according to the opinion of the committee. Plans of a bungalow type auxiliary at Natick, Mass., were examined. Estimated cost there was $16,000, and Ald. Miller said it might be built here for less than $20,000, for which debentures could be issued. It housed a combination 500 gallons-per-minute pumper and usual equipment. Five men were assigned to it, with two men on duty at all times.

It was felt that future consideration of the efficiency of the fire department should also estimate the needs of Ashburnham, the north end of the city, with its increasing suburban residential problem, and also the west end in which expansion was obviously moving.

Ald. Miller said that if the Ontario Government decided to build one of its proposed mental hospitals in Peterborough, and on the suggested site of the Hilliard Farm, precedence would have to be shifted to that area for a No. 2 substation.

ALDERMAN J. A. DEWART, who has been elected chairman of the Board of Health. Members of the 1950 Board are Mayor Max Swanston, Dr. R. A. Kelly, Medical Officer of Health, Alderman J. A. Dewart Alderman P. J. Anglesey, and William Tinker.

YM's G. H. Roper To Retire, Board Told

In his 35th year as general secretary of the Peterborough YMCA George H. Roper prosposes to retire in September. Mr. Elliott, chairman of the YMCA Board announced this at the annual meeting held Thursday evening.

"I cannot let the occasion pass," said Mr. Elliott, "without observing that he has provided excellent leadership during that period and has made a great contribution in service to the YMCA. September is some considerable distance away and I just make mention of his proposed retirement knowing that there will be other opportunities for comment along this line."

Over 70 per cent of the members of 1948 renewed their membership in 1949, said Mr. Elliott, in his report. This is considered an exceptional high rate in the association work in North America. The membership stood at 1,064 at the end of 1949, somewhat lower than 1948, the peak year when it was 1,141.

During the year extensive repairs and some major changes were made particularly in the boys department. Fifteen dormitories were repainted and drapes replaced in eight of the rooms; the Board room furniture was recovered; the metal work and flashings of the exterior of the building were repainted as was the tower.

Mr. Elliott reported briefly on the year's work of the Y's Men's Club, the Board of Directors; the Friday Night Club, the Friendship Forum, the So-Ed, the Bowling, the Community Service, and the World Service.

Cheque Presented

A cheque for $100 was accepted by Mr. Elliott from the Y's Men's Club. Jack Richardson, president of the club, said the money was to help in the Board's attempts to pay off the balance of the mortgage. The club was thanked and the cheque turned over to acting-treasurer Fred Hills.

The Board and staff of the YMCA were guests of the Y's Men's Club at their dinner meeting, prior to the annual meeting.

Board Reluctant To Insure For Employment

Civic Hospital Board of Governors was asked Thursday if it was in favor of continuing the national policy of hospital employees being exempt from participation in the national unemployment scheme.

Legislation allows hospital exemption from the scheme. A letter from the Canadian Hospital Association asked the Board whether it would support representation to support continuation of the present scheme or if it would prefer hospitals to be incorporated in the insurance plan.

It was decided to ask all employees at the Civic Hospital to indicate on forms, to be prepared for the purpose, whether they wanted the insurance.

Want Exemption

Majority of the Board members spoke in favor of supporting any representation which might be made by the Hospital Association to ensure continuation of exemption but it was felt employees should be asked their opinion before a reply was made.

Mayor Max Swanston said the matter placed a grave responsibility on the Board.

J. Hornal, Hospital Superintendent, explained that exemption had been granted on the grounds that hospital employment was not seasonal or temporary, and that even during times of depression, there was virtually no unemployment among hospital employees, even though salaries and wages might be reduced.

It was stated that participation in the national scheme would result in considerable cost to the hospital.

Striped Pants Diplomacy Returns To Australia

By ANTHONY WHITLOCK
Canadian Press Correspondent

CANBERRA. — (CP) — An outward sign of a changing Australian foreign policy was noted recently when the new foreign affairs minister, Percy Spender, appeared in striped trousers and a black Homburg hat.

Such dress is normal for foreign ministers, but it still seems a bit strange in Australia where for eight years the shaggy Dr. Herbert Vere Evatt in rumpled clothes has enjoyed shattering many traditions of diplomatic behavior.

Behind the change in dress is a deeper change. For eight years foreign affairs have been entrusted almost solely to Dr. Evatt, who knew how to make a country of 8,000,000 sound like a major power and got Australia in the headlines of every country's press.

FAIR AIR ATTACHE—Slim, fair-haired Claire Wilson, of Minneapolis, Minn., is the first woman civil air attache in the United States diplomatic corps. She holds that position on the staff of the U.S. Embassy in Ottawa. Miss Wilson can't understand why any fuss should be made over her appointment because, after all, there are a "good many women in high-ranking positions in the U.S. diplomatic service."

Now the new prime minister, Robert Menzies, has promised that a parliamentary committee on foreign affairs would be set up to include both government and opposition members.

Dr. Evatt's policy of fierce independence put a permanent end to the idea that Australia was an acquiescent follower of Whitehall diplomats, and gave a new vitality to British Commonwealth policy.

What the new direction of foreign policy under a Liberal foreign minister will be, is not yet certain. An indication was given by Prime Minister Menzies, who said:

Commonwealth Unity

"When the day comes on which we are not all on the same side on some vital world issue, we shall cease to be either Empire or Commonwealth and our influence for peace and progress in the world will come to an end.

"We believe that there should be permanent and decentralized machinery for empire consultation so that, in all fateful days, we may speak with the one voice which is produced by a clear, common understanding."

No major changes are likely within the foreign affairs department itself under Percy Spender.

The Evatt policy built up a department which can stand on its own feet with that of any country. Australia's diplomats are skilful, though sometimes over-brusque like Dr. Evatt, but career men have been given chances.

Observers believe that now there is likely to be a breathing period in which Australia will be less ready to rush into every one of the world's problems and more ready to sit back and hear what other people have to say.

Denies 20% Boost

TORONTO, Jan. 20 (CP) — Mayor Hiram McCallum Thursday denied a report that Hydro-Electric rates in Toronto would be boosted 20 per cent. He acknowledged city hydro rates likely would be increased this year, but maintained the increase likely would not reach 20 per cent, and in any event, would be an across the board rate increase.

Canadians Take Good Living For Granted

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Canadians live in a sort of dream world come true.

They take it for granted that they should have the highest living standard in the world, with the exception, perhaps, of the United States.

In a way they are right. James S. Duncan, of Toronto, who heads the Dollar-Sterling Trade Board, tells Canadians some of the reasons they feel that way. Speaking at the 32nd annual convention in Montreal this week of the Canadian Construction Association, Mr. Duncan said:

"Let us look briefly at our own position. We are prosperous; 1949 has been a good year, employment has been the highest on record, our industries, our mining and our agriculture have all been actively engaged in their various tasks; new sources of wealth are being discovered — oil in Alberta, uranium in the North-west, iron ore and titanium in Quebec and Labrador."

The Other Side

That is an optimistic picture painted by Mr. Duncan, who also is president of the Massey-Harris Company, Ltd. But he sees the other side of the picture:

"... For those who probe below the surface, there is much also to be concerned about. The weak link in our economy is our dependence upon external trade for close to one-third of our national income. There would be no danger in this if we were still living in a prosperous world, one of free convertibility and of multilateral trading. But we are not.

"We are living in a world impoverished by war, in one where free convertibility of currencies, which was a basic feature of our pre-war trading pattern, does no longer exist, one in which our historic customer, the United Kingdom, which in pre-war days took approximately 48 per cent of our exports, is threatened with dollar bankruptcy and has no alternative, unless something is done about it, but to continue to restrict her purchases from us."

Mr. Duncan then points up the fallacy in the casual attitude toward good times when he says that more than prosperity is at stake—"our position for the very maintenance of our standard of living is far from an enviable one."

Oakwood Tailor Dies Came From Maritimes

TORONTO, Jan. 20 (CP)—John Albert MacKinnon, 84, formerly in the tailoring business in Fredericton, N.B., died Wednesday.

Born in Sydney, N.S., Mr. MacKinnon was owner of a tailoring business at Oakwood, 45 miles northeast of Toronto, for nearly 30 years. He retired two years ago.

An active Presbyterian layman for more than 40 years, he was a brother of the late Jonathan MacKinnon, of Sydney, N.S., editor of a Gaelic newspaper.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Jean Sparks, wife of the Rev. George Sparks, minister of St. Stephens' Presbyterian Church, Ottawa, and a son.

Highest Pay In History

Modern Equipment Lessens Hazards Of Life In North

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask.—(CP)—When big, six-foot Jim Brooker first went north 25 years ago it was pretty rugged country. Transportation was limited to canoe in the summer and dog sled in the winter.

But now Brooker, a government field officer at Buffalo Narrows 200 miles northwest of Prince Albert, makes his winter patrols in a half-car, half-tank snow vehicle that skims over ice-coated lakes and winding timber trails with ease.

He has telephone communication with Ile-a-la-Crosse, another settlement about 50 miles southeast. At his headquarters in Buffalo Narrows he has a radio with which he can contact Prince Albert and summon aid by air in the event of emergency such as a forest fire.

In government service since 1935, Brooker has spent most of his life in the north country, past the fringe of settlements. He travelled over desolate areas as a trapper, fisherman and Mountie when the country was in its infancy.

Now, he patrols hundreds of square miles of dense bush, spotted with lakes and sliced by rushing streams. He used to cover the area on foot, by canoe and dog team but now much of his work is done by aircraft, used extensively during peak fire hazard periods.

Versatile Official

Brooker must be a jack-of-all-trades—fire fighter, fur grader, part-time fisherman and sometimes doctor. His wife, who stays at Buffalo Narrows while he makes his patrols, picking up fishing licences or making routine checks, shares his love of the north country.

Buffalo Narrows is a small community of about 400 persons, of which eight families are white. The rest are Indians, who spend much of their time in winter on trap lines and in summer fishing.

Brooker has a simple philosophy—his work is not simply a means of livelihood—it is a way of life.

When forest fires rage through the area—as they did last spring—he often spends days on the fife line, directing volunteer fire fighters. Sleep is out of the question until the fire is under control.

"We get up when we have to," he says, "and sleep when we can."

Wrecked Ship Sets Off Small Mystery

OTTAWA, Jan. 20.—(CP).—A British grain freighter, abandoned in the Arctic 13 years ago, blossomed into a short-lived shipping mystery Thursday.

The RCAF touched off the "mystery" with a routine press release from air force headquarters announcing that an aircraft had spotted an abandoned vessel during an Arctic flight. Within two hours the mystery had petered out as transport department officials identified the 10,000-ton vessel as a well-known 1936 disaster.

The vessel, still intact after its long sojourn in the Arctic ice, was identified "beyond any doubt" as the SS Avon River, a British grain freighter wrecked off the northwest shore of Mansel Island in the northeastern corner of Hudson Bay. It was blown aground by a gale in September, 1936, without loss of life.

RCAF officials apparently were convinced that the ship they had discovered was in such a good state of repair that it must have been a recent wreck and could not have been the Avon River.

Sighted Month Ago

Adding to the mystery was the fact the release made no mention of the time the ship was sighted. Air officials subsequently disclosed that the observation was made more than a month ago, on Dec. 15.

There was no explanation as to why further investigations had not been made or why release of the report had been so long delayed.

The RCAF prepared aerial photographs of the ship taken at the time it was sighted and these were mailed to Canadian daily newspapers Thursday along with the press release. The photographs released showed a dark - hulled freighter in an upright position. Decks were sheathed in ice, but its fore and aft masts were still intact.

Cmdr. C. P. Edwards, deputy transport minister, said it was not unusual under the circumstances for the Avon River to have come through her long abandonment in northern waters so well-preserved. Climatic conditions would aid preservation and the vessel lay on the bottom in shallow water, protected by the outer reefs.

Crop Rotation Plot Suggested

TORONTO, Jan. 20 — (CP).—Establishment of demonstration plots to show the effects of crop rotation was urged today by J. A. Garner, Director of Extension for the Ontario Agriculture Department.

In a speech to the Ontario Crop Improvement Association, he suggested that counties should co-operate in obtaining a farm or part of a farm on which various varieties of grasses could be used in rotation projects. He said experts recommend that 20 per cent of crop acreage be seeded in grasses.

Mr. Garner said 17 Ontario counties have initiated special activities such as soil improvement projects. They have received, or will receive, financial assistance from the Department on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

"It is heartening to all gathered here and interested in productiveness of the soil and its relation to the economic life of the country that exponents of conservation have gathered much support durin the last 12 months."

With funds made available by the Government for soil fertility improvement, programs started during 1949 in Wentworth, Haldimand, Leeds, Essex Counties have given special attention to use of agricultural limestone.

Danger of War

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Jan. 20—(AP)—France's former premier, Paul Ramadier, Thursday warned the Asian regional conference of the International Labor Organization that the danger of war looms "perhaps greater in Asia than in other parts of the world." "There can be no peace in the world," said Ramadier, "unless in Asia political and social equilibrium can be found."

HAVELOCK, Jan. 20 (ENS)—Charles H. Roberts, member of Havelock United Church since 1894, was honored on Wednesday by the congregation, at the annual meeting, upon his retirement after 20 years service as caretaker of the Church. He was thanked, not only for his work as caretaker, but for the many other ways he has served the church since the early days of its ministry.

CHARLES ROBERTS

As a mark of appreciation Mr Roberts was presented with a purse of money by Herbert Hoard, a member of the session.

Mr. Roberts recalled that he came to Havelock on the last Sunday in January, 1894, and the following Sunday attended the church (formerly Methodist) twice, being accompanied to the morning service by George Embleton.

He said automatic readjustment of taxation and expenditures when unemployment threatens would therefore not be realistic for Canada.

Power-Sled Ousted Husky Teams In North

FLIN FLON, Man.—(CP)—The horse may soon have a partner in his retirment. If the contraption owned by Tommy Welsh, trapper near here, becomes popular, the husky may be the next "beast of burden" forced into idleness by man's inventions.

Welsh owns a power-sled instead of a dog-team, and is possibly the first northern Manitoba trapper to become mechanized. Capable of doing 20 miles per hour, the sled was made by Frank Smerch of Flin Flon in two weeks Smerch built it when Welsh decided he wanted a vehicle that would get him over his trap lines in a hurry, and without too much effort.

Believed to be unique, the sled is 13 feet long, and is powered with a six-horse stationary motor. It can haul four men and a trailer with 600 pounds of supplies, and manoeuvres easily in any terrain by means of a cleated rubber track. Over-all cost was between $600 and $750.

New Hearing Aid Has No Receiver Button In Ear

The hard-of-hearing are today experiencing an entirely new freedom with an amazing device that gives them clear hearing without a receiver button in the ear. They now enjoy sermons, music, friendly companionship and business success without the self-conscious thought that people are staring at a button hanging in their ear. This tiny, flesh-tinted skin receiver is hidden behind the ear, and uses no headband or other conspicuous arrangements. The manufacturers, Acousticon Laboratories, report amazing success in hearing correction from this device. They are sending, to all who request it, a free brochure (in plain wrapper) explaining how this wonderful aid may be tested at home, without risking a penny. Those who wish this vital information should contact Acousticon, Dept. 10, 146 Wellington St. W., Toronto. Write today. (Advt.)

SPORTSMANSHIP IN "CANADA UNLIMITED"

Skating moves indoors!

Gala ice revues, big-league stadium games . . . started on a January day nearly a century ago!

The Canadian Amateur Figure Skating Championships for 1950 will be held at St. Catharines, Ont., Feb. 2nd, 3rd and 4th.

It was a big day for the Halifax of 1863. The Earl of Mulgrave, Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, was to open the new indoor skating rink . . . the first in Canada's history.

At the Public Gardens, spectators thronged into the building. As the arena was declared officially open a band struck up. Onto the ice streamed 60 costumed ladies to give an exhibition of fancy skating. Canadian indoor skating had been born. And 44 years later—in 1907—the Toronto Skating Club pioneered ice revues with their first Skating Carnival.

Sportsmanship has always meant much to Canadians. Combined with teamwork, it has made us one of the world's great nations. Together, sportsmanship and teamwork keep your opportunities for work and play in Canada . . . unlimited.

British Women Hold Key Show Signs of Discontent

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

LONDON, —(NEA)—There are few Britishers today who do not believe that the result of the general election Feb. 23 will depend on women's vote. On that day the women of England will have to face their greatest responsibility since they were allowed to go to the polls.

It is not surprising, therefore, to find that both the Labor Party and the Conservatives have given the question long consideration and devoted a lot of time and effort to winning the women over. The election has superseded austerity as the main topic of conversation among British housewives.

Considering that women represent 55 per cent of the 35 million voters in the British Isles (this includes Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland), it is easy to understand the hopes and apprehensions of Socialists and Tories.

After all, in the final analysis, who if not the women have been most affected by the silent, bloodless revolution which has engulfed the whole nation during the past four years?

Life Offers Few Pleasures

Consider 55-year-old Mrs. Edith Evans, the prototype of the workingman's wife. Life offers her few pleasures today.

"We were all much better off during the war," she admits. "Then we were not only sure of our rations but knew everybody shared alike. Today our rations are much smaller. Of course there is plenty of chicken, game and fish around, as well as vegetables and fruit, but all at uncontrolled prices which are much too high for my housekeeping allowance."

Were it not for the fact that the Evanses are caretakers of a house divided into two apartments, and that Mrs. Evans works anything from 10 to 12 hours a day cleaning and cooking for her tenants, they would long have been on the brink of starvation. Evans is a baker's delivery man, works 10 hours a day, and brings home pay which averages 90 shillings ($12.60) a week, after deduction of income tax and insurances.

Mrs. Evans declares emphatically she will not vote for the Labor Party this time.

"They haven't kept their promises," she points out. "Even the Health bill is a washout. My husband has now been waiting seven months for a new set of teeth and Heaven only knows when he will get it."

Liberal-minded Englishmen say there is a good deal of discontent among the working-class women. They are tired of standing in line for all sorts of things, tired of red tape and state direction. They are extremely conscious of the cost of living index, which in mid-January jumped another point.

Things are different with the men. Their pay envelopes are bigger than ever, and while their beer and cigarettes cost more, they are spared the unemployment which faced workers after the first world war. And they have been told repeatedly these are all momentary sacrifices.

Believes Labor Be Returned

A spokeswoman in the women's section of the Labor Party Headquarters, in reply to my question as to which angles socialist candidates would adopt in the general election, answered: "Why, we have none," and intimated that Labor was certain of victory.

She pointed to Labor's claims of fairer distribution of wealth achieved by nationalization of capitalistic enterprises, the disappearance of unemployment, the Free Health for All bill.

"While we have broken the back of such problems as housing, education and hospital accommodation, we haven't had time to achieve what we set out to do," she said. "But nobody is complacent in the Labor Party, from the Prime Minister down."

The gradual abolition of class distinction brought about by England's silent revolution is a great trump in the Labor Party's hand. The one-time prerogatives of the upper and middle classes have almost entirely disappeared.

A society woman who owns a beauty shop in Mayfair and recently opened another for business girls told me that the secretary, typist and shopgirl have lost their inferiority complex. If you happen to remark to them that conditions haven't much improved under the Labor Government, they invariably reply:

"That's not their fault. At least they're on our side. We no longer feel self-conscious about going into classy restaurants and theatres and risk having the 'toffs' look down their noses at us. It's our turn to be top dog, and about time, too."

McKENNEY Answers Your CANASTA Questions

In today's article I am giving you one of the finest points of technique in Canasta play, one which I have not mentioned before and have not read anywhere else. John R. Crawford of Philadelphia brought out this point in our weekly discussion of this column. Mr. Crawford is the outstanding Canasta player of the country, and he and I meet each week to discuss techniques which we know will improve your game.

He advises you to remember the rotation in which your opponent makes his different melds. For example, suppose that your right-hand opponent first melds 3 nines, and in a later round melds 3 tens. Now you draw a card from the stock pile, meld or not as you choose, but you have to make a discard—and you have to discard either a nine or a ten. Which one is the better card to let go?

The nine-spot is the better card for you to discard, and here is the reason. The partner of the player who originally melded the 3 nines has already had an opportunity to play on those nines. If he has not added any nines to that meld, you are fairly safe in assuming that he does not have any nines. But when your right-hand opponent has just melded 3 tens, you have no way of knowing whether or not his partner has a pair of tens. If you throw a ten, it may be the very card that will give the opponents a quick canasta.

If the pack is frozen, the tactics might change slightly. For example, if your right-hand opponent melded 3 nines when the pack was frozen, his partner, at his turn to play, might well refuse to play a pair of nines on that meld, preferring to hold them in the hope that you would think a nine was a safe discard. Then he could steal the pack on you.

One of the greatest weaknesses of the average Canasta player is that he is always trying to prevent the opponents from getting the pack. If you are in a position where you can keep the opponents from getting the pack for only one or two rounds, and from then on you will have to discard dangerous cards, discard your dangerous cards immediately. Let them take a small pack, and try to get yourself in a position to defend when the pack gets big.

Now for my regular questions and answers.

Q—We are in a constant argument in our group as to whether or not you can use the top card of the discard pile to help to make the initial meld. Will you please clear this up for us?

A—You have a perfect right to use the top card of the discard pile to help to make your inital meld; but remember, the pack is frozen to you and therefore you must put down two natural cards from your hand of the same rank as the top card of the pack. For example, if the top card is an ace, and you have 2 natural aces in your hand, and your minimum meld is 50, you can take the pack and use the ace with the two aces in your hand to complete your minimum meld.

If the top card of the discard pile is a six-spot, let us say, and you need 50 points for your initial meld, you first must put 2 natural sixes down from your hand. Then you can add a deuce, which would make a total of 35 points. Now you can make another meld of either 3 5-point cards or 3 10-point cards.

✦ ✦ ✦

When the popular game of Canasta, started to sweep the country, most writers, including myself, said that four-handed Canasta was the most interesting and most popular form of the game. However, today the two-handed game is equally popular.

When played with 15 cards and requiring 2 canastas to go out two-handed Canasta is a difficult game. As a result, in many sections of the country variations of the standard game have been tried out. Some have tried drawing 2 cards and discarding one. Some players require only one canasta to go out, while other groups require only one canasta to go out but deal only 13 cards.

John R. Crawford of Philadelphia and I discussed the two-handed game of Canasta thoroughly in our last conference. We agreed that these variations do not add anything to the game in the long run, and we make the following suggestions to beginners:

In order to become acquainted with the rules and technique of the game, deal 15 cards and require only one canasta to go out. After you have learned all about freezing the pack, red treys, black treys, canastas, and so on, tighten the game up a little. Deal 17 cards to each player and require two canastas to go out.

If you deal only 15 cards, it takes 14 of them to make two canastas. If you make an extra meld, you can never go out unless you get the pack. By dealing 17 cards, you have enough cards to work on three melds. You can make a mistake or two and still retain the possibility of going out. However, after you have learned how to play the two-handed game, I advise you to go back to the 15-card game. It is more thrilling and more scientific.

Now we will give you some pointers on the regular two-handed game of Canasta, with 15 cards dealt and two canastas required to go out.

Do not start any meld unless you have a minimum of 4 or 5 cards of that rank. This does not means that you should put down all 4 or 5 of the cards.

If you have put down 2 three-card melds and have not picked up the pack, and your opponent gets control of the pack, your whole strategy must be to build up your 2 melds into canasta. It is far better to build up pairs in your hand so you can get the pack, than to make a couple of melds of 3 or 4 cards each.

The strategy in two-handed Canasta is first of all to get control of the pack. Then you do not have to worry about starting an extra meld. But if your opponent gets control of the pack, you must try to go out, and you might just as well try to go out concealed. Your opponent may know that you are working on a canasta of 8s because he has not seen you discard one and has not picked up one. But he will realize from his own hand that you could also be working on a canasta in 4s, 5s, 9s or maybe jacks. So if you keep your hand concealed, he will not be sure which card to throw you, or he may be forced by lack of knowledge to give you a chance to get the pack.

Mr. Crawford and I agree that you should not be too anxious to take a pack of only 2 or 3 cards; but on the first eight rounds it may pay you to take even a 3-card pack. At least it will give you a meld and not reduce the number of cards in your hand.

She paid tribute to those who had helped to carry out the plans for meetings, conventions and teas and thanked the Council for making it possible for her to travel to Philadelphia and Regina to attend conventions at which she gained invaluable information, also other meetings of Provincial and National Council.

She conducted installation of the vice-presidents, urging them to attend as many meetings and conventions as possible for the sake of what they might learn. She also installed the corresponding secretary, treasurer and archivist, charging each with her special duties, and handed the gavel and books of the Council to Archivist Mrs. Simpson who will keep them in charge until a president is secured.

A service of worship was conducted by Rabbi J. Mayer of Beth Israel Synagogue. He spoke on teaching the doctrine of brotherhood of man and suggested as a basis the Bible verse "The day God man-man in the likeness of God, made he him."

"All humans are of common descent and no man should say my father is greater than thy father" he pointed out, adding "We have yet far to go before this doctrine is accepted by the world, or the rule 'Love thy neighbor as thyself."

The worship period was opened with singing of hymns.

During the afternoon, reports from 28 of the affiliated societies were read by their representatives.

Retiring telephone convener Mrs. C. Olaveson reported 1,050 calls made last year. The recording secretary and treasurer presented reports on the past year. Mrs. Addyman gave a resume of the annual meeting of Provincial Council held in Toronto last November.

He also spoke of the resolutions passed from time to time and sent on to higher sources, each of which has been aimed for betterment of the city. He asked for members' help in arrangements for celebrating this centenary year and making it one to be remembered.

In tests by the U.S. Navy (during the winter of 1947-48) the KRIPTIN formula and several other anti-histamines were tested for cold treatment.

In 9 out of 10 cases, cold symptoms disappeared when anti-histamine treatment began within an hour after the appearance of the signs of a cold.

Even when treatment started within 6 hours, symptoms vanished in 74% of cases . . . in 70% of cases when treatment began within 12 hours.

And in all these tests, patients preferred the KRIPTIN formula over all other anti-histamines tested!

Expert Envisions City Folk Shopping on Conveyor Belt

By JAMES PETT

NEW YORK — (AP) — In the busy shopping spots of the future, people may be transported like so many cans of soup in a factory

Escalators will carry them below ground and down there they will be moved around by vast conveyor systems. On the street level, the city of the future may even have moving sidewalks.

Underground conveyor lines to handle both human and freight traffic would even be a good idea right now for many cities, says Harold von Thaden, vice president of a conveyor firm.

He described his ideas at a recent meeting of United States' engineers. Truck traffic alone in some busy downtown areas, he says, could be reduced by a least 25 per cent by moving goods below the streets.

The convenience to human cargo would be even greater. More people, he says, could cover short distances underground with less wear and tear, less congestion, and no waiting. The conveyors would never have to stop to take on or discharge passengers.

There would be no problem in moving the people safely by the conveyor. The only problem would be to get them on and off without killing more than you transport.

This, von Thaden believes could easily be solved by having say three parallel conveyor lines of varying speeds — three miles an hours, six miles an hour and nine miles an hour. (Three miles is a normal walking speed.)

The passenger standing on a fixed platform would board the three-mile-an hour conveyor Then he could move over to six miles and hour lane and finally to nine miles an hour. Getting off, he would use the same gradual stages.

Always Smart Guys

Of course, there will always be some smart-alecks who'll go first for the top speed and maybe the agile ones, von Thaden says, could make it but women, children and old folks would have to start with the slow lane.

"You could erect seats on the conveyors or have the passengers stand," von Thaden says. "In either case, you'd need hand rails so people wouldn't fall off.

"These speeds I mentioned may not sound like much but they are fast when you consider there would be no waiting for transportation, no crowds jamming the platform. The conveyors would always be moving, People could get off wherever they like, providing you have enough terminals."

Von Thaden thinks such transportation would be especially good for short strategic distances It could do better, he thinks, then the shuttle subway now connecting Times Square and Grand Central Railroad terminal in New York.

Coming back, passengers would simply ride the other side of the loop. They would stand on a rubberized surface to prevent slipping. Beneath that would be steel sections, to make turns, and the sections would move on chains.

The freight conveyors, von Thaden points out, could move faster than the human lines because cargo is less perishable than humanity. More delicate goods like eggs or ladies' hats, would move slower.

"There's really nothing fantastic in this," von Thaden says "People are already being moved by escalator. Iron ore and coal, ship baggage and other things are being moved by conveyors"

Conveyors systems to move people, he says, could be installed at less cost than subways and would prove much cheaper to maintain and operate.

Stewart-Beer

The wedding of Elizabeth (Betty) Beer, youngest daughter of Mrs. Beer and the late Ernest Beer, Bethany, to Mr. Arthur Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Stewart, Cavan, was solemnized recently at the bride's home by the Rev. W R Crandall of the United Church.

HOME AND SCHOOL CONCERT

Excellent work accomplished by four auxiliary classes of Peterborough Public Schools was outlined by Miss Margaret Greene at the bi-monthly meeting of Peterborough Home and School Council, held Wednesday evening in the YMCA Green Room.

Miss Greene, visiting teacher on the Peterborough Public School staff, told of some cases where a period of remedial work enabled a pupil to resume his proper place in regular classwork. In other cases skills are taught whereby the student can take his place in the community as a successful citizen. More of these classes are urgently needed, but lack of accommodation and shortage of teachers trained in the work present difficult problems.

The teacher pointed out that in overcrowded classrooms it is impossible to give any child individual attention. She advised parents to co-operate, first by seeking help regarding the method used, then working with the child on any subject indicated in his report as needing special attention. It is only by full co-operation of the parent, the child and the school that the difficulties are overcome.

Mrs. A W. Nelson, council president, welcomed a large representation from Associations in Peterborough, Lakefield and Omemee. She drew attention to the fact that parents of only 80 per cent of pupils in the Public Schools have availed themselves of the insurance scheme introduced by the Peterborough Board of Education at the beginning of the school year. Associations are asked to work with school principals in an attempt to make this a 100 per cent coverage. It is felt that if parents fully realized the extra benefits that would accrue in the event of injury, even where families carried hospitalization they would not object to participation in this plan.

Mrs. L. M. Richardson, leadership training convener, presented an alternative method of election procedure that had been recommended by Ontario Federation.

Health convener, Mrs. V. R. Henry, said the Ontario Federation has asked associations to make sure that school children are being checked for orthopedic ills. It was noted, with satisfaction that this work is being done in Peterborough Public Schools.

Report of the home education convener was read by Mrs. L. Raper. This indicated several active parent education groups being conducted in the city and district associations under competent leadership. An open meeting on the subject is to be held in February under leadership of Mrs. W. E Kibblewhite.

The use of Home and School publications in every phase of the work was stressed by Mrs. C. English, publications convener She invited Associations to borrow the publications kit available from Council.

Mrs. E. A. Outram, convener of radio and visual aids, spoke of radio programs of special interest to parents and home-makers, requesting that association conveners bring these to the notice of all members.

Presidents were reminded that Founder's Day is celebrated in February and some commemoration should be made by each association.

Mrs. Nelson announced that Education Week to be March 5 to 11. At this time the annual church attendance will take place, the time and place to be announced.

British Shoppers Increase Demand for Utility Wear

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON,—(CP)—An economic pointer in Britain for 1950 is the increased demand for utility clothing.

Manufactured to government-dictated standards and sold at fixed prices, the better grades of utility clothing have come into such heavy demand manufacturers say there is a danger of supplies drying up.

They have asked the Board of Trade to allow increases in the price ceilings, arguing:

"Fixed ceiling prices are making it almost impossible to manufacture goods for the price. If the ceiling prices are not raised it will hit us and the wholesalers so severely that it will no longer pay us to make utility goods."

Australian raw wool prices increased about 30 per cent, due principally to increased purchases by the United States, who was more than willing to pay higher prices than Britain.

Manufacturers now buying cloth for autumn wear are having considerable dificulty in obtaining it from the mills. Wholesalers report that they have been working on a reduced profit margin since the September utility price cuts imposed by the government.

Predict Price Rise

W. T. Caves, secretary of the Wholesale Textile Association reported:

"Things are looking very black in the industry. We are trying to push the government into making a decision.

"We believe that an increase of between 10 and 15 per cent would see the situation stabilized.

"While the price and standard of utility for spring is assured we may well see higher prices next autumn.

Highlight of spring utility fashions will be the "du suit" with one jacket and two skirts One skirt will be pleated, the other slim and the jacket pockets will be detachable, to give a slim jacket to wear with the slim skirt

The latest style of boxy jacket with dropped shoulder line and slim-cut skirt will be produced in many different two-piece suits, priced approximately £7 ($21.70).

Size ranges will be widened to meet complaints that there were not enough large sizes. But women with outsize figures will have to pay more. Coats in the 34 to 42-inch hip range will cost about £8. For 44 to 48-inch hip models the price will jump to £9.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Husband Content In Shack Spends All Money Outside

DEAR MISS DIX: We live in a little town and belong to a number of orders in which we both hold offices. Both of us are popular. Now here is the trouble: My husband finds money for everything he wants, but none for giving us a decent home. We still live in the little shack in which we moved when we first came to this place. There is not a window or door in it that fits nor a modern convenience nor comfort, nor have I a whole piece of furniture. I canont entertain as the other women do and I am ashamed to ask anybody to my house, but when I talk about giving up my offices and breaking away from the crowd my husband says I am crazy and am trying to ruin him. If we could not afford a better home, I would content myself with this, but we can. What can I do?

Dorothy Dix

DOWNHEARTED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Nothing. Unless you have the courage to go out and rent the kind of house that you know you can afford and buy the kind of furniture you need and also can afford and then tell your husband that he can come along and live comfortably with you and pay for it, or else you will take in boarders and pay for it yourself.

I knew a woman who had a husband like yours and she followed this plan, and, after throwing a few fits, the husband went along as meekly as Mary's little lamb, and was as proud as punch of his new home and the standing it gave him in the community.

Hard To Understand

I can never understand a man not wanting to own his own home and not taking an interest making it as comfortable and beautiful and attractive as he can. To own your own home is the outward and visible sign of success. It is a badge of good citizenship and it brings some of the purest happiness that the human heart ever knows.

And to a woman her home means even more than it does to a man. Its four walls make her world. There her life works itself out. It is the scene of her activities. It encompasses her desires and aspirations.

It is strange but true that men do not realize how much a woman's home means to her, nor do they realize the value that a woman sets on her belongings, nor how her happiness is bound up in chairs and rugs and draperies. If they did, they would not be, as they so often are, so niggardly about buying new furniture.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a high-school graduate and have been graduated in a stenographic course, but by the looks of my typing you would think I had never seen a typewriter before. My mother pesters me because I haven't got a job and all my other friends have. What do you think I should do?

DUMBBELL

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: In my opinion, typewriters are the most temperamental animals there are, and, if you haven't any affinity for one, there is no use in monkeying with it. So pass up stenography as a career. It is not for you. Turn your attention to something for which you have an aptitude.

Perhaps you have no marked talent. Not very many persons are born geniuses, but there is some one thing for which all of us have a particular turn and the thing to do is to find out what that is. The best test is liking. What do you like to do? What do you enjoy doing? By this I don't mean what you WOULD like to do, but what you actually DO like to do.

Do you like to cook? If you do, go and take a course in domestic science. That opens up a new field. They told me at a famous teachers' college not long ago that they had a dozen applicants for a teacher of domestic science where they had one for a teacher of Latin. Feeding people will always be one of the big businesses of the world.

Perhaps you are clever with your needle and love to make frocks and trim hats. Go, then and study millinery and dressmaking, either one of which is a splendid trade for a girl to follow.

If you have personality and a gift for selling things, go into a store. If you like to fuss around people, try the beauty shops. If you have a never-ending pity for the sick, be a trained nurse. There are millions and millions of openings for girls everywhere—just as many as there are for men—and a girl's success, like a boy's, depends upon herself. You will fail in anything you do half-heartedly. You will succeed at anything into which you put your heart and your back.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Is there any test for "puppy love"? How long can it last? Do you think a girl really cares for a fellow if she has seen him every day for two years and still enjoys his company? HIGH SCHOOL

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The test of "puppy love" is time. If it lasts two years, it is the genuine thing.

Old Age Pension Details Explained By Commissioner

Eighty five thousand of the four and a half million people in Ontario or, about two per cent, are now drawing old age pensions It is expected the government will expend $52,000,000, on their behalf this year, 75 per cent of which will be the amount of pensioner's cheques.

These facts were given members of the Local Council of Women Thursday by senior member of the Old Age Pension Commission, Mrs. Mary M. Powell of Toronto. She was the guest speaker for the annual meeting of Council which opened with luncheon at the YWCA. Having served the Department of Welfare for 13 years she has knowledge of all branches of the service mother's allowances, child welfare division, day nurseries homes for the aged and soldiers' aid.

The number of persons receiving old age pensions is increasing rapidly as is evident since in 1943 only 99 million dollars were expended. They are now receiving extra benefits through a medical scheme which provides free visitation by the Doctor. As the Act has been federalized, 75 per cent of all costs are paid by the Federal Government.

To clear up some of the misunderstandings that seem to exist regarding these pensions, Mrs. Powell made the following explanations

Each single pensioner is allowed an annual income of $600. which can be the full pension of 480. per year, plus $120. from other sources. If the yearly income from other sources is higher the pension will be reduced accordingly. Married pensioners are allowed a yearly income of $1,080 of which $960. can be pension if other income is not more than the $120. Similarly, the pension is reduced when outside income is greater.

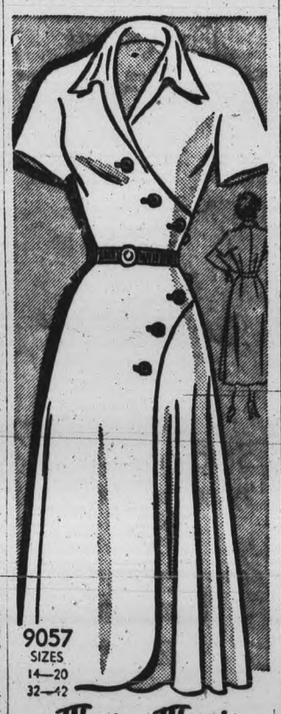
Pensioners are allowed to own property and its income value is assessed before setting the pension payment. The Commission does not at anytime "take" this property, but it does register a "caution" against it on which it takes action when settlement of the property is made. At the death of a pensioner, $2,000 is exempted from the estate by the Commission and a claim made for the amount of money paid in pensions. Mrs Powell said that when an estate is small the claim is very often waived or reduced but never does the Commission take more from the estate than it has paid in pension.

Many elderly people have transferred their homes and property to members of their family so that they may draw the pension freely Most of these cases come to the attention of the Commission at some time. Often it is because the arrangement, which had seemed so good ends in tragedy for the older person who then approaches the Commission to see if a remedy can be effected. There is nothing that can be done for them Mrs Powell said.

Must Prove Age

She spoke of criticism of the length of time it takes to grant a pension and mentioned several reasons for delays. A pensioner must have 20 years residence in Canada and this must be verified by a reliable person. Proof of age must be given and only 38 per cent are able to supply this readily. When the applicant has been born in another country, as they most frequently are, a great deal of correspondence and considerable time is required to establish the age. The Commission depends greatly on local officials to assist in these matters

Mother's allowances were first paid in 1927 and to widows with children only. Now, deserted wives with children are also taken care of. The women may hold assets of not more than $1,000. without affecting the grant Over that amount, the matter is considered by the Commission.



The Department's child welfare division is concerened with preventing child neglect. It acts as a clearing house on all matters affecting children, working closely with the 53 Children's Aid Societies in the province which are all private organizations. It does look after the day nurseries established to aid working mothers.

Homes for the aged must be provided in each municipality through a recent act, or an arrangement acceptable to the Welfare Minister set up. Some of these homes are now equipped to give therapy training, thus keeping the inmates happy and useful.

In closing, Mrs. Powell mentioned that Welfare Minister Goodfellow welcomes inquiries on any of the matters under his jurisdiction.

The speaker was introduced by the Councils first vice president and thanked by Mrs. Jos. Henderson, convener of child and family welfare.

Ensemble Colors For Spring Fresh As Garden Flowers

By EPSIE KINARD

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The versatile ensemble, one of spring fashion's favorites, blossoms out this year in colors as fresh and easy on the eyes as the first garden flowers.

Such delicate tints as parasol pink and apple green, for example point up the simple styling of slim-lined suits and matching coats.

Ensemble toppers, which vary in length from the full-length coat to the finger-tip jacket, team up skillfully with other togs, thanks to contrasting bandings, print linings and subtle design details.

Suits can also lead an independent life. They base their appeals on such solid virtues and classic simplicity of design and freedom from clutted or distracting frou-frou.

Typical of these new wardrobes-in-one outfit is an apple-green ensemble of wool gabardine designed by Philip Mangone. The designer lines the finger-tip length cape-styled jacket with a sprightly splatter print. A matching print scarf is bow-tied at the neckline of the straight-cut suit. The flaring topper has cuffed sleeves and double fake pockets to pep up bodice interest. What gives the suit new style interest is the cut-away jacket.

Another example of the colorful spring ensemble is a full-length coat of parasol pink worsted worn with a matching pink gabardine suit. Broad cuffs and tuxedo bandings of navy blue forecast the affiliation of this with spring navy togs. A stitched-down cape-let round of the shoulderline.

Elizabeth Seeks Country Retreat

LONDON — (CP) — Princess Elizabeth, like many a young wife, is looking for a house.

The lease on her country home at Windlesham Moor, Sunningdale, Berkshire, ends Dec. 31 After that date, unless an alternative residence can be found Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will have no permanent retreat from their London home Clarence House, St. James's Park

The princess's specification is exacting. The house must be within an hour of London, within calling distance of Windsor Castle, large enough for entertaining, yet small enough to be run easily.

Above all it must be sufficiently secluded to be hidden from prying eyes.

Two country residences have been offered—and turned down.

Married Women Have Careers

TORONTO, Jan. 20 (CP) — Married women in Sweden are encouraged to have careers, Karin Hallmen, Stockholm nursing school official, said Thursday.

Miss Hallmen, studying nursing education in Canada as part of a one-year study visit to this continent, says her country could not afford to have many idle hands.

"We find too that married women, largely, are thorough, dependable and serious minded," she said. "They appreciate responsibility and rise to it."

What's Right

You hate to make introductions because you never do it easily.

WRONG WAY: Whenever possible avoid making an introduction.

RIGHT WAY: Learn the few simple rules for making introductions, such as always introducing the man to the woman, and then go ahead and introduce your friends to each other, confident in the knowledge that you are doing the job correctly.

Apples Gaining in Favor In Salads and Pickles

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, Jan. 20 — (CP). — The housewife may not believe it, but experts say the apple now is considered almost as versatile as the potato.

Home economists say that while apples still hold first place for pies and desserts, they also have gained favor in salads and pickles. In addition, they have come to be appreciated in meat dishes.

A half cup of grated raw apple added to beef stew or to chicken soup, gives a new and interesting flavor.

Apples baked with ham also are a special treat.

Ingredients: One slice of uncooked ham (about 1½ inches thick), one teaspoon dry mustard, two teaspoons vinegar, two apples, one-half cup brown sugar, one teaspoon butter.

Trim rind from ham. Mix mustard and vinegar together, and spread on ham. Slice apples thinly and spread in layers on ham. Sprinkle with brown sugar and dot with butter. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) until ham is tender —about 45 minutes.

Apples are also excellent in salad

Ingredients: Four cups of tart apples (cut in small pieces), one cup diced dates, 1½ teaspoons of lemon juice, one-half teaspoon salt, three teaspoons sugar.

Mix apples, dates, lemon juice, salt and sugar. Moisten with mayonnaise, and mix thoroughly. Chill. Serve on shredded lettuce and garnish with mayonnaise and chopped nuts.

And if you have a refrigerator, there always is apple ice-cream for dessert

Ingredients: Two cups grated apples (four medium apples), one-half cup fruit sugar, one-half pint whipping cream

Grate the unpeeled apples and after grating a small amount, measure and sprinkle with part of the sugar to prevent discoloration. Continue grating until two cups of apple are measured. Whip cream and fold into the apple mixture. Serves six.

This same recipe may be used for apple charlotte. Fold in with whipped cream, 1½ tablespoons gelatin soaked in one-quarter cup cold water and dissolved over hot water. Chill until firm. Serves six to eight.

Spiced apple juice will be a new treat for the family

Ingredients: 2½ cups apple juice, one-half teaspoon cider vinegar, six cloves, one stick of cinnamon, one teaspoon sugar. Add other ingredients to apple juice. Bring to boil. Remove from fire and cool. Strain. Chill well before serving.

TOT TAKES A TRAFFIC TICKET—In a joking mood, the Berlin traffic cop gives a ticket to Karin Wendler, 7, for driving without a license. The car is not a toy, but can do almost anything a normal-sized auto can. Karin amazes Berliners riding through city streets in Germany's smallest auto.

Band Leadership Family Affair

TORONTO, — (CP) — Leadership of the Silver Band in suburban Weston is a family affair.

When George Sainsbury, founder of the group, retired as leader recently he handed on the baton to his son, Horace. And George's grandson John, youngest member of the band at 13, appears well on his way to continuing the tradition.

George Sainsbury joined his first band in his native England when he was eight. Seven years later he organized a fife and drum group of his own, and he led an army band at 23 and was the youngest band leader in the British services.

In 1921 he organized the Weston Boy's Band which has since had more than 200 members pass through its ranks. Soloists from the band won more than 35 medals in competitions throughout the province.

From 1923-1939, the band lost only two competitions, and three of its graduates served as bandmasters in military units during the Second World War.

A builder by trade, the elder Sainsbury has found time from his business and musical work to take an active part in civic affairs. He served 10 years as councillor, one year as reeve and three as mayor of the town.

Britain May Start Mail Order Business

LONDON, — (CP) — Britain's Board of Trade is said to be thinking of going into the mail-order business.

The idea: to woo Canadian and United States dollars.

Under a plan reported under consideration at cabinet level, a 1,500-page colored catalogue would be distributed among 2,000,000 retailers in Canada and the United States.

The Sunday Express, a newspaper often critical of the Labor government, said the catalogue would advertise "every kind of British export." It would be supported by a stockpiling of British goods in North America, to guarantee prompt delivery.

Board of Trade officials declined comment.

Swiss Skill Said Watch's Main Cost

WINNIPEG, — (CP) — Craftsmanship is the most expensive element in a good Swiss watch. "It's the labor put into a good watch that makes it expensive," says A. F. Suter, a fourth-generation Swiss watchmaker.

Interviewed here while on a recent sales trip for his father's firm in Bienne, he expressed concern for Switzerland's good reputation in the future.

Some Swiss firms now are producing watches to sell at about $1, he said. Watchmaking is no longer a family affair in Switzerland, but is big business involving mass production and a total annual export of about 20,000,000 items.

Latest product of the Suter organization is a self-winding watch requiring only the slightest turn of the wrist in either direction to rewind itself fully.

Feminine Firsts

STOCKHOLM, — (CP) — Dr. Karin Kock, who was Sweden's first woman cabinet member, has now been appointed head of the Central Statistical Bureau. She is thus the first woman chief of a Swedish administrative board, and succeeds Ernst Hoijer, who is retiring.

City Large Enough

CAMBRIDGE, Eng. — (CP) — Unlike many expansion-minded cities, Cambridge wants to hold down its population. A town planning group recommended a "determined effort" to halt a runaway increase and achieve a levelling off at 100,000. Present population is around 80,000.

Rail-Ties Titbit For African Ants

VANCOUVER, — (CP) — The hazards of railroading in Africa are numerous— and most of them travel on four legs.

Giraffes rub telegraph poles too vigorously. . .lions and elephants straddle railways track. . . giant ants lick their chops for a meal of rail-ties.

That's the story brought back to Vancouver by Victoria-born William Bulman, assistant chief mechanical engineer with the East African Railway and harbors.

His supervising job covers 3,000 miles of track in Tanganyika, Kenya and Uganda, Africa's last big game strongholds.

"Some times our trains hit giraffes, and occasionally an elephant," said Mr. Bulman, here for a visit recently. "At times, too, bits of lion are found on the engine.

"The giraffes, high broad-shouldered fellows, scratch their necks on our telegraph poles, and sometimes knock them down, disrupting service.

"The rhinoceros is not uncommon in Tanganyika," he added "We had one charge a train."

"Needless to say, it got killed."

Hand Forge Makes Tools For Surgery

SHEFFIELD, Eng. — (CP) — Stainless steel instruments made in a converted garden hut are being used in dentist's surgeries throughout Britain.

They are made by craftsman Fred Marsden, 63, working at a home-made forge, pumping the bellows ad shaping with a lifetime's skill, instrument for hospitals, doctors and dentists.

"I supply thousands of forgings a year to Sheffield and London firms," he said. "Their filers and grinders finish them off before passing them on to their medical customers.

"In 25 years I have never chased an order. Orders chase me."

YOUTH DIES AFTER WILD POLICE CHASE

Fear Milk Bootlegging If Price Low

2% Increase Expected In Milk Production During 1950—Experts

OTTAWA, Jan. 21 — (CP)—Some government and commercial dairy experts Friday expressed belief that if farm prices continue downward, bootlegging may develop in Canada's milk industry. Distribution of fluid milk is rigidly controlled by provincial boards and the experts estimate that quotas set by these boards likely will not be sufficient to absorb all the milk available on Canadian farms this year.

Canada's cows are expected to produce about 17,250,000,000 pounds of milk this year, 2 per cent higher than the 16,900,000,000 pounds they yielded in 1949.

About 8,175,000,000 pounds will go into production of 349,300,000 of butter and about 1,400,000,000 pounds will be used for the manufacture of 125,000,000 pounds of cheese.

Ice cream likely will absorb 465,000,000 pounds; 820,000,000 pounds will be used for farm feeding, and about 640,000,000 pounds will go into concentrated milk production.

The fluid milk market likely will take about 4,000,000,000 pounds, perhaps less.

A Lot Left

This said the experts, would leave about 1,700,000,000 for farm consumption—or for bootlegging.

The experts said that even though the farmer may have a lot of milk to offer to the fluid milk distributors, the trade will take only so much.

As for prices for cheese and butter are lower than a year ago, farmers may be tempted by the relatively high prices in the fluid market to bypass provincial board regulations and offer fluid milk to urban consumers secretly and at cut-rate prices. Milk retails at about 17 or 18 cents a quart.

Farmers caught doing so can be heavily fined and even imprisoned. The fines vary from province to province.

Trouble In '30s

The same kind of trouble developed during the depression years of the 1930's, said the experts. Milk sold through regular channels at 10 and 12 cents a quart. Farmers, finding them-

SIX DIE IN FIRE—Six persons were killed in a fire which raced through a factory in Toronto's downtown garment district. More than a dozen other employees were injured, three seriously. This photo shows firemen and other rescue workers giving first aid in the street outside the building.

Two Others Injured Near Oshawa

Three In Stolen Car Which Rams Tree; "Out On Joyride"

OSHAWA, Jan. 21 (CP) — Michael Garry, 18, of Toronto died today of injuries suffered a few hours earlier in a smashup which ended a wild police chase of an automobile which police said was stolen in Toronto.

In serious condition in hospital is John Bell, 17, also of Toronto, found unconscious with Garry beside the wrecked car. A third Toronto youth, identified by police as Albert King, 16, is held by police.

The automobile belonged to a Toronto resident named Cullingham, police said.

Constables Nels Crozier, and Ray Williams, on patrol about 3.30 a.m., said the chase started in Whitby when they tried to question the car's occupants. At high speeds, the car went west on the Toronto - Montreal highway to Pickering, three miles frmo Whitby, and then onto a dirt road. It went into a ditch and rammed a tree.

Three Injured

The officers said they found Garry and Bell unconscious in the snow near the wrecked car. They said King, cut and bruised, still was in the car.

Bell suffered a fractured skull and shock. Garry had a skull fracture and crushed chest, broken ribs and broken right arm and shock. Hospital officials said both were in serious condition.

Police quoted King as telling them the trio had been "out for a joyride." The youths had eaten a lunch in Oshawa and were on their way back to Toronto at the time of the chase.

Bar Atheist Club

KINGSTON, Jan. 21 — (CP)—Principal R. C. Wallace of Queen's University said today that no permission has been given for formation of an Atheist and Agnostic Club at Queen's. Establishment of such a club was announced this week by a group of students. "Queen's welcomes facilities and organizations for any students to follow their own religious faith," Dr. Wallace said in a statement. "But there is no room for any club or organization which is anti-religious, nor will any such organization have a place at Queen's.

Buchenwald Like Old Times Refugees Report, 24,000 Perish Under Reds

Russian Guards Think Up New Ways To Kill Off Prisoners; Shipping of Labor To Soviet Slackens Off

BERLIN, Jan. 21—(AP)—Weary men are trudging into the safety of West Berlin these days from the Russian-run concentration camp of Buchenwald in East Germany. They are released German prisoners, drifting here since the Russians closed the camp last Monday. Buchenwald, under the Nazis, was called "an extermination factory" in an official United States Army report. It was estimated that between 150,000 and 200,000 persons were slaughtered there under Hitler.

Latest arrivals say that about 24,000 persons perished in the dread camp since the Russians reopened it for political prisoners. One refugee said deaths during an epidemic in the first four months of 1947 were at the rate of 60 to 80 a day.

None of the refugees would give his name. All said they had relatives in the Soviet zone of Germany and did not want the Russians to know who was talking.

A moon-faced man said the Russian guards some mornings would call out the regular work detail with the words: "Come on, come on. Today we kill three Fascists."

Felled By Trees

He said the Russians guarding timber cutting details then would order all men to stand rigid when a tree was felled, on pain of being shot.

"Uusually a tree fell on one or two men. Of course, they were killed. One more death and the quota was filled for the day."

The men said the Russians found prisoners trading hoarded trinkets to Russian guards for cigarets or bits of food.

"So one day a Russian turned his tommy-gun loose. They had a detail carry the man through the camp as an object lesson."

The Russians used to haul off odd lots of prisoners to the Soviet Union, the men said, but slacked off last December.

"They took only the youngest and strongest," a man said. "Maybe they quit because they ran out of good material."

Miners Appeal For Food, Families Hungry

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21 (AP)—Striking United States soft-coal miners, some so desperate they're appealing for food to feed their families, will decide this weekend if they'll work the three-day week ordered by John L. Lewis.

Many of the miners have been openly rebellious of their leaders' suggestion they obey Lewis. Meetings in West Virginia and Pennsylvania ended in disorder this week.

Despite all that, some UMW officials believe a large bloc of the 90,000 strikers will go along with their pleas to dig coal.

"Things are looking brighter in my district right along," said John Busarello, president of UMW District No. 5 at Pittsburgh. The district has 27,500 miners and Busarello says he expects most, if not all, to be in the pits Monday.

Ask State Relief

At Uniontown, Pa., Friday scores of miners besieged state relief officials and the Salvation Army for aid to their families. Captain Robert Shannon of the Salvation Army, declared:

"Many of the miners have eight or 10 children. They've just run out of money. One of them said to me 'Captain, if you can just spare a sack of flour, some sugar and coffee, we'll get along."

The back-to-work movement in northern West Virginia, where 12,000 miners are idle, started Friday when one local with about 150 men voted to obey Lewis.

CNR Executive Norman Walton Dies Suddenly

MONTREAL, Jan. 21 (CP) — Norman B. Walton, CBE, 65, executive vice-president of Canadian National Railways, died suddenly here today.

He had 50 years of service with the railroad.

As the CNR's chief operating officer he had charge of service in all the provinces of Canada and 11 States of the United States and was known to transportation and business men throughout the North American continent.

He also had charge of the company's shipbuilding operations.

A native of Palmerston, Ont., he began his railway experience in 1900 at Toronto where he joined the Grand Trunk Railway as a clerk and stenographer.

Promoted Rapidly

After brief service with the Great Northern Railway at St. Paul, Minn., he rejoined the Grand Trunk at Toronto in 1908. Transferred to Winnipeg he later became trainmaster at Wainwright, Alta., assistant to the general superintendent at Winnipeg, and superintendent at Edmonton.

With the amalgamation which completed the National system, Mr. Walton was appointed assistant general superintendent at Prince Rupert and later general superintendent at Winnipeg.

In 1930, he became general superintendent of transportation for the western region with headquarters at Winnipeg. In 1936, he was appointed chief of transportation for the entire system with headquarters at Montreal. He was appointed vice-president in charge of operation, including maintenance and construction, in 1938 and in 1943 he was promoted to executive vice-president.

$75,000 Damage In Five Maritime Fires

By The Canadian Press

Three small children are dead and damage estimated at almost $75,000 after five fires in scattered Maritime centres Friday. Two each were in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick and the fifth in Prince Edward Island.

A house fire at Dalhousie, NS, near the Annapolis Valley town of Kentville, brought death to Lawrence, 4, Ruby, 2, and Glendon, 1, only children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Veniot.

Five buildings were destroyed in one of the most disastrous fires in the history of the Northumberland Strait port of Pugwash, NS. Fanned by high winds, flames swept through a flour and feed store, a grocery store and three smaller buildings.

In New Brunswick, fires caused $7,500 damage to a railway freight shed at McAdam and routed four families from a Saint John flat. The Masonic temple at Montague, PEI, was destroyed by a four-hour blaze in near-zero weather with an unofficial loss of $35,000.

Origin Unknown

Origin of the Dalhousie fire is unknown yet. At the time of the outbreak the father was working in the woods and the mother was at a neighbor's house borrowing a cup of cocoa for use in preparing their dinner.

The children were trapped helplessly as the flames gutted the frame dwelling within minutes.

Harold Veniot, a brother of Charles, first noticed the flames and when he opened the front door Glendon's crumpled body fell out to the ground.

Find Body of Unknown Man On Ice At Balsam Lake

LINDSAY, Jan. 21—The body of an unidentified man was recovered from the ice of Balsam Lake, in the vicinity of Kirkfield, early Thursday evening, by Provincial Constables Warner and Lawson, of the Lindsay detachment. They were accompanied by Dr. G. C. Graham, of Fenelon Falls, who acted in the capacity of coroner.

The discovery was made by John Stone and his son, Arthur, who make regular patrols of the cottages in that area. Noticing a mound on the newly-formed ice, about 300 yards off shore almost opposite a cottage owned by A. M. Fulton, they investigated, and reported to the police.

Find No Tracks

They claim that there was open water on Tuesday night where the body was found, and police say there were no tracks to show how the man arrived at the spot.

He had apparently been in the water for some time, as no cap or gloves were worn. Because of the frozen condition of the body, Dr. Graham says it is impossible to determine when death occurred as yet.

Police say they have no clues as to the identity of the man, whom they describe as being possibly 55 years of age and about five feet eight inches tall. They discount the theory that it may have been Thomas Rice, Omemee assessor who has been missing from his home for nearly a year. The body was so badly frozen that immediate search for identification was impossible.

Voting Rights Split Parliament

CAPETOWN, Jan. 21—(AP)—South Africa's Parliament met Friday under a cloud of dissension over the voting rights of the country's native population.

Relations between Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan, Nationalist Party leader, and Finance Minister N. C. Havenga, leader of the Allied Afrikander Party, have become increasingly strained over the issue of parliamentary representation for natives.

Havenga threatened to resign when Malan proposed during the 1949 parliamentary session to remove colored voters from the rolls and give them separate representation through three members of parliament.

At present the eight members of Havenga's Afrikander faction in parliament support the Malan government, giving it a seven-vote majority over the opposition led by former Prime Minister Smuts.

A crisis over the issue of colored representation, with its threat to Malan's majority, was averted by a one-year truce. The two leaders agreed to postpone a showdown until the end of 1950. But the rift has grown wider.

Reds Walk Out UN Crippled

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Jan. 21 (CP)—The United Nations today faced the prospect of trying to function without Russia for at least a month.

Of the nine U.N. bodies, Russia and Soviet-bloc countries have left since Dec. 13 protesting presence of Nationalist Chinese delegates, only the Six-Power atomic talks have been stopped by the walkouts.

The others continue their work apparently unhampered but with the knowledge Russia will not consider any decision taken in her absence as legal.

Trygve Lie, U.N. secretary-general, says the U.N. is in a worse situation than when the Berlin blockade threatened to burst into a war.

He has no immediate solution of the problem which—if Russia sticks to her declarations—will be cleared up only when Communist China takes over Nationalist China's seat in the U.N.

Abandon All Hope Of Finding Trapper

SUDBURY, Jan. 21 (CP)—All hope of finding 74-year-old Jim Dwyer this winter has been practically abandoned with the return to Cartier Friday night of Provincial Constable John Sauve. Sauve, with four Sheehan friends of the missing man, who spent two days scouring the country between the CPR and Sinaminda Lake without finding a trace of the long overdue trapper.

Fears for the safety of the trapper were aroused when he failed to keep a Jan. 1 appointment at Sheehan. Subsequent visits to his one camp on the south end of Sinaminda Lake failed to find any signs of recent habitation. The visit this week to his other camp half way between Sheehan and the lake were likewise fruitless.

Smooth Forger Working District

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 21. — A smooth-working forger has passed many cheques drawn on Belleville banks and supposedly signed by prominent Belleville residents, in an area north of here.

So far there have been no cheques passed in the city, but Stirling, Marmora, Frankford and Trenton have all reported the bogus cheques.

The cheques so far located range in size from $35 to $55, or anaverage week's wage.

Say Engineer Drunk

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—(AP)—A Long Island railroad engineer, Walter W. Shelton, 57, was intoxicated, an official report says, when the train he was operating crashed into another train Dec. 22, killing himself and another trainman. Six others were injured.

Chou Delegation Goes To Moscow

LONDON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Chou En-lai, Chinese Communist foreign minister, brought a Red delegation to Moscow Friday and told the Russians "no force in the world can prevent our two great states from advancing side by side," a Tass dispatch from Moscow said today.

Chou was quoted as having said that Mao Tze-Tung, chairman of his government who is already in Moscow, had sent for him to take part in talks for strengthening good neighborly relations "between two great states, China and the Soviet Union."

Weather Delays Mercy Plane

SIOUX LOOKOUT, Ont., Jan. 21 (CP)—A Central Northern Airways official said Friday cold weather apparently is delaying the return here of a mercy plane which went to the Hudson Bay area to pick up a badly-burned Indian girl.

Stan Wagner, company manager, said temperatures of 40 to 50 below zero undoubtedly held up the plane. It was dispatched on Friday to Weenusk on the southwestern shoreline of Hudson Bay piloted by Gordon Laing with Gordon Leask as engineer.

Points Gun At Police Gets Suspended Term

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 21.—John W. Cummings, Shannonville, pleaded guilty but received a suspended sentence on a charge of pointing a loaded rifle at a police officer, when he appeared before Magistrate T. Y. Wills here Friday.

Cummings had pointed the gun at a neighbour on Jan. 7. She became frightened, ran home, and called provincial police. Const. Vishinsky Blasts Acheson China Charges Smokescreen

MOSCOW, Jan. 21 (AP) — Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky of Russia said today Dean Acheson's charge that the Soviet Union is annexing four North China provinces is a "lying and slanderous declaration."

Vishinsky made his statement in an unusual press release to foreign correspondents. It coincided with the arrival in Moscow of Chou En Lai, foreign minister of the Russian-recognized Chinese People's Republic.

[illegible] statements by Acheson, United States Secretary of State, at the National Press Club in Washington Jan. 12 that Russia is taking over Manchuria, Inner and Outer Mongolia and Sinkiang, said they were intended "to put a good face on a bad game—the failure of American policy in Asia."

Vishinsky also accused Acheson of uncovering his own "annexionist plans in relation to Japan and also the Philippines and Ryukyu (islands of the North Pacific.")

Acheson, he said, declared "these non-American territories in the defensive line of the United States which, as is well known, is in the line of aggression."

(The Secretary of State said the United States has "and will continue to hold "a defensive perimeter" running along the Aleutians to the Ryukyus and down to the Philippines.)

Special importance was seen in the statement since it was handed to foreign correspondents at the Kremlin. Usually accusations by foreign statesmen are answered publicly through Tass, official Russian News Agency, or the newspapers Pravda and Izvestia.

Asks Food Surpluses Go To Hungry Lands

MITCHELL, Ont., Jan 21 (CP) —Canada's food surpluses must be "dumped on the hungry countries of the world or the farmer must be dumped," Charles McGinnis, president of the Ontario Hog Producers, told a mass meeting of farmers Friday.

He addressed 1,000 Perth County farmers at a protest meeting called by the Perth Federation of Agriculture. The meeting unanimously endorsed a resolution calling for government subsidies for farm products "just as industry and labor have been subsidized."

Police Pick Up 2 Brink Men Question Them Separately

BOSTON, Jan. 21 (AP)—Two Brink employees were subjected to lengthy questioning early today in separate police headquarters rooms by detectives investigating the $1,500,000 holdup of the Armored Car Company.

Deputy Police Superintendent James Daley identified the men as William E. Manter, 49, a maintenance department worker, and Gerard Pfaff, a guard.

Manter was picked up after [illegible] failed to report for work Friday.

Daley said that Pfaff was summoned to assist in questioning of Manter—but the men were placed in separate rooms and grilled individually.

One of the detectives said they were "going over the whole story again piece by piece."

Daley said that Manter appeared in a daze and that his answers were "hazy."

The day after the holdup Manter reported to police that he sounded a buzzer at about the time of the holdup in an effort to gain access to the garage vaults of the company to see a fellow employee.

The buzzer went unanswered, he said, and he returned to his [illegible] Pfaff [illegible] the vault room when the eight gunmen struck with Commando-like speed last Tuesday night.

Police disclosed Friday night that eight men—not seven—participated in the actual raid on the company's vaults in its sprawling garage in the teeming north end.

Jury Deadlocked On Hiss Verdict

Iron Bars Tran 6 In Plant Fire

Report Three Others Critically Burned Most Casualties DP's

TORONTO, Jan. 21—(CP)—Refugees from Europe's barbed wire and prison bars died behind bars Friday in their land of promise.

They died amidst flames in a prison-like basement workshop in West-Central Toronto, clawing at heavy iron bars that covered windows with thick, wire-meshed glass.

Six persons—four men and two women—were suffocated or fatally burned in the fire, Toronto's worst since last Sept. 17 when the Great Lakes steamship Noronic went up in flames at her pier with the loss of 119 lives. Three other workers in the dingy cellar were burned so severely they may die.

Said Chief Coroner Smirle Lawson:

"They were caught like rats in a trap. They didn't have a chance."

Barred Against Burglars

The four head-high windows in the Phillips Garments Company basement plant were barred as protection against burglars. The one door opening to an outside hallway was blocked by leaping flames feeding on plywood partitions, that apparently broke out in an electrical cloth-cutter machine. A rear door, it was reported, had been locked in contravention of fire regulations.

The dead:

Philip Chaikofsky, proprietor of the garment factory, his 18-year-old son, Sidney, Isadore Singer, Wilfrid Cutzen, 58, Mrs. Rose Anna Kitts, 37, and Miss Bluma Eichenbaum.

The injured, all in critical condition:

Abraham Werzberg, Mrs. Isador Singer, and Mrs. Prima Neiman.

They were taken from the fire-swept room of death through the windows after firemen had cut the bars with acetylene torches.

Most From Prison Camps

Most of the plant's workers had arrived in recent months from Europe's displaced persons camps. Some had spent years behind prison bars and had come to Canada in search of peace and security. How many of the dead and injured were DP's could not be determined immediately but it was believed that all but the Chaikofskys were new Canadians.

Of the 10 persons in the Phillips plant when fire broke out shortly after 1 p.m. only one escaped death or injury. He was Zlig Fentser, 39-year-old Polish DP who spent the war in a German concentration camp and came to Canada 11 months ago.

Runs Through Flames

He told how he ran through the flames blocking the only exit and how he tried to free his trapped fellow workers by kicking at the window glass and pulling the strong iron bars. He said:

"I pulled from the outside and they pushed from the inside, but the bars woldn't move."

As he held the arms of the choking, screaming victims he felt them, one after another, go limp and drop from sight to the floor of the basement.

Workers in an adjoining dress manufacturing plant escaped through the only unbarred window in the basement of the building, located near the corner of Spadina Avenue and Queen Street just west of downtown Toronto. Eleven persons escaped by that means.

Mayor Hiram McCallum ordered an investigation of the blaze which caused property loss of more than $20,000.

selves with more milk on hand than the distributors would take, bootlegged the surplus to housewives at seven and eight cents.

Under current provincial milk board control, farmers providing fluid milk for distribution among the urban areas must meet certain standards. Dairy cattle and dairy equipment undergo rigid examination to prevent distribution of contaminated milk.

The same degree of control could not be exercised if milk is bootlegged. Consequently, there would be no certainty that bootleg milk consumers would be getting high-grade milk.

Milk prices, varying between provinces, are considered relatively high in comparison with either the butter or cheese market, thus constituting a drawing card for the farmer.

School Area Issue Reopened

COBOURG, Jan. 21 (ENS) — Counties council of Northumberland and Durham Friday amended the school committee report in regard to the boundaries of the Brighton High School orea and Percy township. Brighton township had advised council that it would withdraw from the Area if any change were made in the boundaries, while also before council was a request from Percy township to rescind the high school area by-law and create a high school area which would include all real property in Percy township.

The schools committee recommended that the whole thing be left until the June session. Council adopted the report but later it was re-opened by a vote of two-thirds of the council.

Reeve E. R. Woodyard of Clark township proposed that the requests of both townships be granted so that they could start over again. "The way the boundaries are at present it will not work. Percy township wants it changed and Brighton township will not stay in if the boundaries are altered. Murray township and Colborne village also are reluctant about staying in the area under the circumstances," he said

"The whole think will revert to the way it was at the beginning. We can hold meetings, consult with the people and find out what they want and the high school areas can be re-established Otherwise the thing will hang on until the June session and at that time we would be no further ahead," Reeve Woodyard said.

Reeve Arthur Wartman of Percy township said he wanted it understood that granting of Percy township's request included drafting of a new by-law which would put the whole of that township in the one high school area The ratepayers in Percy felt that they had been misled. The matter could not be deferred until June. The valuation could be deferred for a while, but not until the June session, he said.

Minister Attends

The Hon. W. A. Goodfellow Minister of Welfare, and a former member of the counties council, paid a visit at the close of the Friday session and briefly addressed the council. He said he always was impressed with the importance of municipal governments because they were close to the people. In the legislature he missed this close association with the public.

He declared that there should be no legislation of compulsory nature unless absolutely essential. The less legislation, the better, he said, and he expressed the desire that people get back to the idea of running their own affairs instead of wanting the government to do everything for them.

Spectacular Play Wins Cup In Warne Trophy Bonspiel

By MARGARET LANCASTER

Eldest curler on the ice, Mrs. R. J. Mitchell of Toronto Ladies' Club, made a spectacular tie-breaking play Friday to win the Warne Trophy bonspiel. She won the third game in an extra end from Mrs. Vern Selkirk, a local curler of no mean ability who put up a tough battle all the way.

Mrs. C. B. Westbrook, president of Peterborough Ladies' Curling Club, presented the silver cup to the winning skip, and Mrs. Mitchell and rink-mates, Mrs. Lionel Conacher, Mrs. K. B. Palmer and Mrs. I. A. Flint, each received a silver compact. The score sheet showed this foursome had the highest point total on three games won.

Runner-up Mrs. Selkirk was supported by Mrs. C. Woodcox, Mrs. H. Bletcher and Mrs. J. Watts, and all claimed they had played the hardest game of their lives against Mrs. Mitchell. The latter is a frailty built woman, whose age must remain a secret of course, but it is certain she has celebrated more than 70 birthdays. She demonstrated that it is skill rather than brawn that puts the heavy curling stones in the right place.

Lead on the winning rink, Mrs. Lionel Conacher was playing in her first bonspiel and the first time away from her home city. Having attained a spotlight place on her first try and with Mrs. Mitchell as a coach, she may become a sports headliner like her hockey-player husband.

Second high three-game winner was Mrs. C. H. Brereton of Toronto Granite Club. She and rink-mates Mrs. S. M. Robertson, Mrs. S. A. Marshall, and Mrs. T. C. Glenn received hostess tray prizes and congratulations from president of the Men's Curling Club, Stan Lowe.

Mrs. Gerald Wood, bonspiel convener, worked hard on and off the ice Thursday and Friday. A penchant for third place which she once established held good again and she brought her rink into the spot and each received a scatter rug. Lead on her rink is Mrs. C. V. Coons, second Mrs. W. Thomas and vice skip Mrs. J. Green.

High two-game winner was Mrs. C. Gooch of Hamilton Victoria Club, also a veteran curler of great ability. On her rink were Mrs. Wm. Wands, Mrs. H. B. Paddon, Mrs. J. W. Noble. The highest score on a single game was counted by Mrs. E. Purvis and her prize was presented by past president Mrs. Reg. Turner on whose rink she played when she started curling. Others on her rink were Mrs. L. Bearne, Mrs H. Hamblin and Mrs. S. Lowe.

As the visiting curlers left they expressed entire satisfaction in the manner in which this annual bonspiel is conducted and utmost pleasure in the way they had been entertained in Peterborough.

Reeve Claims Girls Who Dress In Slacks Should Pay Poll Tax

Already 18 counties in Ontario have assessors and a provision has been made in the estimates of the Department of Municipal Affairs for a grant to counties employing one.

That was the information given to the County Council Friday by M. R. Sloan, assessment supervisor of the department. Mr. Sloan made the trip from Toronto to answer the queries of the council on municipal assessment problems.

In the afternoon he sat in with the standing committee on equalization and assessment to advise them in drawing up their report.

Might Be 5 Per Cent

The exact amount of the proposed subsidy was not revealed but he indicated it might go as high as 50 per cent.

Pending provincial legislation includes the adoption of a new manual on assessment.

Land values will contin e to be judged on location, present use, normal rental and normal sale. But land with buildings will be judged on this basis with replacement cost as an extra consideration.

The new method of assessment, he stated, endeavored to keep the assessment on land down and the same applied to the assessment of farm buildings.

Farm dwellings — as distinct from the other structures, such as barns and sheds—would be valued closely to that of similar dwellings in an urban centre.

Valuing of a House

Major factors in valuing a house will be the plumbing, hot air and heating system and the electric wiring. For example, said Mr. Sloan, if a houseowner has an oil burner instead of a coal furnace the taxes would be less because there are no ashes to be collected by the municipality.

The trim of the house and internal fixtures such as hardwood floors would be disregarded. Besides, he pointed out, many houses now being built have ordinary pine wood floors and are considered equally valuable by prospective tenants.

A methodical way of assessing farm land has been worked out Mr. Sloan told the members. The quality of the soil has been graded and the climatic conditions for various regions as well.

The combination of good soil and equally good weather will boost the land value, while in a region where the soil is good but weather poor the value will drop

(Incidentally, according to the Assessment Branch of the Department, among a choice of five grades of weather, Peterborough County takes no better than fourth place.)

The problem of what to do with squatters was broached by several members of the Council. And Reeve W. C. Grant, of Lakefield, in particular grew indignant over what he considered the inequalities of the municipal poll tax.

"Why should young, single girls—in many instances earning as much or more than youths—be exempt from the tax?" he asked.

Also fighting for masculine equality (a losing battle all concluded, including Mr. Sloan) was Reeve Melville Johnston, of North Monaghan.

"If a girl goes down the street dressed in slacks and sporting a boyish bob she should pay the tax as well," he said. A round of approving chuckles followed this remark but nobody seebed eager to introduce a resolution that might alienate the women.

The assessment supervisor advised all municipalities to assess all property in their interests even if it were exempt from taxation. If the percentage of assessment not taxable grew too large the government would probably modify existing exemption laws.

He estimated that at present in Ontario about 18 per cent of valued property was free of taxation.

Another tip he gave the reeves was the possibility of picking up some extra revenue under Section 57 A of the Assessment Act. Section 57 deals with property never assessed and (A); among other things, grants the municipality the right to backdate assessment after the roll for the year had been made out.

For example, if the roll were handed in on September 30 and an assessed dwelling were found in November, under 57 A it could be billed for approximately 11 months. It would not be necessary to wait until the following year when the new roll was made up.

Stock Markets Regain Their Balance

By The Canadian Press.

Stock markets regained their balance this week in a mild recovery movement of the previous week's sharp declines. Business continued brisk as market leaders slowly pushed upwards following a sharp break in the seven-month bull market.

Selling was comparatively heavy, but was readily absorbed. Investors wore more selective, picking and choosing individual issues or groups for attention.

New York wiped out a large share of the losses over the five days.

The Associated Press 60-stock index closed Friday at 73, a gain of 1.3 from the previous Friday and within touching distance of 73.4—the high since 1946.

Canadian industrial markets were not as decisive as New York on the upturn. News that Britain would not buy newsprint from Canada, that the United States was planning to dump its surplus foods on world markets and anxiety over Canada's bacon contract with Britain kept industrials unbalanced.

Move Slowly

In Toronto, industrials moved slowly upwards for a gain of 1.20 on the Exchange's index over the week. Golds showed a loss of .50 on the index and base metals were up .25.

Western oils provided the highlight. Steady demand lifted the list to the highest average price level since the boom days of the Turner Valley in 1937. Advances widened out Friday after stocks weathered profit-taking Thursday for a total gain of 3.64 on the index.

Grain markets weakened from the previous Friday. Winnipeg showed losses ranging up to eight cents in May oats, barley, rye and flax. In Chicago, March oats and rye dipped, while corn and wheat held steady.

Labour's Story Of Success

If the British Labour Party is returned to power at the General Election on February 23 its story of success will be complete. Its victory in 1945 was spectacular, but a party may only be said to have won its spurs when it has gained success and held it for some time. The success story of the Labour Party is an interesting one, and we hope that our readers will be interested in the following outline of it.

* * *

What is now the British Labour Party came into being on February 27, 1900; it was called at that time the Labour Representation Committee. There had been Labour activity before that, of course. It was in 1857 that the first attempt was made to nominate a Labour man as an election candidate. From that time Labour candidates appeared from time to time in elections, being nominated and then withdrawn, and Labour elected no representatives until 1892 when John Burns and Keir Hardy were successful as Independents.

* * *

In 1900, with the Representation Committee behind it, Labour put up fifteen candidates, and elected two, Keir Hardy and Richard Bell. The progress of the party from that time may quickly be studied in the following table:

General Election	Seats contested	Members returned
1900	15	2
1906	50	29
1910 (Jan.)	78	40
1910 (Dec.	56	42
1918	361	57
1922	414	142
1923	427	191
1924	514	151
1929	570	287
1931	492	46
1935	553	154
1945	604	393

After 1918 it became a real party—that is to say, a party open to anyone who wanted to join it, and not merely the political arm of a number of societies and affiliations.

* * *

The progress shown in the table above is broken only in 1924 and 1931. In 1924 and in 1929 Labour was able to form a Ministry by accepting coalition; in both instances Ramsay Macdonald was Prime Minister. The present Labour Government has vowed that it will never accept the compromise of coalition again.

* * *

The pride which is shown in such a vow is apparent when we look at this table, which shows the percentages of the total vote which each party has achieved since 1900:

	Total Vote	Lab.	Cons.	Lib.
1900	3,278,883	2%	51%	44%
1906	5,632,203	5	44	49
1910 (Jan.)	6,567,404	8	48	43
1910 (Dec.)	5,234,291	7	46	44
1918	10,506,657	16	33	14
1922	14,298,632	30	38	18
1923	14,313,531	31	38	80
1924	16,640,279	33	47	18
1929	22,648,375	37	38	23
1931	21,656,373	31	55	6
1935	21,997,054	38	48	6
1945	24,973,298	48	35	9

It would not take a very big shift in the popular vote to reduce Labour's large majority, and a coalition would then be inevitable. It is not out of the question that such a shift might leave the Liberal party with enough power to make it a desirable adherent for both Labour and the Conservative Party. Labour has not lost a single by-election since 1945, but it is notorious that by-elections give no trustworthy hint as to what will happen in a General Election.

Selling The Wrapper To Tourists

About twenty million tourists who spent some $200,000,000 came into Ontario last year. That is big business, and deserves to be fostered. Various government departments are doing a great deal to encourage it—the Department of Travel and Publicity which has its pamphlets, maps, and roadside tourist offices at points of entry; the Department of Highways which is continually building roads for visiting motorists, other departments are concerned with standards of accommodation offered by hotels, tourist homes and cottage-renters. The Department of Lands and Forests has a special task as custodian of fish, game and the lake and forest areas.

Since tourism became an important Canadian industry the greatest stress has been put on fishing, hunting and the joys of roughing it in the bush. "The Great Outdoors", "Fishermen's Paradise", "Next To Nature". The industry was built up because Ontario did offer these in abundance. But as the industry has matured, so has Southern Ontario. There are more people than ever before, more cottages, more tourists; there are fewer fish, deer, woods and free land as a consequence. If Ontario is to maintain its attractiveness to tourists, it must change its tune—or add new ones. Despite the best efforts to restock lakes and rivers, to conserve wild life, and to keep space open, there are not now enough fish, game and open spaces to satisfy all the tourists.

Countries which have long been dependent on tourists for a good chunk of their business do not put all their eggs in one basket, and they certainly do not try to sell themselves chiefly as fishing ponds. If the truth were assessed properly, there are more people who like a good meal than like fish, there are more who like to sit and stare than who like to fish. In this part of Ontario the fish is exalted above his lowly station.

Most people in the world tour to see strange or historic sights, to mingle with foreigners and learn their ways, to see famous buildings, and paintings, to dine at quaint or splendid eating-places and taste good and different cooking; to luxuriate in good hotels and comfortable beds. They do not tour to fish.

It is time that Ontario gave heed to the real desires of tourists, now that we cannot guarantee a maximum daily catch of fish, bag of deer, or privacy on lake shores. Compared with, say, tourist resort towns and rural regions in New England, southern Ontario's are tawdry, uninspiring and uncomfortable. Compared with restaurant meals one can get in Europe or French Canada, the food offered our tourists—wholesome and filling, no doubt—is insipid, common and unattractive. We have not the famous buildings of Paris, the pilgrim routes of England and Italy, the orchestras and museums, but we have good scenery which can be displayed to better advantage, musical and artistic attractions can be developed, and our pioneer past can be colourfully stressed. (Kingston knows the value to it of the revived Fort Henry).

Ontario has its tourist packages done up in attractive wrappers, but when they are opened, the goods are monotonous, and few: fish and cottages, cocktail bars in Toronto and beer by the dozen quarts. We should, and can offer more. Are we now selling the wrappers and not the real goods?.

Tingling Flesh Or Twinkling Brain?

A note of warning to Canadians is sounded by the Exeter Times-Advocate, which says "If we don't take a cold shower and a turn at the spade or bucksaw and then get to the day's work till we do some really good sweating, we'll have somebody else running our business and our country". And it adds, ominously, "The simple fact is that we have gone soft."

This sounds to us as though the Exeter editor were reproaching himself in print for too much good cheer at Christmas. There is a tendency on the part of people who have had too many gay parties to feel a week or so afterward that the whole country is getting soft. Theologians call this feeling "conviction of sin."

Still, let us suppose for the sake of argument that our country is going soft. Will a cold shower or a turn with the bucksaw help? We doubt it. The world has changed startlingly during the past century. We are taller, heavier and stronger than our grandfathers. We are not getting soft physically; we are improving. But the really strange thing is that our physical improvement is of less value to us than at any time in human history, for mere physical strength is less important than ever before. We do not build nations, or fight wars, with muscle and blood nowadays; we do it with brains. And—depressing though the fact may be to the physical culturists—it does not much matter how soft our bodies become so long as our brains are in good trim.

If, instead of recommending cold showers and the bucksaw, the Exeter editor had recommended a page of Plato or Spinoza every day, to keep our wits shining bright, we would say that he was offering his countrymen some good advice. But cold showers will no longer save a civilization.

Mrs. Roosevelt says in her memoirs that when a White House valet unpacked Molotov's luggage he found a hunk of black bread, a roll of sausage and a pistol. All set for a midnight snack or a fatal mistake in diplomacy.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Genghis Marchbanks, Esq.

Dear Cousin Genghis:

I don't understand what all this fuss over Einstein's new theory is about, or why so many people think it hard to understand. It seems to me that it is merely a statement in mathematical terms of what you and I and a number of thoughtful people have known all our lives—that there are a lot of funny things in the universe, and that they are all hitched up in some incomprehensible way to a central Funny Thing, and that you never really know where you are about anything. You remember Mr. Curdle in Nicholas Nickleby, who talked about "a completeness—a kind of universal dovetailedness with regard to place and time—a sort of general oneness, if I may be allowed to use so strong an expression"; that sums it up perfectly. Those Indian fellows who sit with their legs curled up and say they don't want to go anywhere because every place is just the same as every other place have the right idea, but they lack the insight into the matter which is possessed by such great mystics as ourselves. We are quite happy to go anywhere and do anything, because it is all the same, at bottom. All that Einstein has done is to express this in a somewhat different way.

Yours cosmically,
SAM

To Raymond Cataplasm, M.D., F.R.C.P.

Dear Dr. Cataplasm:

My memory, which as you know has never been my best feature, is rapidly growing worse. Is there some sort of degenerative disease of the brain which makes people forget things? If there is not, you can ensure yourself of a great place in medical history by discovering it. If you are going to discover it in me, I insist that it be called Marchbanks' Malady; if you use some inferior specimen you can call it Cataplasm's Spasm.

The chief symptom is a kind of seizing up of the intellect when I try to recall a name, or a bit of information; I can distinctly feel my brain contract, like a snail that has been given an electric shock; sometimes this happens in the middle of a sentence, and I forget what I was going to say, and often forget to close my mouth for some time afterward. A secondary symptom is my tendency to go upstairs for something, and bring down something else, making another trip necessary.

Do you think that anything can be done about this? I see that the insane are sometimes treated by chopping out a piece of brain: do you think it would help to open my skull and give my brain a refreshing whisk with a toothbrush?

Your perennial patient,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Mouseman, Mouseman and Forcemeat

Dear Mouseman:

Get busy at once and apply for a patent on the greatest of my inventions—the Marchbanks Alert Mask for the Weary Face.

Thumbing through a magazine yesterday I came upon an advertisement for a rubber mask which, pulled over the face, makes the wearer look like Boris Karloff in his role as Frankenstein's Monster. A toy, Mouseman: a trifle meant to enliven an evening party. But it touched off an explosion in my mind. Why not a rubber mask which makes the wearer look like himself—yet not himself as he usually appears, but himself at his best—alert, kindly, intelligent and yet also noncommittal and reserved?

Think what a boon this would be to judges on the bench, newspaper editors, psychiatrists, and others who have to spend hours every day listening to tales of woe, boring accounts of boring events, and threshing of old straw in general. Under the mask the wearer could relax, allowing his jaw to slacken, his lips to curl, his cheeks to slump and his dewlap to throb like a frog's, while to the observer he would seem a model of solicitous goodwill.

This will crown my career as an inventor and philanthropist. You may have stock in it to cover the amount of your bill, thus getting in on the ground floor.

Yours triumphantly,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Amyas Pilgarlic, Esq.

Dear Pil:

You know where I stand on dogs: I am not a person in whose life Man's Dumb Chum has played a leading role. But a day or so ago I had to attend a dog show, and as I watched the eager crowd I was visited, for perhaps the fiftieth time in my life, by the reflection that if people had to meet the rigorous standards of physical appearance which are set for dogs and other show animals it would go hardly with most of us.

The judges at the show, for instance, would have cut poor figures if the dogs had been judging them. The most important of them had a really shocking head—coarse muzzle, apple-domed skull and, so far as could be seen, a poor coat. The other judge had a narrow, splayed front, a snipey muzzle, and ears set far too high. The third judge was a woman and, though I hate to say it, a poor mover, being cow-hocked and badly spaced between her shoulders, hips and stifles. None of the judges had a bright eye nor, I should say, an affectionate nature. They did not answer readily to words of command, and showed a strong tendency to turn right when it was necessary for them to turn left. Poor creatures, useless for breeding, it would have been better to drown them as puppies.

Have you observed that a miserable-looking dog is regarded, quite rightly, as a poor-spirited creature, probably in need of worming, whereas a miserable-looking man is usually taken to be a philosopher, or at the very least, an economist? There is food for profound reflection in this.

Yours,
SAM.

To Richard Dandiprat, Esq.

My good Dandiprat:

Your enquiry as to whether I would be interested in acquiring a television set is wasted. My answer must be NO.

I am not an enemy of television. I saw some television programs in England in 1938 and they were almost as good as bad movies. American television, I understand, has made an attempt to bridge this gap by actually telecasting bad movies. When I can no longer stifle my yearning for bad movies and wrestling matches in my living-room, I shall see about getting a set. But not yet.

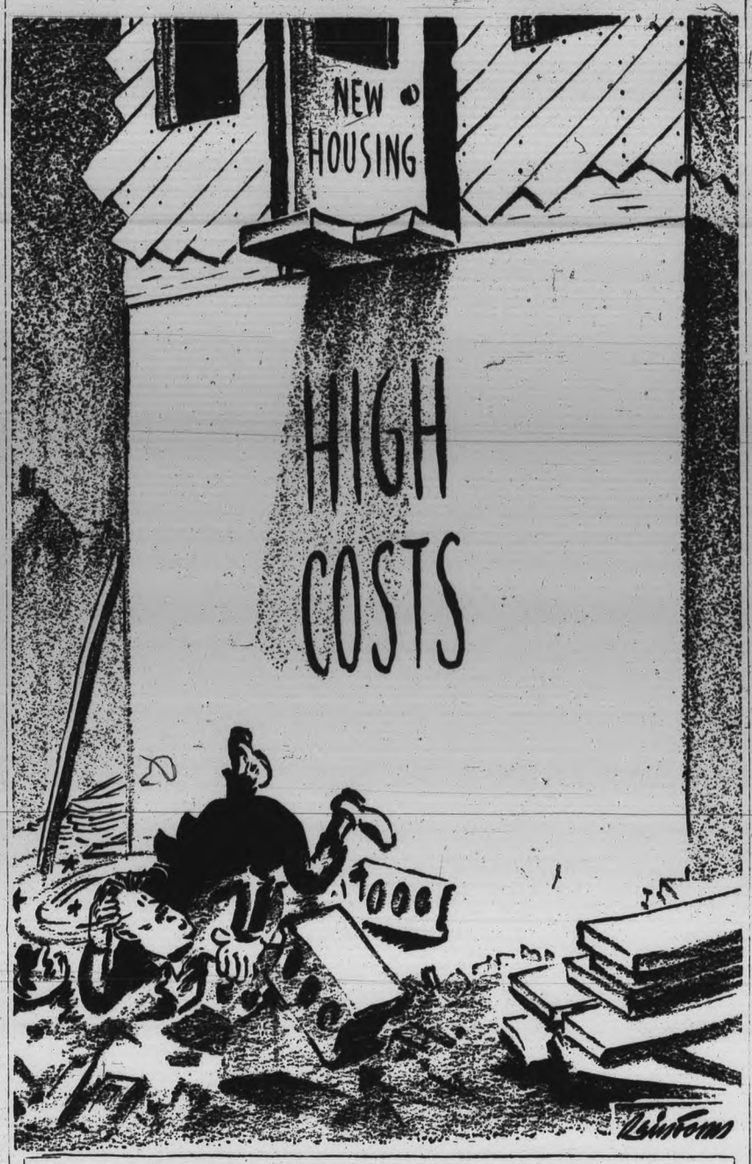
The shameful truth is, I cannot afford it. The cost of the set is heavy, but by scrimping and denying myself things that would give me greater pleasure I might save enough to buy one. But the accessories to television are far beyond my modest means.

The special Television Chairs which permit you to slump before your machine in the only possible position for televiewing—I can't afford them.

The special Television Lamp for turning on when the program is over—it is out of my c

The special Television Cocktail Set, from which the smart televiewers swill as they teleview—I don't want it.

The special Television Canapes for nibbling as one televiews—I can't digest them.



And the Television Lounge Coat, Television Shirt and Television Luminous Dial Self-Regulating Wristwatch—I wouldn't bury a dead donkey in them.

Ask me about television when the tumult and the shouting has died.

Yours cantankerously,

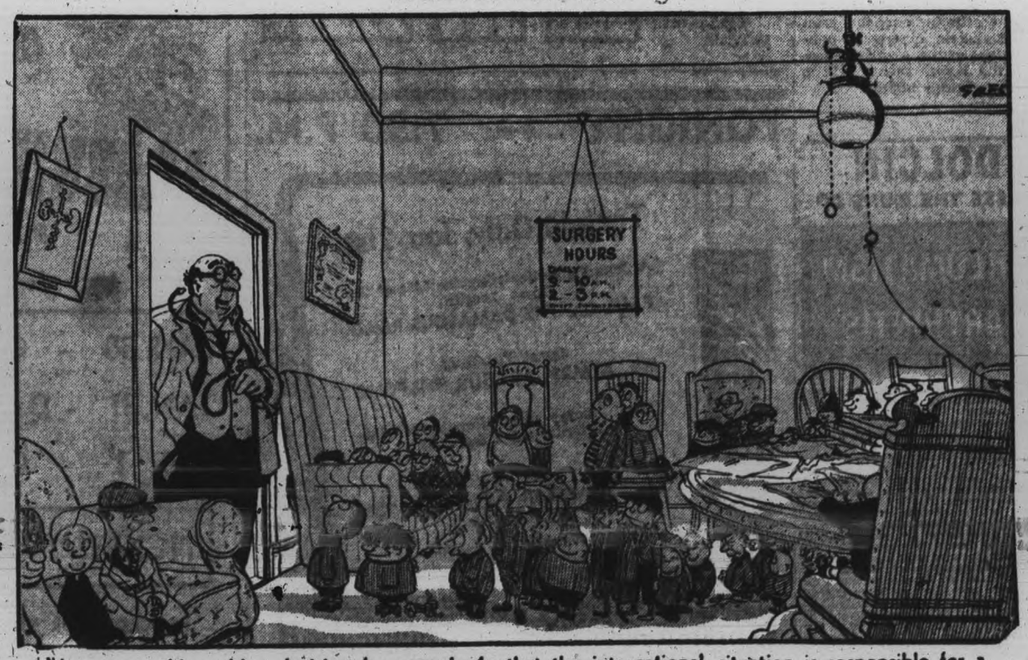
THE FIRST STEP IS STILL HIGH

History Sequel Needed

THE local history of any community is as important in some respects more important—than the history of the nation. Indeed national history is nothing more than local history in the aggregate.

This point has been emphasized time and again by those whose business it is to deal in a country's chronicles. One of the most earnest and successful advocates of the keeping of adequate and accurate local records is Dr. J. J. Talman of the University of Western Ontario, whose enthusiasm along this line is well known and highly regarded here.

Also aware of the desirability of preserving history, The Peterborough Examiner has just commenced the publication of a series of 50 articles which it commissioned Howard Pammett, M.A., to write.



In offering the series as a contribution to the observance of the city's centennial, the Peterborough daily says: "Mr. Pammett will include in his study much that has not previously been available in print, for he has done original research on the history of this community for several years and may be considered a leading authority on it. Peterborough needs a new history. Dr. Poole's book is rare, old and of scanty information on many matters....There are several books which relate to the history of Peterborough, including that delightful work, 'Our Old Home Town' by F. H. Dobbin, but none of them is a complete history. Mr. Pammett's work will, we are confident, supply this gap in the city's literature."

In that case, excellent purpose will be served. In congratulating Peterborough on attending to this matter, it might not come amiss to suggest that Brantford should do something in a similar regard.

Incredible as it must seem to many, it is now nearly 30 years since F. Douglas Reville's excellent "History of the County of Brant" appeared. And agreeing that this two-volume work comprehensively covered events up to 1920, there has been no sequel in permanent form, though much, including another World War, has happened in the long and eventful interval.

It may be that organizations such as the Historical Society and the Board of Trade have this important requirement in mind and are contemplating some action. If not, it is respectfully recommended to them, and to the City Council and all other bodies that might have an interest in the subject, with the assurance that this newspaper will be glad to endorse and support an appropriate project.—Brantford Expositor.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory? (I Cor. 15: 55.)

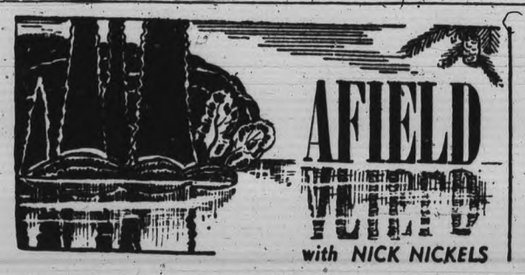
Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses. I give thee charge in the sight of God, who quickeneth all things, and before Christ Jesus, who before Pontius Pilate witnessed a good confession; that thou keep this commandment without spot, unrebukeable, until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ: which in his times he shall shew, who is the blessed and only Potentate, the King of kings, and Lord of lords; who only hath immortality, dwelling in the light which no man can approach unto; whom no man hath seen, nor can see; to whom be honour and power everlasting. Amen.

Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; that they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate; laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold of eternal life. (I Tim. 6: 12-19.)

To Protect Children

The Ontario Hockey Association seems to have heard the rumbling in the hills and has forwarded a motion to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, asking that no professional agreement signed by a hockey player under 21 years of age be valid unless it is also signed by his parents or guardian.

There have been many bitter comments in the past several months when professional promoters secured teen-age signatures and then proceeded to wield the big stick over the players.



These contracts were used to prohibit young players from engaging in the organized sport unless they followed the dictates of "the big boss." It could hardly be construed as a healthy situation and it was quite apparent that public opinion opposed such tactics.

If the hockey organizations cannot clean up the situation then the Ontario government should step into the picture. It presumably has control over amateur sport and could introduce legislation to plug up the loopholes.

Every safeguard should be taken to prevent the exploitation of youth. If it is felt that a young man should not vote until he is 21, or his signature has no effect in law until he is 21, then the motion presented by the O.H.A. should receive the endorsation of all organizations.—Sudbury Star.

Slim Profit Margins

Although we have been only too pleased to report the generally improved operating circumstances for the mining industry with the attending improvement in profits, the fact should not be lost sight of that many of the mines—and gold mines in particular—are operating on a dangerously slim margin of profit. It is a point that the astute labour leader would do well to bear constantly in mind.—Northern Miner.

Two news items to do with ducks came to me this week. The first from a Rice Lake resort operator who stopped me on the street promised me a few frozen ducks the next time he was down at his locker. The second bit of news had to do with an almost-frozen female mallard away out in Headlingly, Manitoba, west of Winnipeg. My prairie correspondent, Capt. W. E. (Bill) Catton, wrote me of a farmer friend who unearthed (or should it be unsnowed?) a duck from a snowdrift on the Assiniboine River in November. Its feet and legs were frozen stiff. The farmer took it home and on the way gave it to one of Bill's sons who defrosted the bird and won its undying gratitude. In fact, said the letter, the duck is so demanding of attention these days, it takes its small feeding dish and bangs it on the sides of its pen for water, grain and just someone to say "hello" to. They will release it in the Spring for northern nesting grounds.

• • • •

A parallel to Capt. Catton's snowbound duck story may have been in the writer's mind unconsciously. It registered forcibly with me at least. Eleven years ago November, he, Capt. Catton with Capt. A. J. Hollingsworth of the Soo and engineer Rex Terpening of Edmonton were stormbound on the barrens of the west coast of Hudson Bay for eight days in their skiplane on what is credited by northern people as the greatest Arctic mercy flight of all time. It took them more than a month, without radio aids or maps in the stormiest season of the year, to fly from Winnipeg to Repulse Bay, 2,600 return miles to rescue a priest with frozen hands. Of this Arctic Odyssey their terse comment was, "It was a rugged trip."

Pigeons Race From Express Office

For many summers Peterborough has been chosen by racing pigeon fanciers as the ideal starting point for birds. Expressman G. M. Stinson says that about 500 birds are released each year between June and September for Montreal, London, Perth and Windsor. Ventilated baskets arrive by rail with instructions to water the contestants and to wire owners the release times. Lids are lifted when railway men judge the weather is favourable. Even they, who are used to handling all sorts of odd shipments, are intrigued by the sport, in the wild beating of wings when freedom is given and the manner in which the flock circles for height and direction sense. They disappear, east and west, in the matter of seconds, and it is believed that an electrical gadget in their home dove cotes registers their arrival time. Some of the London "stable" owners are A. C. Patterson, A. MacKintosh and the Forest City Pigeon Club, L. Bayard and L'Association Colombophile in Montreal and F. Goodwood in Perth.

And Here Are The Hooking Dates

After giving you the bird, more or less, and a bit of flying for three paragraphs, let us turn to facts on fishing for 1950. Although it is early to think about this sort of thing, resort operators who are planning new folders, just about how, can use this information. Here goes. SPECKLED, BROWN, RAINBOW, AURORA and KAMLOOPS TROUT: May 1st to Sept. 15th, 15 fish per day, poundage ruling eliminated and legal fish length, seven inches. PIKE and PICKEREL: May 15th to Oct. 16th in the Kawarthas, elsewhere the season is extended to Dec. 31st. BLACK and GREEN BASS: July 1st to Oct. 15th. MASKINONGE: July 1st to Oct. 1st. ABOUT LICENSES: None-resident fishermen will pay $1 more for fishing licenses this year, except for Manitoba sportsmen. This means the N/R individual license will be $6.50 and $9 for non-resident family permits.

A Manitoulin Island resort operator, Mrs. Ella Cork, made an astounding statement at a recent convention of the Ontario Hotel Association. She said, "Statistics prove (to her) that 80 per cent of the U.S. visitors who come to Southern Ontario are not there for fishing and hunting but for sight-seeing." Mrs. Cork was plugging for the establishment of historical landmarks throughout the province. She would not be balked by historians who could not determine the exact location of such sites and said that communities should have enough drive to do something about it anyway.

Cold Ice Knock-Out

The assistant editor and I get into many discussions, but rarely about fishing. However, the other day he was dreaming about fishing through the ice, in a very impractical maner. It went this way. "Do you think fish see the bait?" I admitted they did. "You can see through the early thin lake ice like glass, can't you?" I bowed to this also. "Then why couldn't you dangle a worm from the surface of thin ice to excite the fish to the point of it banging its brains out against the ice, cut a hole and liff it out?" I pointed out that it would take a squadron of herring and very thin ice to make a go of this mad dream of his. I conclude that, the less I talk of fishing to a man like that, the longer I will retain my reason. However this yarn could be forwarded to the Can-you-tie-this? competition. Would probably win, too.

Since visiting an osprey eyrie at Rice Lake last summer, I have learned a curious thing about these large fish-hawk birds. Their feet are so constructed that they cannot walk or hop on the ground. When a nest is to be built or repaired, the osprey flies high over the branches of a dead tree and dives with folded wings at a dry limb to break it off and carry it away. It never picks a stick off the ground but will dive for a floating stick in the water. They build tremendous nests in the stub tops of dead pines, so loosely woven, that smaller birds, such as grackles and English sparrows, build small nests near the bottom on the outside. These small squatters have found the osprey is such a successful fisherman that there is always an abundance of waste food for the taking which falls through the loose "floor" of the nest.

And I have felt
A presence that disturbs me with the joy
Of elevated thoughts; a sense sublime
Of something far more deeply interfused
Whose dwelling is the light of setting suns,
And the round ocean and the living air,
And the blue sky, and in the mind of man:
A motion and a spirit, that impels
All thinking things, all objects of all thought,
And rolls through all things. Therefore am I still
A lover of the meadows and the woods,
And mountains; and of all that we behold
From this green earth; of all the mighty world
Of eye, and ear,—both what they half create,
And what perceive; well pleased to recognise
In nature and the language of the sense
The anchor of my purest thoughts, the nurse,
The guide, the guardian of my heart, and soul
Of all my moral being

Mohawk Iroquois Ousted: Indian Wars of Kawarthas

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

Between 1640 and 1650 AD the Iroquois came up the Kawartha waterway in a series of devastating raids which exterminated most of the Hurons and drove the rest north of Lake Huron. The fur traders of New France were compelled to establish their trade route to the Great Northwest by way of the Ottawa and Mattawa Rivers, Lake Nipissing and the French River to Georgian Bay and onward. It is interesting to speculate how different the story of Peterborough might have been if Champlain and later French leaders had either befriended the Iroquois or had defeated them. Possibly the city might have been founded two centuries earlier as a French trading post!

For the next century until about 1740 AD the Kawarthas were held by the Iroquois. Along the lower Kawarthas and particularly around Rice Lake they settled into more or less permanent villages, built large "Long Houses" of saplings and bark, and cut down the trees in order to plant their crops of corn, squash, beans and possibly potatoes. In the autumn they harvested the wild rice which grew abundantly around Rice Lake, and made a festival of preparing food supplies for the long winter —snaring ducks and geese, catching and salting fish, gathering and drying roots and berries. When winter was approaching, hunting parties went north to kill and dry venison and other meat, tan hides, trap and dress furs. Summer and autumn were also favorite seasons for grimmer hunting parties, when painted warriors paddled swiftly northward toward Lake Simcoe and Georgian Bay, for savage raids on the Algonquin and Ojibwa tribes.

Relics of Iroquois

Many of the Indian relics dug up or uncovered by erosion along the Kawarthas from Lake Simcoe to Lake Ontario date from this Iroquoian period. In the upper lakes of Victoria County and the Lake Simcoe-Georgian Bay area anthropologists have begun making systematic examinations of Indian village sites; as recently as 1937 an Iroquoian village site was uncovered near Bobcaygeon, revealing the ashes of campfires, dried corn, fishbones, arrowheads, bone needles, and bits of clay pottery.

On the lower Kawarthas not much careful excavation of Indian sites has been done up to the present, but the experience recorded by the editor of the Hastings Star in 1894 has been repeated many times along the Kawarthas, where undoubtedly there are many more Indians buried underground than remain alive:

"I discovered a mound on the farm of John Preston, Lot 6, Concession 9, of Asphodel, on a hill overlooking the river . . .There was one long mound measuring 80 feet from east to west. . . . .13 skeletons were found in one and charred remains in the westerly mound On the top of each mound about 18 inches below the surface there was evidence of fires . . . .Why they were built, why so many bodies ewre placed there, no one knows. Two large pine trees have since grown on the large mound, the stumps of which had rotted away. . . ."

Like other aggressors, the Iroquois finally met their match After destroying the Hurons, they spread westward north and south of the Great Lakes, defeating the Neutrals, the Eries, the Andastes and the Illinois. Before the end of the 17th century, the Iroquois south of the Lakes had crossed the Mississippi River and attacked the Sioux, who because of greater numbers, skill in fighting on horseback, and daring bravery defeated the Iroquois and drove them back eastward. About the same time the Iroquois raiders north of Georgian Bay came into contact with the Mississagas, a tribe consisting of mixed groups Hurons, Ottawas, Chippewas, and other Algonquins were driven west by the Iroquois, in the vicinity of Sault Ste. Marie (where the French had a post.)

After repeated raids by Iroquois warparties, the Mississaga chiefs held a council of war about 1740 A. D. and determined to drive the Mohawks (an Iroquois Tribe) south of Lake Huron and if possible out of the Kawartha hunting-grounds permanently. In this plan they were armed and aided by the French, whose furtrading routes to the west were threatened. The story of this historic "war" by which the Mississagas drove the Iroquois south and seized the Kawarthas was handed down orally through the centuries until in 1904 Colonel C. H. Rogers wrote it down from the lips of Chief Paudash of the Rice Lake Mississaga Reserve. Part of this account follows:

Rogers' Account

"A party of Mohawks were entrenched at an island in lower Georgian Bay afterwards known as Pequahkoondebaminis, or Island of Skulls. The Mississagas surrounded them and made great slaughter. . .The Mohawks were compelled to retreat eventually, but being a fierce warlike tribe they resisted stubbornly. . .Stopping at Machicknning , (which means Fish Fence) at the narrows between Lakes Simcoe and Couchiching to get a supply of food, the Mississagas received reinforcements, dividing into two parties. . .The main band proceeded along the Portage

—John Harington

Road to Balsam Lake; the other party went south to Lake Ontario (at Toronto). After various skirmishes the Mohawks continued to retreat down the valley of the Otonabee to where they were settled in numerous villages down to Rice Lake.

"They made their first real stand at Nogojiwanong, the original name of Peterborough meaning "The Place at the End of Rapids" (Katchewanook, above Lakefield, mean "The Place at the Beginning of the Rapids") A sharp skirmish took place at Peterborough upon what is now known as Cemetery Point. The Mohawks being worsted retreated farther down the river, making a determined stand at the mouth of the river, where the Mississagas encamped at Onigon, now known as Campbelltown; Onigon in Mississaga means "The Pulling Up of Stakes" because the Mississagas, coming too closely on the entrenched Mohawks, pulled up their stakes and retreated upriver.

"After great preparation an attack was made by the Mississagas both by land and water and the Mohawks were driven, after a battle in which no less than a thousand warriors were slain, down Rice Lake to Roche's Point. Great quantities of bones and flint arrowheads are found at the site of this battle even to this day. At Roche's Point there was a Mohawk village. . An attack having been made upon this village, the Mohawks were compelled to retreat one more. They then fled to Quegeeging, or Cameron's Point at the foot of Rice Lake, where great numbers of weapons and bones have since been found, and were again fiercely attacked by the Mississagas, who compelled them to retreat down the river to Onigaming, the famous Carrying Place, being the portage from Lake Ontario into the Bay of Quinte, and from there into their own country. The Mississagas rested at Onigaming and waited for the detachment from Toronto to join them.

Mississagas Settle

"Before pursuing the main body of Mohawks farther after the attack on Cameron's Point, a party of the Mississagas went upcountry to a lake called Chuncall, in Madoc north of Trenton, where a party of Mohawks dwelt, and wiped them out . . . The Mississagas then returned and seeing that the land conquered from the Mohawks, who had dispossessed the Hurons, was full of game and an excellent hunting-ground, they came down from Lake Huron and settled permanently in the valley of the Otonabee and the Trent, and along the St. Lawrence as far east as Brockville . . .

"The British government subsequently recognized the claim of the Mississagas to this country, and the eastern bands were gathered together at Nanabojou or Hiawatha on Rice Lake, at Chemong, and at Scugog. Hiawatha is not a Mississaga word, as the Mississaga name for Rice Lake is Pamadusgodayong, meaning "Lake of the Plains," from the fact that when the Mississagas first came down to the mouth of the Otonabee the south shore of Rice Lake opposite appeared to be flat, since it had been cleared of forest, being the cornfields of the Mohawks. Chemong is a corruption of Oskigimong, referring to the bow-shape of the lake. Scugog means shallow waters . . ."

This account undoubtedly contains much historical fact. The Mississagas remained neutral in the French-British wars which resulted after 1763 in Canada's becoming a British colony. One ironic footnote to the above story is that in 1784 the British authorities made a treaty with the Mississagas by which the tribe ceded all the land along Lake Ontario from Toronto to Brockville, as far north as the Rideau Lakes, Rice Lake, Scugog Lake and Lake Simcoe, to the Crown. The government then brought the remains of the Five Nations of the Iroquois, who were Loyalists in the American Revolutionary Wars, to settle on reservations along the Bay of Quinte and the Grand River.

Practising Their Figures — Swoosh, Swirl!

By DON GRANT

Peterborough's youngest sporting club, the Figure Skating Club, is rapidly becoming a full-grown child. Four years ago February through the efforts of Ernest Ferguson, his wife, and Miss Phyllis Denne, a start was made to promote such a club in the city. Now the club has a membership of 220.

Recognizing the need of a figure skating club in the city to cater to the tastes of those who didn't play hockey and were uninterested in the ordinary skating, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson with the help of Miss Denne started a movement to found the club. The Fergusons had attended summer courses in skating in Toronto and in Schumacher. Miss Denne had wide experience with figure skating clubs and is at present attached as a test judge in the local club.

Contacts were made with other enthusiasts and the Peterborough Curling Club's artificial ice surface was rented on a part-time basis. A few took part in the practices for a month and a half, the Oshawa Club sending their professional to Peterborough to give instruction.

In the fall of 1947 the Peterborough Figure Skating Club was born with its headquarters at the Charlotte St. curling rink. A constitution was drawn up and the club became affiliated with the Canadian Figure Skating Association whose Ottawa premises so recently have been gutted by fire.

Limited Membership

Membership has been limited but special provisions have been made to encourage younger people. The ice surfaces at the curling club were used whenever the curlers weren't brooming their way through bonspiels or local club competition. This left little time for the figure skaters who were glad to have the artificial ice if only for short periods. But the club's membership had to be kept down. Figure skating became more popular until now, even with the added time provided by the Civic Arena's artificial surface, long lists of children and grown-ups are waiting for admission to membership.

Members are divided into three groups, the juniors (children four years to 12 years), the intermediates (12 to 18 years) and the seniors (18 years and up). The younger group has 110 skaters which is equal to the total of the other groups, the intermediates 60 and the seniors 50.

Ice-time for the juniors is on Saturday and Sunday of each week. The tots do their twirls and figures on the curling club's surfaces from 9 to 11 a.m. on Saturday and 2 to 5 p.m. on Sunday and at the arena from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday. The intermediates skate at all sessions except the juniors' periods at the curling rink on Saturday and Sunday. That is, they skate Tuesday and Thursday nights at the arena and Sunday night at the curling club. The seniors have the same practice schedule as the intermediates.

Professional Instruction

Kay Amys, of Toronto, was the first to try her hand as club professional in 1947-48 and her successor the following year was Lillian Coburn, of St. Catharines. This year the job is in the hands of Jacquie Byers, 20-year-old professional from Schumacher. Miss Byers turned pro two years ago and was club professional in Copper Cliff last year. She has been skating winters and summers in her home town, Schumacher, since she was eight years old.

Miss Byers explained that, what the average person calls "tricks" in skating, is only 30 per cent of figure skating. The other 70 per cent is stroking and the use of the inside and outside edges of their skates on "figures."

The first step with newcomers to the sport—or art—says Miss Byers, is to teach them stroking, how to skate on the inside and outside edges of their skates through shoulder and hip movements and co-ordination of the body. (The grind on the blade used by figure skaters is the same as that used by hockey players. The skate blade is sharpened with the edges built up allowing hollow centres. The hockey player or ordinary skater uses the inside edges chiefly.)

Next Step

After the technique of using edges is mastered, the skater then goes on to practise patterns on the ice. Some of the well-known patterns are figure eights, threes, brackets, counters and rockers.

Once edges and patterns have been practised to perfection, the figure skater is prepared for the free skating program and dancing. Free skating has no definite pattern on the ice and skaters are allowed to try their spins, twirls and figures—as figure-skaters do them, not as hunks on skates. Dancing—waltzes, tangos, fox trots, and blues, with variations of each—is similar to the free skating but has definite pattern on the ice.

Both the time period and the ice surface are divided for the skaters. The surface is split into 20 spaces for members to practice their patterns for the first half-hour. The ice must be fresh for the skaters to see the traces to follow. The next hour is spent by the skaters on stroking, patterns, dancing and free skating. The student makes the decision for this period, practising whatever requires extra attention.

Carnival Closing

The club closes its season with a carnival which will be held this year late in March. Last year the show included outsiders but Miss Byers hopes this year to have the local talent sufficiently advanced to produce their own show.

And so the club grows and the youngsters on skates come on. The senior members are happy in the opportunity to indulge in a graceful art and the youngsters have the idol of Barbara Ann Scott before them. The Peterborough Figure Skating Club is not yet a Minto Club but among the hundred children now learning the art may be developing a Barbara Ann.

Parliament Over Pupils At East York

East York Collegiate Institute has a Governor-General, a Prime Minister, a Cabinet and Members of Parliament. This parliamentary system is the executive, legislative and governing instrument of the student body. Judging from a report in the current issue of "Bulletin", organ of the Ontario Secondary School Teacher's Federation, the system works democratically and effectively.

The magazine article is by Fraser Bradshaw, a teacher at the East York school, who instituted the school Parliament more than two years ago. Mr. Bradshaw is a son of Mrs. H. Bradshaw, Bethune St. north, and a brother of Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw.

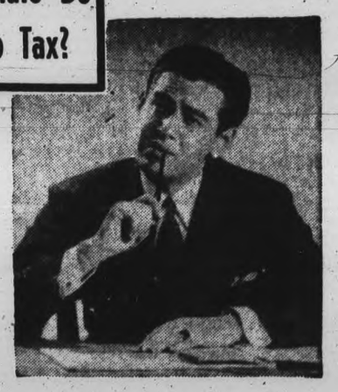
Like PCVS Council

Peterborough Collegiate and Vocation School has a somewhat similar organization, the Students' Council, which attends to the extra-curricular activities at PCVS and, under staff guidance, takes a significant part in the government of the school. The difference between the PCVS and East York Collegiate systems is one of form rather than substance. Nevertheless, the Student Parliament instituted by Mr. Bradshaw does give the pupils a realistic experience of parliamentary government not to be had in text-books, and is arousing considerable favourable comment among teachers in the province.

Like the PCVS Student Council, with its general executive and form representatives, the Student Parliament is elected by vote of the whole student body. Instead of staff advisers, the East York Parliament has a Governor-General (with power of veto seldom used). He is the principal of the school. Staff members form the Senate, and, like senators, are appointed.

An elected group of older pupils hold the Cabinet positions: Minister of Justice (the Cabinet has undertaken disciplinary action against pupils who have transgressed the school codes), Minister of Social Functions, Minister of Publicity and Student Welfare, and the like. And there are, of course, committees.

Elections are held in the spring, and students choose from among those nominated for the cabinet positions. One interesting qualification is a minimum of 60 per cent in academic studies. Defeated candidates are placed in minor cabinet positions by the newly-elected prime minister.



Form Constituencies

Each form is a "constituency". Mr. Bradshaw writes that form representatives are the students who really decide most matters brought up for debate" and to be elected as form member to the House of Commons "is becoming the highest honour a student may attain in his form".

Mr. Bradshaw comments in his article that: "The task of the Student Parliament is that of giving good government to the student body in the most efficient manner possible. The value received by the students, however, is dependent to only a small degree on the success of this task.

Kingston Beats Legion, 3-2 To Take Over Second Place

Edging out the local Legionnaires 3-2 here last night before a good-size crowd, Kingston Nylons took a tight grip on second place in their OHA senior "B" group standing. They now have 14 points to Belleville's 12, but Legion still lead with 21 points It was only the second loss for the Ellis outfit this season, and the first on home ice since the middle of last winter.

Nylons earned the win, hustling more than the homesters to force Legion to come from behind twice to tie it. Kingston's checking was good, the forwards forechecking well and the husky defencemen using the body often Play was fast in spots but often disorganized, Legion especially looking below form. It tended to be rough at times, too, especially toward the end, and twice fights threatened to break out.

On a Pair

Rochetta and Vitarelli were each in on two for the home squad, while Crowley and Montgomery got an assist apiece. Walt Gerow scored two for the visitors and Aiken one, Partis having a pair of assists and Plump and Graves one each. Both goalies made a flock of fine saves, none of the goals being soft touches. Godfrey and Graves were the pick of the defencemen and the starting front lines in each case proved the payoff men. The Hills' line hustled most for Legion, and the Harrison-McKeown-Hawkins trio for Kingston showed plenty of boring-in fight.

Gerow scored early on Partis' passout with Nicholls off-balance from a previous save. Patterson and Mortimer went off for high-sticking but were back when Rochetta and Crowley came close Joyce and Aiken tried hard and then Greenlaw, followed by Godfrey, tested Udall. Harrison was robbed and then Vitarelli tied it up in close from Rochetta and Crowley. Parnell got in for a shot at the finish.

Gerow Scores

Ohlke went over for interference in the middle heat, Mortimer followed for slashing and Gerow scored from Partis and Plumb in close on a power play. Fryia nearly notched one later and, with Graves gated for roughing Rochetta scored right inside with Montgomery and Vitarelli aiding Patterson drew a high-sticking nod and Greenlaw followed for cross-checking. Reg. Stewart joined him on a misconduct for arguing with the referee. Aiken roared in fast with Graves' pass and picked a corner to make it 3-2.

Aiken and later Graves limped off in the third as the checking became stiff. Patterson and Vitarelli hit the sin bin for roughing and Catlin came close to a goal. Greenlaw and Montgomery had a fine rush and Hills just missed. Later, Stewart was close as Legion belatedly began to press, though both goalies were busy at times .Patterson, Partis, Ohlke and Montgomery all drew penalties as play got notter toward the finish of the fray.

Kingston: Goal, Udall; defence, Plumb and Graves. Centre, Partis; wings, Catlin and Gerow; alternates Patterson, Ohlke, Joyce, Aiken, Harrison, McKeown, Hawkins and Stone.

Legion: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and Burns; centre, Rochetta; wings, Crowley and Vitarelli, alternates, Stewart, Hill, Fryia, Parnell, Greenlaw, Treen, D. Mortimer and Montgomery. Referee, L. Heffering; linesman, P. Calladine.

2 Ottawa Rinks In Semi-Finals

MONTREAL, Jan. 21—(CP)—Two Ottawa rinks were among four which advanced Friday night into the semi-final round of the Royal Victoria Jubilee Trophy here, irons curling's top award for single rink play.

Curling with irons still is popular in Quebec Province although most curlers across Canada prefer the lighter granite stones. There are few major iron bonspiels.

The four semi-finalists in the jubilee are Jack Bradley's Ottawa Curling Club four, Victory Meek's quartet from the Rideau Club, Ottawa, R. Fraser's Smiths Falls, Ont., crew, and a Montreal Heather team skipped by A. Roy Dewar.

Four other rinks gained the semi-finals of the consolation event leading to the Lady Gilmour Trophy after losing in the stage matches Friday.

They are the rinks of Rae Reddick, Aubrey, Que.; V. Christensen, Morrisburg, Ont.; Dr. H. L. Cheyney, Ottawa C.C., and D. A. Rowan, Pembroke, Ont.

Dark Horse Snatches Lead Among Golf Pros

LONG BEACH, Calif., Jan. 21 —(AP). — Sam Snead and the more famous members of golf's touring pros set out today to overhaul the proverbial dark horse as the $10,000 Long Beach open entered the second round of play.

Pacing the pack is little known Jack Harden of El Paso, Tex., who blasted nine strokes off par for a 62 on Friday over the par 71 Lakewood Country Club course.

His 31-31 performance equalled the competitive tournament marks in the PGA shared by such great stars as Ben Hogan, Byron Nelson and Lawson Little.

Bob Hamilton of Landover, Md., who sank a hole in one on the 147-yard ninth green, had a 31-34—65 for second place. Snead the favorite, shot a dependable 34-34—68 that left him five strokes off the pace. But nine players separated him from the leader.

Toronto Ladies Victorious For Warne Cup

By HERB MARTIN

In one of the greatest finishes ever witnessed here in a bonspiel, that "Grand Old Lady" of the Toronto Ladies Club, Mrs. Mitchell, came through with a spectacular shot on the extra end, playing against Mrs. Selkirk of Peterborough, and not only won that game, but won for her rink the handsome Warne Trophy, Friday here.

And right on the next ice, Mrs. Brereton, Toronto Granites, made an equally spectacular shot to win 9-8 against Mrs. Mackenzie, High Park, Toronto.

Mrs. Wood, Peterborough, won a close game from Mrs. Fanning, Peterborough, and these three were the three-game winners.

Mrs. Gooch, Hamilton Victorias, was high for two wins, and Mrs. Purvis, Peterborough, high for one win.

Two-Day 'Spiel.

The ladies commenced play around 9 o'clock on Thursday morning and the games were not long underway before it was seen that they were all in dead earnest. True, there was one or two one-sided scores, but the majority were close and interesting.

Mr. R. F. Downey, as the official umpire, was a busy man, and a popular one.

Mrs. G. Wood and her committee did a swell job. They handled every detail in first-class style, and furthermore the games were run pretty well on time. That in itself is a great help to any bonspiel.

At the conclusion of the bonspiel on Friday, tea was served in the club parlors and, after the prizes had been distributed, the ladies' open bonspiel for 1950 passed into history.

Don't forget tonight's mixed rink bonspiel.

Two Arenas Opened In Western Ontario

ZURICH, Jan. 21 (CP)—Two sports minded western Ontario communities, within seven miles of each other, realized long-standing dreams Friday night when they turned out in force for the official opening of their arenas. They were Zurich, where the Babe Seibert Memorial Arena was opened and Hensall, where their new building was the site of its first hockey game.

Colorful hockey personalities from both Canada and the United States attended the ceremonies. At Zurich, home of Babe Seibert, National Hockey League star with Montreal Maroons and Canadiens, the new $50,000 building was officially opened by the late hockeyist's wife and Jack Adams, manager of the Detroit Red Wings of the NHL.

The Hensall rink was opened by J. J. (Tiny) McFayden, president of the Ontario Hockey Association and Tory Gregg, president of the Western Ontario Athletic Association.

Quakers Get Win

Quakers beat Brintons 4-3 in a tidy Industrial Hockey League game. J. White score in the first frame, while he and H. Willshaw each clicked in the second for the winners, J. Hill helping on both goals. H. Willshaw scored the last one in the third chukker, D. Willshaw getting on assist. The latter drew a major and a minor penalty, while H. Willshaw and Harris drew minors. The scorers and lineup for Brintons were not sent in.

W. H. Yates Dies

HAMILTON, Jan. 21. (CP) — W. H. Yates, 70, owner of the Barton Street Arena, died at his home Friday. President of the Abso-Pure Ice Company and the Yates Construction Company, he engineered the building of many large buildings and churches here. Surviving are his widow and a daughter, both of Hamilton.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Hoop action on two fronts tonight. At the YMCA, Marines "B" men have a City League fixture with Orfuns at seven, and this is followed by Toronto West End "Y" against the "A" Marines, in what should be a dandy cage exhibition. Over at the Collegiate, it's a triple-header, commencing at 6.30. St. Peter's and PCVS bantams have a group go first, followed by another loop tilt betwixt SPS junior Bees and PCVS. Then, at 8.30, Coach Bev Goulding's senior PCIers tackle Toronto Eaton's Executive crew in a right promising exhibition. Results of last night's basketball frays should be in elsewhere.

* * * * * *

Comes bulletin No. 1 from the Ontario Baseball Association indicating spring is not too terribly far away. The 33rd annual meeting is on April 14 and 15 at Niagara Falls in the General Brock. OBA officials must write the secretary ere April 1 for reservations, and that's the final date for nominations (in writing) and proposed amendments and alterations to the constitution. The local City League should hold its annual meeting within another month or so for this reason. The COBL holds a session in Belleville on Sunday with a lot of important matters coming up.

* * * * * *

Another One Of Those

But this is hockey time, and the next big OHA senior "B" joust here is Monday at 8.30 in Civic Arena. The opponents? None other than the Legionnaires and Petes, ye olde puck rivals. The feud resumes at this time and should pack in the customers. Never a dull moment when these enemies clash on the ice and let the chips fall where they may. Legion have been rolling right along merrily but the Petes have been on the upsurge lately and threatening to climb still higher in the standing. They'd sooner beat Legion—and vice versa—than get a raise in pay. Hard to believe, but it's a fact.

* * * * * *

Peculiar part of this feud is that it's not encouraged by the officers or coaches of the two teams. No, several players on each team refuse to forget the bitter arguments, etc., of the past, and the other guys on these teams go right along with their buddies in keeping that feeling warmed up. Personally, we have no objections to the fighting spirit the rival squads carry into their games, just as long as no one really gets hurt. A bump or two, okay, but deliberate injury is definitely not okay. And the fans must be considered at all times, as they pay the freight. But enough of sermonizing.

* * * * * *

Nylons Wear Well, Eh?

It's been a mighty long time since local puck fans have seen Legion lose an OHA senior "B" game here, but quite a few saw it happen last eve. Yes, sir, Kingston Nylons earned a 3-2 verdict to clamp onto second place ahead of Belleville. Legion must still have been tired from the trip to Gananoque, as they played a poor brand—for them—the first two frames. Disorganized and lacking their usual hustle and fight. Got going in the third to enliven things, but the canny and rugged Nylons checked hard to hold their narrow lead. Nicholls and Godfrey did a lot toward keeping the score down. Numerous pucks into the crowd and a little girl (we didn't get her name) was cut on the face.

* * * * * *

IOOF-ers defeated Port Hope's junior "C" team 7-5 last e'en to officially open the new Peter Campbell Memorial Arena in Port Hope. The junior "B" teams' games with the junior "C" squads count points for the latter clubs, we're advised, but are only exhibitions for the "B" crews—excepting Lindsay, an original group entry. Some good and bad hockey served up in this tussle, winding up in a few fights. They have a nice arena there on money bequeathed by the late Pete Campbell, of Toronto ball Leafs — a former TCS student and one-time resident of Peterborough. The Oddfellows go to Oshawa on Monday and have the Motor Citizens here next Friday.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The record book shows shortstop Luke Appling, of Chicago White Sox, is 40 years old. Some sly folk say he's 42. Old aches and pains, himself, like to guess he is "about 38."

No matter. Appling, the old man river of the major leagues, Friday signed his 21st White Sox contract.

And Sunday night Appling will receive the J. Louis Comiskey Memorial Award for long and meritorious service to baseball from the Chicago Baseball Writers at their dinner.

As far as the White Sox are concerned, the long and meritorious service hasn't ended yet. "I'll be in there as many games as they let me," said Luke after signing his 1950 contract and then turning blandly to general-manager Frank Lane and asking "What's in this, anyway?"

Lane wouldn't say if Appling got a raise, but he did insist the old gentleman from the South didn't take a cut.

Premier Frost of Ontario hinted strongly Friday any attempt to extend gambling outlets, as indicated by a movement to have night harness-racing at Toronto next summer, might be scotched by the government.

The Canadian Trotting Association recently approved 40-odd nights of racing at Thorncliffe race track next summer, and now is considering an application from Fred Orpen for night racing dates at his suburban Long Branch track. Both plants would have pari-mutuel betting.

"These interests had better keep their money in their bank till they find out whether large-scale extension of betting to this class of racing will be tolerated," Mr. Frost said.

Fred Wilt, the fast-stepping policeman, ran away from Ireland's John Barry on the final lap to win the mile at the Inquirer indoor track meet Friday night at Philadelphia.

At Philadelphia, Buffalo and Houston, Texas, Friday lost their battles for National-American Football League franchise. League owners voted against admitting a 14th member. Oakland, Calif., also was rejected on the same ballot.

Toronto Argonauts are negotiating with an unnamed former Notre Dame lineman who played with the famous Four Horsemen in 1924 in their search for a coach, to succeed Ted Morris, club officials said Friday.

Bob Moran, club president, said "We have contacted this man ... he played with the famous Four Horsemen in 1924, and has been a line coach in professional football." He added that the man comes highly recommended.

Open Warkworth Rink

WARKWORTH, Jan. 21 (ENS) —George McKee and his son Elmer have completed preparations for opening the rink after considerable delay due to weather conditions. There will be skating every night except hockey nights, with hockey practice from 7 to 8 p.m. Saturday afternoons from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. are set aside for the parents to bring the younger children to the rink.

Port Hope Loses Initial Game In Campbell Rink

Peterborough Triple Links made a sorry beginning for the Peter Campbell Memorial Arena in Port Hope Friday night as they downed the Port Hope Junior C's 7-5 in the initial game. This game was only an exhibition for the locals while the Port Hopers were losing a chance to pick up two points for their Cobourg-Orono-Port Hope Junior C grouping summary.

Led by the Turner-Wyatt-Floyd line the Oddfellows pushed the Hopers for the first eight minutes of the opening session. But the sensational work of Yoyo Ashton in the Ports' nets kept the score down to 2-0. A penalty to Tommy "Bubbles" Birch for crosschecking seemed to turn the tide as Goody dinted the twine. Forty-five seconds later Campbell went in alone to tie the score. The rest of the period was carried by the Junior C'ers as the Triple Links' defence failed to clear the puck out of the defensive zone.

Play took o turn for the best in the second as both teams applied the heat with fast passing plays. In the first two minutes the Ports took the lead and the Trips tied it up. Again the Turner line temporarily bottled up the Hopers with Yoyo Ashton keeping the wolves away from the door. Floyd finally put the Trips one up only to have Hessen tie it up five seconds later. Eight seconds later Fennell on a long slap shot from the blue line counted the winning tally. Birch and Wyatt added markers to make the period score end 7-4.

Again play did a change-about. This time the squads began to rough it up as they became disorganized. Ragged hockey was the result of the roughness and disorganization. Dotzko was the only one to slip the pill into the nets as he grabbed a loose, flimsy pass from Downey behind the net to slip around the corner and flip it in at the 9.58 mark.

Tempers blew up in the last minute of play in the Peterborough sector as Millar and Flesch locked in fond embrace. Flesch with a headlock on Millar with one arm while trying to land some right hooks into Millar's mid-section with the other. This action stopped play and drew other players into the conflict with the following results; Millar, Doris, Medurst, and Flesch sat out the minute of play left in the sinbin serving majors. Downey clipped Benny Mason 45 seconds afterwards and Mason flew into him with fists flying. Doug Love of Oshawa, the referee, quickly grabbed Mason directing him in the direction of the penalty box.

Lineups:

Peterborough Oddfellows — Goal, Ron Hehn; defence, D. Wasson, Richlark; centre, Desjardin; wings, B. Mason, R. Mason; alternates, Baker, Birch, Doris, Turner, Floyd, Wyatt, Fennell, Millar.

Port Hope Junior C's—Goal, Ashton; defence, Flesch, Goody; centre, Hessen; wings, Dotzko, Downey; alternates, Wilcox, Campbell, Medhurst, H. McKeen, Freeman, Pillsworth, Evans, A. McKeen.

Norah says she'll use the money to help pay her way through a journalism course at Carleton College in Ottawa.

Williams Gives Bratton TKO

CHICAGO, Jan. 21 (AP) — A welterweight championship showdown between Ike Williams, lightweight king, and Sugar Ray Robinson, the 147 pound titleholder, is in the making for Chicago Stadium this spring.

James D. Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, said he will "make every effort" to sign the two.

Norris's decision came after a crowd of 11,535 paid $44,072.32 Friday night to watch Johnny Bratton of Chicago enter the ring against Buzz Saw Williams They got their money's worth.

Williams, scaling 143 pounds to Bratton's 146, moved into contention with a smashing technical knockout of the Chicagoan in the eighth round of a scheduled 10-round bout. It was the third time Williams had defeated Bratton.

Bratton quit suddenly while absorbing a beating in the face. He held his jaw, the same one Beau Jack broke in the eighth round in a Chicago Stadium bout two years ago. Bratton motioned to referee Norm McGarity that his jaw may have been fractured and walked to his corner.

X-rays were to be taken today.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Nine years ago today, Bob Feller signed a contract with the Cleveland Indians of the American League for an estimated $30,000 — the highest salary ever paid a pitcher. Previously, the $27,500 paid Lefty Grove by Boston Red Sox generally was regarded as the highest.

Neills-Normals Gain Wins In Girls' Loop

Normals nosed out CGE 19-18 while Neill's trimmed Nurses Juniors 27-12 in a Girls Basketball League double-header at the YWCA. The Electrics were a little light on players but made it a swell scrap. The schedule, which has about a month to go yet before playoffs, resume next Friday night there.

It was a strong rally in the second half of the first fray that gave Normals their win as they trailed 12-3 at halftime. But CGE slowed down some and Normals drove hard in the speedy tilt, marked with good passing. The winners had eight fouls called on them and the losers 10. Amy Curtis led Normals with seven points, Marg. Coombs having five and Gladys Clarke four. Betty Stewart stood out for CGE with nine, and Marg Batley was next with four. Teams:

Normals: M. Holroyd, M Coombs 5, S. McEwen 2, A. Curtis 7, L. Cullis 1, E. Scriver, G. Clarke 4, M. Kerr.

CGE: M. Batley 4, B. Stewart 9, M. Kennedy 3, T. Stewart 2, Marg Perrin, Marj. Perrin, D. Jackson.

Referees, H. Smith and E. Nicholls.

Finish Strong

Neill's finished strong in the second tussle after a 13-9 first half to earn their victory rather handily. Jean Vass and Dot Callan broke up a fairly close and speedy struggle with some neat shooting under the basket in the late stages, though they also sparked the first-half attack, along Marg Freeman. The Nurses' scoring was pretty well spread around. P. Stewart and J. Dunk did some good passing for the winners ,who drew 11 fouls to six for the losers. Teams:

Neill's: J. Vass 9, D. Callan 11, P. Stewart 2, J. Dunk 2, D. Saunders, M. Freeman 3. G. Post, W. Floyd.

Nurses, Jrs: V Latondresse 4, B. Sutton 4, P. Martin 1, B. Gamble 1, S. Brooks 2, R. Broadway, J. Brown.

Referees, H. Smith and T. Smith; timer, I. Black.

TO CLASH WITH YUKON—Seelie Samara, above, who signed to meet Yukon Eric in the main bout of next Thursday's wrestling card at the Brock. Manager Laidlaw decided on this bout at the suggestion of a number of fans, who claimed that a scientific grappler like Samara could give Yukon a real go. It will be interesting to see how Seelie fares out against the Alaskan with his famous leg locks, flying tackles and his hammerhead stunt. Two other matches are being arranged.

Popular Idea To Despise Men With Scholarships

REV. E. R. JAMES

There has not risen a prophet in Israel like unto Moses whom the Lord knew face to face.—Deut. 34:10.

It is popular today to despise high scholarship. The plea to bring "The simple Gospel" is a half truth. God called Amos, a herdman to do his work of revealing that Jehovah was not only a holy God but a righteous one.

WHOM THE LORD KNEW FACE TO FACE. A striking statement, for the Jews of that age were taught that Jehovah was their one living God but that He was far away. They were a separated people worshipping a separated God. It took generations to teach the Jews this truth that Jehovah is the one living God. It took an exile into Babylon to teach them to utterly reject idolatory and worship the living God. Then in the fulness of time God sent His only begotten Son that men might know what God is like. The Lord Jesus saith: "He that hath seen Me hath seen the Father.

Moses was no barbarian leading his people into the wilderness. He was a man of great culture and wide education. "Moses was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians", the most cultured people of that age. Moses had been trained to think, an important truth in education. For 40 years he cared for the sheep of Jethro, his father-in-law. He had time to digest the teachings. God was preparing him for his great work of leaving a deep mark upon the thinking of the ages. He became a thinking ruler, a rare qualification It was Plato's ideal that the thinker should be a ruler —important in this democratic generation.

Moses calls to us across the centuries to impress upon us the secret of his success. He had no easy time as you will see if you read his books He had constant trouble. The key of his success was in this passage of Holy Writ: "He returned unto the Lord". Over and over again when things went wrong and the people rebelled against his authority he returned unto the Lord for wisdom and courage. He built up his own moral character by his vision of God's holy character. Each time he returned to the Lord he received fresh revelation. God spake to him face to face and sent him back to his leadership with fresh enthusiasm. His people saw something of the glory of God in his face. What a lesson for you and me in our own trials and difficulties. You have striven to put yourself in the presence of God and something of His glory will be seen on your face, but you will not be aware of it.

It is interesting to remember that Moses did not seek for this leadership. He was wise enough to recognize its difficulties. He was slow of speech and tongue. Hearken to his bitter cry unto the Lord. "Why is it that Thou hast sent me? For since I came to Pharoah to speak in Thy Name he has done evil to this people.

The secret of his greatness is that he saw God who is invisible. May you and I and our leaders in these anxious days strive to see Jesus Christ, Who is the image of the invisible God. In the inspiration of that vision face the coming darkness with hope and faith. "It is the Lord. let Him do what seemeth Him good.

LORD, SHEW ME THY GLORY.

MY PRESENCE SHALL GO WITH THEE: SAITH THE LORD

Death Of Stephen Aided In The Conversion Of Paul

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

The death of Stephen, first among a long line of heroic martyrs for their Christian faith, stoned to death by false witnesses and accusers, was notable not only for his defense, recorded in Acts 7 and his calm and prayerful meeting of his last hour, but also for reference to one who was present, and witnessed the tragedy.

In Acts 7:58, it is recorded that as the stoning took place outside Jerusalem "the witnesses laid down their clothes at a young man's feet, whose name was Saul."

It is commonly said that the blood of martyrs is the seed of the church, and it is not at all unlikely that the death of Stephen was the first real sowing in the conversion of Saint Paul. There is no direct reference to Stephen in the story of Paul's conversion on the way to Damascus, Acts 9. but neither is there in that story any account of what must have been passing through Paul's mind. leading up to that arresting experience. That there was already some unsettlement in Paul's mind was evident in his "kicking against the pricks," and in his cry "Who art thou, Lord?" when he heard the voice. It is a common fact in religious experience that men become more intense in opposition, and in persecuting zeal, when they are in fact on the verge of accepting the very thing they profess to hate.

One wonders a little why a man so full of persecuting zeal on his own behalf as was Paul, "breathing out threatening and slaughter against the disciples," was content only to mind the clothes of those who did the actual stoning of Stephen. Could it be that the man who so shortly was to write so beautifully of the love of God, and of brotherly love—as Paul wrote in Corinthians 13, and in many other chapters of his Epistles—felt an inward prompting of revulsion against the crude horror of a fellow mortal being stoned to death?

Moreover, when he saw the serene faith of the victim of that cruel death, calling upon the Lord Jesus to receive his spirit, and pleading for the forgiveness of those who were doing him to death, could the spiritually sensitive Paul not be moved to some inward wondering about a Christ faith in whom could inspire such calm confidence and courage in His disciples?

The devout Pharisee hated what he conceived to be opposition to the truth, but was the truth entirely as he saw it? For the first time doubt had entered his mind the first step leading to conversion and newfound faith. It was not as he insisted, a denial of the religion he had held, or of that life that he had lived in all good conscience. Rather, it was a crowning and enrichment of all that he had believed, a realization that in Jesus of Nazareth was the fulfilment of all that saints and prophets had foretold.

Thus, the death in martyrdom of Stephen is linked with the new life in Paul. Seeming loss in God's providence, becomes a great gain Is it too much to believe that out of present-day martyrdoms as well will arise new faith, life and power for the church and Christianity?

Change Made In Devotions

Beginning with the New Year the Peterborough Ministerial Association which is in charge of the morning devotions at 8.45 over radio station CHEX has been placing one minister in charge every week Monday to Friday inclusive instead of having a different minister each morning. TORONTO, Jan. 21. (CP) — The $4,000,000 campaign for the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children was well over the top Friday night with a total of $4,308,599. Probate of the will of the late Mrs. J. E. Hammell, wife of a prominent mining executive, showed that she had bequeathed $450,000 to the hospital. Then the suburban York County Council made a grant of $330,000.

Fire Committee Reports $3,000 Surplus

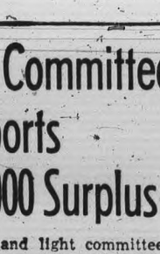
Fire and light committee will show a surplus of $3,000 from 1949, Ald. Doug Miller reported Thursday night.

To the members of the committee meeting at the fire hall, he said that he had gone over the needs for this year with Chief George Smith, and it was hoped that the department requisition would be renewed at the same amount as last year, $120,000.

"We will have to buy some hose and fire alarm boxes, and outside that the department can probably get along the same as last year," Ald. Miller said. "We need fifteen alarm boxes for new sections of the city. We have not done much for the last three or four years on the extension of the alarm system.

We might buy five boxes a year for the next three years, and put them up in the new subdivisions, starting at the farther end of the lines."

Master Boxes for Hospitals



Chief Smith had recommended a master box at Civic Hospital. It trips an alarm box on the street. The ordinary boxes cost about $200 each, and the master box $282. It was believed that St. Johseph's Hospital would also require a master box, and as to supply and installation, Ald. Dewart suggested the two hospitals be treated alike. If the hospitals buy these boxes, the department will set them up. His motion to that effect was seconded by Ald. Burrows.

Appreciation of the efforts of Chief Smith in the economic management of the department was expressed in a motion by Alderman Burrows and Gillespie.

The meeting of the committee at the fire hall enabled the members to inspect the property and the changes that were made last year to provide additional space on the ground floor for the apparatus. Every corner of the building looked bright and shining with evidence of good housekeeping.

The Miller committee is the first to indicate the amount of its requisition for this year.

Oxygen Revives 16-Year-Old Girl

Overcome by coal gas, 16-year-old Jean Stewart was brought back to consciousness by a fire department inhalator about 8.30 a.m. today.

Other members of the family were not affected to the same extent as Jean. Her father, Fred Stewart, had a headache, but Mrs. Stewart and another daughter, Elma, 17, felt no serious effects.

The fire department received the call at 8.27. They rushed their inhalator to the Stewart home at 584 Gilchrist St. and applied it to Jean. They also gave the girl oxygen and brought her around after about five minutes.

Gas Unsuspected

Jean had just got up out of bed when she suddenly lost consciousness. Elma was in the room with her. Jean regained consciousness but then fainted away again two or three times. At that time the family did no supect coal gas because they could not smell it.

Finally they phoned the fire department. The police department was also notified and Traffic Officer Claire McGillen answered the call to render any assistance he could. The firemen who operated the inhalator were Frank Shearer, Don Bartley, Ed Close and Joseph Martell.

SIX CHILDREN IN A SHACK.—In a filthy, tumble-down shack on the banks of the Otonabee River, there live six children between the ages of four and thirteen, and their mother, Mrs. Bessie Vallee. Despite an income from relief and baby bonuses of $41.97 a week, no better provision for this young family of children has been made. Left, is Mrs. Vallee with her two youngest children, Shirley, aged four, crippled because of the damp condition of the house, and Gail, aged five. Right, the cat sits in the middle of the floor on a piece of tin covering a hole under which there is a den of skunks. Below, an exterior view of the shack.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

Mother And Six Children Live In Tumble-Down Shack

By HAZEL PAULL

On the banks of the Otonabee river, in the township of Otonabee, little more than a stone's throw from the boundary at the south of the city, there live six children between the ages of four and thirteen, in a tumble-down shack approximately 18 x 20 feet. It stands two or three feet from the water's edge and every day the mother takes a look to see how much further the river could rise before the floor of the shack would be submerged.

Youngest of the children is Shirley, who will soon reach her fifth birthday. She is a cripple, crippled by a complaint so greatly aggravated by the damp, stenching, broken-down condition of the tiny cottage, that she has never been able to walk.

Shirley sits all day on one of the three beds which have some how or other been crowded into the shack, listening to a family of skunks which have made their home under a hole in the floor. The hole has been covered with the flattened top of a tin.

At night the skunks keep the children wake and the younger ones are just a little afraid of the animals.

Lack of knowledge among the community can be the only reason why public opinion has not been outraged by the revolting conditions under which the children are being forced to live. Not only is the building a breeding ground for disease, but under those conditions it is difficult to believe that children could grow up to be desirable members of the community.

Eldest of the children is Delores, aged 13, who has rheumatism so badly she was unable to go to school last week. The two and a half mile walk was too far for her, so she stayed at home, in the filth and stench of the only place she has to call home.

Mrs. Bessie Vallee, mother of the children says she has not moved her family out of the cottage because she has nowhere else to take them. She and her husband, Aurele Vallee, separated two years ago. He is now completing a two months sentence in jail, after being convicted in November on a charge of theft.

Not Short of Money

Shortage of money is not responsible for the scandalous situation. From the township of Otonabee Mrs Vallee receives $129.90 every month, $38 baby bonus from the Federal Government and the children have recently started a paper route.

More than $42 is coming into the family circle every week and rent, during the winter, is $10 a month.

In addition to relief money, the family has received assistance from service clubs. The stove which heats the cottage and is the only means of cooking, was donated by a charitable organisation as were other household commodities.

The Children's Aid Society has been responsible for any help which has been secured for the benefit of the children. It cannot take any drastic action because it is only from houses which have been officially condemned that the Society has jurisdiction to assume care of children.

Otonabee township Medical Officer of Health said Friday that the matter had not been reported and he had not, therefore, inspected the place.

$500 Grants County Rinks

Three indoor rinks currently under construction are to receive $500 grants from the County Council, according to a recommendation of the council's finance committee.

At the March session last year the council decided to recommend to its 1950 successor that Otonabee Memorial Arena at Keene receive a grant. Earlier at the present session Charles Nelson, president of the Memorial Arena Committee and F. A. Eason were a delegation to ask for financial assistance.

On Friday the matter was brought up again by Reeve Harry Reid of Otonabee and Deputy-Reeve Richard Stewart.

Havelock and Dummer

E. J. Leeson of Havelock said the village was completing its own Community Centre which includes a rink, and Stewart Clysdale, reeve of Dummer, put in a similar claim for the Warsaw Memorial Arena.

The Otonabee arena, besides having an ice surface of 170 ft. by 70 ft. is flanked by two curling rinks. Approximate cost of these ambitious projects is $40,000.

At Havelock the $27,000 community centre is not quite completed though skating is going on there. The ice surface is also 170 by 70.

Mr. Clydesdale said the Warsaw arena also has regulation size ice surface and the estimated cost is more than $20,000. Dummer officials hope it will be open the first week in February.

The Lakefield Memorial Arena received a similar grant last year.

2-Piano Masters Of Poetic Music

By ROBERTSON DAVIES.

When the piano team of Bartlett and Robertson first visited Peterborough four years ago, they gave so much pleasure to the audience of the Community Concert Association that they were invited to return during the present season. Their concert on Friday night was another triumph particularly for the audience. The artists were not on trial; their reputation is secure whatever Peterborough may think. But the Peterborough audience was on trial, and showed conclusively that it is a real appreciation of music, rather than a desire for novelty or famous personalities, which makes them crowd the PCVS auditorium for this annual series.

Miss Bartlett, in conversation after the concert, spoke in the warmest terms of the quality of appreciation which the audience had shown during the most demanding parts of the program. Peterborough, it is clear, is developing an audience worthy of the finest artists.

Brahms The Peak

The chief glory of the evening in the opinion of the present writer, was the masterly playing of Brahms' "Variations on A Theme of Haydn." This noble work was given with a depth and richness of understanding which we shall not soon hear rivalled. The artists had gone straight to the heart of the composition and the variations were shown to us as Brahms intended them to be—as enrichments of the theme, revealing its grandeur rather than obscuring it.

The audience was given an opportunity earlier in the evening to hear variations of a more conventional, though still wonderful, type when the concluding portion of Handel's 5th Harpsichord Suite was finely played. This work has become famous as "The Harmonious Blacksmith," though Handel never knew it by that name. We hope that we shall not be accused of peevishness if we suggest that the foolish 19th century legend of the musical blacksmith on the program is unworthy of the two fine artists who played the piece; we suspect the "popularizing"

Seek Department's Advice On Replacing Bridge At Gannon's Narrows

The county should notify the Department of Highways and Public Works of the shattered condition of the floating bridge at Gannon's Narrows, the County Roads Committee recommended Friday.

The motion which passed unanimously in a committee of the whole also asked for the Department's advice on replacing it and an estimate on the cost of a permanent structure there.

As the swing span of the bridge has also been damaged due to a combination of high winds, waves and floating chunks of ice, the Department of Transport will also be notified.

Gale Elliott, reeve of Harvey, said that the floating bridge, now broken into three sections, has caused a disruption of motor traffic for a week.

"You can't get a boat out there to repair it," he said "and the ice isn't strong enough to walk on."

He conceded that not much could be done until the warm spring weather arrives, but stressed that at present it was "a great inconvenience" to residents in the northern part of Ennismore and in Harvey as far as Lakehurst.

(The 1300 foot wooden bridge crosses the narrow neck of water between Pidgeon and Buckhorn Lakes.)

Apart from being broken in two places, a section of it is partly frozen under the water. Only anchor chains are holding the shattered remnants from floating down the narrows into Buckhorn Lake.

There has been considerable agitation among residents of Harvey and Ennismore Twps., to have a causeway built across the narrows, similar to the one completed last summer across Chemong Lake.

Highways Minister George Doucette visited the bridge last year and expressed sympathetic interest, but no departmental decision has yet been announced.

The committee of the whole on roads recommended that in the meantime temporary repairs be left at the discretion of the Road Committee and County Engineer J. D. Kean.

Afternoon Tea Served to Curlers

Curlers relaxed over a cup of tea after seeing the finish of the Warne Trophy bonspiel Friday afternoon at Peterborough Curling Rink. The gay social hour brought to a perfect end a strenuous two days of competition between 28 rinks. The club lounge was filled with colorfully attired players who sat on the floor when chairs ran out. On a lace-covered tea table were two large silver urns from which cups were filled with hot, refreshing tea by Mrs. C. G. Graham and Mrs. Ray Best. Social conveners Mrs. J. Fanning and Mrs. F. J. A. Hall had an ample supply of sandwiches and cakes to sustain the hearty appetites provoked the exercise, and club members not participating in the 'spiel helped to serve. A beautiful bouquet of spring flowers which graced the serving table was afterward presented to Mrs. R. H. Turner, past president of the club, whose ill health has prevented her from curling recently.

800 Attend Third Naval Ball On HMCS Aragon

The third annual Naval Ball was an assured success long before Friday evening for the 400 available tickets were all sold some days ago. Nothing happened to mar the story, though some of the guests may have departed with the feeling that HMCS Aragon was tossing on a heavy sea.

Lieut. Commander G. H. Davidson, the director of naval training in Canada, left his work in Ottawa to attend this event, seemed highly pleased at the opportunity, especially after he had recognized a man he met during the war and they recalled an amusing incident that took place. Mrs. Davidson attended the dance with her husband and was quite at home for she is the former Marion Wood who lived in Peterborough with her family for some years and attended Queen Mary School.

The Commander seemed a typical navy man, and, in his early 30's seemed young to hold such a responsible position. However, in a short conversation it was clear he is a man of action with whom the navy comes first and he will do everything in his power to make the Canadian Navy strong and the mightiest power in the country's defence. He explained away any idea that a future war might be fought by the air force—unless the battles are to be right in Canada. It is the navy alone that can guard the shores from invasion and also place the war in the lap of the enemy by transporting men and supplies so that other branches of service can function.

Naval associations such as the Peterborough Branch are the nucleus from which stems the family of loyalties, home to nation, that will provide men if they are needed for another war. Therefore the Commander feels that they are important to the city and the nation. Sea Cadets provide 40 per cent of the navy recruits attending the various schools over which he is co-ordinator.

The nautical atmosphere was heightened with a coil of ship's signal flags, which can be read like a book by the trained seamen, and such signs as "ship's canteen", and "heads".

President Fred Kiff conducted the draw for major door prizes, a mantel radio and leather travelling case. These went to Mr. and Mrs. Ken Long.

Names entered in the ship's log were:

Mr. and Mrs. James Park, Mr. and Mrs. J. Neck, Mr. and Mrs. T. Pilling, Mr and Mrs. Allen Bateman, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Bell Co. Fetes W. J. Davies Retiring After 43 Years

The retirement of Mr. W. J. (Bill) Davies after 43 years service with the Bell Telephone Company was the occasion for the "Bell Hop" at the Empress Hotel Friday evening. Mr. Davies was honored with presentations of gifts and life memberships by fellow members of the Peterborough Social Club and Pioneers of Peterborough Region Four.

More than 150 of his friends were present for dinner, including company members from out-of-town points. Immediate members of his family were also invited, including his brother Mr. Dick Davies of Stratford who came especially for the occasion.

A thumbnail sketch of Mr. Davies' life with the company given by district construction superintendent Gibson of Toronto, advised that he got his start in 1906 at Brantford just after he arrived from England. In 1910 he returned to his native land and was married but soon came back to the job bringing his wife. After 21 years he became a member of the Pioneer Club and then he put in 21 more years and some months which brought him to pension age and retirement.

Mr. and Mrs. Davies have lived in Peterborough some years now and have taken an active part in local activities. They had three children, one son William having lost his life early in the Second World War, Jack Davies, who was also in war-service, and their daughter Mrs. Elmer Pearse (Muriel) both live in the city too [illegible] ing, throughout the evening, Mr. Davies received many tributes of esteem. First presentation was the president's wallet, then a life membership in Pioneers of America giving him access to all such organizations on the continent should he decide to travel, and a life membership in Champlain Pioneers Council. A wrist watch was the gift from local pioneers and construction department employees, presented on their behalf by supervisor R. W. Stewart. Life membership in the Canadian Telephone Employees Association was presented by Bud Wood.

Mrs. Davies was presented with a dozen roses by Miss Florrie Cooper, also a Pioneer and construction department employee.

The Social Club's gift, presented by president Gar Poole, was a mantel radio which will bring pleasure to Mr. and Mrs. Davies.

Local president Roy Bissett, chairman, also spoke very highly of Mr. Davies.

Miss Phyllis Marshall, who recently transferred to a Toronto office of the Company, was honored with a gift from the social club, presented by Miss Vi Riddle. Bride-elect Miss Margaret Jones received a pair of lamps as a wedding gift from fellow members of the club.

Each guest received a table favor and three special favors were handed to Tom Sproat, Ab Hogan of Orillia and Dick Davies, Stratford.

Entertainment feature was a comic skit, produced by the party organizer Keith Boyce. Many users of the telephone were in sympathy with Bill Greatrix who while endeavouring to get connection on a local call witnessed almost immediate service on transatlantic calls. Others taking part were Roy James, Keith Harrison, Chuck Gillespie, John Charlton and Bob Clarke.

Dinner music was played by Frank Hamon. After nine o'clock there was dancing in the Kawartha Room with orchestra music by Ted Everitt. Many friends who could not be present for dinner, came to the dance.

Use Halls When No Theatre Says Mrs. Brenda Davies

A shortage of theatres can be overcome to a large extent by use of halls with platform stages, as was demonstrated at the Edinburgh International Festival of Music and Drama, Mrs. Brenda Davies told the Women's Art Association Friday.

Professional groups entertained the Forces during the war and also visited industrial groups throughout Britain, presenting plays in halls and rooms. It was a satisfactory arrangement for some types of plays, mostly classical, but a proper theatre was indispensable to the realistic drawing room comedy.

Mrs. Davies was guest speaker at the Association's meeting in the Y.W.C.A. and her subject was the Edinburgh International Festival of Music and Drama, which she attended last year.

The technique used to present plays in Shakespearean style in Dunfermline Abbey, a magnificent Norman building; in the Church of Scotland Assembly Rooms and in a school room was described.

Mrs. Davies explained that whereas it was a great accomplishment for Canada to be represented at the Festival, its contribution, when seen in proportion to the whole event, was comparatively small. It was just one of a great many productions.

For three weeks the program continued day and night. One days she saw, "She Stoops to Conquer" at 10 a. m. and another play started at 11.30 p.m.

The Scottish Community Drama Association had made special plans to enable Canadian and other overseas visitors to tour Edinburgh with guides, who described the historic importance of various features of the city.

Mrs. Davies visited the famous Royal Mile leading from the centre of the city to Holyrood Palace, with a guide who had made a study of its great history. There were many buildings which remained today, exactly as they were in medieval times and also many fine example of Adam architecture.

Tartans owned privately, were put on show during the Festival.

Mrs. N. D. Seaton, president of the Women's Art Association, proposed a vote of thanks to Mrs. Davies.

Diaper Supply Headache To UK Mothers

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON, Jan. 21 — (CP) — Diapers are a mother's headache in Britain today.

The government used to subsidize their manufacture. Now it doesn't and there just aren't enough to go around. Most stores have long waiting lists against future supplies.

Manufacturers say they cannot afford to make them unless the Board of Trade raises the present ceiling prices.

Manufacturers say the rise in cotton prices leaves them with no profit margin.

"If the Board to Trade increase the ceiling price, some manufacturers may be able to produce more. But another reason for the shortage is that wholesalers cut their production schedules when the government subsidy on nappies was taken of and prices increased about 50 per cent."

Can't Switch Back

Expecting a drop in sales demand, wholesalers cut diaper production and turned to full scale export business. Now they find it impossible and unprofitable to switch back again.

Six hundred diapers that could help the shortage are being returned to the United States.

Sent to Mrs. Jay Norris who runs a diaper service in Ilford, Essex, they were paid for in dollars earned by Mrs. Norris while in the United States.

But the Board of Trade have refused an import licence.

"We do not issue import licence for nappies," the board said. "The dollars Mrs. Norris had when about to leave America were officially 'surplus dollars' and should have been turned over to the British treasury."

The U. S. Civil Servant who sent them, M. D. Paget, told Mrs. Norris:

"I will contact every senator in Washington before I will let the customs confiscate them."

Young-Bristow

The marriage was solemnized this morning at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Young's Point, of Florence Mary Bristow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gormley Barff of Montreal, and Mr. Gerald Hubert Young, son of the Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gerald Young of Peterborough. The Rev. Dr. J. V. Masterson officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Mrs. Eileen Pratt of Ottawa. The groom's attendant was his brother Raymond Young of Peterborough.

Afterward there was a reception at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Capt. and Mrs. Harold Young, Young's Point. Only immediate members of the family were present.

The bride and groom left to spend a honeymoon in Toronto.

Children Selfish to Oppose Parents' Re-marriage Plans

We have all shed tears over the blighted romances of children whose selfish parents refused to let them marry the perfectly good boys and girls with whom they were in love because the fathers and mothers could not endure the thought of their sons and daughters caring more for anybody than they did for them.

But it is not always father or mother who is the self-centred, domestic tyrant. Very often it is the children themselves who refuse to let a widowed parent re-marry, because they do not wish any change made in their homes, or for dad or mother to have any interest but themselves, or for any one else to be put in the place of their dead father or mother.

Dorothy Dix

Strangely enough, these days it is oftener the parents than the children who are the victims of these selfish monopolists in love. There is hardly a day in which I do not get a letter from some widow or widower telling a pathetic tale of how his or her children are barring him or her from happiness by refusing to let him or her marry. Generally these widows and widowers are still in the prime of life with the prospect of many years of life before them.

Have Sacrificed All

They have tried to be both mother and father to their children and have made every conceivable sacrifice for them and devoted themselves to them. But now their children are grown and gone about the business of life for themselves. The nest is empty. Their task accomplished. They are very lonely and they have found a woman or man, suitable in every way, with whom they might re-establish their lives and find companionship.

But their children won't hear of it. Their children are horrified at the idea of mother or father getting married again. They say it won't be the same to come back to the old home with a new woman or man in it. They want to know why father or mother needs anyone to love when he or she has his or her children, and, if father or mother is lonely, why can't he or she come and live with them?

And these selfish children never stop to think that mother and father have an individuality of their own, and that they want to be happy in their own way and choose their own companions and have their own houses. They are not satisfied just with being John's and Mary's father or mother and hangers-on in John's and Mary's society when they happen to think to give it to them.

Want Own Companions

Nor does the idea ever percolate through the conceit of children that they are no more satisfying companions to their parents than their parents to them. Mother and father want the companionship of someone of their own generation, someone who wants to do the things they want to do.

It seems ridiculous to any child to think of father or mother falling in love at 45 or 50 or 60 odd, but it happens, and these middle-age romances, with their Indian summer of warm affection and tenderness and understanding, often bring to a man and woman a greater happiness than the fiery passion of their youth did. It is a heartless thing for the young, who have so much, to be willing to deprive their parents of anything that makes pleasant the last lap of the journey.

Above all, the young do not understand what having their own home means to the old. No man or woman who has been at the head of his or her household can ever fit gracefully into another household. Always there is bound to be friction and the mother or father who is living with his or her children has either to be a self-effacing shadow or a perpetual storm centre.

Ship Sinks In Gale 25 Of Crew Said Safe

MARSEILLES, Jan. 21—(Reuters)—Adrift for hours, a sea captain and eight men were rescued today from a storm-tossed raft after the 1,198-ton Tunisian ship Tebourba sank in a gale off the Spanish coast.

A French ship, Ville D'Oran, took off the rest of the crew of 25 before the Tebourba went down.

Visibility was almost nil but a seaplane and other aircraft joined in the search for the raft, while a civil airliner was directed to leave its Algiers-Paris course and parachute a rubber rescue dinghy near the spot where the ship was last seen.

Alex Battista 21, who was driving another car on the night of the fatality, was sentenced to three months for failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Montreal Mayor Raps Article In Magazine

MONTREAL, Jan. 21 (CP) — Mayor Camillien Houde Friday termed Time Magazine, "one of the most nefarious magazines that exist, a magazine that lies with effrontery to millions of readers."

The Mayor's remarks in City Council came when Councillor H. Ravary complained that nothing had been done about his motion, passed by council last summer, calling for action against Time Magazine. He said the magazine, in an article on vice conditions in Montreal, had cast aspersions on council and the police force.

Charge Cheese Pact ShowsSomeFavoritism

TORONTO, Jan. 21 (CP) — A charge that the new British cheese contract favors factories in eastern Ontario and Montreal was made Friday by president Charles Heath, of the Canadian Cheese Producers Association.

He said in an interview that the new price, 28 cents a pound for cheese which has reached the shipping port, discriminates against factories in western Ontario who must pay the freight charges to Montreal.

21 Tugs Pull And Push For More Than Hour But US Battleship Missouri Wallows In Mud

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 21 (AP)— Tugs again Friday took up the job of trying to free the giant battleship Missouri, stuck fast in a Chesapeake Bay mudbank, but failed in more than an hour of pulling to budge the vessel.

They pulled first from the port side and then starboard, and continued to alternate operation. Twenty-one tugs were on hand for the operation.

The first pull was made after all the ship's water and fuel oil had been removed from her tanks. Ammunition and personnel have not been removed as yet.

Earlier 14 tugs sought to free the mighty ship but failed.

An army dredge then was called in to cut trenches 34 feet on either side of the 45,000-ton battleship and a half-mile wide trench from the ship to the main ship channel.

Divers blasted away with hoses having tremendous nozzle pressures just before the operation got underway today.

The Missouri, the United States' only battleship in active service, ran aground in the mud near old Point Comfort last Tuesday morning. It was aboard the Missouri the Japanese surrender terms were signed.

London Miffed New York Sees Play First

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, Jan. 21— (CP) — T. S. Eliot's new play, "The Cocktail Party," opens in New York tonight and therein lies the makings of a theatrical tiff between this city and London.

The dramatic critic of The Times of London two weeks ago said "it is disconcerting" that the comedy by the American-born poet, now a naturalized British subject, should be produced in New York before London sees it.

Henry Sherek, co-producer with Gilbert Killer of the play, says he bought it originally on the strength of the author's rough draft of 20 pages. Without answering the argument of the Times' critic, he said the Old Vic distinguished British theatrical body wasn't as venturesome and declined to gamble on the basis of an incomplete script.

He said he cited this as an insurance of private enterprise in comparison with a subsidized stage group.

Said Best Work

The play was first shown last summer at the Edinburgh Festival of Music and Drama and was acclaimed as Eliot's best work. The characters are drawn from English society and the plot concerns marriage complications.

Eliot in a recent address said his purpose in writing drama in poetry is to show that poetry can be used just as well as prose in dramas dealing with contemporary life. He contended that the audience at a poetic drama should not be conscious of the difference from prose but that there should be a rhythm to the writing so that, in moments of intensity, the audience feels the characters have been "lifted up into poetry."

Brilliant Dancing

The best thing about "Alive And Kicking," Manhattan' newest revue, is the dancing of Jack Cole. Cole, who also is responsible for the choreography, gives brilliant exhibitions in his sketches, the best of which are "Cole Scuttle Blues' 'and "Propinquity."

Apart from that, the revue t the Winter Garden is rather a hodge-podge, uneven in content and lacking in the swift pace this type of production needs.

Sparkling Revival

Maurice Evans has staged a sparkling revival of Emlyn Williams' play, "The Corn Is Green." In the hands of the New York city theatre company, it is a moving and worthwhile production. Eva La Gallienne is excellent in the role of the spinster school mistress and Richard Waring does a fine job as the young Welsh coal miner who obtains a scholarship through the efforts of the teacher.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

"WILD WEST SHOW" was a phrase to thrill ever[illegible]gster of the early 1900's. Their hero was the old Indian fig[illegible]uffalo Bill, originator of the Wild West show. By the tu[illegible]e century, his once-little group of cowboys and Indians had grown into a tremendous spectacle called "Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show and International Congress of Rough Riders." The "Rough Riders" were some of Teddy Roosevelt's veterans and daredevil horsemen imported from abroad. The show toured Europe, playing many command performances before royalty. Buffalo Bill is shown here with one of his early star attractions, Sitting Bull, famous Indian chief. Despite his great successes, Buffalo Bill was improvident and died in poverty in 1917.

Sees Barber Abducted But Just At Wedding

NAPLES, Italy, Jan. 21 (Reuters)—Three armed men kidnapped Vincenzo Sgambati from his barber shop here and hustled him into a car where a fourth man sat with the engine already running.

The car shot off as a terrified, lather-covered customer called the police.

Sgambata was found an hour later being married in a church, where the bride's brothers had taken him because he "looked like he was getting cold feet at the last minute."

Anglo-Saxon Union Inevitable–Bromfield

TORONTO, Jan. 21 (CP) — A world federation of countries based on a union of English-speaking peoples, was forecast on Friday by author Louis Bromfield, of Lucan, O.

An Anglo-Saxon union is "absolutely inevitable," Mr. Bromfield told a meeting of Ontario Agricultural College graduates. The federation would be on an economic basis and would gradually include the more politically-advanced countries of the world.

Have Party Argument

LONDON, Jan. 21 (CP) —An argument among Conservatives Liberals and National Liberals over party nomenclature ended inconclusively Friday. Lord Woolton, chairman of the Conservative party, said he thinks it fair that certain candidates for the Feb. 23 general election, standing with Conservative support, should also use the party tag "Liberal."

Three Children Burned

KENTVILLE, N. S. Jan. 21 — (CP)—Three children were burned to death in a fire in the home of Cecil Veniot of nearby Dalhousie, at noon Friday. Few details were available. The children ranged in age from 1½ years to six. The parents had left them at home for a short period and when they returned they found the house ablaze. Only one body has been recovered.

The hostess and co-hostess, Mrs. K. Morden and Mrs. H. Jamieson, assisted by Mrs. E. McLean, Miss Lois Jamieson and Mrs. H. Lowes served refreshments.

Mother, Mix Your Own Cough Syrup. It's Fine

This well-known medicine, mixed in your own kitchen, costs very little, but it gives delightful, swift-acting relief from coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare—it's so easy anyone can do it. And it saves real money.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a 16 oz. bottle and fill up with your syrup. Thus you make 16 ounces of splendid cough syrup—and it gives you four times as much cough syrup for your money. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time, and children love its taste.

And for quick, satisfying relief, you'll say it's really splendid. It has a three-fold action. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear air passages. You'll be delighted by its swift, pleasing results.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a well-known and reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if it doesn't please you.

Pinex Is Quick Acting. Easily Mixed. Saves Money.

hand of Columbia Concerts in this. The name is acceptable but the legend is unnecessary.

Bartlett and Robertson are, above all, masters of poetic and reflective music. Their playing of the two Bach numbers, "Sheep May Safely Graze" and "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" was filled with understanding, and in the Prelude in E major they gave us a brilliant and vigorous example of Bach in his more formal style. Special mention must also be made of their playing of Gluck's gavotte from "Paris and Helena" which was a miracle of delicacy, suggesting but not seeking cheaply to imitate the tone of a harpsichord.

Space does not permit detailed consideration of the works on the second part of the program. It is enough to say that they were all admirable as music, and all admirably played by these artists, whom Peterborough may now be said to hold in special esteem and affection.

THE EXAMINER'S FEATURE HOME

HOUSE NO. 207—This gay cottage was built on a splendid corner site. Exterior walls are grey shingle, with green roof and yellow shutters. Bedrooms are well placed for privacy, and convenient to the bathroom. The living room has a feeling of spaciousness, and its big windows overlook the rear garden and the trees beyond. Many prospective homebuilders will like the laundry-kitchen-breakfast nook arrangement. The kitchen itself is done in natural pine with waxed finish. Height Of Kitchen Counter Important Factor to Women

Correct working height plays a very important part in the kitchen. Work areas too high or too low can spoil even the most efficiently planned kitchen. The three work centres of your kitchen will be only as efficient as they reduce reaching, stooping, lifting and walking.

To estimate the best working height for you as an individual, let some one with a measuring tape help you to take your kitchen measurements. For stand-up jobs requiring muscular action, stand erect and at ease, with feet slightly apart and arms down at your sides. Raise your forearms from the elbows until the palms of your hands rest on a table height you could mix food on without stooping. The distance from the floor to your hands will be the working height for your mixing-centre.

Many housewives prefer this height for the base of the sink basin, too. This will be 32 to 36 inches. If you have drainboards to a 6-inch sink, this brings them up to 38 inches. If the sink is 8 inches deep, the drainboards will be up to 40 inches.

Varies Between 32 and 36 Inches

Your arm reach from side to side will be about 48 inches, without off-balance stretching or stooping. The last shelf up that you can use with a finger grip will be about 72 inches from the floor. You will reach down easily to about 28 inches from the floor. Keep counters within 24 inches from front to back for easy reaching, cleaning and working space.

A good standing or sitting posture requires toe space at floor level. This is about 3 to 4 inches. Manufactured equipment that is 36 inches high will be all right for the jobs requiring wrist action.

For sitting down jobs, sit at ease in a comfortable chair with a back support. Have your feet flat on the floor and arms down at the side. Raise your forearms from the elbows until they are parallel with the floor. The distance up from the floor to your wrist is the height for your lapboard. It is also a good work counter height for your junior cooks. The heights will be 25 to 30 inches. Keep these same measurements in mind for work-counter extenders.

Where To Put Kitchen Windows

When planning the kitchen of your new home, be sure to locate widows where they will not interfere with plans for the wall cabinets. The jamb of the window should be at least 16 inches from a connecting wall to make room for installation of wall cabinets on adjacent walls.

Most home-owners prefer having the window located above the kitchen sink. Another window, located near the mixing centre or dining area, will provide additional light and ventilation. Supplementing windows with a ventilating fan will improve the circulation of air and carry off fumes and odors.

Placing two windows in the corner is a good way to use a space that is unsatisfactory for cabinets since it is difficult of access. It is pleasant, moreover, to work at a counter under corner windows. The kitchen stool can be placed under the counter when not in use. A sink across the corner is another excellent way to use the wall space under corner windows.

Car Skids, Rolls Over On Otonabee Road

A treacherous stretch of snow-covered ice caused the car of John R. Fife, RR 1, Indian River, to leave the road and overturn early today on the 6th line of Otonabee, near Emery's Service Station.

Mr. Fife emerged uninjured from the car.

He was driving north after leaving Lang and he ran into the icy road surface which he could not see because of the covering blanket of snow. The car went out of control, plunged into the east ditch, turned completely around and then rolled over with the four wheels in the air.

Damage to the vehicle is set at $400.

Provincial Constables Albert Poulter and James Healey investigated.

DIRECTORS MEET

Fred J. Overend, a director of the Woodworkers' Accident Prevention Association, attended an executive meeting of the association in Toronto Friday.

Seven-Mill Rate Set For Roads In County System

In 1950 seven mills will be levied on the Equalized Assessment of municipalities comprising the County Roads system. This will be an extra mill over last year's rate.

County Roads expenditures are being shaved to the bare essentials to meet the year's commitments and wipe out the deficit of $22,531.17.

That was the recommendation of the committee of the whole on County roads at Friday's meeting of the County Council. Construction work this year will be little more than a token gesture.

If the recommendation is passed in open Council it will mean that 6¾ mills will go toward road maintenance and wiping out the large deficit; the other ¼ mill will have to cover construction costs.

(The operating deficit for the year on county roads amounted to $12,885.45 but the final figure includes the operating deficit of $1,687.14 accumulated by the Suburban Area Commission and their two 1948 deficits amounting to $9,958.78.)

A sum of $14,000 will be set aside from the County Road levy for the Commission to operate this year.

In 1949, $62,078.20 was the levy for maintenance and construction of county roads. J. D. Kean, county engineer and road superintendent stated that even if construction were totally eliminated this year he would need $68,500 to operate.

Both Reeves James Gifford and William Grant at first were in favor of levying the seven mills and applying the whole toward wiping out the accumulated indebtedness while just keeping up the roads, and they made a motion to that effect.

"Let's wipe out the deficit once and for all" was their attitude.

"Raise the rates or do less work —that's the alternative," said Reeve E. J. Leeson of Havelock.

There were several objections from other members of Council, and after District Engineer Ewart Marsden had queried the wisdom of such a drastic move they decided to withdraw their original motion.

Mr. Gifford and Richard Stewart then substituted the 6¾ mill and ¼ mill formula and it passed unanimously.

Chief objectors to no expenditure being made on construction were Reeves Ross Harrison of Smith and Melville Johnston of North Monaghan.

Mr. Harrison said there were roads in Smith that hadn't been touched in three years and work needed to be done on them. And he could not see why it was necessary to wipe out the complete deficit in one year; the county has carried a small one for the past several years.

Mr. Johnston recalled the fatal accident involving the county truck that occurred at Hamblin's Corners on the Stony Lake Rd., about five miles north east of Warsaw.

"It would be too bad if another life were lost and there were additional property damage because we failed to fix that corner," he said.

A couple of members referred to the sharp turn as "a deathtrap."

The ¼ mill levy for construction, it was understood, will probably be just enough to fix the corner.

Weekend Tilts In NHL Race

By The Canadian Press

The Detroit Red Wings far ahead in the National Hockey League race just possibly might not have a happy week-end. Tonight they entertain the desperate last place Chicago Black Hawks and tomorrow they've got to take on the Toronto Maple Leafs.

In other games tonight the New York Rangers are at Toronto and Boston Bruins play at Montreal Canadiens. On Sunday, apart from the Detroit-Toronto clash, the Canadiens are at Boston and Rangers play at Chicago.

The week-end struggles could have important results for the four teams now battling between the top and bottom spots. There's only five points separating the second place Canadiens and the fifth place Bruins. But there's still around 30 games to go for each club, and now's the time they are starting to plan for the play-offs.

Most of them are content to take the games as they come, and leave the worries over injuries aside. Rangers are particularly hard hit by injuries, but all other clubs have absentee troubles.

Latest addition to the sick list is Garth Boesch, the Toronto defenceman who sports a mustache on the ice lanes. Boesch threw a check in Ken Reardon of the Montreal Canadiens when the Leafs beat Canadiens 4-2 Thursday at Montreal, and when he got back to Toronto Boesch discovered he had a sore back. It was a recurrence of an old injury.

The Rangers will be missing forwards Ed Slowinski and Chick Webster, and defenceman Allan Stanley. They'll again use Jean Paul Lamirande and Nick Miskoski and their New Haven NHL farm club.

Parliament

It is far more dependent on the struggle to achieve the goal. Personality and character are developed through governing; the conflicts solved, the decisions reached, the mistakes made, the pride taken in success; all these leave their imprint on the minds of the students".

Most of these values are achieved through such a Student Council as that at PCVS. The York Collegiate system has the additional advantage that students cannot help but acquire a practical knowledge of our parliamentary system.

The article cites one incident which demonstrate the realism of the system. The first Prime Minister was faced with several balking Cabinet Ministers unwilling to abide by his decisions. Parliamentary government requires cabinet solidarity (or used to until recent times in Mr. Attlee's cabinet!). Finally the student Prime Minister said: "All decisions I have reached have been made only after much deliberation and weighing of the facts. In this, our first year of existence, our course will be rough enough without fighting among ourselves. I am counting on your co-operation. If you do not wish to co-operate and abide by my decisions, I shall be glad to accept your resignations now". None of the Cabinet resigned. Even Mr King in his heyday could not have been firmer!

For the winners Darrah, last year's midget player, turned in an outstanding performance getting three goals and two assists besides missing two other scores by inches. Borland in the Marmora nets was also in best form. The game was clean with penalties being for minor infractions.

St. Catharines Teepees Dust Off Marlies Twice

By The Canadian Press

Not content with upsetting the first-place Toronto Marlboros 7-5 in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A game at St. Catharines last night, the Teepees also wrote another victory over the Dukes into the record books.

Finishing a game which was called in the final frame on Oct. 21 because of heavy ice-fog in the St. Catharines arena, the St. Catharines club held the powerful Marlboro aggregation to a pair of goals to emerge with a hard-earned 6-5 triumph. They had led 6-3 when the game was called at the end of the second period.

St. Catharines wasn't the only club to play "turnabout." Hamilton Tigers gave notice they were going to be hard to dislodge from third place in Senior A standings when they dusted off the first-place Toronto Marlboros 5-1 and Guelph Biltmores also caused lifted eyebrows by belting Windsor Spitfires 6-3 in a four-point game.

Not Much Trouble

Two games followed the usual pattern of play. St. Michael's College had little trouble with Stratford Kroehlers, belting the Stratford lads 5-1, and Barrie Flyers took Oshawa Generals in their stride, bouncing the Gens 5-2.

St. Catharines' double win over Marlboros improved their second-place position and coupled with Windsor's loss to Guelph gave them a good chance of overtaking Marlboros.

In the third period "replay" Murray Grenke and Tommy Fyles rapped in counters but the Toronto lads fell one shy.

In the complete contest, Obie O'Brien was the hero, rapping in three counters to pace the homesters' attack. St. Catharines led 6-2 at the end of the second period before Marlboros came to life with their vaunted power.

Other Goal-Getters

Other goal-scorers for the Teepees were Wayne Brown, Moon Mullins, Norm Corcoran and Carl Boone. Danny Lewicki led the Toronto snipers with a pair, singles going to Ron Hurst, Lorne Pirie and George Aitken.

Hamilton surprised everybody, scoring three times in the first period and holding Toronto scoreless. Only the great work of Pat Baehmer in the Toronto nets kept the score from reaching double figures in the first frame.

The Tigers led 4-1 at the end of the second period, when Bobby Hassard notched the losers' only tally. Frank Liscombe, Bill Dinning, Ab Conick and Carl Smelle divided the Bengal scoring spoils.

Guelph ran the string to 4-0 before the Windsor lads could manage a score and led 5-1 at the end of the second session. As was the case of the Junior Dukes, the Spitfires couldn't get rolling until the third period.

The Guelph scoring was well distributed, all six coming off different players' sticks.

Guelph scores were pounded in by Ed Kulik, Don Bellringer, Ron Plumb, Don Oberholtzer, Andy Bathgate and Steve Barklacich. Eddie Stankiewicz, Earl Reibel and Mike Delich counted for the losers.

Shut Out Spoiled

St. Michael's never stopped skating, shooting, rushing and back-checking to go into a 3-0 lead in the first two periods. Lorne Howes had his shutout victory spoiled in the third frame by Doug Armstrong.

Bill Alain and Rod Roy gave the Collegians their first two goals in the first period, while Alain added one in the second and Roy closed out the scoring in the final frame.

George Stanutz clicked for the other Irish marker.

Jack Shedden's second period goal was Barrie's winning one, coming after George Samolenko had given Generals a short-lived 1-1 tie. Barrie sewed up the two points in the final frame, finding the mark three times, Chuck Wood, Gerry Toppazzini and Gord Warner ringing the bell. Doug Chapman counted the last Oshawa goal. Stan Long clicked in the first for Barrie.

Film Veteran Herbert Brenon Seeks Chance

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 21 (AP)—Here is a different kind of story about a film veteran Hollywood passed by.

His name is Herbert Brenon and he just turned 70 last week. Among his birthday resolutions was to get back into the film industry, which he first entered in 1909.

Brenon's name means nothing to the new generation. But if your movie memories reach back to the other days, you've seen pictures he directed.

Remember Ronald Colman and William Powell in "Beau Geste"? H B. Warner and Nils Asther in 'Sorrell and Son"? Annette Kellerman in "Daughter of the Gods"?

Those were Brenon pictures. For many years he was one of Hollywood's top directors. Then he began to slip.

"I was 63," he recalls. "I was nearing a complete nervous breakdown. Also, I realized that I had passed my peak. There was nothing left for me but to direct less important pictures.

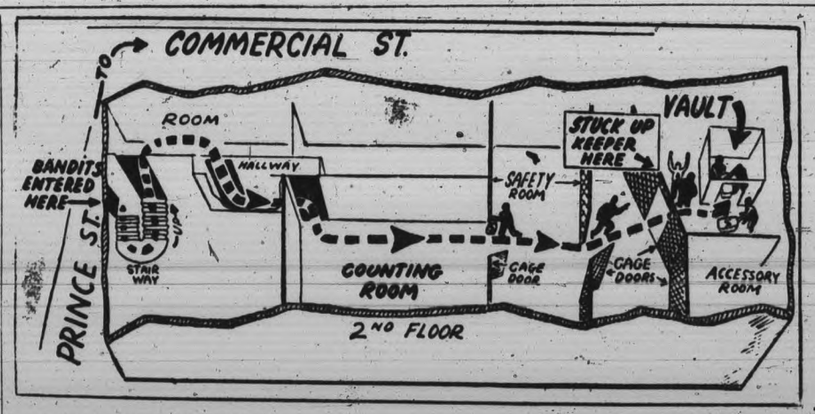
Wife's Wisdom

"I didn't want that. One of the things that depresses me about Hollywood is to visit sets and see once-famous faces now doing bit parts or extra roles. I decided to quit."

Through the wisdom of his wife (they have been married 45 years), he had saved enough money to live comfortably. During the war he "did my bit" by working in the offices at Los Angeles' railroad station. The former $2,500-a-week director acted as a relief clerk.

Now 70, Brenon has been activating a Rupert Hughes mystery story which he owns. He is working on filming plans with James Wong Howe, ace cameraman, whose career he started. Brenon wants to produce, not direct.

I asked him how movies of today compared with those of his era.



"Not too well. Pictures today appear to be manufactured — ground out on an assembly line basis. They lack the individuality that directors of the past were allowed to inject."

Reindeer Menaced

TROMSO Norway —(CP) — With heavy snows covering the vast northern tracts, wolves have again begun stalking reindeer herds in Arctic Norway. One violent attack on a herd of 4,000 deer near Karasjok, near the Norwegian-Finnish border, spread the animals over several hundred square miles.

Build Cadet Ship

LAC LA BICHE, Alta.—(CP)—Members of the local Sea Cadet Corps will take their training this year in a home-built "ship." Made along the lines of a greatly-reduced Fairmile patrol ship, the boat replaces the Exeter, which ran aground on a training cruise last year.

HOW BANDITS ENTERED — This is an artist's drawing of the route seven bandits took in entering the Boston office of an armored trucking service. They had to pass a bullet-proof guard station—it was the guard's night off—and six locked doors to reach the vault, where they bound five employees and made off with $1,500,000. The men wore rubbers to deaden the sound of their footsteps.

Become Cabinet Minister And Get Lots of Telegrams

By MEL SUFRIN

OTTAWA, Jan. 20—(CP)—Become a cabinet minister and the telegraph boys will beat a path to your door.

That's what happened to Hon. Walter E Harris, appointed this week as Minister of the new Federal Government Department of Citizenship and Immigration.

Several hundred congratulatory telegrams have flowed into his fourth-floor office in the Parliament Buildings since Prime Minister St. Laurent announced Wednesday that his parliamentary assistant had been appointed to the cabinet.

Genial Walter Harris, who celebrated his 45th birthday last Saturday, got a chuckle from one telegram, whose sender for obvious reasons, is not named here.

"Congratulations," said the wire. "This is the only time I've agreed with Prime Minister St. Laurent."

Telephone Calls

Long distance telephone calls also have swamped Mr. Harris who represents the western Ontario constituency of Grey-Bruce. He's been a member since 1940 and had been Mr. St. Laurent's parliamentary assistant from 1947.

Sitting behind a desk piled with telegrams and letters, Mr. Harris reflected smilingly that the life of a new cabinet minister is a busy one.

Mr. St. Laurent broke the news to him about 9:45 a.m. by 1 p.m. he was sworn in at Government House, taking on oath that he would maintain cabinet secrecy Then within an hour he was attending his first cabinet meeting, learning first hand what goes on in the inner circle of government policy-making.

Work

After that he prepared to plunge into the job of finding out what he will be doing with the various sections of his department which includes the three branches of Indian Affairs, Citizenship and Immigration.

The first job will be to gather an administrative staff for the department which is made of sections removed from other government departments — in line with the belief that immigration rates having a minister directly in charge.

Mr. Harris, a former Toronto lawyer whose home is in Markdale, about 90 miles north, expects to move his family to Ottawa soon. A cabinet minister's job is a full-time responsibility and requires living right at the scene.

$450,000 Gift For Hospital

OAKVILLE, Jan. 21—(CP) — The Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto will benefit by some $450,000 under the will of the late Mrs. Jack Hammell, wife of the mining promoter, it was learned Friday.

Mrs. Hammell died at her Oakville home last Dec. 6. Mr. Hammell was named sole executor.

The money, it was specified, was not to go into the building found, but was to be used to endow hospital beds for children in her name.

The estate was made up of $296,000 cash, $100,000 in bonds and the remainder in stocks.

Mrs. Hammell had no children, but youngsters were one of her main interests.

TAPPEI, Formosa, Jan. 12 (AP) —Madame Chiang Kai-shek said Friday the United States could give the Chinese Nationalists the help they need without provoking war with Russia.

She said China had never asked that American troops be sent to Formosa or for any other form of intervention which might lead to war.

"We never asked for intervention," she said in an interview. "We will do our fighting ourselves."

Has Better Night

TORONTO, Jan. 21 — (CP) — Condition of Health Minister Kelley of Ontario was described Friday as still serious but he had a 'somewhat better' night hospital authorities said. Mr. Kelley, 72, was taken to hospital Thursday following a stroke, his second in the last year. The Minister, who represents Hamilton-Wentworth in the Ontario Legislature, has been in the cabinet since 1946.

Must Develop Sterling Market

MONTREAL, Jan. 21 (CP) — C. Gordon Cockshutt, chairman of the Anglo-Canadian Trade Committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said Friday that if Canada is to continue as "a strong member of the British Commonwealth trading area, markets for both Canadian primary and manufactured goods must be found in the sterling area despite present dollar difficulties.

His statement was released prior to his departure for Great Britain. He will head a delegation of Canadian business men who will study, with their British counterparts, the present deterioration in the traditional trade between the two countries.

Mr. Cockshutt said the Anglo-Canadian trade committee was set up by the Chamber and similar business organizations in the United Kingdom to study at business level "those economic problems which now jointly harass our two countries."

In addition to Mr. Cockshutt, other members of the Canadian delegation who will leave Saturday include C. Bruce Hill, St. Catharines, and D. L. Morrell, general manager of the Canadian Chamber.

How can I save money?

That's what I asked the Government Annuity representative.

I was trying to balance the family books at the time and told him that, like most home-makers, I had so many places to spend my paychecks, my account was zero at the end of each month.

But .....

He showed me a simple saving plan to provide an income in the future, that was as practical as a trip to the barber, and a plan which suited my budget.

Before you say—"It's a good idea, but I just can't afford it', talk it over with a CANADIAN GOVERNMENT ANNUITY representative, or write for information.

I'm glad I did!

5 BC Trains Stalled, Use Airlift

Say Flood Danger Now Averted, Tracks Cleared Soon

VANCOUVER, Jan. 23 (CP)—Waves of colder air washed over the lower mainland of British Columbia today, checking a two-day thaw that threatened floods and brought death to at least one person.

Antoinette Pascal, an eight-year-old school girl at Cranbrook B. C., was killed Saturday when hundreds of pounds of ice slid from the roof of her two storey school and struck her on the head.

While farmers patrolling the dikes above the swollen Fraser river were able to relax their vigilance today, snowfighters in the Fraser canyon area about 120 miles east of Vancouver still battled to free five Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railway trains, blocked by slides.

An airlift, shuttling between Penticton in the interior and Vancouver, has ferried the bulk of an estimated 1,200 stranded passengers out of the area, leaving about 180 more to be picked up today.

Five Trains Stalled

The stalled trains—two Canadian National and three Canadian Pacific—were expected to be on their way here "sometime Monday," officials of both companies said.

In the Fraser valley, 50 miles east of here, inhabitants began to move back to their land as the threatening river receded.

Power, telegraph and telephone lines were almost all restored, after hundreds of poles had been "snapped like matchsticks" by the heavy "silver thaw" ice which had formed on the wires.

In the interior, 40 degree temperatures have melted the snow down to a depth of 30 inches. Ice still remains on the streams, preventing the threat of a flood. Many roads are impassable bogs of mud and all vehicular traffic was halted out of Cranbrook on Sunday night.

Premature Twins Said Thriving

WINCHESTER, Jan. 23 (CP)—Two tiny youngsters appeared to be thriving Sunday night on care being lavished on them by doctors and nurses at the Memorial Hospital. Authorities at the hospital said Sunday night that twins born prematurely three days ago to Mrs. Charles McMillan, of Berwick, 14 miles east of here, are "just fine and doing as well as can be expected."

Nurses are keeping a constant watch over the incubators in which a one-pound, 12-ounce boy and his twin sister weighing two pounds, 11 ounces, are fighting for life. Both are being given oxygen and small amounts of food.

The twins require a lot of attention from the staff of the hospital in this town 40 miles south of Ottawa. They must be fed every two hours—twice as often as normal babies.

Nationalist Warships Bombard Chapu Area

TAIPEI, Formosa, Jan. 23—(AP)—Chinese Nationalist warships bombarded Chapu, 45 miles southwest of Shanghai, an official dispatch said today.

The Sunday attack set off huge fires and ammunition dump explosions.

The sea attack followed extensive air raids along the Red mainland.

It was the fleet's nearest approach to Shanghai since that great port fell to the Reds last spring. Chapu, on Hangchow Bay, was an important landing site for the Japanese conquest of Shanghai in 1937.

In the air, Nationalist planes roamed at will against the Red mainland. Targets included the ports of Amoy and Foochow. Raids extended northward to Hangchow Bay. Entrances to the bay and the Yangtze estuary are dominated by the Chusan Islands, Nationalist base for the blockade of Shanghai.

An Air Force communique said B-24 bombers set big fires on Foochow's waterfront.

Mustang fighters ranged over Shanghai. Other planes bombed Liuchow Peninsula, springboard for an expected Red invasion of Hainan Island, far in the south.

Thouands of Miners Return Keep Eye Out For Pickets

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 23—(AP)—Thousands of striking soft coal miners returned to the pits today to build up United States dwindling fuel supply—but they kept an eye peeled for roving pickets. Back to work votes call for about 37,000 out of last week's 94,000 strikers to go into the pits. In the rich bituminous (soft coal) section around Uniontown, Pa., centre of the steel company mining operations, only one mine was reported working. Some 125 men resumed coal production without incident.

Roving, motorized pickets closed another mine in the area and at a third, nobody showed up—pickets or workers.

Week end meetings of United Mine Workers locals indicated sylvania area want to hold out miners in that southwestern Penn- for a showdown in their 'no contract, no work' strike.

The picture was different near Pittsburgh. A few mines slated to start shifts this morning said their men were on the job. There was no picketing.

Stopped By Pickets

Earlier, picketing stopped about 2,000 miners who wanted to work in West Virginia, the biggest soft coal state.

The latest in the series of recent strikes has been centred in Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Together, they employ more than half the country's 400,000 soft coal miners.

It was in those two states that rank and file miners shouted down UMW district officials who urged the men to follow John L. Lewis' suggestion they return to work.

Russians Crippling Berlin Truck Traffic

BERLIN, Jan. 23—(AP)—Russian technicalities crippled Berlin truck traffic to West Germany today and delayed three United States military trains during the night.

The U.S. military trains were stalled with delays up to six hours at Helmstedt, on the Soviet Zone frontier, by Russian investigation of travel papers of three non-American passengers.

After a telephone call to U.S. army headquarters at Heidelberg, Soviet officials dropped their inquiry and the trains proceeded.

The squeeze on trucks carrying cargo between West Germany and Berlin, started Sunday by high Soviet officers, piled up a line of more than 100 waiting vehicles at the Helmstedt checkpoint by noon today. This class of traffic also was disrupted at Luebeck, on the second most important route to Berlin.

Find 2nd Body In Sunken Truck

LINDSAY, Jan. 23—Body of Alex McNish, 27, of Victoria Rd., was recovered from the cab of his truck 15 feet below the frozen surface of Balsam Lake Saturday night after day-long salvage operations. His cousin, Robert McNish, 36, of Long Point, was discovered frozen in the ice last Thursday.

The two had been crossing the thin ice of Balsam Lake in their truck Wednesday afternoon. The heavy vehicle broke through. Robert McNish apparently managed crawled up onto the ice. He had covered 300 yards when he collapsed from exhaustion, only 90 feet from the shore.

One hundred of the McNish's neighbours worked under supervision of Prov. Cont. L. Lyle, Fenelon Falls, after the truck was located, to remove the body.

Discovery of Robert's body was made Thursday by John Stone and his son, Arthur, who make regular patrols of the cottages on the north shore of Balsam Lake.

Noticing a mound lying on the newly-formed ice, opposite a cottage owned by A. M. Fulton, they investigated and reported to the Provincial Police. They claim that there was open water on Tuesday night at the spot where the body was found.

Measles Sweeping Arctic Doctor, Nurses Flown In

EDMONTON, Jan. 23—(CP)—The White Father today was sending help to his children, the Indians and Eskimos scattered along the Mackenzie River delta, where seven have died in a measles epidemic.

Winging its way to the Arctic settlement of Aklavik, N.W.T., a plane was carrying Dr. Paul Harvey and three nurses from the Charles Camsell Indian Hospital here, who will help Dr. K. A. Ward, Aklavik's resident medical officer, fight the epidemic.

For almost a month Dr. Ward and nurses of two church mission hospitals have waged a battle against the disease which strikes the nomadic Eskimo and Indian tribes harder than it does the white man. Because the sick live far from medical aid, they contract penumonia and die.

Forty of the sick jam Dr. Ward's emergency hospital at Aklavik while tuberculosis patients have filled to capacity the mission hospitals. Those stricken with tuberculosis likely will get measles serum, being brought by the Edmonton medical team, because the disease aggravates tuberculosis.

Measles have spread through the delta like wildfire, carried from tribe to tribe by hunting parties. Short of food because of a poor trapping season, the Indians and Eskimos must follow the game.

With the ski-equipped plane in which Dr. Harvey and nurses Rita Murphy, Ruth Fadum and Dorothy Chapman are en-route, emergency food supplies will be dropped to the scattered natives. This will relieve them of the necessity to hunt, and it is hoped will cut down the spread of the disease.

Canada Gives Too Much Pearson Says

Declares Dominion Doing As Much As United States

NEW DELHI, Jan. 23 —(CP)—Canada may have bitten off too big a chunk when she made her commitments to supply economic aid to other countries, the Dominion's external affairs minister, L. B. Pearson, indicated Sunday at a press conference.

On his way nome from the Commonwealth Conference in Ceylon, Pearson told reporters here that Canada may have "over-extended" herself a little in entering into agreements to supply the Alantic Pact countries.

In terms of her national income, Canada is helping as much as the United States, said the Canadian minister.

Pearson's comment was in reply to a reporter's question about Canadian participation in economic aid to countries in south and southeast Asia.

The External Affairs Minister said he did not know whether the Dominion would be able to do as much as Australia and New Zealand in the commonwealth plans to aid Asiatic areas. These plans were formulated at the Ceylon conference.

Make Own Decisions

On the question of Canadian recognition of Communist China, Pearson said a decision would be made known shortly after his return to Ottawa. He gave no hint as to what that action would be, but added:

"Canada's attitude will not be determined by Washington. I am not saying that in criticism of Washington."

If Britain, which has recognized Red China, tried to influence other commonwealth countries at the Ceylon talks, Pearson did not say.

The Canadian minister described his visit to Asiatic countries as a "voyage of discovery."

Canada was taking an increasing interest in Pacific and Asiatic affairs. But of course, said Pearson, Canada could not escape from the beneficient shadow" of her great neighbor, the United States.

"Our journey of the Colombo conference has helped us to realize that, just as national isolation is impossible, regional isolation is also impossible, and therefore we in Canada should be just as concerned with what is going on in this part of the world as what is going on in western Europe and North America."

Murder Charges OrderedDropped

NEW YORK, Jan. 23—(AP)—Judge Saul S. Streit today ordered charges of first- or second-degree murder be withdrawn in the trial of Ralph Edward Barrows, accused of slaying Colin Cameron MacKellar, Montreal textile executive, Nov. 5, 1948.

The Judge ruled that the State had failed to prove a felony murder or an intent to kill in their case against the 20-year-old Grand Rapids, Mich., youth. Judge Streit left for the jury only consideration of a manslaughter in the first or second degree.

The wealthy Montrealer was found dead in his Canadian Club suite on the 19th floor of the Waldorf-Astoria by a cleaning maid. Evidence during the trial indicated that Barrows had met MacKellar during a round of drinking and went to the Montrealer's suite for another drink.

The prosecutor contended that Barrows killed MacKellar while trying to rob the Montreal business man. The defence countered that Barrows pushed MacKellar while resisting an unnatural attack.

Judge Streit refused to remove a charge of manslaughter in the first degree on defence counsels request.

Cardy of Montreal, president of Cardy Corporation Ltd., said today he is "considering" several offers for the sale of his hotel interests and "looks forward to retirement." Robbed, Left To Die

TORONTO, Jan. 23—(CP)—Found, lying unconscious in a pool of blood at the foot of the basement stairs in his suburban lake shore store early today, Albert Smith, 49, was taken to hospital in critical condition. Police said Smith was robbed and beaten and left in dying condition by his assailants. He was found by two constables who dropped in to see him. They searched the shop and found him at the foot of the cellar stairs. He had been robbed of $138.

Death Toll Seven In Toronto Factory Fire

TORONTO, Jan. 23 (CP) — Death toll of a basement garment factory fire here last week stood at seven today with the death in hospital Sunday night of Mrs. Isadore Singer, 27. Her husband was among the six other victims.

Hospital officials reported the condition of two others remains critical. They are Abraham Werzburg and Mrs. Prima Neiman, neither of whom has regained consciousness.

Announcement of Mrs. Singer's death came as the Toronto fire department started an investigation, ordered Saturday by Mayor Hiram McCallum, into conditions in the downtown garment-manufacturing district. An inquest into the deaths will be held Feb. 1.

Five other investigations are planned. Some of the inquiries will concern the question of plywood partitions and heavy iron bars on the windows at the factory.

Wasted Time

In a report of Mayor Hiram McCallum following a personal investigation of the fire, Controller John Innes today said firemen "wasted" much valuable time in reaching the trapped workers by using acetylene torches to remove iron bars on the windows.

Con. Innes claimed that the bars could have been removed much faster had firemen smashed them with axes.

An inspection of downtown business premises got underway today by 10 inspectors of the fire prevention bureau. Described as the largest probe of its kind in the city's history, it was ordered by the Mayor and is expected to last three months.

Try To Sink Steamer After Tug Goes Down

KINGSVILLE, Jan. 23—(CP)—Police report the sinking of a fishing tug and the attempted scuttling of the steamship Pelee in the harbor of this Essex county town on the shores of Lake Erie during the weekend.

Firemen were called to the Pelee's side when a watchman noticed the ship listing. It was found two sea cocks were open, apparently by someone who broke onto the ship early Sunday. While firemen were pumping out the Pelee, a Diesel-powered tug, the Sandi-Pat, sank at her nearby berth before anyone could bring aid.

Police now are investigating whether damage was done to the tug before it sank. Raising operations are under way. Further investigation of the Pelee attempted scuttling also is being conducted.

Find Royal Romance Pleases Girl's Father

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 23—(AP)—(Delayed by Censor)—Hussein Fahmi Sadek, father of beautiful Narriman Sadek, said tonight he would be "filled with honor and joy" if his 16-year-old daughter married King Farouk.

Sadek, secretary-general of the Egyptian Communications Ministry, told reporters he was making his comment only to correct errors in press reports abroad.

The above dispatch was the first hinting at the royal romance permitted to pass through Egyptian censorship. Friends of Sadek, however, have said he first opposed a royal marriage at the expense of her "love match" with Hashem. Recently, they said, the father had been won over—although he had no alternative since he could not say no to a royal command.

May Expel Czechs At Ottawa

Cabinet Will Wait Personal Report Of 2 Legation Men

OTTAWA, Jan. 23 (CP) — Czechoslovakia's expulsion of two Canadians is being considered at Cabinet level and could result in similar Canadian actiono against members of the Czech legation in Ottawa.

Officials of the External Affairs Department are awaiting the return of the two men to get full reports on the circumstances linked with their orders to leave the Canadian Legation at Prague on 12 hours notice last Thursday. No action is expected to be taken until after they report, probably this week.

They are Sgt. Reginald Danko, 32, of Toronto and Lauder, Man., and Cpl. J. G. Vanier of Rochebaucourt, Que., 28, both on the staff of the air attache in Prague. They are to report to Canada's senior air official in London and then be flown home.

The RCAF said it may be late this week before they arrive. Danko was reported Sunday to be waiting for his wife and two children to get out of Czechoslovakia before heading for London.

No Details Received

The government still has not received any detailed information about the charges laid against the two men but knows enough about them to consider them baseless parallels of accusations made against other western representatives by iron curtain governments. These include spying, consorting with anti-government nationals and like allegations.

The fact that the United States United Kingdom and France all have taken reprisals against eastern European missions for similar actions increases the possibility that Canada will do likewise. This could mean expulsion of members of the small Czech staff here.

It is headed by Stanislav Klima. He has been consistently "not at home" to reporters' calls since the story broke Saturday.

5 Masked Men Escape With $200

TORONTO, Jan. 23—(CP)—Five masked men, three heavily-armed, escaped with about $200 after trussing up three watchmen and locking up three dogs in the Levy Auto Parts store in suburban Weston Sunday night.

Police said the bandits got their loot from two safes. They were unable to force a third safe.

Police found the watchdogs, howling for freedom, in the boiler room.

Tom Morrow, one of the three watchmen, said it looked like an "inside job" to him for the things knew the plant and the dogs didn't make much of a fuss until they were locked up.

Have Fewer Pilots

OTTAWA, Jan. 23 — (CP). — Although new Federal grants were offered to pilots qualifying for civilian licences in 1949, the year produced fewer qualified pilots than in 1948, it was reported today at the 21st annual meeting of the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association. D. W. Buchanan, secretary-manager of the association, reported the 957 pilots were trained and licensed, compared with 1,433 in 1948.

Indonesian Rebels Seize Key Points In Java Capital

JAKARTA (Batavia), U.S.I., Jan. 23—(AP)—Indonesian rebel guerillas, led by a former Netherlands Army captain, today attacked the West Java capital, Bandoeng, and seized key points in the mountain city of 170,000 population.

About 600 guerillas—including deserters from the Netherlands Army's Indonesian corps—were reported to have captured the Indonesian Army headquarters, the telephone exchange and other important centres. The federal army of the month-old United States of Indonesia was reported holding out in the northern part of the city.

Dutch and Indonesian troops were marshalled for "co-ordinated" action against the first serious armed threat to the young U.S.I. The federal government rushed 250 troops of its mobile police brigade by air from Jakarta, 120 miles northwest, to keep Andir airfield open.

Bandoeng is one of the chief concentration points of Netherlands troops in Indonesia, but there was no word yet of the Netherlands forces going into action.

The guerrillas were reported to be part of a private army commanded by Capt. R. P. P. (Turk) Westerling, former Netherlands army man. His followers, in addition to Indonesian deserters from the Dutch army, were said to include members of an Indonesian Communist faction and a fanatic Moslem group.

Westerling, who took Commando training in Canada during the last war, was discharged from the Netherlands army in 1948.

EXPELLED BY CZECHS—Sgt. Reginald Danko, 32-year-old clerk-typist, is one of two RCAF men ousted from Czechoslovakia. Sgt. Danko, whose home is in Toronto, and Cpl. J. G. Vanier, of Rochenbaucourt, Que., were on the staff of the air attache at the Canadian Legation in Prague. The Czech government gave no reason for the expulsion order.

Actor Alan Hale Dies Suddenly In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 23 (AP)—Death has taken jovial, hearty Alan Hale, at 57 a veteran of 39 years as a motion picture actor and director.

Hale, one of the last members of the film colony who had been active in pictures since its earliest days, died Sunday night in hospital of a virus infection complicated by a liver ailment.

He became ill last Thursday, three days after returning from Helena, Mont., where he attended a premiere of the film "Montana" in which he appeared. He contracted a cold there.

At his bedside when death came were his widow, Mrs. Gretchen Hale, his leading lady in silent picture days, and their daughters, Karen and Jeanne.

Hale, a 222 pound giant, appeared in more than 200 films, among them one he made in Canada with Jimmy Cagney about two bush flyers entitled "Captain of the Clouds."

Worked For Griffith

Born in Washington, D. C., the son of a patent medicine manufacturer, Hale entered the newspaper business as a reporter on the old Philadelphia Bulletin. He tired of writing "obits" and went to work for the late David Wark Griffith as an actor in one-reel, 10 minute biograph pictures. That was in 1911.

His first important part was in "Cowboy and the Lady" in 1912. He played the villain in "The Covered Wagon" and his success was assured.

In the mid-20s roles became scarce and in 1925 Hale became a director. He continued in this capacity until 1928. With the advent of talking pictures, he resumed his acting career.

His star began to rise again after a small part in "It Happened One Night."

Other pictures in which he appeared include "Of Human Bondage", "Destination Tokyo," "God Is My Co-pilot," "My Wild Irish Rose," and "Cheyenne."

Charge Baking Firms

CALGARY, Jan. 23—(CP)—Six Western Canada baking companies doing business in 14 cities and one trade association are charged with combining together "to unduly prevent or lessen competition in the production" of bread and other bakery products in a summons issued today by Magistrate G. H. Rose of Calgary. The preliminary hearing is scheduled for Jan. 30.

Boy 4 Dies Of Beating, Hold Maid

Child Dies On Way To Hospital, Girl Admits Blows

NORTH TONAWANDA, N.Y., Jan. 23 (AP)—Police today held a 19-year-old housemaid they said had admitted beating to death her employer's small son because, she claimed, the boy "wouldn't mind."

Stocky, bespectacled Leona Williams also was quoted by police as saying she was angry "over having too much work to do." She said four-year-old Timothy Hefner "wouldn't mind and interfered with her housework," police reported.

No charge was placed against the housemaid immediately.

Timothy died Friday in an ambulance taking him to a hospital. An autopsy showed Timothy had suffered a massive abdominal haemorrhage.

Police said she had signed a statement admitting she struck Timothy Wednesday and Thursday and hurled him against a toilet.

Says Boy Ill

Timothy's mother, Mrs. Mary Hefner, a teacher, told police he walked to school with her Friday morning and returned home alone.

Later, police quoted the mother as saying, the maid called here and told her Timothy was "ill."

Police said Mrs. Hefner recalled that Timothy had complained that the housemaid had "stepped on him" Wednesday. She said she had warned the girl not to strike him again.

There are two other Hefner children, Nancy, 7, and Judith, 2.

The housemaid, a former factory worker, had lived and worked in the Hefner home for a year.

Dean Of North Sheahan Dies

SUDBURY, Jan. 23 (CP)—Daniel Sheahan, dean of tourist camp operators in Northern Ontario, died Sunday in the country he loved so well for the last 50 years.

Had he lived until May 1, Dan Sheahan would have been 95 years of age, and 90 of these years were spent in Ontario as farmer, bushman, square timber hewer, guide, gardener and teller of tall tales of the Lake Pentage country, 25 miles west of here.

His ready Irish wit, his superb physique and feats of canoemanship became legends among the thousands of tourists who have visited Lake Penage since the days Sheahan established the first sportsman's camp on the lake during the First World War.

Even after his retirement several years ago, he was visited by throngs of American tourists each summer.

Scientists Find Way To Clear Lakes Of Ice

CHICAGO, Jan. 23—(AP)—Chicago scientists think they may have found a way to break winter's grip, earlier than usual, on North American rivers and lakes.

Scientists at Armour Research Foundation of Illinois Institute of Technology, co-operating with the United States Coast Guard, looked into the problem and came up with this possibility:

If a black coating of powder or liquid is spread on the surface of the ice, this would force the ice to melt as early as February or March in the northern parts of the U.S. and southern areas of Canada.

Some of the problems: A suitable material for the purpose must be found in industrial waste products. It must not cause water pollution.

1,500 Farmers Demand Adequate Floor Price At Port Perry Conference

Ontario, Durham County Men Approve Resolution To Cease Unnecessary Expenditures Till Prices Equal

PORT PERRY, Jan. 23—(CP)—A protest meeting of 1,500 farmers in this community 30 miles north of Oshawa Saturday demanded that the Dominion Government establish adequate floor prices for all farm commodities. The farmers, all from Ontario and Durham counties, unanimously approved a resolution that they "cease all unneccessary expenditures until (agricultural) prices are again on a par with industry."

They cheered and applauded loudly as a dozen prominent agriculturists, two MP's and a legislature member expounded views and recommended solutions to the problem which currently is uppermost in farmers' minds.

Over loudspeakers hung throughout the building to accommodate hundreds who could not find seats in the school auditorium, boomed a concerted demand for the meat board to pay $36 instead of $32.50 per hundredweight for hogs. Continuance of the Price Support Act was also sought, with the provision that "these prices be reviewed six months before the year ended so that farmers can plan accordingly their production programs."

The final resolution suggested adequate marketing legislation be enacted by Dominion and provincial governments in order to enable producers of agricultural products to have control over the marketing and distribution of their commodities.

Charles W. McInnes, president of Ontario Hog Producers, said not only agriculture but the whole Canadian economy, was affected when adequate purchasing power was taken from farmers. He took the federal government to task.

Without Market

Agriculture people, particularly hog and poultry producers, were finding themselves without a market due to devaluation, export and import controls and lack of trade balance. The situation, he said, existed on national and international levels, and it was Ottawa's "responsibility to give agriculture some security."

"The best thing that could be done," he advised, "is make use of agriculture price support legislation." He said it was an act passed to give agriculture a floor price promised by the government during wartime when farmers were producing at figures less than world level. In many cases even at that time farmers were losing money.

"The act promises adequate and stable returns for agriculture, and we're not getting them," he charged. "When the federal government lets our prices fall until they are lower than the cost of feed and other production items, they're breaking their bargain to a greater extent than they've done in the past."

Farmers are only asking what is in the best interests of Canada as a whole, said Leonard McNeill, Durham Hog Producers president.

Need To Organize

Liquor board chairman, Arthur Welsh, described farming as "the biggest business in Canada" and pointed out it was about the only group unorganized. He recommended every Canadian farmer contribute $1 to build up a fund for advertising their arguments.

The farmers' problem, according to Thomas D. Thomas, CCF, MPP for Ontario Riding, was a question of organization. The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, an important, financially strong unit, represented secondary industry, he said, and there was no doubt about the strength of organized labor, but farmers were not pulling together systematically. This meeting was an example of what they could do.

The farmers were in general agreement on the following point:

Cost of producing farm products was up because of rising costs of labor, fertilizer, freight rates, commercial feeds and devaluation of the Canadian dollar which raised most farm equipment costs 10 per cent.

Farmers accepted controlled wartime prices during the war, expecting peacetime protection under the Prices Support Act.

A stabilized price will have to be maintained to protect junior farmers, more especially veterans trying to establish themselves on farms.

They were out for a walk with their dog when they decided to watch the tobogganists and skiers in the park. Cutting across the ice on the creek David, nine, plunged through the ice. Truman Asks Big Cut In Sales Levies

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23—(AP)—President Truman sent the United States Congress a tax program today calling for a cut in exervise of "sales" levies, plugging of loopholes, and a $1,000,000,000 boost in taxes on corporations, estates and big gifts.

In a special message Truman did not say specifically how much reduction he thought should be made in the excise taxes. But he said cuts are "most urgently needed" in the taxes on freight railroad and bus tickets, long distance telephone and telegraph bills and "the entire group of retail excises, including such items as toilet preparations, luggage and handbags."

While the President used no figure, some Congress members said they understood the treaty would suggest a cut from 20 to 10 per cent in the retail tax on such things as cosmetics, luggage and handbags.

Truman did specify that these taxes should be cut "only to the extent that the loss in revenue can be recouped by eliminating the tax loopholes which now permit some groups to escape their fair share of taxation."

Big Loophole.

He said the biggest "loophole" is "the excessive depletion exemptions now enjoyed by oil and mining interests."

He said one oil operator, because of the depletion allowance, was able to develop properties yielding $5,000,000 a year, but paid only $100,000 taxes over a five year period although his income from non-oil sources alone averaged almost $1,000,000 a year.

He mentioned also revenues being lost "through the abuse of the tax exemption accorded educational and charitable organizations.

On that, the president said, there are instances where the exemption accorded charitable trust funds "has been used as a cloak for speculative business ventures, and the funds intended for charitable purposes buttressed by tax exemption, have been used to retain control over a wide variety of industrial enterprises."

He said that "under present law producers of motion pictures and their star players, have attempted to avoid taxes by creating temporary corporations which are dissolved after making one film."

Jack Hilf, partner in one of the dress firms occupying the building on Richmond Street West, said that the plywood partitions which fed the fatal fire were erected on or about March 7, 1949. He said the bars were put on the basement shop windows, to guard against thieves, about the same time.

According to a civic fire department inspection report, dated April 5, 1949, the building was found suitable for the purpose for which it was used, and no recommendations were made for removal of such hazards.

Deputy Fire Chief Albert Steen said the fire department was not concerned with the plywood partitions, and that they fell under the authority of the city building commissioner's department.

According to a report filed to Mayor Hiram McCallum after the fire, a "flash fire" set fire to unauthorized plywood partitions. The report by city building commissioner K. S. Gillies added that there was no building by-law against the window bars.

Jury Decides Hiss Guilty

NEW YORK, Jan. 23—(AP)—Alger Hiss, convicted of perjury and branded an aide of pre-war Russian spies, will file an appeal immediately after he is sentenced in federal court Wednesday.

The former high-ranking state department official, an adviser to President Roosevelt at the Yalta conference, faces a possible maximum sentence of 10 years in prison and $4,000 in fines.

Hiss was free in $5,000 bail after the jury of eight women and four men found him guilty Saturday about 24 hours after they received the case.

The 45-year-old Hiss and his wife, Priscilla, who testified for him, were not available for comment. But friends reported the defendant kept protesting his innocence and remained firm in his belief that the conviction would be reversed on appeal.

Friends said Hiss was shocked at the outcome of the trial, and told them he had been confident the jury would disbelieve the story of his chief accuser, Whittaker Chambers, self-admitted Communist courier.

"It just seems impossible that any one would believe Chambers, the admitted perjurer," Hiss was quoted as saying.

McKENNEY Answers Your CANASTA Questions

My last conference with John R. Crawford of Philadelphia was devoted entirely to two-handed Canasta Although most authorities do not consider the two-handed game as good as four-handed, we have come to the conclusion that two-handed Canasta is the most ideal and practical way to learn the rudiments of the game.

We suggest that you deal 15 cards according to the rules, but require only one canasta to go out. This is a much looser game than the standard requirement of two canastas for going out.

However, it gives you an opportunity to learn the things you must know, such as how to build up canastas, for which you must have at least four natural cards; that a meld must consist of at least two natural cards; that the black treys act as stop cards and red treys must be placed on the table at once and another card drawn in their place.

Always remember that you cannot hold too many cards, even though you have control of the pack, because your opponent may go down concealed at any moment. If one player gets control of the pack and has a lot of melds down, the best defensive strategy for the other player is to play to go out.

When playing two-handed Canasta with 15 cards and one canasta required to go out, do not freeze the pack offensively, because it is too easy for your opponent to go out.

Defensively, freezing the pack is part of the strategy of this game. If your opponent has put down a lot of melds, you must freeze the pack, as otherwise he probably will pick up the pack with nearly every card you throw him.

Now for my regular questions and answers.

Q—I have melded 3 natural 6s and 3 wild cards. I know that I need another natural 6 to complete my canasta, but I have a joker in my hand that I do not want to get caught with. We have no other melds in the table. Can I put the joker down on my incomplete canasta? I do not claim that this would complete the canasta. I simply want to get the joker out of my hand, and later, if I draw a six. I will use it to complete the canasta. Is this permissible?

A—No. You cannot meld more than 3 wild cards in one meld until after you have completed the canasta. When the canasta is complete, you may add cards of the same denomination to it, or you may add wild cards to it; but you may not add more than 3 wild cards before the canasta is completed.

Q—Is it permissible to meld more than one wild card with a natural pair for the initial meld?

A—Yes. You may meld as many as 3 wild cards with a natural pair.

Q—We had an argument at our club the other night. Some of the members claim that the pack is frozen only when you put a wild card in the discard pile, while others say that the pack is also frozen until after the original meld has been made. Will you clear this up for us?

A—The pack is frozen in three different ways. If the first card turned up from the stock pile is a red trey or a wild card, another card must be turned over. If this is another red trey or wild card, once again you must turn over another card from the stock pile; and you continue this process until a natural card is on top of the pack And, of course, the pack is now frozen to both sides.

If a deuce or a wild card is discarded by either side, the pack is frozen to both sides.

The pack is frozen until your side makes its initial minimum meld. As soon as you make your initial meld, it is no longer frozen to you, but it continues to be frozen to the other side until they have made their initial meld.

A FEW HOURS BEFORE THEY DISAPPEARED, Johnny Lacas, three, and Pierre Paul Lacas, 18 months, were photographed by their mother holding hands with their grandmother Mrs. Joseph Lacas, 51. The grandmother, who a few hours later reported to police she had drowned the two tots, is now facing a charge of abduction and attempted suicide.

Cash Register Yields Thief $19

For the second time in about two months, Bond Clothes Shop, George St., was broken into and $19 stolen from the cash register sometime Sunday night or Monday morning.

It is believed some merchandise was also taken but the amount has not yet been estimated.

Entry was made through a back window in a generator shack at the rear of the building. The window has horizontal bars, but the thief or thieves squeezed through them after breaking the window.

No evidence of the break-in was seen Sunday afternoon when one of the employees had gone to the store.

Find Prices Firmer On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 23—(CP)—Prices were firmer but tending to ease as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Demand was strong early in the day and began to wane towards mid-session with profit-taking reducing many advances.

Volume for the first three hours was 592,000 shares.

Trading was highly selective and activity slowed to a crawl as prices weakened from their early peaks. Utilities were strong in the Industrial groupings, with Winnipeg Electric feature on a gain of 1⅛ at 34¾. A few steels and refining oils also brightened while papers slipped fractions.

Canada Permanent Mortgage broke out of the fractional rut for a $3-gain at a new high at $201. Massey Harris was active and continued strong on an advance of ⅝ and 23⅛.

Selected Junior Gold producers were down on losses ranging up to 10 cents. A few issues moved on their own in brisk dealings. Bonetal and Porcupine Reef—with property in the Porcupine district, Northern Ontario—were strong following drill news.

East Sullivan moved briskly higher in Base Metals and Quemont gained ⅞ at 21. Western oils were comparatively quiet.

Afghanistan Turning Toward Russia

By ARNOLD FLETCHER.

KABUL, Afghanistan, Jan. 23—(AP).—Afghanistan, once considered as safely anti-Communist as any country in the world, is beginning to look northward to Russia for friendship.

Rising tension and war fever in the quarel with Pakistan, it appears, are causing the country to lose its traditional fear of its great northern neighbor.

Signs of a new attitude toward the Soviets are the Afghan government's recent employment of Russian technicians and the visit to Kabul of an official Russian trade mission, the first in Afghan history.

Long known as the "Secret Kingdom" because of its role as an isolated buffer between Russia and India, Afghanistan is believed by observers to be reversing her old anti-Russian policy because of her feeling she is without friends or sympathizers in her dispute with Moslem Pakistan.

This dispute centres over the status of the Pathan tribes who inhabit the area of the Khyber Pass, traditional route of invasion of India from the north-west.

Afghanistan actively supports a movement among these belligerent Pathan warriors—the most famous of whom is the Fakir of Ipi—for the establishment of an independent Pathan state, Pushtoonistan or Pathanistan.

Pakistan claims, however, to have inherited the Pathan territory from Britain.
